Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the cast-iron building and the Golden Valley Telephone company's office in Plummer Tuesday night, September 21. The Roy Aalto family, Henry Heath, Andrew Nilsen and Chief Mathison barely had time to get out and were unable to save anything. The telephone company secured temporary office quarters in the Plummer Hotel but will erect a new building as soon as possible. It is not expected that the other business building will be rebuilt. This is the third disastrous fire in Plummer during the last couple of years.

"LARGE CROWD ENJOY TEACHER RECEPTION

Parent-Teachers Ass'n Sponsors Welcome Party for Local Instructors

More than 250 parents and teachers were present at the first meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association in the Lincoln high school gymnasium Wednesday night of last week, which was in the form of a reception for the teachers of the city's public schools. The affair was acclaimed a splendid one and the interest shown by all was encouraging.

The program was presided over by Irene Bjornaraa, president of the association, who extended the welcome to the teachers in behalf of the patrons of the school district. He pointed out the duties of the task entrusted to the teaching staff and urged the co-operation of the community in aiding them in the educational program. E. M. Benner spoke in behalf of the school board of which he is present, and pointed out the responsibility of the parents and the teachers and the taxpayers. At this time was called to the magnitude of the school facilities which has become a considerable consideration on the part of the taxpayers.

Morris Bye, superintendent, responded in a few well chosen words in an effective manner brought out the importance of co-operating between teachers and parents, and urged that parents be present more frequently at school functions. "Let us know your children better than we do now," was the appeal Mr. Bye made to the parents in pleading for home interest.

Two well executed violin duets by Gordon Wilkens and Gordon Larson, accompanied by Mrs. Arnold Lundberg, and two beautiful selections by Mrs. St. Olaf Cobb completed the program. All were enthusiastically received by the audience. Refreshments were served to the numbers by the Midwinkle Musician, who played during the luncheon as well as on the program. The committee in charge consisted of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Mellby, Mrs. T. Benner, and Mrs. Arnold Lundberg assisted by Mrs. N. K. Harris.

Miss Ethel Watson, Miss Ruth Watson, and R. J. Lund to "mix up" the crowd, proved an interesting feature. The 13 new teachers in the district were introduced to the audience by Principal Bjornaraa.

Mrs. H. W. Froehlich and Mrs. E. Bjornaraa, Mrs. Oscar Franks, assisted by Mrs. Daniel Crookston and Mrs. A. H. Hand of Crookston, Mrs. G. W. Bowen, Mrs. Ole Dostal, Mrs. A. C. Mathison, and a group of domestic science students. Mrs. Lucille Johnson was in charge of arrangements.

Rural Pupils Here Win 4 Prizes at State Fair

Four premiums out of 42 entries were won by Pennington county rural school children at the recent State Fair, according to announcement by H. G. Sande, county superintendent of schools. The entries have been returned to Mr. Sande by state fair officials.

Competition in the rural school exhibit at the State Fair is very keen. Mr. Sande points out, as there are thousands of entries made by rural school children from all parts of the state. Any child winning a prize can feel honored, even if it should happen to be only tenth prize, he says.

All the Pennington winners are pupils in district No. 60, Ingvald Iaal year by Johanna Wedul. They are: Beatrice Wedul, eighth on dressing; and seventh on luncheon set in sewing. Florence Asp, ninth in darning; and Martin Wedul, ninth in penmanship for third grade.

Marshall county pupils won 19 premiums out of about 140 entries, the list of winners now on view in Mr. Sande's Warren office, including Lorraine Greene, district No. 67, near Stephen, who won second on luncheon set in sewing class; Ella Tandberg, No. 67, fourth on a darned mat; Lorraine Greene, No. 67, fourth on needle work entitled, "Daisy Cutie"; Charles Olson, No. 32, near Holt, fifth on fourth on zool tray; Beatrice Byrd, No. 67, eighth on fancy pillow case; Eunice Greene, ninth on raw mat; Ruth Hendrickson, No. 67, seventh on poster of free hand drawing.

CLASS MEETINGS

The Juniors held a class meeting Tuesday afternoon at which time it was decided that dues were to be collected. The class was also divided into two teams, which will compete in collecting class dues. The losing side will give a party for their opponents.

The Sophomore class met Friday noon, when they decided to send flowers to Orville Hanson, who is convalescing at a hospital in Minneapolis after an operation for appendicitis.

The Sophomores have decided that their dues are to be 50 cents a semester.

The following Senior committee members were chosen Monday to serve: Ruth Watson, class play; Ethel Tharaldson, chairman; Mildred Hedstrom, Gladys Remmem, Marion Byrd, and Charles Frosath. From samples, the class will choose a representative ring.

STATE RAISES VALUATION IN COUNTY $23,775

Only 3 Changes in Personal Property Valuations Made by Tax Commission

1926 ASSESSED VALUE IS $24,375 BELOW '25 TOTAL

Household Goods, Manufacturers' Machinery, and Lumber Are Given Boost

Only three changes, all increases, in the personal property assessments for 1926 in Pennington county, as returned by the board of equalization, were made by the state tax commission, according to information received at the county auditor's office. The changes raise the valuation by the sum of $23, 775.00, making the final taxable personal property valuation total of $610,941.56. The corresponding figure for last year's valuation was $634,316, which was about $3,000 below the assessed valuation in 1925.

The number of changes this year is unusually small, according to the auditor. Last year the commission ordered eight changes and in 1921 a total of 12. Last year's changes boosted the valuation by $26,726.

The value of household furniture and utensils, stoves, sewing appliances, carpets, books, pictures, works of art, sewing machines and other appliances in the home, watches, clocks, jewelry, silverware, pianos, phonographs and other personal property used for personal or domestic purposes, was increased 20 per cent, amounting to $20,160.60. These items are assessed at 25 per cent of the true and full value. The changes raises the assessed valuation of this class to $130,262.40.

The value of manufacturer's tools, implements and machinery, also was raised assessed as real estate was raised 10 per cent, or $1,210.10, making the total for this item the sum of $13,614.10.

Lumber, lath, and shingle in hands of manufacturers and dealers was given the largest boost, namely 50 per cent, or the sum of $2,205. This raises the assessed valuation of this item at $6,850.

The two last named items are assessed at 33 1-3 per cent of the true and full value.

The only other changes which might be made in the commission, from the local board's figures, the auditor explains, are that of the valuation of bank stock and holdings of scientific liability and power concerns.

At the annual meeting of the Thief River Commercial club last week H. O. Holt was elected president and P. E. Palmer was named secretary-treasurer.

Rex Triumphant Again in Thrilling Spectacle

Twice a sensation as an actor, Rex, the wild horse, achieves an other and greater triumph as a director, in the picture at the Lyceum Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with new producing unit in which Rex leads prospective marvel horse is not content to be just a melodramatic and interesting story of the West. It takes on the importance of a spectacle, with hundreds of real Indians engaging in battle with wagon trains, and with Uncle Sam's cavalrymen. It is a stirring panorama of drama, romance, color and thrills, and offers entertainment that is real and unique.

FARM COUNCIL FOR COUNTY APPOINTED

Representative Group Named to Work for Farm Relief Legislation

The work of lining up an active county committee to carry on the campaign for the adoption of legislation by congress which will put agriculture on an equality with industry, received new impetus last week when Mayor W. W. Pritchard, jr., of the Pennington County Council of Agriculture, sent out notifications to various parts of the county to active workers that they had been appointed on the county committee. G. Halvorson, local attorney, is chairman of the Pennington committee, the original group, named by the state organization, also including F. A. Hall of St. Hilaire.

The work of the committee will be to build up sentiment that will make an insistent demand upon congress for the passage of farm relief legislation which will bring the farmer a fair price for his products. It is also pointed out that the active participation of the people of the district will be of value to the representative in congress; will give him the support necessary to make his efforts in congress in the farmers' behalf more effective.

The committeemen appointed for Pennington county and submitted to Virgil McGregor of Crookston, district chairman, are:—

H. S. Dahler, P. O. Sorlum, Jorgen Jorgenson, Emil Grieshaber, T. M. Thronson, Andrew Trovatten, Peter rEngelstad, Ludwig Bjornstad, John Brastrud, and F. L. SUNDAY MOVIES CLOSING TO BE VOTED ON HERE

Council Decides to Put Question Before Voters at General Election

LENGTHY DISCUSSION AT TUESDAY MEETING

Sunday Closing of Other Business Places Also Before Voters Nov. 2

The people of Thief River Falls will have an opportunity election day, November 2, to decide whether they wish Sunday movies or not, also as to whether they wish automobile and business places in the city, except necessary ones, closed on Sunday. The vote will indicate to the aldermen what action the public wishes the council to take.

The city council so determined at its regular meeting Tuesday night, following the presentation of the petition of about 600 voters last week at which time similar sentiment was manifested. However, it required nearly two hours to get the matter in satisfactory form.

At first it was tried to pass a resolution embodying both questions, the same being introduced by Oscar Paulson. After much discussion pro and con, by all of the aldermen present, T. A. Fossum being the only absentee, Rev. S. L. Tollefson and Alfred Berry. Finally to bring the matter to a vote and relieve the situation H. A. Brustuad seconded the resolution, explaining that it was really up to some of the other aldermen to have done so, as he is owner of the two local movies and thus directly interested. On the roll call Mr. Brustuad refrained from voting as did Mr. Paulson. Alfred Dewsnup, Mr. Tollefson and Mr. Berry all teamed voting against the same, and thus killing the resolution.

The three opposed stated they did not believe that the petitioners were properly complied with the wish of them pre-sented the petition on March 23, which called for the closing of both the movie on Sunday, the wording being: "Shall Sunday movies be closed on Sunday?" whereas the same question was submitted by the petitioners, as presented, is: "Shall Sunday movies be closed on Sunday, and shall all business places, except necessary ones, be closed on Sunday?"

According to even then introduced a new resolution calling only for the closing of the movies on Sundays, this being presented by Carter Iverson and carried the additional vote of President Engelstad, Messrs Paulson and Brustuad again refusing to vote.

Following this action Alderman Iverson, in which the city pointed out to the people to vote on the matter of closing of business places in the city, this including all mercantile and business places, except those absolutely necessary, which come under state regulations, such as hotels, restaurants, confectionery and cigar stores. These can readily be closed any time by order of action, as is now done about eight years ago when some of the clothing stores closed on their front doors, but left the curtains pulled. This resolution was carried by aldermen Brosveen, Iverson and Paulson, voting therefor; Christoffersen and Lassiter, and Brustuad not voting.

The city clerk will provide the necessary ballots which will be handled in the voters' precincts in connection with the regular state and county ballots.

A dance permit was granted to the Daughters of Norway for a dance in the Sons of Norway hall Saturday night, Oct. 15.

Four milk licenses were also granted, following their approval by dairy inspector Dr. L. B. Foster, as follows: to Willie Smith, Waldo Chelfetz, Anton Jensen and Hans L. Sande.

The city clerk, Miss Gulbrandsen, was instructed to notify the Great Northern railway of the cancellation of the city's lease on the property on which was to have been erected the city auto-cline filling station.

A resolution was passed adopting the report of the committee appointed by Mayor A. Iloff, creating the rest of cutting weeds the past summer, and ordering the cost thereof spread on the county tax list next year, the same being a total of $53.42.

Five days of the Thief River Falls fair was granted to the Zion Free, Augustana, and Trinity churches for a union Reformation service Sunday night, Oct. 31, following the request of Rev. R. L. Tallakson.

The monthly reports of the city clerk, treasurer, dairy inspector, librarian and police of municipal court were presented and ordered filed. On allowance of the usual grist of bills the council adjourned till the next regular meeting, Oct. 26, they meeting informally, however, next Tuesday evening with the mayor and library board and the cemetery commission to consider the tax levy for next year.

GETS NEW TRUCK

A four new and six-half ton International truck is now being used by the Gamble-Robinson company of this city for its deliveries.

Good Returns on Potatoes; Yield of 600 Bu. an Acre

Farmers have been busy hauling potatoes the past week, the market being very favorable, all-no prices dropping to $1.10 a bushel and with yields averaging from 100 to 150 bushels an acre provided a profitable crop. The acreage in this locality, however, is somewhat limited this year.

Among potato buyers here the Peterson-Biddick company has shipped 15 carloads, Theodore Huot of Red Lake Falls has shipped 10 carloads, and the Kennedy Potato Warehouse Company, Inc., represented here by L. L. Swanson has shipped seven carloads. Other independent buyers are also reported having made purchases here.

Unusually heavy yields on small tracts are reported by farmers southeast of the city. Bert Thorsdal raised about 600 bushels on one acre and Hans Anton reports a yield of 500 bushels of Green Mountain potatoes on one acre. At $1 a bushel this would be a highly satisfactory return per acre.

Peter Engelstad is harvesting a second crop of potatoes, raising 100 bushels an acre. He is shipping two carloads this week.

Club Work Giving Boys and Girls Practical Training, Leaders State

"Pennington county has 126 boys and girls enrolled in club work for the 1926 season," says County Agent J. J. McCann, local leader, in reviewing the progress made and the value of club work to the boys and girls here. "Many more have been in existence in the county for the past few seasons for the results of which a new level adapted to the needs of this community.

"Eleven members from Pennington attended the state fair after having won recognition in the club in which they were enrolled. Five other members will be awarded a free trip to get and the instructions their parents the state fair in St. Paul as a reward for their success in their club work. Albert Pogreen of Thief Hagen is now attending the National River is now in Detroit, Mich., with all expenses paid. This trip was given Albert by the Minneapolis Journal for the best pig in his class at the Minnesota State Fair.

"Club emphasis is given to club work in this county because the actual experience and knowledge gained will mean much to the individual in the laying of a special foundation for a useful life. Our boys and girls of today are our men and women of tomorrow and when started out in life with all the progressive principals learned in club work they are our best co-operators and most useful citizens. The educational contests develop a spirit of loyalty among the people of any community, giving them a deeper appreciation of the merits of the parties engaged in the various lines of activity."

McCann has done a splendid piece of work for the boys and girls of this district and I feel that the results obtained will be of great benefit to them in the years to come. The boys and girls of the county will display their club animals at the Junior Pig and Sheep club show here Saturday, and I am interested in the pens erected on Third street where the animals in the pens will be on display. The stock is to be in place at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and from there will be a sheep judging contest and at 11 o'clock a pig judging contest. At 1 o'clock the parade will start from the Third street pens and will proceed to the auditorium, according to the management. In other words, the events will be of a most interesting and educational character."

"How much," he asked, "are veal cutlets?"

"Fourteen cents a pound."

"How much are pork chops?"

"Two cents less," responded the butcher, "but please don't detain me unless you mean business, as I have waiting a couple of customers who want to talk turkey."—Exchange.

Official Paper Pennington County

A GREAT MOVEMENT

Pennington county residents should take great pride in the splendid enrollment in the Boys' and Girls' clubs this year. With a membership of 122, stimulated by the hearty given the Pig and Sheep clubs by the local banks and business men here, this county is becoming one of the leading club counties in the state. With continued encouragement and support that figure can still be raised considerably. Already Pennington club workers are holding their own and capturing their share of the prizes.

Much credit for the gratifying enrollment is due J. J. McCann, energetic county agent, and the First National and First & Peoples State banks are to be highly commended for their efforts in sponsoring two of the clubs which up to this year had not caught the interest of the boys and girls here that they should command. This spring these institutions started a definite program for creating in this county, by more interest in sheep and pigs and including as—those the—members of youth. They succeeded in enrolling nearly 50 boys and girls, who last Saturday will exhibit the results of their achievements and receive their rewards at the annual show here. However, the cash prizes and free trips are only a part of the rewards—the practical training is worth much more.

Three young farmers and farmerettes have done well and they should be given every possible encouragement. One way of boosting their work is by attending their show, and it is safe to say that by noon Club Day program, October 16, will be educational as well as enjoyable.

The Times joins with the rest of the county in taking pride in these boys and girls and their achievements. It desires to do what it can to further the constructive work that these young people are doing in building up the future of Pennington county.

We hail thee, farmers and farmers' wives of tomorrow!

It will pay Times readers to give particular attention to advertisements of local merchants in this week's issue. Numerous special offerings are made and the thrifty buyer will benefit by shopping in the Times ads before making his purchases.

Says Bill Noonan in his Bandette Region: "Candidates running for office will make no mistake if they promise to cut down the number of flies. There are so many here now that frequently you have to break one law to obey another."

Citizens of Thief River Falls and vicinity hail with delight the announcement that there is going to be a concert by the municipal band next Sunday afternoon.

It has been felt in the past that a preparatory city the size of Thief River Falls is at a great loss without a band. Now that a band is well under way and an able director has been engaged for the season, prospects are bright indeed.

When the members are willing to donate their time for rehearsals twice a week and to assist at any civic function, it is the duty of every fair minded citizen to take it upon himself or herself to support the organization both financially and morally....

At least support this first free concert with your presence next Sunday afternoon.

RAISES FINE CORN

The Times wishes this week contains some samples of matured Minnesota No. 13 corn, grown by J. F. Houlick, residing at the north end of Lafave avenue. Mr. Houlick reports a yield of 50 bushels. This is some more evidence that, corn can be grown successfully in this locality.

"FARM FLASHES"

Many good things in store for farmers who tune in on Station WCCO at noon time during the fall months. October 4 marked the beginning of "Farm Flashes," a service started by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture last spring in co-operation with the agricultural extension service of the University of Minnesota.

In substance "Farm Flashes" will consist of dramatized conversations between a county agent and an actual farmer-friend seeking the solution of current farm problems. The Tuesday noon program will be devoted to live-stock, Wednesday's to poultry, and Thursday's to crops and soils.

TESTING SEED CORN

Seed corn should be thoroughly air dried before it is placed in winter storage. Ordinary winter temperatures do not injure seed that has been properly cured. In curing, the ears should be kept cool enough to prevent or so supersalted that there is free circulation of air. The curing place should be kept clean in rhyme weather, cool, closed, when the temperature is below the freezing point. Ordinarily, artificial heat is not necessary to the purpose. If used at all it should be moderate in amount, particularly at first when the corn has a high moisture content. "A bushel of seed is sufficient for seven acres of corn planted for grain," says A. C. Army of the Minnesota Experiment station. "Of the larger varieties suitable to southern Minnesota, 100 to 125 ears should provide a bushel of shelled corn. From 150 to 200 ears of the smaller varieties grown in northern Minnesota is about the right amount to select to provide a bushel of well graded seed corn."

Seven carloads of livestock were shipped over the Electric line from Eldridge Saturday.

REPLIES TO WEFALD

Editor Thief River Falls Times:

That explanation by Mr. Wefald, in your last issue, of his vote for the continuation of tax-exempt securities different a great deal from the explanation he made of the same vote two years ago. He then said that the discontinuance of tax-free securities would "stab in the heart our whole scheme of public ownership." He does not mention that this time, but says it was in the interest of the farmers who borrow money from the Federal Land bank.

It is very doubtful whether any benefit from tax-exempt securities comes to the borrower, either in farm loans or for municipal purposes. Before 1916—when there was no income tax—government, state and municipal bonds averaged around one per cent less than industrial securities. The same proportion is true right now. At any rate it makes no difference here in Minnesota, for the rural credit bonds are sold to the state school funds at four per cent, and loans for school buildings and other purposes are made from the same fund at four per cent.

The big objection to tax-free bonds is that they furnish an avenue through which those with very large fortunes escape payment of the income taxes. To the small investor, who pays an income tax of ten per cent or less, they have no special attraction. But to the very rich, whom the law says should pay from 25 to 60 per cent of their income in taxes, it furnishes a means of escape from all taxes. To that extent they take nullified the attempts to make the wealthy carry their share of the tax burden.

It is only too true that Mr. Wefald is right in saying that tax-exempt bonds have made it easy for municipalities to borrow money. It is further true that there has been a great deal of encouragement given to borrow money for municipalities in Iowa bonds, and that the vast—debt—burden that has been piled up on the taxpayers in the last few years, through its source, is one of the main reasons for the increased taxation.

The explanation of two years ago, that the abolition of tax-exempt bonds would "stab in the heart our whole scheme of public ownership" probably represents Mr. Wefald's real opinion, while the one this year is given because of the exigencies of the political situation. He has seen public sentiment change away from this idea of "socialism" gradually, and wants to get on safer ground.

If Mr. Wefald was right, then Mr. Kvale, Mr. Sinclair, and all other representatives from the agricultural districts of the northwest were wrong in voting for the amendment. It seems hardly possible that he alone was right and all the rest were wrong. It reminds me of the proud mother, watching a company of soldiers march by. Pointing at her son in the ranks she says: "They are all out of step but my Jim."

Yours very truly,
Martin Widsten.

REGARDING IMMIGRATION VOTE

Editor Thief River Falls Times:

Please allow me, to quote from an editorial in the "Decorah (Iowa) Posten" (Norwegian newspaper), dated of June 25, 1926, relative to the immigration question. I translate: "It pleases us a great deal to see the lively interest in which several of the Northern's spokesmen in Congress are taking up the immigration question. We have previously mentioned Senator Shipstead and Congressman Kvale's proposition for amending the law; and now Congressman Knud Wefald from Minnesota comes in new and different bill. It was introduced in the house of representatives the 16th of June and was referred to the committee on immigration.

* * * * * * *

"We can take Norway for example, consider the present annual quota is (6,453); If Wefald's bill becomes law the quota will be reduced only to 6,015, while according to the new law which will be in effect next year the quota will diminish to a trifle over two thousand.

* * * * * * *

"When the new law, that is the four (objectionable) paragraphs, were under discussion in May, 1921, Wefald fought with tooth and claws (teeth and klor) against them, and he deserves credit because he was the first in Congress who called attention to the exaggerated special favoritism being shown England in this law."

This is only a sample of the praises by different papers, given Mr. Wefald for his efforts in connection with the immigration law.

I hope that Mr. Martin Widsten campaign manager for Mr. C. G. Selvig of Crookston will notice this and compare it with his "Review" of Mr. Wefald's record in The Times issue of Sept. 23. He may have forgotten that he was not writing for the "Campaign bulletin," where replies of the opposition are not allowed. Thanks to the attitude of fairness The Times management it is possible to get the facts before the reading public. Widsten's column of prose and sentimental poetry re the above-mentioned matter was not intended to inform, it appears, but to misinform.

The guerilla campaign has now begun. Selvig is taking up the cudgels by having the "neighbor lady" tie her fit for him. The "statement" method was found ineffective, since the newspapers are printing both sides. His only hope now seems to be to shun the real issues and make use of the power of personality. The statements might have been all right for him if he hadn't gotten stuck up with Mr. Quist; but the public will now view with suspicion the agents of the "climate friend" of Young Teddy Roosevelt, the "wet" from New York.

Sincerely,
"A Foreigner."

LAKE OF THE WOODS PROJECT

Editor Times:

As certain articles written by Mr. Martin Widsten have appeared in your paper, I would like to have you kindly also print this letter. Mr. Widsten, who is campaign manager for Mr. C. G. Selvig, is driven to desperation because the money election outlook for his candidate and is outdoing his previous high record for mudslinging.

He belittle the solution of Congress having legislation passed in Congress in regard to taking care of the interests who have during the last twenty-five years suffered damages by reason of the regulation of the levels of the water in the Lake of the Woods.

It is, perhaps, natural for Mr. Widsten should take such an attitude, being the campaign manager of a gentleman—whose hobby is power development and whose record shows that he even would go to the extent of having farmers and Indians pay the cost of developing power on which no assessment should be levied against the power companies; but the people who have been fighting for their rights against such powerful powers complain! At least we have the Lake of the Woods settlers think differently.

The Lake of the Woods matter was before Congress for more than twenty years and had come to a standstill in the year 1921, so that nothing more seemed to be able to get any action in this matter between the years 1917 and 1924, or until Mr. Shipstead and Mr. Wefald came to Congress.

It is the opinion of most people, who are in least conversant with the facts that if Mr. Wefald's Lake of the Woods bill had become a law through the efforts of a Republican congressman it would have been lauded as a great piece of legislation. There is no opinion about that.

But now Mr. Widsten says that this bill was of small importance. He then goes on to say that Mr. Wefald omitted to have a clause written in to the bill limiting attorneys fees and, as a consequence, certain lawyer, Mr. Berkman of Chicago, will make from $50,000 to $100,000 in handling the affairs of claimants.

Mr. Widsten should have been present at a public meeting held at Roseau on August 29-this year and heard exchange of opinions between Congressmen Knutson and Shreiner, discuss the Lake-of-the-Woods matter and the legislation that carried it into effect and he would have known as much about this matter that he would not have made the statements that have appeared over his signature.

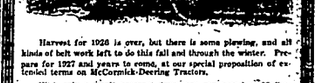
According to Mr. Shreiner a lifelong Republican, Senator Moses and the National Republican administration had hampered him in his efforts to secure results and had hung up the matter for years.

The Lake of the Woods matter was considered so important by Mr. Widsten and his political associates that it was freely predicted that Mr. Wefald would be defeated on account of his party affiliations. This matter was considered of so much importance that Mr. Widsten, Selvig, etc., were sent, at the expense of the Warroad commercial club, to see Mr. Schall, last fall, before the Senator went to Washington to enlist his services and support.

Yet the bill passed Congress and became a law without any assistance from Mr. Schall.

When Mr. Widsten accuses Mr. Wefald of having omitted a clause limiting attorneys' fees he certainly does not know that the bill was drawn in the State Department, under the personal direction of a man—whom Mr. Widsten surely places in the rank of the foremost lawyers of the land, Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, and, that the bill that Mr. Wefald introduced was written in the customary form used in such cases.

Surely, Mr. Widsten does not want to impute any bad motives to Secretary Kellogg?



Mr. Widsten, who thinks he knows so much—surely ought to know that a clause limiting attorneys' fees had no place in a bill that carries into effect a treaty between the governments of Great Britain and the United States. Mr. Wefald's bill was drawn for the purpose of having the United States carry into effect the obligations that it had taken on under the treaty. Mr. Berkman was not a party to the treaty and neither of the governments would be concerned about invalidating any agreements that might previously have been made between Mr. Berkman and his clients. Besides a person can handle his own claim if he likes; there might also be other attorneys employed in handling these settlements. It is also fair to state here, as Mr. Widsten also knows, that Attorney Berkman has spent much time and much money in looking after the interests of the claimants when the Lake of the Woods matter would in slow way through the hearings before the International Joint Commission. The matter of attorneys' fees is a matter between the claimants and Mr. Berkman. How much—money Mr. Berkman will receive for his legal services I do not know, I do not understand how Mr. Widsten knows. If the whole matter is of little moment he can surely not receive much money for his services.

How much money the final settlement will run into I do not know, but the Lake of the Woods settlements will run up into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The people of Warroad and eastern Roseau county watched Mr. Wefald fight for them in Congress and they Funeral services for Mrs. R. J. Walker were held Saturday afternoon in the Norwegian church, Rev. Lorens officiating, with musical numbers furnished by Mrs. M. W. Bring and Mrs. Ingvald Holmberg at the piano. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Walker was preceded in death by her husband, the latter dying quite a few years ago while on a trip to St. Cloud, death being caused by pneumonia.

Until the past year Mrs. Walker actively enjoyed the best of health, taking active part in social affairs. She has always been prominent in church work and has held various offices in the ladies aid. She was the last charter member of the Royal Neighbor circle which conference with him caused

On November 17, 1925, Mrs. Walker purchased the Kolberg Purity Sweet shop, renaming it Walker's Cafe and Confectionery, operating it until August 15, 1926, when she disposed of it to Mrs. Roy Ericson. Following this, she left for International Falls to visit with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Dybvik, her health failing visibly, which day, the week at the cafe having proved to be too much for her. She was brought home from International Falls three weeks ago, and taken to the hospital suffering with meningitis, dying nine days later, October 6, as a result of the "sleeping flu."

County Gets $19 Inheritance Tax for Past Year

Estates probated throughout Minnesota in the year ending June 30, just paid—a total of $930,261.70 into the state treasury to the tune of $19,000,000. In 1926 estates contributed.

Under the inheritance tax act, ten per cent of the amount collected in each county is returned to the county and this week Ray P. Chase, state auditor, mailed checks to each county treasurer. A total of $93,026.37 was distributed.

As in all past distributions, counties like Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis profit the heaviest, due to the existence of the fact that their contributions in inheritance taxes are larger than the other eighty-five counties. When the state's treasury was the returns is in keeping with the amount.

Pennington county's share covering the period mentioned is $1,125. The check, $1.31 was received by Carlton county and the largest, $47,883.61, by Hennepin county. Lake county received $11,362.56 and St. Louis county $7,077.05.

GRAIN DOCKAGE VICTORY

The saving of thousands of dollars in actual loss to Minnesota farmers on the grading of the amount that is involved over the four Northwest grain states, is estimated as a result of the joint action of a delegation from the Northwest in visiting Secretary Jardine at Washington, D. C., which a conference with him caused

On November 17, 1925, Mrs. Walker purchased the Kolberg Purity Sweet shop, renaming it Walker's Cafe and Confectionery, operating it until August 15, 1926, when she disposed of it to Mrs. Roy Ericson. Following this, she left for International Falls to visit with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Dybvik, her health failing visibly, which day, the week at the cafe having proved to be too much for her. She was brought home from International Falls three weeks ago, and taken to the hospital suffering with meningitis, dying nine days later, October 6, as a result of the "sleeping flu."

Deceased is survived by her father, James Rogers, of Huron, Oregon; a sister, Mrs. Cecil DeMars, also of Huron; three brothers, John of Milbridge, N. Dak., Edward, of Chalkaka Mont., employed here last winter at the Walker Cafe, and Alex, of Burns; one son, James, of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. W. J. Brown, of Overly, N. D., and Mrs. Harry Dybvik of International Falls.

EUCLID PIONEER PASSES

Mrs. Henry Fiemann, 74, a resident of Euclid since 1896, died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herm Acker of Crookston. Deceased is survived by eight children, named Mrs. Henry, John, Martin, and Claus Fiemann, Mrs. G. A. Acker, and Mrs. John Ruther of Euclid.

Among the 131 Minnesota villages which are required to hold elections under a law passed by the 1925 legislature are Fertile and Winger in this section. The state's new law requires annual elections in all villages having an assessed valuation of $750 or more per capita.

PENNINGTON VOTERS HEAR CONG. WEFALD

Reviews Record at Conference and St. Hilaire Meetings—Farm Relief Urged

"I have stood by my promises," the congressman said in giving a resume of his record in congress during the past two terms. He discussed at some length tax exempt securities and the immigration question as stated in the public forum of The Times the last two weeks.

"A vote for a Republican congressman means a vote of confidence for the work of the Coolidge administration," Mr. Wefald said. "The Republicans in Congress could have passed farm relief legislation if they had wanted to, but they killed every measure proposed." He cited his support for the McNary-Haugen bill.

The speaker charged Eastern support for his Republican opponent, pointing especially to the record of Col. Theodore Roosevelt in the Ninth district, whom he referred to as "the messenger of Wall street." He characterized Governor Christianson's economy as "pure bunk."

W. H. Quist, chairman of the local county Farmer-Labor association, introduced the congressman and spoke briefly on the state administration's economy program, declaring the actual savings are insignificant.

Alfalfa Fields Here Average Three Tons an Acre

Peter Engelstad's 200 acres of alfalfa this year averaged about three tons an acre, the pioneer "Alfalfa King" reports. Most of the acreage was cut twice, the third growth being used for pasture in parts.—Mr. Engelstad had 50 acres of corn this year.

Another alfalfa booster is J. D. Thornwall, farmer east of the city, who reports getting about 75 tons alfalfa from 20 acres. Part of the field was cut three times, the third crop growing three high. He declares that his alfalfa grew more than 30 inches in 35 days, practically an inch a day.

Yield of Honey Light; Higher Prices Certain

The honey crop, like various other kinds of crops in the middle west, is reported this year, and the yield in Minnesota will be but seven to ten per cent of the normal, as compared with a crop of 100 per cent of the normal in 1925, says Francis Jager, chief of the division of bee culture, University of Minnesota. While quantity is short, quality is above the average, he says.

The shortage was caused by the spring and early summer drouth which prevented white clover from getting a start. Even now while the mass is improving, prices for honey are holding about the same as last year. As production for the country at large is below the average, honey producers look for stiffening prices as supplies begin to diminish.

Usually a season's honey flow in Minnesota lasts from six to eight weeks. This year there were places in Minnesota where the flow was only ten days.

New War Picture Immortalizes Idea by Sincerity

The immortalization of an idea—that is the cinematographic achievement of Renaud Hoffman, noted producer-director, who made the new epic, "The Unknown Soldier," which will be on view at the Lyceum theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

For the first time in motion picture history, the soul of a soldier and the bride and the mother he leaves behind are portrayed with sincerity and fidelity.

Unlike most war pictures which chronicle the horrors and magnitude of conflicts between nations, "The Unknown Soldier" depicts simply and powerfully a truly human interest story of the typical American doughboy. Surrounding the young soldier's fateful struggle, is a wealth of powerful plot interest, involving a mother, a sweetheart, a flock of war buddies.

Their struggles, their hopes, their love, their disappointments, and their happiness have been blended into an all-powerful film story reflecting the untold effect of a war, and made symphathetic and understandable to every man, woman and child in America.

In the title role is Charles Emmett Mack, homely, rollicking, soldier lad. Co-featured with him as the soulsister of the war bride is Marguerite De La Motte, noted emotional actress.

MEDICS OF VALLEY GATHER IN T. R. F.

Banquet and Program Feature Mid Meeting of R. R. Valley Medical Ass'n

The Red River Valley Medical Association held its 45th city where physicians of the valley accompanied by their wives gathered at a big banquet at the Pythian hotel at 6:30 o'clock. Dr. A. Stoeller of Fosston, vice president, presided in the absence of Dr. A. H. Dunlop of Crookston, president.

The program included the following talks: "Amputation with Reference to Future Appliances," Dr. H. W. Frost, Fifth Thief River Falls; "Diarrhoea Diseases of Children," Dr. L. L. Brown, Crookston; "Pernicious Anemia," Dr. Rhodlevi "Practice of Medicine and Surgery Today as Compared with 20 Years Ago," Dr. J. Biederman, Thief River Falls. A general discussion followed.

Following the banquet the Ladies Auxiliary held an informal session and enjoyed a social hour.

The next meeting will be held in Crookston in December.

DISTRICT GAME WARDEN

J. F. Gould, game and fish commissioner of Minnesota, has put into operation a practice being followed by many other states in the handling of the field force of wardens whose duty it is to enforce the laws relating to wild game and fish. The method is to have one resident warden who shall supervise the work in several counties and direct the different wardens working therein. In this section the following supervisors have been named over the territory described: William F. Munch of Crookston, over Pennington, Polk, Marshall, Red Lake, Kittson, Roseau, and Clearwater counties; Ole Stenehjem of Vergas, over Becker, Otter Tail, Clay, Wilkin and Mahnomen counties. The system has worked with greater efficiency in other states and Commissioner Gould will try it out in Minnesota. Among those working under the direction of Mr. Munch are Warden Nelson of this city and A. E. Forder of Middle River.

First Sugar Beets are Shipped to New Plant

Thief River Falls' first carload of sugar beets raised in this vicinity during the past summer is being shipped today over the Great Northern to the new sugar factory at East Grand Forks, which is now in full operation. A second carload is being loaded. The average yield in this territory is about nine or ten tons to the acre.

Know Your Cook Book Girls, Advice of Diva

Margery Maxwell

Margery Maxwell, prima donna with the Chicago Civic Opera and movie star, suggests that women who object to the disfiguration of the hands caused by dishwashing, etc., wear gloves. Miss Maxwell is also a believer in good cooking, and takes particular pride in her culinary skill. Cookery, in her estimation, is a fine art which is rapidly being lost.

"Doubtless one of the big reasons for this condition is that modern young men don't expect the girls they marry to know much about cooking," said Miss Maxwell.

"In the future, before men pose the question, he's going to find out whether the girl knows what calories are and whether she's wise in the elements of a balanced diet.

"A few questions before the minister asks, 'Do you take this woman?' would save a thousand recriminations later."

There are certain dishes to which Miss Maxwell is partial. As she explains them, they are readily prepared. Miss Maxwell uses for Maryland Chicken.

Two 2½ lb. chickens (jointed)
Salt
Pepper
1 cup evaporated milk diluted with
1 cup water
½ cup butter
1-2 cup bacon fat
Fine bread crumbs
1-2 cup butter
Dash pepper
3 tbsp. flour

Dress, clean and cut up chickens. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip in crumbs, egg, and crumbs. Place in well-oiled dripping pan, and bake twenty minutes in a 400 degree F. oven, then reduce the temperature to 350 degrees F. and cook until tender; about twenty minutes longer. Baste every two minutes during cooking with ¼ cup melted butter. Remove to platter and pour around a cream sauce, made of fat in dripping pan, the flour, diluted milk, salt and pepper.

Asparagus au Fri.

1 bunch fresh asparagus
6 rounds of toast
6 poached eggs
½ cup evaporated milk diluted with
½ cup water
3 tbsp. butter
1 tsp. salt
Paprika
½ cup grated cheese

Prepare a white sauce of the butter, flour, salt, pepper and diluted milk. Cook the asparagus in boiling salted water. Drain and add to white sauce. Place a poached egg in center of toast. Pour asparagus around the egg and sprinkle grated cheese over top of all. Serve at once. Serves six.

The proverbial 'midnite oil' was poured upon the wicks of many lamps again this week when the six-weeks' tests made their appearance for the first time this year. "Just think, gittle, I have four tests to study for tonight and play-practice besides," bewails one lusty individual to her sympathic friends. And on the various tales of sorrow fly thru the halls as the four-hundred odd students empty their desks of books at (infinitum) while the poor paper that is being scratched upon murmurs sadly "I may be down but I'm not out".

The Scalora were given their proper place on sympathy Wednesday when Principal H. C. Hand ruled that they were to pass out of the assembly first. The vociferous "Preshies" who are always rarin' to get out of school to vacate without killing half of their numbers. The underclassmen rivaled the stately march of the Seniors, but did not seem to fall into the upperior's footsteps immediately. When the dignified seniors again marched out, the underclassmen decided to be more diplomatic and made a quiet exit.

Out in time they too found he given the privilege of going out first. No doubt Mr. Hand's strategy will in time have its desired effect of saving his self and student from a daily or death beneath eight hundred rushing hoofs.

TEST FOR ROADS

The long period of rainy weather which Minnesota has gone through this fall has been a severe test of the state's road system. In spite of the rain, the trunk highways in Pennington county, as well as many of the state aid roads have been passable, such that traffic has continued uninterrupted. Compared with the condition of the same roads eight or ten years ago, we have made splendid progress here. The rainy season has shown that the best gravel roads have their limitations. The U. S. weather bureau at St. Paul recorded only one clear day in September, 20 rainy days, and a total of 5.53 inches of rainfall. At Thief River Falls 1.09 inches of rainfall was recorded during the month. In August there were 10 rainy days and 4.27 inches of precipitation. At St. Paul, October started out with almost as much rain in three days as in a normal month.

"LINKIES" LOSE TO GRAND FORKS 27-0

Proseth Outstanding Player Against Strong North Dakota Team

The eleven "munketteers" who invaded Grand Forks Saturday came home with no bacon in, with a decided respect for the playing of the Central High football artists of that city, and a determination that defeat was henceforth to be a story of the past.

The local eleven managed to hold Central High until nearly the end of the first half, when Schurz, a Nelson star, intercepted a pass from Snyder to Severson and carried the ball over for a touchdown. Fowler added the risk scored an extra point in kick for goal, leaving the first half score 7 to 0.

Following this clever offense action by interception a "Linkie" punt and by successfully executing a forward pass after a fumble, the locals were able to add two more touchdowns to their credit in the third period, piling up the score 21 to 0.

With another touchdown in the fourth quarter and a kick for goal the Nelson team added scoring with a 27 to 0 mark-up in their favor.

Throughout the entire game the "Linkies" put up stiff opposition but were unable to withstand the more experienced Central High team. Proseth, big fullback, plowed through the "Blue Jay" lines for nice gains, but each time being forced to look up against a stone wall of defense, the locals lost the ground gained in the past.

The line-up was as follows:

Grand Forks		Thief River Falls
Rather	LE	R. Wyngarden
Raschke	LT	Bessler
Hrolin	LG	Dahlow
Schurz	C	Lufkin
Clinton	RG	Carson
Ludvig	RT	F. Wengerd

Officials: Mike Knauf, U. N. D., referee; Dahlen, U. N. D., umpire; Hills, U. N. D., head linesman.

The Grand Forks Herald says, "Lars" Thune brought over a speedy outfit who tackle well."

Among local people who motored to Grand Forks Saturday to attend the Thief River Falls-Grand Forks high school football game were Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Johnston, daughter Lillian and son Gordon, Theodore Bouret, Misses Maude L. Johnson, Mildred Thompson, Ruth Pederson, Ruth Watson, Agnes Tandberg, Margaret Seals, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

SPIDERS

THE SIZE a spider spin down before you is an omen of good luck. That is the observation of the spider superstitious—which extends to all parts of the world. The more restricted form was that the spider sometimes called the "Luck Spider" and sometimes the "Money Spider"—that little yellow chap drops down on his slender thread from ceilings and window ledges in the hope that it is almost as sure a sign of good luck to find one of these spiders on your clothing.

The origin of the spider superstition has been seen by some in the Biblical tradition telling how David, being pursued by Saul, took refuge in a cave across the mouth of which a spider at once wove a web. Saul coming along and seeing the unbroken web, said: "Nobody in there," and passed on. Therefore, the spider, having saved David, was reverenced by him. Others see the story of Robert Bruce, who was inspired, when his fortunes were at their lowest, to make renewed attempt to restore the independence of his country by watching the persistency with which a spider, after repeated failures, busied himself up by his slender thread.

But the spider superstition prevails in countries which never heard of Bruce and where the legend of David's cave is unknown. It is an ancient superstition of psychological origin—a cognate idea arising from a fact.

Old Pliny mentioned the spider superstition 2000 years ago and gave the explanation of it the fact that "such as imitate the industry and persuance of this contemptible insect may, by God's grace, weave for themselves wealth and the purchase of a large estate."

Address by Columbia "U" Man Features Session

Dr. E. K. Fretwell of Columbia University proved to be the feature speaker of the Northwestern Minnesota Education Association convention, held last week in Crookston. In an entertaining manner Dr. Fretwell discussed "A Constructive Program for the School's Extra Curricular Activities." By means of clever humor and relating of experiences he held the interest of the audience. The theme of his speech was the importance of the "growing out" of activities, now classed as "outside," from the regular school work. Every outside activity would then become a part of the usual routine, with due practice meriting regular credit. The time given to the activities would practice five days a week instead of one. A journalism class, with the writing of newspaper articles as a part of their daily work, would be responsible for the high school paper.

Several of the instructors, while visiting the Crookston High School, were impressed with the orderliness of class and dismissal periods, carried on with apparently little supervision.

"I" Enrollment Increases

University of Minnesota authorities, in commenting on the increase shown in the big increase in enrollment at the University, which is 7,000 strong at the end of the first week this year, as compared with 6,000 at the end of the first week in 1925, a gain of almost 10 percent. Last year the growth in university attendance was the first three percent and the year before that approximately five percent. Liberal, major divisions of the University show a good gain, the engineering college showing the largest relative increase. The largest proportional increase was in the School for Nurses, where enrollment jumped from 167 a year ago to 303.

For a short while at least, George Williamson, tackle on the local football team, can not play; he broke his arm Friday while smashing a car.

Ruth Boarck and Madge Laffee returned Monday from a four-day visit with friends and relatives at Grand Forks.

Edward Dennis and John Hirsa visited at Bemidji Saturday and Sunday.

U. H. Beggie, former instructor here, motored from Larimore, N. D., to see the Thief River "vets" play at the Grand Forks game Saturday.

Selma Gunderson and Gladys Remmen each won a bronze pin for record speed in typewriting. Selma attained a speed of 60 words per minute on the L. C. Smith and Gladys that of 60 on the Remington.

CHUCK FROSETH INJURED

"Chuck" Proseth, star fullback on the "Link" eleven, suffered an injury to his leg in the Grand Forks-T. R. F. game Saturday, and was unable to return with the team Saturday evening. The injury seems to be healing up nicely, however, and Charles will most likely be able to play in the game with Red Lake Falls next Saturday. John Arnold has suffered a broken finger and Clayton Snyder also received minor injuries.

BUDGET FOR SCHOOL EXPENSES REDUCED

School Board Adopts Budget of $106,193—$10,000 Being For Sinking Fund

A budget of $96,193 for current expenses of the Thief River Falls school district during the ensuing year was adopted at a meeting of the school board Monday night. This is $2,050 less than the budget for the last year, reductions being made in various items. The sum of $10,000 will be added to the sinking fund this year, making the total budget $106,193.50.

As previously announced, the district's tax levy was reduced from $75,000 to $70,000.

WHO SAID

"Great pleasures are much less frequent than great gains."

THE man who uttered this expression was a philosopher, whose philosophy was based on a careful perusal view of life which is to be noted in the phrase quoted above.

Life in Thief River Falls is somewhat like a thing to be taken with serious consideration, and not a stepping stone to some future existence—one's status would be determined by the "round in the world" pleasures were scarce in his life and not nearly as frequent as "great gains." In fact, it is very likely that he would have viewed skimpy pleasures by men of the stamp of David Hume, the great Scottish skeptic, Puritan—that is to say, was an invention of the Devil and must be shunned.

Hume is best known as a historian and philosopher. His best known works are an "Inquiry Concerning the Principles of Morals," and a "History of England," the first written in a philosophic vein while the latter is purely historic. In the year 1751 Hume published the first part of his "History of England," but it was not until 1761 that he completed it. His "Inquiry into the Principles of Morals" was written and published in the year 1752.

The publication of the "History of England" brought considerable fame to its author and he was well rewarded financially for his work. In addition to the royalties he received from the publication of the book, he received a pension from the government because of the reputation it made for him.

Hume was born April 26, 1711, receiving the years by the old style calendar then in vogue. In 1741 he became secretary to General St. Clair and traveled with him to the courts of Vienna and Turin on behalf of the British government. In this capacity he procured much valuable material which was later used in writing his history. He died in Edinburgh, Scotland, the year that the American Declaration of Independence was signed.—Wayne D. McHenry.

A FAIR EXCHANGE

The big game hunter was showing his trophies to an acquaintance. He pointed proudly to the wonderful collection of heads around the wall, tiger skins on the floor and all the other things that hunters collect.

"Very, very interesting," muttered the guest, peering at them through his spectacles. "Perhaps you'll drop in some evening and I see my stamp collection."—Tit-Bits.

THEY HAMMER AWAY

TO PICK PROWLER STAFF

LOCAL BOYS ON AG. TEAM

The Northwest School football team won its first game of the season Saturday afternoon when it defeated Red Lake Falls high school on the latter's field 13 to 0. For the Aggies honors were divided among Wildrich, Comick; Hastvedt, Twin Valley; Confer, Angus; Dales, Greyglen; and Stenborg, Clearbrook, all of whom scored. Among the Northwest subs who played their first game are Oliland, Erie; Hespelt, Wylie; Rivers, Thief River Falls; Danielson, East Grand Forks, and Olstedal, Fertile.

What's in a Name?
After quoting statistics to show that the amount of gasoline obtained from a given amount of crude has more than doubled during the past seven years, Fortune magazine makes the following statement:
"Refiners have made remarkable strides in developing cracking processes, which development is the only thing that has kept gasoline at a reasonable price.
The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) discovered and developed the first commercially successful process for purchasing gasoline by cracking.
With a vision of what an extension of its discovery would mean to the people, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) gave the benefits of its scientific work to competitors, leasing to them the processes which it had discovered and developed.
This action of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) made it possible for the entire industry to unite in stretching the available crude to meet the spectacular increase in demand for gasoline, resulting from the enormous increase in the number of automobiles.
Without an extensive use of cracking processes, the demand could not have been met, and the price of gasoline, today, would have been prohibitive.
The success of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in keeping the price of gasoline within the reach of everyone is a realization of the steadfast purpose which always has animated this organization.
Through the years, that purpose has never changed. To serve the thirty million people of the Middle West with every resource at its command, always has been the unvarying practice of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).
Any product bearing the name of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is of a standard grade. There is no variation, no deviation from that standard.
The consumer knows what he is getting, because the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) knows with scientific precision what it is selling—standard products of standard uniformity and standard excellence.
Through long years of consistent service, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has proved itself worthy of, and has won, the confidence of its patrons.
Never changing in its purpose to serve the people of the Middle West—never changing in its loyal attitude toward them—never changing in the high standards of the products it produces for them—has made the name of this Company a guarantee of dependability.

DAIRYMEN TO HEAR PHLUGHOEF, HANSON

Junior Club and Cow Testing Ass'n Leaders to Address R. R. Valley Dairymen

Cow testing association work on the boys' and girls' club work will be emphasized by speakers at the annual session of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association to be held in this city January 18, during the Minnesota State Dairymen's association convention. Stuart McLeod of Goodridge, president of the valley group, while in the city last week told The Times that among the speakers arranged for the meeting of that unit are H. A. Phlughoef of the Northwest School, Crookston, district junior club leader, and E. A. Hanson of university extension division, in charge of cow testing associations in Minnesota.

Reorganization along the lines of dairying are being secured for the sessions of the state association and it is expected that the program will soon be announced by President L. Jensen of Clearbrook.

Seven cow testing associations have been organized in this section of the state the past year under the auspices of the valley association, and the next field work being done by President McLeod, who is also president of the district cow testing association. An eighth testing association is now being formed at Fertile and organization meetings are being held at Winger and Mentor. The latter two are considered a remarkable record for one year's endeavor. It is believed that it is definite for the future prosperity of dairying in the Red River valley.

FARM LOAN MAN HERE

N. N. Hultstrom, secretary-treasurer of Federal Farm Loan association land examiners in Washington, D. C., was here Tuesday and Wednesday last week, to check over the records of the Thief River Falls Farm Loan & Trust Co., Farm Loan association. Secretary Hultstrom's visit to the local office was found to be satisfactory. The examiner continued from here to Grygla, where there are two associations.

Failure to Stack Results in Losses to Grain Growers

Minnesota farmers who neglected to stack their small grain this year, because they said to be sufficient room because the rainy weather during the fall season has caused a great deal of the grain to spoil. The wet weather commenced the soon after harvest that owners of threshing machines were unable to keep their machines running steadily, with the result that a large part still some unthreshed grain in various localities. This community, however, has fared better than farther south, near Detroit and Glenwood, for instance, where the crop was a good one and growing green with sprouts.

It is believed by many that it pays to stack the grain, especially for the farmer who has a comparatively small grain acreage. At least the two last seasons have indicated that to be a profitable practice.

Threshing is getting pretty well cleaned up over this section, also is sweet clover being threshed the last week.

Olson Winner in Season's Closing Golf Tournament

Kern Olson, with a total score of 81 for the 18 holes, Sunday afternoon defeated Ralph Stenborg in the season medal play tournament of the local golf club this season, and was awarded first prize of six golf balls. A handicap of 14 gave him a net score of 70. H. O. Hammer took second place with a total of 77, the play's low net. Another tie, that between Ed Thronson, third, total of 95 and 73 net, and Ed Lund, Sr., Tungsten, for fourth prize, each netting 76, altho Curtis had a total of 90 and Lund a total of 97, was played off, Mr. Lund emerging the victor. Mr. Thronson was also awarded the various winners.

The golf season was won by Mr. Chombie, who drove three balls a total distance of 1,000 yards. Mr. Thronson was second with a total of 325 yards.

Only a goodly number of players, including several women took advantage of the fine fall weather during the past season, the snow drifts make it difficult to distinguish the little white sphere.

SWEET CLOVER SEED BRINGS BIG RETURNS

Large Quantities being Threshed in This Territory; Good Yields

Farmers of this territory are this year receiving big returns on some grass seeds, as well as hay, and present indications are that seed shipments from here will break all records. Sweet clover is proving a particularly profitable crop, with seed prices up to 10¢ cents a pound and very satisfactory yields. Many growers in this vicinity are getting returns of from $20 to $70, and even up to $90, an acre.

A report from local dealers reveals that more than 10 carloads of sweet clover seed will have been shipped from this city by the end of the week, and shipments have already been made to the amount of 20 carloads this year.

Modern Conditions Hit Consumption of Wool

A bulletin issued by R. E. Jones, general manager of the Minnesota Co-operative Wool Growers association, contains observations of interest to the general public as well as to sheep breeders among Minnesota farmers. Recent dullness in the demand has largely withdrawn local buyers, according to Mr. Jones, and this has resulted in increased shipments to the co-operative association with headquarters at Wabasha, consignments coming in there continually.

"The demand is mainly for the bright mediums for the attractive assortative of reasons," says Mr. Jones. "More and more of rayon is being used, especially for women's wear and hosiery, which together with the curtailment in women's wear, and men's wear as well, from the amount formerly used enormously materially on the consumption of wool. The decrease of women's wear has decreased about 50 per cent and of men's wear about 25 per cent from what it was a few years ago. In the coldest weather obtainable, in the street car, the railway car and the bus are all comfortably heated so that summer wear is worn practically the year around," declares the wool sage of Wabasha.

An Open Letter to the Voters

Having become a candidate for Congress, by action of the voters in the Republican primaries, it seems right and proper that I should tell you what my ideas and purposes are, if elected.

I have very definite views on legislation for the benefit of agriculture. The relief, to my mind, is to a great extent the controlling factor in making prices. There are four points in the relation of agriculture to the tariff that I am going to work on, if elected.

First—I am going to fight against any attempt to reduce the tariff on butter, flax and the few other farm products on which the present tariff is now both effective and protective.

Second—I am going to fight for an increase in the tariff on some farm products, on which the present tariff is effective, but not high enough to be protective.

Third—I am going to fight to make the tariff operative on wheat, corn and other crops of which we raise an exportable surplus, and on which the tariff is now inoperative. To be effective because we produce more within the country than we consume, formed at Fertile and organization I propose to accomplish this, in my opinion, is something along the line of the export debenture plan. Under this plan, the tariff would be made effective on the exportable surplus, and on which the present tariff is now inoperative. To be effective because we produce more within the country than we consume,

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota

submitted by the Legislature at its General Session, 1925, to the People of Minnesota at the General 1926 Election Together with Statements of

Purpose and Effect of each

Prepared by

CLIFFORD L. HILTON
Attorney-General of Minnesota.

And Addressed to

MIKE HOLM
Secretary of State.

ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA,
OFFICE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL,
HONORABLE MIKE HOLM,
Secretary of State,
St. Paul, Minnesota.

Sir:—In accordance with the provisions of section 10, General Statutes 1923, I furnish you herewith a statement of the purpose and effect of proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota which are to be submitted to the people of the State at the general election in 1926, in accordance with certain acts adopted by the Legislature at the 1925 session thereof, to-wit:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 1

(By the adoption of chapter 402, Laws 1925, the Legislature has proposed an amendment to section 2, article 6, of the Constitution, relating to the supreme court. That section is now to read as follows:

"Section 2. The supreme court shall consist of one chief justice and two associate justices, but the number of associate justices may be increased to a number not exceeding four, by the legislature, by a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each house. The associate justices first in rotation in such original cases as may be assigned to them by the chief justice, in the manner provided by law, shall be the first to be called to preside in the court in case the chief justice be disqualified, or be for any reason absent at the time appointed for the hearing of any cause, and shall preside in such cases in the order in which they are called, until the disability is removed, or the absence ceases. In the case of the absence of the chief justice, or his disqualification in all cases, both of the associate justices first in rotation shall preside. The decision of a majority of the court shall be final, but any two judges may order a case to be heard before the full court. Any judge may at any time resign his office to the governor, and while holding his office for the term of four years, and until his successor is elected and qualified, and the term of office of the chief justice shall be seven years, and until his successor is duly elected and qualified, and the term of office of the associate justices shall be five years, and until his successor is duly elected and qualified, and the terms of office of the judges of the supreme court shall commence on the first Monday in January next after their election.

THE PURPOSE OF THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The purpose of the proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to increase the number of associate justices of the supreme court from two to four, at the option of the legislature, by a two-thirds vote, that is, by the vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house of the legislature. The present constitution provides that the number of associate justices shall not be increased by the legislature, but that the number shall remain two.

THE EFFECT OF THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

The effect of the proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to authorize legislative action increasing the number of associate justices of the supreme court, if the legislature by a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each house shall so provide. The present constitution provides that the number of associate justices shall not be increased by the legislature, but that the number shall remain two. The amendment would not itself increase the number of associate justices of the supreme court, but would only authorize the legislature to do so by a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each house. The legislature has not yet increased the number of associate justices of the supreme court, and it is doubtful whether it will do so at the present session of the legislature. If the legislature should increase the number of associate justices of the supreme court, it would be necessary to provide for the election of two additional associate justices at the next general election, in order that the terms of office of the associate justices may be so arranged that the term of office of one associate justice will expire every two years. The terms of office of the chief justice and of the associate justices would not be affected by the amendment.

(By the adoption of chapter 412, Laws 1925, the Legislature has proposed an amendment to section 1 article 11 of the constitution, relating to corporations. This section now reads as follows:

"Section 1. The legislature shall have power to alter, limit, or abolish the charter of any corporation now existing and subject to legislative control, for the purpose of carrying on within this state any kind of business, and to prescribe the manner in which, and the terms upon which, foreign corporations shall be admitted to do business within this state, but no such alteration, limitation or abolishment shall be made so as to impair the rights of creditors thereof; nor shall any law be passed granting to any corporation, association or individual any special or exclusive privilege or immunity, nor shall the property, real or personal, of any individual be taken under the power of eminent domain for the use of any corporation, without just compensation first made or secured to the owner thereof, as may be prescribed by law; nor shall any corporation engaged in the business of insurance, transportation or transmission, have the right to consolidate its stock, property or franchises with any other corporation owning a competing line; nor shall any railroad company hereafter organized in this state, or any railroad company organized elsewhere and doing business in this state, own any stock in any other railroad company doing business in this state, except such as may be taken in good faith in the construction and operation of its road, and which may be necessary for the construction and operation of its road, and which may be necessary for the construction and operation of its road, and which may be sold or disposed of with all convenient speed consistent with the best interests of such railroad company; nor shall any railroad company consolidate its stock, property or franchises with any other railroad company owning a competing line; nor shall any railroad company hereafter organized in this state, or any railroad company organized elsewhere and doing business in this state, own any stock in any other railroad company doing business in this state, except such as may be taken in good faith in

PROTESTING LICENSE FOR TRUCK LINES

Goodridge Citizens Oppose T. R. F.-Grygla Lines at Hearing Here Thursday

BUSINESS OF ELECTRIC LINE CUT BY TRUCKS

Goodridge-Grygla Line Proposed as Sufficient for Freight Service

Thief River Falls and Wealthies may lose the electric line if further competition from automobile trucks on the railroad, according to statements made in the hearing here last Thursday before members of the railroad and warehouse commission when applicants for a truck service between Grygla and Thief River Falls and also West Towne and this city were heard.

The hearing was called by the commission, following applications from Henry Hirsch and Lyle Sweeney, of Grygla and Albert Miller of Four Towns. The state requires that sufficient reason be shown for the service of passenger and truck service where railway service is being given, before permits will be granted, and it was up to the three men above named to show reasons for the issuance of the required certificates of public convenience and necessity to operate as auto transportation companies.

The applicants were closely questioned by the three members of the railroad commission, the hearing being headed by Ivan Bowen as to their proposed schedules, routes, class of merchandise carried, passenger service, kinds of trucks operated and their tonnage, and the required insurance protection. They were also questioned at length by representatives of the Thief River Falls Commercial club and the electric railway, which are concerned in the granting of the applications, as the trucks already have cut into the business of the road between Thief River Falls and Goodridge to some extent, and will cut more in time to come.

Similar hearings were held thruout the state last week, Edward (The Leafers Band) is an irresistable fun-making proprietor of the Triangle Bus company of Crookston, has petitioned before the commission for a license to operate a daily bus run between Fargo and Grand Forks. This company is the one that operating busses out of Crookston, Bemidji, and by some of its owners, Thief River Falls, Grand Forks, and Fargo. James Scott of Fosston was present to present the petitioning to extend their bus line from Detroit to Erskine, Red Lake county.

The one side claimed that with twice a day mail, express and freight service on the electric, line up with Red Lake county, died recently, namely, passenger service, that outlay would be required within a sufficient lapse a time pioneer, and Carl Skrivseth, a resident so that the trucks only need to run of the community for 28 years.

"Tony" Dorn Recalls War-time Bout with World's Champion

When A. H. "Tony" Dorn, 220-pound salesman for the Gamble-Robinson company of this city, heard that Gene Tunney, New York marine, had been crowned the world champion, he grinned and remarked that that "she's quite a scrapper."

And "Tony" knows something about Gene's punch.

It was back in 1918 when he first became acquainted with the young man who took the title from Jack Dempsey in Toledo, Ohio, Tuesday night. Both were serving in the U. S. marines but in different companies, and one fine day while they were stationed at Quantico, Virginia, the question arose as to which company had the best manipulator of the gloves. Tunney, then unknown to the sport world, and Dorn were chosen to decide the honors of their respective companies and "Tony" says it lasted three rounds. The Times representative didn't ask him if it was a knock-out or not, but he has been heard to say that Tunney "put his lights out" when he wasn't watching." And he didn't get $40,000 out of it either as did Dempsey, either.

But then, it was only eight years later that Tunney became the world's champion, and any one who has given a man with such a title a few "lefts" and "rights" ought to feel justly proud. The two men were about the same size, altho Tunney had the advantage in some respects.

Linking a sergeant who called him "Tonney" unconsciously started Tonney in the ring, Mr. Dorn says. He was frequently called on to show his fistic ability, which five scientific training failed to do, and which developed him into the present champion. "He's a fine fellow," declares Mr. Dorn, who feels assured that the championship has never been held by a better or more manly man than Gene. W. H. Beck of Glenwood, Minn., is conductor, who stays in this city frequently, was among the thousands who watched the Tunney-Dempsey fight. He had been Tunney's guest four times previously and says that the ex-champion does not drink, that he did not have the "pep" he used to.

Later the voter and witness each signs the envelopes. OPPOSE VALUE RAISE

A hearing of the Marshall county board's protest against the Minnesota tax commission's order raising 20 per cent in real estate valuation as fixed by the commission, will be held in the St. Paul tomorrow. The board, which is composed of Commissioners Harvey W. D. Braggans, claims that the valuation fixed by it is fair and in accordance with established real estate values. As announced in last week's issue the commission withdrew its five per cent increase of Pennington real estate valuations.

Fire Department Honored at Club Luncheon Thursday

In special observance of Fire Prevention Week the Commercial club will Thursday paid tribute to the Thief River Falls fire department, members of which were guests at the luncheon and subject of highly complimentary remarks for their faithful work in protection of life and property. Postmaster Daniel Shaw, who as an insurance man has noted the work of the fire department during the past many years, spoke in behalf of the club and called attention to the efficiency of the local fire fighters.

Paul Middaugh, chief of the fire department, since 1911 and a member since its organization in 1901 when 27 citizens offered their services for police protection, responded for the firemen, thanking the businessmen for the co-operation given the department in removing fire hazards. He stated, however, that the city needs a new fire truck and equipment, and that he would soon be called out for fire.

An interesting bit of history was brought to light by Martin Wilson of Crookston, who in his remarks stated that he had been a member of the Thief River Falls fire department in its first years, back in 1905-07. Mr. Wilson was transferred in 1908 to Crookston, the Spanish-American war, enlisting and being employed somewhere here. Dorothy Linnell, Minneapolis, a Red American Alliance insurance company was unable to be present, his scheduled talk on fire prevention.

Mr. Middaugh announced this week had a very appropriate fire prevention display, prepared by Assistant Cashier George Swedlin.

WELL PLEASED

Dr. Christopher Graham, Rochester physician and prominent Holstein breeder who owns 1000 acres of land in this locality, was here Friday to look after his farm interests. He expressed himself as well satisfied with the progress being made here and is decidedly optimistic about the future of this locality. He believes that farming in this territory offers just as much opportunity as in any other part of the state, providing the farms are properly operated.

Vegetative Nerves

Your vegetative nervous system works twenty-four hours a day.

Every part of your body calls continuously for blood. It is the duty of the vegetative system to see that every part is supplied.

When the framework of your body grows stiff and does not move freely, it interferes with some of those nerves.

That is when sickness really begins. For it is then that insufficient blood supply or inadequate drainage lowers the resistance of your body.

When the body mechanic (the osteopathic physician) adjusts the machine (the body) the nerve and blood supply and the lymph move freely again, and Nature causes the body to throw off the sickness.

Remember, a body cannot keep well
If nerve or blood or lymph channels are interfered with. This is why the osteopathic physician removes such obstructions.

NEW GRAVELING PLAN

Applying one coat of gravel in the fall and another in the spring, is the new method being tried by the state highway department in graveling contracts which are awarded this fall. It is expected to make a better road and to cause less inconvenience to road users. With its 17 miles of graveling, all to be done on the new plan, were 2 miles opened last week. Bids were also received on 55 miles of paving and 115 miles of grading. A list of tentative contracts includes 11 miles graveling on T. H. No. 8, east from Langby, to Western Gravel company, Minneapolis, at $102,296, and 20 miles graveling from Moorhead to Hawley on T. H. No. 2, to A. J. Johnson, Minneapolis, at $318,951. N. A. Holen Heads Marshall County Taxpayers League

Organization of a Marshall County Taxpayer's League took place at Argyle Tuesday of last week, when a mass meeting of taxpayers was held in the Argyle Commercial club and drew up a constitution, elected officers, and named part of the executive committee.

The organization was addressed by H. J. Miller, manager of the Minnesota Taxpayer's association. Norman A. Holen of Newfolden, known to many in this community, was elected the first president of the organization. R. C. Mathwig of Warren was elected secretary. Part of the advisory are to be elected in each township, village, and city in the county. Among the 17 elected at the meeting in Argyle are Breda Steendahl of Newfolden and Alma D. Benjamin of Middle River. Mr. Holen was for one time employed in the Thief River State bank in this city.

The object of the league as stated in the constitution adopted is to be an agency in keeping the taxes from getting larger, and to be a non-partisan body for the governments of the county in making expenditures and also being before the people what the taxmoney is spent for, in an economical way from $1 to $5, to be determined by the amount of taxes the individual pays.

FARM YEARBOOK READY

Congressman Knud Wefald just received word from the Department of Agriculture that the yearbook of the Agriculture for 1925 is ready for distribution. The yearbook for 1925 is the latest one out, and has just come off the press. It can be procured by writing to Congressman Knud Wefald, Ivley, Minn., for it. He will be glad to send it to any one directly or indirectly interested in farming who writes him for it. It is sent out free. Congressman Wefald states that the 1925 Yearbook is the biggest one yet put out, and contains many valuable statistics on farming and farm products. It also contains the report of the secretary of agriculture to the president on the agricultural situation, and numerous articles on the various phases of farming written by experts in the department. Mr. Wefald states that he also has a few copies of the 1923 and 1924 Yearbooks left, and these will be sent free to those who request them on long as the supply lasts.

ONLY SUNDAY MOVIES WILL BE VOTED ON

Mayor Vetoes Resolution Calling for Vote on Other Closing Proposal

SAMPLE BALLOTS APPEAR IN TIMES THIS WEEK

Political Interest Gaining as Election Day, November 2, Approaches

Only one Sunday closing question will confront Thief River Falls voters at the general election November 2, Mayor W. W. Prichard, Jr., having vetoed the city council's resolution to put to a vote the proposal closing of confectionery stores, soft drink parlors, except necessary ones, on Sunday. However, election ballots have already been posted putting up to a vote the question of closing "places of public amusement" on Sunday, as charged, affecting principally the theatres. The resolution involving the latter proposal was signed by the mayor Thursday afternoon.

This vote will merely indicate to the council whether or not this city wants the ordinance now pending becomes operative on Sunday.

Mayor Prichard in vetoing the resolution states that he feels there is no occasion for such an ordinance as the present one, and that the same would be extremely difficult to determine what businesses are necessary and which should be closed.

A sample of the ballots which will be handed to voters a week from next Tuesday appear elsewhere in this issue of The Times, and voters are urged to study the list of candidates, as well as the three constitutional amendments so as to cast an intelligent ballot on election day.

County Auditor T. F. Anderson reports receiving a large number of absent voter applications and is now ready to supply ballots. Election supplies are being distributed in the various precincts shortly.

With candidates busily interviewing the voters the interest appears to be gaining as election day approaches, and it is expected that there will be a big turnout at the polls.

Found Guilty on Second Degree "Larceny Charge—Will Appeal Fower Decision

A jury in Red Lake county district court Saturday rendered a verdict of guilty in the case against Guder J. Hagen, assistant cashier of the defunct Farmers State bank of Plummer, who was tried on a charge of embezzlement of funds of the bank. It is reported that an appeal will be taken.

Hagen pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Justice W. J. Healy in the district court last month. He was represented by P. A. Grady of Crookston, and by Attorney Chas. E. Vaughan, Jr., and his assistant, Chas. E. Baughman, of the Red Lake county bar of the state. The state's principal witnesses was H. P. Boeren, cashier of the bank, who is serving a sentence in the state prison at Stillwater. He was brought to Red Lake Falls by a prison guard and on Saturday in his testimony implicated Hagen in the alleged fraudulent transactions. Hagen is also charged with forgery, and fraudulent signing and accepting of checks, but was tried on only one charge. Judge William Watts of Crookston presided.

John Lind, Former Governor, to Speak Here October 27

John Lind, former Democratic governor of Minnesota, will be here to address a meeting in the auditorium Wednesday evening, October 27, announces H. H. Gjesdal, county farmers' institute chairman. Mr. Lind is making a series of talks in the Ninth and Seventh districts in behalf of the Farmer-Labor party, particularly Congressman Wefald and O. J. Kvale.

LACK OF EXPERIENCE DID NOT STOP HIM

In an article under the caption "Horse Nobody Farmed," by John Day Kay, Jr., Succeeds Just the Same," the October 9 issue of The Farmer, St. Paul, gives an interesting story of a Pennington county farmer. The story is written by Kay, F. Shannon, back to my trade. In 1917 a neighbor who was selling out came over to representative of The Farmer, and is accompanied by a picture of Mr. Kast in his farm yard. Following is the article:

"My experience is not always a handicap when one takes up a new task, as I found out. In fact, I think the case of John Kast, Pennington County, Minn., is a blessing. Let me tell you my story.

"I had nothing to recommend myself to my family as being trained in any trade as a boilermaker and went to farming," he said in telling me of his experiences. "I also intended to follow the occupation of my father and had a boiler-maker's outfit.

Mr. Kast was the first settler in the Goodridge district 12 years ago. He arrived there on a rainy night, all his worldly possessions in a box car, and with his wife set out in the darkness through 11 miles of swamp road to the present farmhouse that was to be their future home.

Other settlers who followed him into that district tried wheat, or following the methods they had used in the older states, but he didn't have any other method, so he started milking cows. Today he is still there; many of the others gave up the task and departed.

"I brought three milk cows and two of the Farmer.

Many Attend Food Demonstration; Store Are Busy

It is estimated that at least 900 persons enjoyed a lunch consisting of Del Monte coffee, Vita-health bread, and Nash's Delicious coffee served at the demonstration given Wednesday and Thursday in the former Zeh grocery company. Approximately 300 persons called at the Thief River Grocery company during the noon hour Wednesday, when the demonstration was in charge of Miss Ruth Hall, who is in charge of the demonstrations, and Miss Ethel Hanson, who is in charge of the store. Miss Hall is a graduate of the Minneapolis School of Domestic Science, and has had considerable experience in demonstration work.

Thursday the demonstration was in charge of Miss Hanson, who is also a graduate of the Minneapolis School of Domestic Science, and has had considerable experience in demonstration work.

Miss Hall and Miss Hanson are both very pleasing in their personalities, and have made many friends during their stay here. Miss Hall left Friday for Bemidji, where she will be in charge of a demonstration there.

SHEEP AND PIG CLUBS EXHIBIT FINE ANIMALS

Cash Prizes Offered by Banks and Businessmen Given out at Street Show

MANY FARMERS TOO BUSY TO ATTEND

Five Pennington Boys and Girls Get Free Trips to State Livestock Show

That Pennington county boys and girls can raise and know something about good livestock was demonstrated Saturday when members of the Pennington county Sheep and Pig clubs exhibited their animals at the street show in Thief River Falls. While all of the juniors did not enter their pets, a good showing was made and farmers and other visitors to the exhibition agreed that the animals were of excellent quality and gave evidence of the best care. It is believed that the exhibition exceeded expectations on account of the busy season, a large number of threshing outfits being in operation and many farmers working in the fields.

George Wilson, whose sheep scored 93½ at the 1926 county fair, have represented Pennington county at last year's junior show when he captured fifth place. Wilson is also a member of the advisory board of the Parent-Teachers association to be held Monday night, November 1, in the Knox school auditorium. Special features of the program will be furnished by pupils of the Knox school, details of the program to be announced next week.

Clarence Swanson, Thief River Falls, showed the champion pig in the show, a Duroc Jersey gilt, which scored 93 points. Swanson's pig was also awarded second prize in the class for pigs under 8 months of age, and third prize in the class for pigs under 6 months of age. Swanson's pig was also awarded second prize in the class for pigs under 8 months of age, and third prize in the class for pigs under 6 months of age.

IN MEMORIAN
IN MEMORY of Emma Caroline Carlson, who passed away one year ago today.

When life's evening shadows are falling
And we're sitting all alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing
If she only would come home.
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who loved can tell
That a heart's home is always
Where a loved one's gone to dwell.

Sadly missed by husband and children,
John Carlson

Something To Feel Good About

Turn out two-thirds of the lights in your home and you have practically the same light as you had ten years ago at approximately the same price that you are now paying.

Light is almost synonymous with happiness. Even the humblest can now afford that which the richest could not have a century ago.

The manufacture of electric current has been so efficiently developed and the science of lamp making has advanced so that people are living in far brighter surroundings than they did even ten years ago.

Electric light companies are engaged in a thrilling race. Today one of them forges ahead with a new economy of machine or method and it is promptly adopted by all the rest. The goal toward which all are working is the same—to keep electricity cheap and the service reliable.

Since 1913, the average cost of living has gone up 69%, but due to increasing efficiency, the cost of electricity to the consumer has not followed the same trend to high levels of price.

Rev. Tollakson Again Heads Golden Rule Sunday Group

preparing for the observance of Golden Rule Sunday, December 5. Governor Theodore Christianson, state chairman, has appointed Rev. S. L. Tollakson as the local chairman to direct the observance of this world wide movement in this vicinity.

In his letter to Rev. Tollakson Governor Christianson writes:

"The Golden Rule is the common denominator of all beliefs. It is one of the few expressions of religion around which no controversy centers. Neither Protestant nor Catholic, Fundamentalist nor Modernist, Jew nor Gentile criticise this Golden precept. It is the one platform on which the whole community regardless of religion or creed can meet.

"If service to distressed and underprivileged children, wherever found, can be extended, through the increasing observance of International Golden Rule Sunday, it will, as President Coolidge has said, do much towards removing the misunderstandings among nations as well as among individuals."

The immediate beneficiaries of International Golden Rule Sunday are the orphaned children of the Near East. There are 25,000 of them now under American care and for them $75,000 worth must be provided in the next year. These children are not only without father or mother and without known responsible relations but many of them are without a country. Rev. Tollakson is developing plans that will enable all residents of this community to make a Golden Rule Gift on December 5 for these worthy but unfortunate children.

DESERVES PUBLIC INTEREST

It is a regretable fact that but a mere handful of music lovers and public spirited citizens turned out for the big band concert by the newly organized municipal band at the auditorium Sunday afternoon. The $2 members of the organization have shown remarkable development during the few rehearsals under the direction of L. F. Tulson and their playing Sunday was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. It is safe to say that this city is assured of a band in which its citizens may well take pride. Those providing are devoting much time and effort in providing this worthy organization and it is to be hoped that future concerts be attended by larger numbers. A large crowd inspires the players.

A FORERUNNER

In commenting upon the opening of the first local sugar factory in the Red River valley, the Grand Forks Herald says: "Grand Forks has no copyright on sugar factories. While the fabulous era in this movement has been taken here, it is hoped and expected that this factory will be a forerunner of several others to be placed in advantageous points through the district, for the extension of this form of activity will mean better things for all of us."

Citizens of this community should keep this prospect in mind. While there is sufficient interest in beet growing around Thief River Falls to altogether likely that a factory will be established here, this being a favorable beet territory.

In the meantime, let's grow more sugar beets.

The following from the Grand Rapids Herald-Review strikes at a too common evil in these days of politics:

"The other day we heard an ugly story about a man who is active in the county political campaign. Friends of the maligned citizen traced the story to its source and asked the originator why he told it. The reply was this:

"Anything is all right in politics."

"A lawyer, for an office holder was being severely criticised for serious public error. He replied that why he talked that way. His reply was that he really felt that his acts were all right, but politics is politics.

"If there is any place where a high degree of honesty, integrity and honor is needed it is in the field of political activity. The old-fashioned sermon-out politics of the politics swamp and the malicious story teller are really gone. These things got by with a few years, but not very many. The public doesn't want politicians who whisper, but those who speak their true opinions honestly.

"There is a new day coming in politics. In years past a Democrat was a Democrat or a Republican was a Republican. People with integrity and honor in their political faith as well as with these same qualities in the merchant or the man with whom they do business.

"Trickery and deceit doesn't get by."

Now is the time of year when the weeds along the road should be cut, especially along the roads used by the rural mail carriers. These faithful servants will greatly appreciate this little courtesy by the patrons of the routes. At least, it is impossible for the travel roads that are badly drifted, making the roads passable will add to the prompt delivery of mail.

We cannot familiar with the forms of dancing in vogue in our modern thriving village of Plummer, but The Pioneer of last week contains the following item: "Madge Craft had the misfortune of throwing his right shoulder out of joint last Friday evening while attending a dance at the village hall."

An editor in a nearby county described the activities of candidates these as follows: "Many of the candidates have been attending church regularly, kissing babies, shaking with the hand of every voter they could meet, those that are liable to run the elusive vote, when it is time for the end of the campaign and the voters are sitting back and enjoying it, and many of them are promising all the candidates their votes. Under the circumstances it looks as if all ten candidates are sure winners."

Another menace almost as serious as the reckless and drunken driver is the person that drives on the trunk highways at night in any unlighted horse drawn vehicle. It is almost impossible to detect horse drawn vehicles on the highway at night in passing the glaring headlights of cars and such vehicles should carry a warning red light. The next legislature should enact a measure that will remove this menace on the public highways.—Milaca Times.

Thos. Early Tells Amazing Story

Sounded Almost From Death's Door, Nearly Tells How Taken Sewel Him.

Thomas H. Early, 1208 Clark St., Omaha, Neb., gives most convincing account of his wonderful recovery.

"Before I took Tanlac I was so weak and almost given up hope of ever getting my health. I really thought I was 'through.' From morning till night I suffered pain. My nerves were so frazzled I could not sleep and terrible spells attacked me. Food caused hours of intense suffering; cold sweat would break out on my face.

"I want the world to know what Tanlac did for me. It relieved me at once, built me up, restored my appetite and strength, banished all nervousness, indigestion and dizziness, put 20 lbs. of solid flesh on my wasted frame.

"Tanlac is certainly a wonderful tonic from roots, herbs and barks possibly relieves constipation, clears up sluggish liver, puts stomach in shape, regulates bowels and builds strength. Take the wonder tonic and remedy at your druggist's.

QUIET WRITES AGAIN

Dear Editor:

Has the rich pay no taxes, why do they worry so much about the tax laws? According to Wilsten's philosophy, why bother with taxes at all? Why not leave it to the rich to, out of the goodness of their heart make voluntary contributions that will keep the government going? The conclusion most inevitably be drawn from Wilsten's writings that this is the proper way of running the government and that this is the plan that Bolvig likes and is for. If the rich pay no taxes why should they worry about inheritance taxes, and why bother their worry about the tax-exempt securities? Why should they worry about how the tax laws are administered, why should they care about tax exemptions and abatements? Wilsten's pleas on the tax question are about as clear as soup.

It is for us to discuss the question of tax exempt securities with Wilsten, he does not know anything about the matter. He says Wefald voted with the Wall Street crowd, that he means that the socialist, Mr. Berger, voted with both the Wall Street Republicans and the Wall Street Democrats. Mr. Wilsten cannot even read the Congressional Record straight, he cannot even read out aloud and read the truth. Mr. Wefald has discussed the matter of tax-exempt securities with The Times and I believe that when Mr. Wefald's article is read it will be the first real honest information he has had on this subject. Mr. Wefald truly has Wefald wisen them. Mr. Wilsten is wrong on this question that Wilsten understands, Bolvig, and he dare to come out and say that he will support the exemption of tax on all securities. The farmers understand this question quite well. By the way, if Bolvig had put his power scheme over, how could he have gotten the money without tax free securities?

In regard to wild charges of outside financing in the campaign, it is safe to say that the money must come from some place to finance the republican campaigns for Congress in this state. We know that the village of this district has been assessed by a certain amount of money to help defray the expenses of the Republican congressional campaign here but most of it, if not all, the financial assessment is being such that the merchants feel that they have any prosperity to share with Wall Street. So the money must come from some place, and Bolvig has been a candidate for Congress since 1920. He has been campaigning openly for nearly two years and has had plenty of time to get the money. Perhaps some may be interested to know that the total acreage of cultivated land affected by this bill was much considerable less than a half section—most of it owned by Mr. Landby. The rest of the story like in Roosevelt county is monkey, peat bog, stump land is nearly all owned by farmers, and is nearly all owned by speculators who figure on collecting big profits from the government for it. Mr. Berkman, who I referred to, had the contracts from the land owners years before the bill was passed.

Mr. Landby's intense interest in Wefald's election lies in the fact that Congress has reserved the last say as to the size of the damages to be allowed, and if the appraising officer fails to give Mr. Landby the large figure that he figures on he hopes that Wefald will be in Congress and help him pull it through there. That is why Mr. Landby is willing to help so materially in circulating the false statements in your last issue signed "Foreigner" and very evidently a product of Mr. Wefald's most battery at Moorhead.

The writer says:

"Take Norway as an example. The present annual quota is 6,426. If Wefald's bill becomes law the quota will be reduced to only 4,015, while according to the new law, which will be in force next year, the quota will diminish to a trifle over two thousand."

The truth is—

That the quota from Norway under the present law is 12,250—and not as "Foreigner" says. The quota under the present law is 12,250—and Wefald voted on its passage of the House, is 2,335. May be Wefald introduced a bill to cut it 6,215. That makes a big difference, for no one in Congress pays any attention to a Wefald bill. It is for home consumption only—for the people in the district who disagree with him on the idea of cutting down the quota from Norway from 12,250 to 2,335.

The difference between the law Wefald voted for and the bill he says he introduced is merely in figures, not in principle. The law reduces the quota by 90 per cent and the bill reduces it by 82 per cent. He plainly admits that he thinks those who come from Norway are undesirable citizens, or he would have put the present quota—12,250—in his bill.

Mr. Wefald claims he voted against the adoption of the Senate amendment to the bill, which decreased the quota from Norway from 50 per cent to 82 per cent, and that he "made an effort to kill it when he was in Congress." Mr. Wefald voted for the "end to the" amendment, which was the most severe amendment, from among the 106 members who were against the bill when he voted for it, at least the twenty-five necessary to force a roll call. As it was Mr. Wefald's amendment was not adopted without a record vote, and there is no official record as to how Wefald voted, but we will take for granted that he acted "true" when he shout all alone, instead of voting "no" at the time it would count.

I see Mr. Landby getting excited over the criticism of the Lake of the Woods bill. He says Wefald did not write the bill, but that Secretary Kellogg did. Yet Mr. Wefald made one of his "phantom speeches" about this bill, and said it was his personal farm relief measure, and had the power printed at the expense of the government and sent into the district as political propaganda in his own behalf.

The truth about this bill is probably that some clerk in the Department of State wrote it, it was read by Secretary, the exhaustion of many years of proceedings, and its passage was requested by the administration as a matter of course.

other days of the week, it would thereby be counted before the law that the character of those things done are not bad in themselves, but it becomes wrong when done on Sunday. If the act in itself is wrong, it should not be allowed on any day of the week. A wrong act is bad no matter if it is done, stealing or killing is a civil wrong no matter when done. Neither is anything a sin which does an otherwise lawful act wrong when done on Sunday. Why? Sunday is regarded by nearly the whole world as a RELIGIOUS day. Hence, the reason for, and the reason for the legislation for this ordinance is for religious and not for civil reasons.

But some may say, "Are there not evil tendencies and temptations that should be removed?" Yes, and the people might be more easily won for the doing?"

Yes, and this is no doubt the purpose of the above mentioned ordinance. The cause is praiseworthy, and therefore appears innocent. But the method is wrong, and it is in the same class as that of the so-called "National Reform Party" of the early days of the Protestant Church, which destroyed object and means. "To secure an amendment to the Constitution of the United States as shall—Indicate that this is a Christian nation, and place in the list the law, institutions, and usages of Christianity, and make the Bible the basis in the fundamental law of the land." This would enforce obedience to such institutions as the Bible, and contemplate upon all the people in this land the duty of conforming to such institutions. It would invade the conscience of the individual, and place the government in the position of being the judge of the conscience of the individual, we should get together and peel our interests. Business men, farmers, laboring men and professional men, all of us must contribute to build up the country in which we live and have all our investments. In this connection we must be represented in Congress by the most efficient representative that we can get. That man is C. G. Selvig. Stand by him, fight for him, and we would have him fight for us at Washington.

Respectfully,
A. J. Zodlicka.

JUDGE DIBELL SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED

The record of Judge Homer B. Dibell as a judge of the Supreme Court of Minnesota has been forward-looking and progressive.

His official record while on the district bench was characterized by an early favor with men of power or corporate influence, and the laboring men of Duluth will long remember his vigorous decision, announced from the bench immediately after the arguments, at the time of the application of the Duluth, Rifter, Railway Company for an injunction against its old employes in the switching strike in 1912.

Judge Dibell was born and reared on a farm and built his way through college largely from his earnings. Many others have done likewise, but unlike many such others, Judge Dibell has never forgotten the struggles and hardships of the common man and the working man. He has not let luxury tempt him to forget his heritage. He has been broad, through all the years as he has climbed the ladder to success and distinction in the eyes of any man who has sat on the supreme bench of this state.—The Leader Week.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota

Submitted by the Legislature at its General Session, 1925, to the People of Minnesota at the General 1926 Election Together with Statements of

Purpose and Effect of each

Prepared by

GLIFFORD L. HILTON

Attorney-General of Minnesota.

Addressed to

MIKE HOLM

Secretary of State.

ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA,
OFFICE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL,
November 15, 1926.

HONORABLE MIKE HOLM,
Secretary of State,
St. Paul, Minn.

In compliance with the provisions of section 10, General Statutes 1923, I furnish you herewith a statement of the purposes and effect of proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota which are to be submitted to the electors of the State at the general election in 1926, in accordance with certain acts enacted by the legislature at the 1925 session thereof.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 1

By the adoption of chapter 425, Laws 1925, the legislature has proposed an amendment to section 2, article 6, of the Constitution, relating to the supreme court. This section now reads as follows:

"Section 2. The supreme court shall consist of one chief justice and six associate justices. It shall have original jurisdiction in such remedial cases as may be prescribed by law, and appellate jurisdiction in all cases, both in law and equity, but there shall be no trial by jury in said court. It shall hold one or more terms in each year, as the legislature may direct, at the seat of government, and its jurisdiction shall extend to such other parts of the state as may be provided by law. The state shall be divided into as many districts as there are associate justices, and one of the associate justices shall be selected from each district by the electors thereof, who shall have the qualifications of judges of district court, and hold the office for the term of four years, and until his successor is duly elected and qualified; and the judges of the supreme court, by a majority of them, shall allot the districts to the judges, necessary in the office of each of the supreme court until an election can be regularly had."

The Purpose of the Proposed Amendment: The supreme court, as now organized under the constitution, consists of a chief justice and four associate justices, all elected by the people. In 1911, to relieve the congestion of business before the court, the legislature passed a law providing for the appointment of two commissioners to assist the court in the performance of its duties. The act under which these commissioners are appointed provides that the governor may appoint two persons as justice commissioners, and also provides that if by amendment to the constitution, the number of associate justices shall be increased to six, the office of commissioner shall be abolished.

It is evident that commissioners are an integral part of the court, and not merely advisory boards, take part in discussions, and in general do the same work as the regular justices, but they have no vote in determining the final decisions of the court. The legislature has not given the court authority to review the decisions of the commissioners, and the conclusions of the court is governed by the constitution.

The purpose of the proposed amendment is to provide for the election of two additional associate justices with full power to act in all matters in regard to them as the regular justices, to take the place of the present commissioners, who will then cease to hold office.

The Effect of the Proposed Amendment: The effect of the proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to increase the number of associate justices of the supreme court from four to six, and to provide that the two additional justices to take the place of the commissioners now holding office.

By the adoption of chapter 426, Laws 1925, the legislature has proposed an amendment to section 2, article 6, of the Constitution, relating to the supreme court. This section now reads as follows:

"Section 2. The supreme court shall consist of one chief justice and two associate justices. It shall have original jurisdiction in such remedial cases as may be prescribed by law, and appellate jurisdiction in all cases, both in law and equity, but there shall be no trial by jury in said court. It shall hold one or more terms in each year, as the legislature may direct, at the seat of government, and its jurisdiction shall extend to such other parts of the state as may be provided by law. The state shall be divided into as many districts as there are associate justices, and one of the associate justices shall be selected from each district by the electors thereof, who shall have the qualifications of judges of district court, and hold the office for the term of four years, and until his successor is duly elected and qualified; and the judges of the supreme court, by a majority of them, shall allot the districts to the judges, necessary in the office of each of the supreme court until an election can be regularly had."

Pursuant to the authority granted by this section the legislature at 1925 increased the number of associate justices from four to six.

If approved as proposed, this section will read as follows:

"Section 2. The supreme court shall consist of one chief justice and six associate justices. But the number of associate justices may be increased to a number not exceeding four, by the legislature, by a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each house. It shall have original jurisdiction in such remedial cases as may be prescribed by law, and appellate jurisdiction in all cases, both in law and equity, but there shall be no trial by jury in said court. It shall hold one or more terms in each year, as the legislature may direct, at the seat of government, and its jurisdiction shall extend to such other parts of the state as may be provided by law. The state shall be divided into as many districts as there are associate justices, and one of the associate justices shall be selected from each district by the electors thereof, who shall have the qualifications of judges of district court, and hold the office for the term of four years, and until his successor is duly elected and qualified; and the judges of the supreme court, by a majority of them, shall allot the districts to the judges, necessary in the office of each of the supreme court until an election can be regularly had."

By the adoption of chapter 424, Laws 1925, the legislature has proposed an amendment to section 3a, article 10, of the Constitution, relating to the forestation. This section now reads as follows:

"Section 3a. The legislature shall have power to provide by law for the appointment of a forestry board to take charge of such forest lands as the state may now own or hereafter acquire, and for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing or commercial business, shall be liable to the amount of stock of said forestry board by him.

If adopted as proposed, this section will read as follows:

"Section 3a. The legislature shall have power to provide by law for the appointment of a forestry board to take charge of such forest lands as the state may now own or hereafter acquire, and for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing or commercial business, shall be liable to the amount of stock of said forestry board by him."

The purpose of the proposed amendment is to authorize the legislature to provide, by law, for the appointment of a forestry board to take charge of such forest lands as the state may now own or hereafter acquire, and for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing or commercial business, shall be liable to the amount of stock of said forestry board by him.

The Effect of the Proposed Amendment: If adopted, it will be optional with the legislature to provide by law for the appointment of a forestry board to take charge of such forest lands as the state may now own or hereafter acquire, and for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing or commercial business, shall be liable to the amount of stock of said forestry board by him.

By the adoption of chapter 427, Laws 1925, the legislature has proposed an amendment to section 3, article 10, of the Constitution, relating to the liability of stockholders in corporations. This section now reads as follows:

"Section 3. The stockholders in every corporation, except railroad corporations, shall be individually liable, equally and ratably, and not one for another, for all moneys due and payable to laborers, servants and apprentices for services performed for such corporation, to an amount equal to the par value of the stock owned by each, in addition to the amount invested in such stock, unless the same be paid or shall have been paid for the benefit of such corporation.

The purpose of the proposed amendment is to authorize the legislature to provide, by law, for the liability of the holders of stockholders in all corporations, including co-operative associations, to an additional, however definite.

If adopted as proposed, this section will read as follows:

"Section 3. The stockholders in every corporation, except railroad corporations, shall be individually liable, equally and ratably, and not one for another, for all moneys due and payable to laborers, servants and apprentices for services performed for such corporation, to an amount equal to the par value of the stock owned by each, in addition to the amount invested in such stock, unless the same be paid or shall have been paid for the benefit of such corporation."

The purpose of the proposed amendment is to authorize the legislature to provide, by law, for the liability of the holders of stockholders in all corporations, including co-operative associations, to an additional, however definite.

The Effect of the Proposed Amendment: If adopted, it will be optional with the legislature to provide by law for the liability of stockholders in corporations to an amount equal to the par value of the stock owned by each, in addition to the amount invested in such stock, unless the same be paid or shall have been paid for the benefit of such corporation.

MODERN YOUTH

For what, of all the suppositions, does modern youth go to college?

"Yes, we've heard that old one about higher education, now tell us a new one, dearie." Of the thousands who yearly enter the halls of Alma Mater, how many of these really learn anything? Edna Ferber, in the sequence about college in the novel "So-Big," divides the Collegiates into two groups: Those who enter either because they have nothing else to do or their parents desire it (which section is made up largely of young men and women), and those who have some definite aim in life in their course. In this latter group are found all classes—the young, the old, the married, the married but unmarried, the failure, caring back to learn "why," and the successful, seeking further knowledge of "gold nuggets" from the vast valley of education.

Modern Youth is generally pictured by the cynic as a group of flappers in "shirks" and "sheiks," dancing daily to the tune of "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we die." Is this Modern youth is nothing of the kind! It is a healthy, happy group—if somewhat flippant and light-headed group of young people who live a little the fun before they put their shoulders under the yoke of life, which probably begins after four more years of study years trying to discover "why they went to college."

THOUGHTS—WHAT ARE YOURS?

That you have at times often wondered what thoughts occupy the minds of others may be illustrated by a frequently employed expression, "A penny for your thoughts." Stop and think what your thoughts are worth. Is there is no more accurate comparison than you yourself.

Do you indulge in "Day-Dreams," fly into high altitudes of Glory or think nice rosy pictures of future events? This is not the imagination that rules the world. It is mental laziness; playing with ideals you are fully aware will never materialize into anything more than ineffective thoughts.

On the other hand, thinking along the right lines can be made the most interesting, the greatest game in life. That is concentrated attention upon existing facts.

TWO DASHING HORSEMEN

Ever ride 19 miles on a Shetland pony in 2 hours and 15 minutes? Frank Bernadi Fox, aged 9, or John Maxwell, aged 13, they know all about it. Leaving here at 1 o'clock Saturday, galloping all the way, they drew up to the football field at Red Lake Falls on their dashing Shetland steeds just in time to witness the last part of the game but it was worth it—28 to 0. Only somehow, the trip was long—coming home, then going, and it was 9:30 before those dashing steeds pulled into Thief River Falls.

PREPARING FOR DEBATE

Julius Ogheim, debate coach, has issued a call for students interested in debating. Those responding are to begin reading material for the preliminary tryouts which are to be held soon. The question for debate this year is, "Resolved: That a United States Department of Education Should be Established, With a Secretary in the President's Cabinet."

TEACHER TRAINING DOINGS

Teacher-Training students report a very interesting three days' trip in which they visited small schools last week in connection with city school observation work. Some of the students who spent Monday, Wednesday, and Friday observing teaching methods in country schools, Tuesday rounding the Normalites were given this initiation: Bernice Tesky, a timorous "small" ability measure" worked out by leading members of the training school, all over the United States. Judging from the reports the students were favorably impressed with the work being carried on in the rural schools of the county.

Goodridge Youth Writes About Trip to National Dairy Show in Detroit

Albert Poppenhagen of Goodridge returned Friday from Detroit, Mich., where he attended the National Dairy Show as a guest of the Minneapolis Journal, which gave free trips to 20 Minnesota boys who were winners in dairy calf clubs in the state fair.

That the young lad enjoyed the trip is indicated by the following account of it, written on the train as the boys returned to Minneapolis:

I am sure you would like to know how I got this wonderful trip to Detroit. In the year 1925 I began calf work, and won first at the county and fourth at the state fair, with my Guernsey calf. In 1926 I received first at the county and first at the state fair, which gave me this trip. I wish to thank the Minneapolis Journal with my heart for giving me this trip for which I have enjoyed so much.

October 5—This morning I got up before four o'clock so I could catch the 5:50 train at Thief River Falls. I said goodbye to my friends and was off on the train for St. Paul. On the train I picked out the nicest looking one who was big still with green pasture. The other was a large valley with a lake or a silver river meandering along. Many summer cattle and cottages here and there were scattered along the line.

The train was delayed an hour, but I arrived in Minneapolis in time to eat breakfast and then to pass before I took the train for the St. Paul depot where I met with the chaperone and he told the conductor I wanted to take the special car, so he told me to wait and he would take me back to the special car I wanted, and about ten minutes before the train left he said I should take the common car because there was no special car. Imagine my disappointment. Two boys from Hennepin county were along, so I had company anyhow.

October 7—Riding all day, seeing many things, miles and miles of view, yards for one thing. In the evening we arrived in Detroit and took a taxi to the fair grounds long after dark. We got our meal tickets and cots and were ready for the long visit.

October 8—In the morning I looked over the exhibits at the Dairy Show, and in the afternoon went through the Ford plant. In the evening we stunt night. I enjoyed this very much, so I am going to tell you about it. I shall tell about one thing that I thought was the best. The Drawing Contest was made up by the state of Michigan. The ones taking part in the contest were the club leaders. The rules were as follows:

1. Must not be older than six hundred days—(less than 19 years).
2. Must have gray or red hair.
3. Must be good looking.
4. Must not weigh more than one hundred not less than one hundred.

Must start on left foot, shot right, write with left hand, turn around and shave at breath.

October 9—Today we went to Canada. Took a bus to the ferry and crossed the Detroit river. We went through the customs and bought some candy and other things, had supper and returned to camp. While going through the cities I was asked where I was from and passed on. The Journal is all over Detroit and in all the movies.

October 10—We were all invited to the St. Paul cathedral where they had a special service for the 4-H club. After the church we went to the convention hall and saw all the exhibits. At one thing we had a banquet where we had a good feed, followed by talks and so forth. I am sure we all enjoyed the program as well as the feed.

We then had another trip while I know I shall never forget. It was to Belle Isle, an island of about 140 acres covered with all kinds of animals and fowls, fishes and plants. It was a wonderful place and I shall visit it again as soon as I get a chance. We looked for a place to eat for we had been walking a long way and were hungry, and tired, but happy just the same. We went to bed that night, slept well, and woke the next morning ready for another trip or whatever was planned.

October 11—Minnesota must be the mayor's favorite state, because our state was the only state that was given the trip around the city at the expense of the mayor. This trip showed us a residence district where these years are there wasn't a building. Now it has many wonderful homes, and more are built all the time. We also met the mayor, and had our picture taken with him. We met and shook hands with Mrs. Paimen who swam the English Channel.

October 12—We visited the General Motors plant and got a view of the city from the top of the seventeenth floor building. We went through parts of the building, and enjoyed it very much. We also went through the Detroit News-Press building, and saw the process necessary to print a newspaper.

October 13—Mr. Gibertson called us at 2:00 o'clock this morning so we could catch the 7:45 train. We had our breakfast in the train and began writing our diaries. In Chicago we went through the Field Museum where we saw mounted animals, Eskimos, and many other things I shall not mention. In the Lincoln park we saw the lions, tigers, bears, monkeys, sea lions, elephants, and others being fed their suppers. We saw the largest hotel in the world, 5000 rooms and bath. It cost $25 per person a hotel.

To conclude my story, I wish to thank everyone for the good time we have had together, and especially The Journal, who offered us the trip. I will try to do all I can to show their club work pays, and that if you will only keep on trying, you will surely win.

A young husband, picking up a piece of his wife's bread at the supper table, examined it carefully and then remarked to his wife: "I wish you could make the bread, dearie, like mother used to make."

To which answered the lady, "I wish you could make the money, dearie, like father used to make."

Silence reigned supreme.

RED LAKE FALLS IS LOSER IN 38-0 FRAY WITH LOCALS SAT.

Crookston to Bring "Fight" for Old Rival in Next Friday's Game

The local second team line plunges scored a decisive victory over the Red Lake Falls players last Saturday by a score of 38 to 0. The Lineshooters easily outclassed the Red Lake Falls eleven, effectively blocking any attempts to advance into scoring territory. The locals either held them for downs or forced them to punt, displaying the ball to Thief River Falls. Two outstanding features of the game were brilliant runs by Emil Bustad, who twice caught the ball on the kick off and broke through the whole Red Lake Falls line for touchdowns. Nevertheless, Bustad and Kaveney did some great line plunging also and carried the ball for several good gains.

The starting line-up for Thief River Falls was: Hengeveld, left end; Dahlen, left tackle; Lastad, left guard; Furan, center; Myrom, right guard; Bustad, right tackle; Hengeland, right end; Severtson, quarter back; Dow, full back; Bostad, half back; Erikson, half back. Substitutes were: Bjerke for Myrom; Harris, for Severtson; Snyder, for Bostad; Sahl, for Dow; Gilson, for Erikson; Erikson, for Bustad; Kaveney, for Gilson.

A large number of Thief Riverites were down here to battle the third team "Cubbies." This will be the last of the two remaining home games and will be played on Friday night. Supposed given Lincoln the advantage, but no doubt Crookston will bring quite a plenty of fight against their old rival.

JOKES

In Public Speaking class about two minutes before the bell rang:

Mr. G: Byron give us a speech.

B. J. T.: I couldn't even get started.

Mr. G.: What's the matter? Battery on the bum?

B. J. T.: Yes, I haven't had it charged yet.

Essay On Cats

We have many different kinds of cats. If we stop to think there are the cats for little boys and girls to maul and tease. There are the "mauliest" cats. Cats which become angry at "Amoorie" cats. Some times cats display—every feeling. These are "Feline" cats. Then we have our human species also, usually made up of spiteful women called the "Alleys."

Tragedy Recipe

Take one reckless, naturel-born fool; two or three big drinks of liquor; one fast car; one speed cop. Soak the fool in the liquor, place in the car and let him go. After six hours, remove from wreckage, place in dark, unfurnished box and garnish with flowers.

Oh! Sammy!

"Oh Sammy! Where did you get that black eye?"

"This shiner? Aw, this ain't nothin'. One of those hot-cakes found me accidentally rushing my car, and with a little massage on my left optic, when one of a number of Tunnen's wayward leaves me a keepsake. I heard a little crack in my left hand, but I guess it's only bruised knuckles and tan will the ball anyway. I was challenging that fresh field. I'm not sorry I did the box, 'Eerietta, and succeeded it so hard that it gave me awful (Sympathisingly).

"Does it hurt much?"

(Grouffy) Naw that don't stall! But, dot gone it, you notice I am limpin' this yah? Well that's where my car's gone me one of his affectionate lovemasses after I beat the game. Call it a great game if yuh don't weaken!

SET OF BOOKS ADDED

A welcome addition to the High school library was made when Miss Charlotte Ellis, chemistry instructor, loaned an eleven-volume set of "The Source Books" for the public use. The set consists of seven encyclopedia volumes, three study guides, and a loose-leaf extension book, all of which are very thorough in their information.

White Gold Class Rings Are Senior Choice Wed.

As decided in a class meeting on Wednesday of last week, F. J. Richman, local jeweler and druggist, is to have the senior class ring order this year.

A number of samples were submitted by two other local jewelers, but the white gold, blue and grey enamel ring submitted by the J. E. Wood company through Mr. Richman was the deciding majority vote, after much discussion on the good and bad points of three well-like rings.

Seniors are now placing their class and orders with Mr. Richman, and it is expected that the rings will appear in about three weeks.

Overdoing?

Hurry, Worry and Overwork Bring Heavy Strain.

MODERN life throws a heavy burden on our bodily machinery. The eliminative organs, especially the kidneys, are apt to become sluggish. Retention of excess uric acid and other poisonous waste often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, tonic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning perfectly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. More and more people are learning to assist their kidneys by the occasional use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Ask your neighbor!

An Evidence of Refinement
Good taste and good health demand sound teeth and sweet breath.
The use of Wrigley's chewing gum takes care of this important item of personal hygiene in a delightful, refreshing way.
Wrigley's removes odors of dining or smoking from the breath by cleaning the teeth, by stimulating the flow of digestive juices, and by the antiseptic action of the flavoring extracts for which Wrigley's is famous—"The Flavor Lasts!"
The result is a sweet breath that evidences care for one's self and consideration for others—the final touch of refinement.
Wrigley's is a thrice daily routine of people of refinement.

Buffalo To Throw Away And Forests To Burn

They used to kill a buffalo, eat the tongue, and throw away the buffalo.

They used to cut wheat, reap forty bushels to the acre and ship it away.

They used to cut down trees, use the clear lumber and leave the rest.

Now the buffalo are gone but the cattle and dairy herds are worth more. Wheat is a minor crop but modern farming is bringing back the fertility of the earth. And the lumber business is fighting its way to a permanent basis near a perpetual crop.

Prevent forest fires! Waste and extravagance are needless.

THE FARMER'S AUTOMOBILE

Some newspapers and some individuals are continually citing the fact that so many automobiles owned by farmers as the section is being given evidence that the farmers are exceptionally prosperous. It is true that the great majority of farmers in Minnesota and the northwest states do own automobiles, but instead of being an expensive luxury, they are for the most part indispensable necessities. The automobile on the farm is a great saver of time and money, the automobile is the implement which makes the slow moving ox-cart or horse drawn wagon of a few years ago obsolete. The average farmer does not invest in an expensive automobile, but buys a machine for general use. In case of accidents, he can go to town and get help, which is something that is required the less of a day. He or his wife can take the farm eggs to town and cream and other products to market in the automobile, and at the most convenient time to take advantage of the best prices, etc. While there are "joy-riders" and "rules" and young people on the farms may enjoy a ride occasionally, for no other use than is necessary, or reasonable, yet the automobile would be just as necessary if they had only horses to drive. No, the average farmer is not buying an expensive luxury when he buys an automobile, neither is it a sign of exceptional prosperity, but instead of being a business investment.—Browns Valley Tribune.

MODERN YOUTH

For what, of all the suppositions, does modern youth go to college?

Yes, we've heard that old one about higher education, how tell us a new one, dearie." Of the thousands who yearly enter the halls of Alma Mater, how many of these really learn anything? John Ferber, in the sequence about college is the novel-like divides the Collegiates into two groups: Those who come either because they have nothing else to do or their parents desire it (which section is made up largely of young men and women), and those who have some object aim in their study—and be this latter group are found all classes—the young, the middle aged, the married and unmarried, the failures, coming back to "try once more," and the successes, returning in search of more "gold nuggets" from the vast valley of education.

Modern Youth is generally pictured by the cynic as a group of lovers of "shiks" and "shieks," dancing daily to the tune of "This is the life—so exciting, so different, so full of pep." Modern youth is nothing of the kind! It is a fraternity, perhaps, of somewhat flippant and light headed group of young folk, just inclined a little fun before they put their shoulders under the yoke of life, but eventually begins after they have spent four years trying to discover "why they went to college."

THOUGHTS—WHAT ARE YOURS?

That you have at times often wondered what thoughts occupy the minds of others can be illustrated by frequently employed expression: "A penny for your thoughts." Stop and think what your thoughts are for there is no more accurate comparison than you yourself.

Do you indulge in "Day-Dreams," fly into high altitudes of Glory or think once more of pleasant past events? This is not the Imagination that rules the world. It is mental laziness; playing with ideals you carefully weave will never materialize into anything more than ineffective thoughts.

On the other hand, thinking along the right lines can be made the most interesting, the greatest game in life. That is concentrated attention upon existing facts.

TWO DASHING HORSEMEN

Have you ever seen a pinto pony to see a football game? If not, ask Bernard Fox, aged 9, or John Kiewell, aged 10, they know all about it. Leaving here at 1 o'clock Saturday, galloping all the way, they drew up to the football field at Red Lake Falls in their dashing Richland steeds just in time to witness the last half of the game. But it was worth it—18 to 0. Only somehow, the trip was longer, coming home, than going, and it was 9:30 before those dashing steeds, pulled into Thief River Falls.

TEACHER TRAINING DOINGS

Teacher-Training students report a very interesting three days' trip in the country rural schools last week. In connection with city school observation work and their regular work they spent Monday, Wednesday, and Friday visiting the rural schools in country schools. Monday morning the Normalites were given Ole Int-lil Spruce Tree, a typical "normal ability measure" worked out by leading educators and given to students all over the United States. Judging by the reports the students were favorably impressed with the work being carried on in the rural schools of the county.

Goodridge Youth Writes About Trip to National Dairy Show in Detroit

Albert Poppenhagen of Goodridge returned Friday from Detroit, Mich., where he attended the National Dairy Show as a guest of the Minneapolis Journal, which gave free trips to 20 Minnesota boys who were winners in dairy calf clubs at the state fair.

That the young lad enjoyed the trip he indicated by the following account of it, written on the train as the boys returned to Minneapolis:

I am sure you would like to know how I got this wonderful trip to the fair, and won first at the county and fourth at the state fair, with my Guernsey calf. In 1926 I received first in the county and fifth—at the state fair, which gave me the trip—I wish to thank the Minneapolis Journal with all my heart for giving me this trip which I have enjoyed very much.

October 5—This morning I got up before four o'clock as I could catch the 5:30 train at Thief River Falls. I said goodbye to my friends and left on the train for St. Paul. On the train I looked out of the window on one side and I'd hill with green pastures the other was a large valley with a lake or a river winding along. Many summer resorts and cottages were found all along the lake.

The train was delayed an hour, but I arrived in Minneapolis in time to eat a meal and it was then noon. Soon I took the train for the St. Paul depot where I met with Hugo Quinnell who had charge of the exhibit. After that we had a lunch where we had a good feed, followed by talks and songs. I am sure we all enjoyed the program as well as the feed.

We then had another trip which I shall never forget. It was a ride in Bill Lahr's Packard car and we covered all kinds of scenery as we rode, fields and plants. It was a wonderful place and I shall visit it again as soon as I get a chance. We looked for a place to eat for we had been walking a long way and were hungry and tired, but happy just the same. We went to bed that night, slept well, and woke the next morning ready for another trip or whatever was planned.

October 11—Minnesota must be the mayor's favorite state, because our state was the only state that was given the trip around the city at the expense of the mayor. The trip showed us a prudence district where three years ago there wasn't a building. Now it has many wonderful homes, and more are built all the time. We also met the mayor, and had our picture taken with him. We met and shook hands with Mrs. Carmen who swam the English Channel.

October 12—We visited the General Motors plant and got a view of the city from the top of the seventeenth floor building. We went through parts of the building, and enjoyed it very much. We also went through the Detroit News-Press building, and saw the process necessary to print a newspaper.

October 13—Mr. Gibertson called us at 3:00 o'clock this morning so we could catch the 7:45 train. We had our breakfast in the train and began writing stories. In Chicago we went through the Field Museum where we saw mounted animals, fowls, statues, and many other things I shall not mention. In the Lincoln park we saw the lions, tigers, bears, monkeys, zebras, elephants, and others being fed from peanuts. We saw the largest hotel in the world, 3,500 rooms and baths. It is the New Stevens hotel.

To conclude my story, I wish to thank every one for the good time we have had together, and especially The Journal, who offered us the trip. I will try to do all I can to show that club work pays, and that if you will only keep on trying, you will surely win.

RED LAKE FALLS IS LOSER IN 38-0 FRAY WITH LOCALS SAT.

Crookston to Bring "Fight" for Old Rival in Next Friday's Game

The local second team line plunged, secured a decisive victory over the Red Lake Falls players on Saturday by a score of 38 to 0. The Lincolnites really outclassed the Red Lake Falls players, effectively "blocking" any of their attempts to advance into scoring territory. The locals either held them for downs or forced them to punt, giving the ball to Thief River Falls. Two outstanding features of the game were brilliant runs by Emil Bostad, who never caught the ball on the kick off and broke through the whole Red Lake Falls team for touchdown. Severson, Ose, and Ericson did some great line plunging also and carried the ball for several good gains.

A large number of Thief River Falls were also on the game, all being willing to "pep" up the team for the ultimate battle.

Tomorrow, Friday, Crookston high school team is coming to battle the Lincolnites. This will be the first time that these two teams have met in pre-season games and promises to be exciting. Everyone, especially Crookston will bring a big delegation of rooters. Lincoln the advantage, but Crookston will bring a big delegation of rooters. The FIRST and ONLY Cast-Aluminum Tub

THE MAYTAG is the only washer with a cast-aluminum tub—the tub that is life-lasting because it will not rust, rot, corrode, split, warp or break. The tub that keeps water hot for an entire washing. The tub that drains and cleans itself in 30 seconds after the washing is done.

The Maytag Company was quick to recognize the value of cast-aluminum for building a tub of outstanding advantages. In the unique design of the Maytag tub, that is no scientifically-shaped that it adds greatly to the turbulent water-action produced by the Maytag gyrator, lies the secret of the Maytag's cleaner washing.

A continuously-agitated water-action in every inch of the tub all of the time. No idle water! Every particle of soap continuously at work! No waste motion—economical and efficient—no wear and tear on the finest fabrics!

For home-baked delicacies, use the Maytag in connection with its round porcelain mixing bowl

Fudge Making Finds Favor With Co-Eds

Fudge may be classed with pie as a typical American dish. It has a place in every young man's heart and every girl's category of accomplishments. Co-eds swear by fudge and "make shines" in sorority parties are the very latest wrinkle in collegiate circles.

Mrs. H. Given

There's a big wallop in a platter of fudge, the co-eds explain, because it's one of the richest sources of energy, containing both milk, the "perfect food," and sugar.

If you're any docker of the places fudge occupies in the young male heart, try these recipes on him and hear his own answer. Each of the appended dishes was prepared by Miss Mina Given, doing research work in the home economics department of the University of Chicago, and they are the result of much experimentation.

Chocolate Fudge.

2 cups sugar	2 squares chocolate
½ cup evaporated milk	1 tablespoon butter
½ cup water	1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon corn syrup	1 teaspoon vanilla

Shave the chocolate so that it will melt more easily. Add the sugar, salt, milk, water and corn syrup. Cook, stirring until chocolate and sugar are dissolved, and then only occasionally to prevent burning, until the soft ball stage is reached, or a temperature of 234 degrees Fahrenheit. Remove from fire and add the butter. Cool until almost lukewarm, 110 degrees, and then vorting and beat vigorously until when it is removed from the spoon it will hold its shape. Pour into oiled line and mark in squares.

Coconut Candy.

1½ cup sugar	1 tablespoon butter
½ cup evaporated milk	1-3 cup shredded cocoanut
½ cup water	½ teaspoon vanilla

Put butter into granite saucepan; when melted, add sugar, milk and water, and stir until sugar is dissolved. Heat to boiling, and cook to the soft ball stage. Remove from fire, add cocoanut and vanilla, cool to 110 degrees Fahrenheit and beat until creamy and mixture begins to angel slightly around edge of pan. Pour into buttered pan and when cool mark in squares.

Pinoche.

2 cups brown sugar	1 tablespoon butter
1 cup boiled cream	1 cup chopped nuts
½ cup evaporated milk	1 cup chopped dates
½ cup water

Mix sugar, milk and water to the soft ball stage. Remove from the fire, add butter, flavoring and nuts. Cool to 110 degree Fahrenheit, then beat until creamy and thickened; pour into a greased tin and when firm cut.

Athletic Toys

Athletic toys are nowadays accepted able to both boys and girls. They want a tricycle or a bicycle, good roller skates, good baseball bats, balls and gloves, a tennis racket that is not merely a toy imitation of the real thing, fishing and camping outfits, a croquet set, a big toy automobile, a movie outfit or magic lantern, electrical apparatus and the dozen and one scientific toys that teach most interestingly the rudiments of exact sciences while affording entertainment and a possibility of the development of skill.—George Newell Horan.

The First Stocking

The Elizabethans also had a custom letter to Santa Claus, telling him what they wanted for Christmas, the boys asking for bows and arrows, drums and the like, and the girls for dolls and other childish toys and dropped the letter up the chimney. Then they went to bed and hung their stockings by the fire to dry.

Christmas Bells

I heard the bells on Christmas day
Their old familiar carols play,
And wild and sweet
The words repeat
Of peace on earth, good will to men!
—Longfellow.

TO ESTABLISH GRAVEL PITS

The first condemnation proceedings ever undertaken by the Marshall county board of commissioners will be started this fall by that body in order to secure gravel rights at a reasonable price, according to a decision last week. The proceeding will be started on several land owners in the county. It had been decided by the board to gravel the Great Eastern and also a road running north from the Pennington county line into the town of Moylan in Marshall county but the gravel wanted could not be obtained because of the high prices asked by the owners of the lands which were wanted for pits. A two acre piece in Moylan township will be condemned for gravel pit purposes.

INCREASE ORDER WITHDRAWN

The state tax commission has withdrawn the 10 per cent increase in Marshall county real estate valuations which was ordered a few weeks ago. The action was the outcome of a hearing held in St. Paul October 14, at which the county was represented by County Attorney W. O. Bruggers and Dan Robertson of Argyle, chairman of the county board. These representatives were given to understand that if the proposed increase was not withdrawn by the commission, a hearing in the levy for state purposes would be held.

Because the last day of this month falls on Sunday taxpayers will be given Monday, Nov. 1, in which to pay taxes without incurring a penalty.

LAWYERS ORGANIZE

Attorneys H. O. Chammie, Perl W. Mabey, and Thos. Gusta of this city were among the 30 lawyers of the fourteenth judicial district who gathered in Crookston Monday evening for the purpose of organizing a district bar association. Following the dinner at the Crookston hotel, Judge Royal A. Stone of the Minnesota supreme court, of St. Paul, addressed the meeting. The association, which is a part of the state bar association, was organized with the following officers: Julius J. Olson, Wadena, president; Martin O'Brien, Crookston, vice president; W. O. Bruggers, Warren, secretary, and W. F. Murphy, Crookston, treasurer. Mr. Olson is a member of the board of governors of the state group. Elmer Stenerson presided at the Crookston meeting.

VOTE NEXT TUESDAY

Next Tuesday, November 2, the voters of Minnesota, men and women, will again be given opportunity to exercise their franchise, to cast their ballot for various candidates and measures. Tradesr not to vote is prevalent in this state, has provoked unusual interest by national, state, and local organizations to make a concerted drive for a one hundred per cent vote on November 2.

Citizens should remember that it is a civic duty to go to the polls on election day. So do not fail to vote; regardless of political affiliations; Register your preference for the candidates whom you believe will serve you efficiently and courteously as officials of our government. Do not let petty prejudices become the deciding factor, but consider the qualifications of the candidates fairly.

This newspaper has endeavored to serve all alike in the matter of publicity. Each candidate has had the same chance to announce his candidacy and to present his claims and qualifications for the office he seeks in connection with the pre-election contest, which includes politics as well as men. The Times has maintained an open forum thru which all leaders of the groups have been given opportunity to present their views. In this way both parties have been treated fairly, and every reader of this paper has had the opportunity to get both sides of the issue then a battle of words. The Times feels that it has rendered valuable service to the voters in this respect.

Again--go to the polls next Tuesday, regardless of rain or snow. Do your duty as an American citizen.

RESPECT MUST BE EARNED

"You cannot treat respect as if it were an office boy, subject to call by pushing a button," declares Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, in discussing charges of the "lack of respect for elders" against modern youth. "The only respect worth anything," he says, "will be that where it is earned. I believe young men and women have a great fund of respect in them for all things of life, and in older men and women, that are worthy of imitation."

In other words, Dr. Frank is not worried over the "younger generation," but challenges the "elders" to be worthy examples of manhood and womanhood.

WHAT ONE SINGLE VOTE MAY DO

Bear in mind that one vote may elect or defeat your favorite candidate. Do you know what a single vote has done? Listen! "One vote decided the election of Governor Winston of Massachusetts in 1820, thus defeating Edward Everett, the famous orator and scholar. One vote gave Texas to the United States. One vote made California a part of the Union, and thus turned the tide of emigration westward. One vote elected Cromwell to the famous 'Long Parliament' and sent Charles I to the scaffold, revolutionizing England and made Great Britain free. One vote in the electorial college in 1876 decided who should be president of the United States."

Your vote, your one vote, therefore, at the coming election may decide who shall be assessor, sheriff, or coroner.--Levant's Weekly.

HATS OFF TO THE HEN

Commissioner N. J. Holmberg of the State Department of Agriculture, estimates that this year's egg crop will be the greatest in history, the total value to be in excess of the $39,000,000 of last year. The Minnesota egg production for the first six months of 1926 totalled 87,191,842 dozen, a gain of 6,292,320 dozen over the first half of 1925.

NEARING COMPLETION

Construction of the addition to the Oakland Park auditorium is now nearing completion. The roof has been laid and the windows put in this week.

YOUR Last Name

IS IT SEATON?

THE Seatons are of Scotch origin. It was Henry Seaton who came from Scotland in 1831 and settled in Gloucester county, Virginia, where he married Elizabeth Todd. There is little known of him but from the meager records we can see that he possessed the solid characteristics of truth, foresight and gentleness that usually distinguished his countrymen.

Although the Scotch were not so numerous in the South as in some of the Middle states, Henry found fellow countrymen among his neighbors and established a line of Seatons that may be traced as one of the best of Scotch Southern families.

One of his many descendants was Augustine, who married Mary Winston Aird; their son, William Winston Seaton, born in 1785, in King William county, Virginia, was one of the first American journalists of distinction. He was a cousin of Patrick Henry, and though he was born too late to participate in the Revolution he showed himself to be possessed of the kind of patriotism out of which our Revolutionary heroes were made.

For many years he lived in Washington, from 1800 to 1865. He was founder of the National Intelligencer in Washington, and when he was seventy-nine years of age he acted as a private in defense of Washington when it was attacked by the Southern forces.

The meaning of the name casts an interesting light on the early history of the family. It is said that in Scotland the name was given to men who lived in a sea town, or a town by the sea.

WIDSTEN URGES CONSERVATISM

Editor Times--

It appears that we have gotten a real "Public Forum" going in our paper, if not to-my a somewhat wild pow-

That is all right, for all progress is made by means of friction, by discussion. If all of us thought alike the world would become stagnant like a pool without an outlet.

What the voters of Pennington county will choose between next Tuesday is radicalism and conservatism. These are the two forces that are contending everywhere in the world today, except in Russia, where radicalism has gained the upper hand and destroys opposition by force, and in Italy, where conservatism has gained the upper hand and rules by force and tion in jail. Both extremes are unbearable.

Who can represent the Ninth District in Congress, and put the best results for the farming business, the prosperity of which is the foundation for everything else here? That is the real question to be decided. Everyone of any intelligence knows that the Red Lake Drainage task and the potato association ask is merely political bunk, used during the campaign and then forgotten. They also know that the activities of Wefald in foreign immigration and tax-exempt securities is for political purposes, and probably will not be heard of after election.

The mental attitude of the people is one of the main items in deciding whether

PublicForum

Well, you say, if you know so much about it, let me see you prove that I am wrong. There would be many ways of doing that, but this time I shall just let you taste some more of your own logic. You would have yourself and the rest of us believe that we are entirely inept and unfit when we legislate against Sunday movies. If it is wrong to legislate against Sunday movies it must be wrong to legislate anything else. If one law is a mistake the next one must be. I do not know your opinion but you must have used the same stiff argument in favor of the saloon, too. Did you ever stop to think why 18th Almighty ever gave any laws? It is really too bad you are not old enough to have been on His advisory committee so that you could have informed Him of the fact that he was only defeating His own purpose when He gave Moses the ten commandments and the other many bylaws that were to govern the conduct of His people. And not only that He defeated His own purpose, but according to your logic He actually became guilty of creating hypocrites by forcing obedience by legislation instead of by giving them a willing heart.

I realize the predicament that many find themselves in when they face the law. There really should not be any such thing, then, everyone could do just as he pleased without being criticized for it. That would relieve the conscience, wouldn't it R. D. C.? Nothing would be wrong then, you see, and nothing would be right, for there would then be the only thing to consider. Wouldn't it be a grand and glorious feeling though if we could only "break them down" as you have, and cast away their cords for us? This is quoted from the Sword of Psalms, I believe. Then, of course, we would have if those "Puritans" would quit preaching as and if every little was turned, then you wouldn't have to have the trouble of looking up any more references and wearing opinions. Wonder if Robinson Crusoe's island is in its virgin state? Let's go, shall we?

If your heading was changed just by the exchange of one word, your argument would come in all right. It should have read, "Hing Hell's Liberty Hell Again." Thus it would not be inconsistent. None of us have heard anything but noise before and we recognize the sound. We love our country too much to have such inference made. Uncle Sam's liberty does not consist in lawlessness. He evidently has several hypocrites who only keep the law because they want to, but a hypocrite is a hypocrite on which ever side of the fence he may happen to be. I will admit that the law cannot change the heart but it keeps him within certain limits without which it would be impossible for the rest of the world to live with him.

If I remember correctly your quotation from Coolidge is from a speech he made regarding the necessity and influence of the church. If he meant what you gladly would have him mean, why does he not use his influence to repeal all laws and in consequence further legislation? However, he was voicing his conviction regarding the power and purpose of the church. He has told us in his own words that there must be moral and spiritual forces to organize our situation—not forces to take the place of it.

And now since you favor them, in 23 where you read that whatsoever is not of faith is sin, you should first of all apply it in the connection in which it is written. If you then, as of course you may, wish to make further application of its truth, you may stress it only until you rub edges with a particle passing. Besides you will need to be reminded that some of us do not believe that it is right to leave any more open pitfalls than we can help by the wayside of the weak; therefore I put faith to vote for Sunday movies and so we must vote against them lest what is not of faith is sin. As far as the legal action is concerned it must be either yea or nay. If we close Sunday movies by law it is a legal act. If we keep them open, that is also an act. According to your reasoning then we may just as likely sin by not closing the movies as to keep them open. Or do you mean to say that by faith we can keep the movies open and not sin, and if we close them, we act in disbelief? Please explain.

Only the grace of Christ can save man from such tactics.

It is truly gratifying that the Lutheran Church defends these gospel principles in a small work entitled, "What the Lutheran Church stands for." With pleasure, and with due honor to them I quote, "We hold that the separation of church and state" based on a narrow and imperfect conception of Christianity because this ordinance, though very mild, involves compliance to a form when it cannot change the heart. It would invariably call for stricter compulsory measures enforcing idleness. An old saying is, 'The devil finds work for idle hands to do.' The law can force them to be idle, but cannot make them religious. History proves that therefore such laws have proven disastrous to the religious injustice to the state. Dr. Philip Schaff says, "Secular power has proved a captain of tyranny in the hands of the state." (Church and State, p. 11) W. J. Bryan said, "If God himself was not willing to use coercion to force man to accept certain religious views, man, misspirit and liable to error, ought not to use the means that Jehovah employs." Our National Constitution guarantees full religious liberty to all people, but the majority only, not to the minority. In civil matters the majority rules; in religious, none but but God. Under such a government, even the smallest minority are protected against arrogant despotism.

Senator J. S. Williams of Mississippi said, "Religious conscience is the highest attribute of man." He said: "I am not of those who believe that tyranny is a particle sweeter necessary to follow your logic to its final conclusion.

Sunday movies is a business. It has no more right to operate on Sunday than any other lines of business in our city. Why not open our grocery stores, soda fountains, etc.? There are people who do not buy on Sunday, because the stores are closed. We surely have been guilty of making many hypocrites! Let's hurry in open all business on Sunday—so that we will have no more hypocrites.

We also have laws on moral conduct which many people regard, not because they always want to, but because they realize they have to. If you have a family, it is safeguarded by those laws which again must rest upon the spiritual forces for their maintenance. Surely there must be some hypocrites here too. Therefore, Mr. H. O. E., you must hurry and let the bars of the penitentiary open some day or young man may only be a hypocrite when he believes wills in company with your daughter. You better let him do as he pleases with her rather than suffer him to be a hypocrite.

No, Mr. H. O. E., you are not ringing the U. S. Liberty Bell nor the bells of Heaven. I have no idea what or who you are. You may even be a misinformed disciple as was Peter when he tried to caution his Lord concerning plans of redemption. Jesus rebuked him with these words, "Get thee behind Me Satan." We cannot help him at our heels, making the worst of everything he can touch, but we command a clear right-of-way. Only, get behind!

When our voters will realize the responsibility they have and the opportunities they may have by closing Sunday movies, they will do it. God grant that it may be now. We shall not envy "Prosperity" surrendered to Sunday movies elsewhere or nearby. If any of my children or others are led astray, let them not be able to say to any of us, "You are the cause of it, because you furnished the opportunity."

E. L. TUNGSETH.

Regarding Sunday Closing

To the Editor:

I concur with the words of Bishop William T. Manning, Protestant Episcopal Church, when he says: "The proposed campaign for stricter Sunday laws is one of those well-meaning but misguided efforts which do harm instead of good to the cause they are intended to serve. It is impracticable, wrong in principle, and based on a narrow and imperfect conception of the Christian religion. It would do far more to drive religion out of the hearts of the people than to draw them toward it. We have no right to try to compel religious observance of Sunday by law." Quoted in the Outlook, Dec. 5, 1926.

That the proposed closing of "places of amusements where an admission is charged" on Sunday, is "wrong in principle, and based on a narrow and imperfect conception of the Christian religion, consider the following:

Practically with amusements where an admission is charged will be meant everything. Hence all amusements that are free, even the theatres if no fee were charged, would not become a crime, therefore it is not the amusement, but the admission fee that would become a civil crime, not on Monday, but on Sunday. What makes commercialism, or receiving a fee on Sunday and not on Monday a crime? Can it be civilly or morally wrong? If it is sacred or immoral to receive a fee on Sunday, would it not be such on the other days also? No; RELIGION is the base for the suggested prohibition. That fact cannot be hid; it is for RELIGIOUS reasons. Therefore,

It is wrong in principle, for religion forbids, not merely a fee, but amusements primarily. Isa. 58:13. If "it is essential to our republic in the fundamental law, is one of our highest temporal, possessions, and is, moreover, in harmony with the teachings of scripture and with the Lutheran Confessions" (Confessions of the church, speaking through her pastors and the religious press has no compunction.

To The Voters of Pennington County

Owing to the fact that those who oppose my re-election as Sheriff of Pennington County, are saying that I have been an expensive Sheriff and that the office of Sheriff as I have been conducting it has cost the tax payers more money than has previously been used by former Sheriffs, I respectfully submit for the consideration of the voters of Pennington County, the following statement taken from the Annual Financial Statement from the County Auditor's office and published in the Press from January 1st, 1920, to January 1st, 1926. This statement includes all expenses in connection with the Sheriff's office for the last three years of Mr. Lallree's tenure in office and the first three years of my tenure in office.

Net total of all expenses for 1920, 1921, and 1922 ..... $9,024.60

Net total of all expenses for 1923, 1924, and 1925 ..... $6,815.14

or a difference of $2208.36 in my favor

The high expense for Petit and Talesmen Jurors for the year 1925 was due to the several damage suits against "Doctor" Kirby, which were civil actions, there being but two criminal cases tried.

The item "Sheriff's expense" includes board to prisoners from Pennington County, whether they are kept in the Marshall County or Pennington County jails.

I desire to call your attention to the item "Fines Paid" during my three years in office.

The above statement is the record and cannot be disputed. It is easy to make claims, but it is another thing to substantiate and prove them.

Respectfully soliciting your support and vote for re-election, I remain,

Yours very truly,

O. L. HILE

Polarine and Motoring Pleasure

A smooth running engine is the first essential to motor enjoyment.

What's the fun of motoring, if the car does not run quietly, or if it fails to glide over the enticing highways smoothly and without effort? The landscape loses its charm and the fresh air is not so fresh.

The constant use of Polarine is the one sure way to keep an engine running smoothly. Proper lubrication is the secret of smooth performance. Polarine, The Perfect Motor Oil, keeps an engine in perfect condition.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud to recommend Polarine as one of its major products, for Polarine represents the highest excellence in lubricants that science, money and skill can achieve.

Have the crankcase drained out today, cleaned with Polarine Flushing Oil, and refilled with the particular grade of Polarine made expressly for your car.

Red Cross Life-Saving Service Is Nation-Wide

Society of water apparently has no object on interest in water resorts. Attractive, popularity associated with water resort attendance and season, has been in 60th enthusiasm for the Red Cross Life-Saving program.

The building of new irrigation dams is rapidly transforming Arizona into a swimming state despite popular conception of that section.

In more than 900 swimming bathing resorts conducted by the Red Cross last summer, life-saving instruction was given by the Red Cross.

During the Rosel year ending June 30, 1926, 7,144 men, 5,466 women, and 10,713 juniors passed the right tests of the Red Cross Life-Saving standard and were awarded insignia. The total for the year of 23,323 was an increase of 6,374 over the previous year. The total membership of this corps at the close of the year was 121,976.

The Trask Annual Roll Call from November 11 to 26 is an opportunity to encourage these efforts through membership in the Red Cross.

Save Chicken Manure

Chicken manure is one of the most valuable fertilizers produced on the farm. It is especially rich in nitrogen and since this is one of the essential elements that plants must have to grow, it should be saved.

The practice of most farmers is to have no dropping boards under the roosts in winter. With a properly constructed dropping board one may arrange or rake off the manure into an old tub or bucket, and load it onto the wagon in a few minutes.

Curry Comb and Brush

The thorough, yet gentle use of curry comb and brush does for an animal what a bath and clean shirt do for man. It gives the skin a better chance to perform its important functions; it makes the hair coat more adequate as a protection against intemperate weather; it is excellent preventive for certain external parasites; it makes for good health as well as good looks. At no time is it more essential to animal well being than during winter mission to direct its membership in the performance of specific citizen duties, but must limit itself to the announcement of those principles of conduct which the scriptures indicate. Most base must the church's presume to dictate to the agencies of government, or attempt to manage the affairs of the state by the doctrines of the church and to this end employ citizens' elections as 'tools' or direct the agencies of the government, the police power?

In harmony with this, the Missouri Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church refused to assist with other religious movements in their efforts to close on Sundays the Sesquicentennial Exposition in Philadelphia last summer. Let all lovers of liberty reject the proposed Sunday-closing ordinance for Thief River Falls on Nov. 2.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Editor Times:

On next Tuesday, Nov. 2, we are again called on to cast our ballot for state and county officials. We may have different political views, which make a difference in selecting our candidates, but there is no question but what the whole Republican state ticket from top to bottom will have a big "landslide" at this election. So you better get on the band wagon now and vote with the majority instead of laying way back there with the minority.

As to the county candidates, we all know them personally in spite of different political views and opinions.

I want to call the voters' attention to one particular office, namely that is the Sheriff's office. This office is exclusively a "law enforcement" office and as to the amount of law enforcement you will depend wholly upon the character and qualifications of the man you elect for that office. We have two candidates for this office, namely, O. L. Ihle the present incumbent, who is opposed by Andrew Ness. When we have an officer who is doing his duty in executing the laws, why should we take chances on electing a new man; consider the past record of the two candidates.

It is up to you good people to get out on election day and decide who you want for your law enforcement official. Do your good people with good intentions who stay at home on election day, are the ones who help to elect the official you do not want yourselves.

So get out and vote your convictions.

Respectfully,
Martin V. Evenson.

An Important Issue

To the People of Thief River Falls:

The question, "Shall Sunday amusements be continued in Thief River Falls?" will be submitted to you next Tuesday, Nov. 2nd.

This is an important issue, it means, perhaps, more to our city than people and transients to the city, but help to keep our own people in our own city.

Closing the theatres on Sunday would be a serious loss to all of us and would not be of any benefit to our churches, people want amusement and they will go to other towns if the shows are closed here. The following was printed in a Minneapolis paper October 9th:

"Council Grants Sunday Pictures in Save Towns.

"Believing that it is for the greatest benefit of the town, the city council at Cumberland, Iowa, has extended to the manager of the local theatre a license to operate on Sunday."

The councilmen of this town studied the situation all Sunday shows in their town in this state must have Sunday shows if it is to exist. It found that Sunday is the day when most people want to a show and if they have not one in their own town they will go elsewhere, taking much business with them.

This will happen in our city if the theatres are closed on Sunday and we respectfully ask you to vote No on the proposed ordinance.

"FOREIGNER" REPLIES

Editor Times:
Thief River Falls, Minn.
Dear Editor:

The insinuating Martin Wildsten who at first ignored "Foreigner's" letter, finally comes with a reply, in which he states that I "wrote" certain things which, however, I merely quoted from the June 25, 1926 editorial of a well-known newspaper: "Decorah Republican" — here more fully is that paper's figures than his, and also, I feel that their praise of Congressman Wefald was genuine, while Wildsten's propaganda-stuff about him are made in the best of a man who is pulling to keep his friend Selvig from being swamped under so bad he'll never dig himself out.

In the editorial column of the same newspaper of August 6, 1926, a reported interview taken from "Aftenposten" Oslo, Norway, quotes W. J. Carr, assistant secretary of state of the U. S. (then visiting Minister L. K. Swensen in Oslo) relative to the immigration quota law, in which Wefald's bill is mentioned as the one which will likely be adopted by Congress. And Minneapolis Globe's no longer has a U. S. land office to burn around in at present, pay, please, tell us that Wefald can't get reorganized in Congress. I wonder if he can laugh this off.

Sincerely,
A "FOREIGNER."

A Message from New Jersey

Salem, New Jersey,
October 18, 1926.

Editor Times:

The people of Minnesota are fortunate in the political line in having so called Third Party choice, a thing that few other states in the Union can boast of. If every state could have that privilege today there would have been a set of representatives in our state and national assemblies that would in all respects live up to the law and represent the people, according to our constitution; all rights bestowed upon us as American citizens, instead of what we have today, "lawlessness and corruption" on every hand from the Capital Dome down—scandal after scandal.

"Newberryism" is but a drop in the bucket of what takes place in these days in politics. Take it here in the East the people are helpless, they are tied hand and foot to the old political machines, they have no choice, that is the common people, laborers, etc. The political gangsters handle those voters under supervision heads, and they are disposed of in wards or jobs according to the dictation of the party in power—recent investigations brought out this fact—and that isn't all, the laws in the said corresponding with their methods in the matter of taxation, etc. New Jersey is an example. If a man owns an ordinary home with half an acre or so, he has to pay at least six dollars tax on his land. If he owns an auto they will get you "three times" on that—first the auto license tags, $9.50, then their excessive permit, $2.50, and then again a general personal property tax on your car, and a poll tax also, and that isn't all. If you can't pay your taxes they can and will put you in jail—that is the law in New Jersey. This is the condition in the land and will be in every state in the Union unless the people awake to the fact in time and show their strength and independent at the polls.

You don't want such laws or conditions in Minnesota, and you need not if you make use of the weapons at hand. Lay your old party ideas aside and vote not for the man—but for a principle that harmonizes with the ideals that our forefathers founded their government upon—freedom, liberty and justice for all.

You have two splendid characters up for Governor, but as American citizens it is your duty to live up to the ideals of your country and forget about the man and the party. You can be thankful today that you have a voice and the constitutional franchise for the welfare of the people as a whole and set an example for the rest of the world. A protesting vote is a "knockout blow" to corruption in politics. Let's to the ring and battle for your rights.

W. A. SWANSON.

VENTILATION NECESSARY

H. C. Rose of the agricultural extension service at University Farm says that all silos containing clover must be discarded or still more soil will develop while in storage. He says:

"Potatoes go through a sweating process the first few weeks in storage, during which they give off moisture and heat. Immature, wet or muddy potatoes even more than dry potatoes.

"Ventilation is very important in the early storage stage because it helps to check the spread of rots by cooling and drying the potatoes. If the ventilation system is what it might be, the air will pass thru the bins as well as around them. A raised floor with spaces under the bins will permit the passage of air under and through the potatoes.

"Ventilation of potatoes in field pits can be provided by having a slits covered opening along the top ridge of the pit. If the potatoes are put in wet or if the pit is made in poorly drained soil, ventilation is necessary. This can be provided by a false bottom of lattice work or slats."

"OLLE" DRAWS LARGE CROWD

"Olle I Skrattbulle," popular Swedish comedian, and his troupe of eight entertainers were greeted by large audiences at two shows at the Sons of Norway hall Saturday night. Many came a considerable distance to hear "Olle's" songs and stories, the "Lost Boys Band," and other clever features. Among members of the company which was here here on its biennial visit, was Annar Myhre, vocalist and actor who makes his home with Roy Pryts of this city.

PIONEER DIES IN TENN.

Word has been received by Fred D. Lorentson, register of deeds, that his uncle, Andrew Lorentson, died October 12 at his home at Erin, Tennessee, at the ripe old age of 84 years. He had resided at Erin the last 21 years, having moved there from Polk County township, where he was one of the early settlers, coming there in the early 80's. Fred visited his uncle on a motor trip thru the east a year ago, the second half he spent in Dartford.

FOREST MONEY HELPS TAXES

Yield Tax Proposed in Addition To Annual Tax On Forest Bearing Land.

National forests in Minnesota, which pay no taxes on the land, turn over to the local governments for roads and schools one-fourth of the receipts from the sale of stumpage and rent of cabin sites, besides furnishing their own fire protection and building roads. The Minnesota National Forest at Cass Lake now contributes $12,000 a year, which is shared by Cass, Itasca and Beltrami counties, in which the forest lies.

Within a few years, C. E. Marshall, superintendent of the forest, estimates the annual allotment to the three counties will run $50,000 or better. The Superior National Forest, with its larger area, should eventually help out materially the taxable resources of Lake and Cook counties in which most of it lies—a smaller acreage is in St. Louis.

State forest lands have hitherto been exempt from local burdens of taxation, except for small appropriations to help out school districts which are swamped by taxes. The state tax commission has recommended in its report for eighteen years that in lieu of taxes the state contribute substantially to the counties in which it has large holdings.

Meanwhile virgin state has put 818,000,000 ft. in trust, from which the sale of stumpage on state lands.

Rigors of Taxation.

As to taxation of privately owned timber land, the first attempts were ill-advised and careless but the officials lately have done their best to live up to it. As the state tax commission pointed out in its report on timber taxation, in the early days the land was way off somewhere in the backwoods, in unorganized towns, and it was as much as ever the title got to the county seat—that is, if it got there. But in late years the counties and towns have needed every cent they could lay hands on and there is no undue tenderness toward the owner of timber.

Instances have been cited where timber land paid as high as $8.00 on 40-acre-to-taxes-for-one-year. A certain mills, that is an assessed valuation of $120.00 an acre, an assumed real value of $600.00 an acre. But that timber has been cut and with the timber gone the taxable value has shrunk 91 per cent.

The counties, needing every cent they can raise, have in some cases put a higher value on cutover land than it will carry. The result is that 2,500,000 acres are on the delinquent list and Minnesota is facing a worse situation, as revealed in Michigan where 4,000,000 acres have been abandoned and much of it long neglected and without fire protection, has been ruined by fire.

Mature timber, ready to cut, it is seen, will stand heavy taxation. Cutover land won't carry more taxes than the crop will realize in the future.

The old policy was adapted to timber that was going to be cut as soon as the lumberjacks could get to it. But when a crop of timber is growing that won't be ripe for fifty or a hundred years, that plan won't work.

State Farming Policy.

The policy which won the approval of the legislature as embodied in the present tax amendment, is to tax the land every year and collect a tax from the crop when it is mature. The amendment was submitted in a state as an improved lot next door. A wheat field is valued the same as an adjacent field lying fallow. Land, from the standpoint of taxation, is land. That is what it can be and not for what it is doing. The idea on land is to be the same whether it is planted to timber or to potatoes or to alfalfa.

As for timber now standing, it is on the tax roll now and should stay on the roll. It is assessed the same as it was bought subject to taxation, and it is to pay taxes when it is cut. When it is cut it disappears from the tax roll anyhow.

But the new crop, that won't mature for fifty or a hundred years—it is proposed to tax that only when it is cut. No other crop is taxed. No other crop is taxed. Commercially it can't be done. Either trees will not be taxed while growing or there will be no trees raised commercially. That, as all-arms who have studied the matter, is a mere statement of fact.

It is further provided in the pending amendment that the legislature may fix the valuation for tax purposes for a term of years. That is as the owner of timber land may know what he is at when he starts his proposition.

That is the tax program—no exemptions and no guarantees.

No exemptions—every acre must stand its share of the tax load.

No guarantees—not necessary—nature guarantees a crop.

To The Voters

I am submitting a statement which was given to me by friends favorable to my candidacy.

JAMES A. DAHL.

TO THE VOTING PUBLIC:

Over one thousand men and women have been graduated from the Thief River Falls High School. One of them, James A. Dahl, is now a candidate for County Auditor. Those of us who were here prior to 1911, remember well his activities in the football team, glee clubs, and senior class play. Since then he has had college training and has shown himself capable in his enterprises.

Eight years ago, when some who are still in office were running for re-election, he was serving in the U. S. Army. Now he is asking to serve his home county. Defeat, for him, will probably not mean a better job by state appointment (as has often occurred.) Investigation proves that for many years his personal responsibilities have been and still are equal to those of any voter.

Let us establish a principle of confidence in our high school graduates and a fair chance for them when they seek positions.

The name of the writer is of no particular importance, when the argument is sound. However, anyone wishing to know may learn that this is published by a committee of Thief River Falls business and professional men, several of whom have been here well over twenty years.

Valley Swedes Hear Dr. Johnson Discuss Drive for Funds at Warren Meeting

Rev. O. J. Lundell, pastor of the Swedish Mission church on Monday attended a meeting of Swedish-Americans at Warren at which Dr. Amandus Johnson, foremost Swedish historian and professor at the University of Pennsylvania, spoke in the interest of the campaign to raise funds for the Gustavus Adolphus Memorial now being built in Philadelphia. The meeting was presided over by Editor J. P. Mattson of Warren and musical selections were given by the North Star college societies. Among those in attendance was also Rev Verner Drotts of Viking. The general campaign for funds will be made some time during the coming winter.

Dr. Johnson accompanied Rev. Lundell—the "Monday-night-and-left Tuesday morning" pastor—to Alexandria to address a similar conference.

The aim of the movement is to raise a fund of at least one and a half million dollars. This fund will be used partly for the completion of the Morton Memorial building, the corner stone of which was laid in the Swedish crown prince last summer. This building will be a memorial to the pioneers of the Delaware Swedes and also to the early Swedish struggle for independence.

It is in addition proposed to erect a Memorial Chapel to which the remains of John Ericsson, famous Swede, will secure cemetery at Chester, Pa., will be moved. Were it not for a tablet erected by the Colonial Dames of America, his resting place would be unknown.

A part of the fund is to be used for the establishment of a New Sweden National park at Wilmington, Delaware, on the spot where the first Swedish log cabin was erected in 1638, and to reproduce a Swedish village with log houses and cabins of the first Swedish settlers. Provision is also to be made for the erection of the famous "Skansen" in Stockholm, there is classified everything pertaining to old Swedish architecture and skillfulness.

The remaining part of the money will be invested in a perpetual fund, the interest of which will be used for maintenance of memorials and for further historical research.

A comprehensive program has been evolved. The country has been divided into 31 districts and it is planned that every Swedish American congregation, society or group of whatever nature, will have its chairman and appointed workers. Every Swedish American home will be visited by those workers who will receive donations and pledges.

Rev. Lundell of this city and Mr. Mattson of Warren were especially selected to act as chairmen for the Red River district comprising Marshall, Pennington, Polk, Beltrami, Red Lake, northern Polk and parts of some other counties with full power to appoint sub-committees in every locality in which are found people of Swedish birth or descent.

Dr. Johnson at the Warren meeting told about the plans which are already being made to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the landing and settlement of the Swedes in Delaware in 1638.

Poultry Co-op Gain Was $40 000 or 25 Per Cent

Thru a slight twist of the figures, it was stated in last week's issue that the gain of the Red River Valley Co-operative Poultry Association showed an increase of nearly $21,000 over the previous year's business. It should have been a gain of $40,000, or practically 25 per cent, in the 1925-26 business amounting to $197,273 as compared with $157,273 for the previous year, 1924-25. This is considered a remarkable growth, it is further stated that the new mill is due Manager B. O. Norby and other officials of the association to have splendid showing made during the two years to come.

Annexing of directors of the association is scheduled for tonight at the headquarters here, to complete plans for the handling of the large turkey crop which is expected to be ready for planned to start marketing turkeys in about two weeks.

BIG SWEET CLOVER YIELD

The St. Hilaire Spectator of last week contained an item stating that Otto Hoffman had threshed 1,200 bushels of sweet clover seed from a 15-acre field, or an average of more than 80 an acre. Here, it would seem, is sufficient seed for his own use next year.

What a display of emotions Lincoln students flaunted at their "Record of Marks" on Thursday noon! There were emotions that quickly manifested themselves in loud shouts of "Partiality... Partiality!" which, even, no doubt, caused by comparisons. The others, with satisfied, grinning countenances whispered "Gaily, for an easy marker! I score low!"

Then—action—the "hair nose" (we know better), fully confident of their previously overly-breathlessly commended of his or her teachers the "reason why."

A stone wall—a somewhat alive vibration responds to the tune of "Try another one, and see if it fare." Or almost before an explanation is granted, a little saver hand is promptly displayed along with the remarks "gaily, "black and white." If you are still unconvinced, they shamelessly pounce upon a newer argument, stiffle in their every tone, and finally threaten to be even more harsh if the indifferent attitude is stubornly maintained.

Nearly always we angrily leave the room. For the frequently our minds have no thought or compromise.

Is you wonder over the teacher's real opinion in the matter? If they admit to themselves that they probably would be likely not justify their action with an intention of bringing up your averages in the more desirable mark next time? Do they excuse their action by the fact that it is, at times extremely difficult to give an exact representation of what a student's mark is?

What if your mark is favorably affected, have you gained very much? There is no doubt as to the satisfaction experienced in seeing the results of your efforts. Then, too, you are undoubtedly aware that your standing in high school is unusually a prominent position on entering college.

And, what if your marks do not do justice to what you really know? Are you any less educated? Your real ability and not these marks are worth deep consideration and chatter.

PROWLER SHIP OF STATE PILOTED BY GOLDIE GUNDERSON

Acts Begin With Candy Sale at Friday's Game

The Seniors "donned armor" for their second class venture Wednesday morning, starting the 1927 "Prowler" staff, which will challenge most of the journalistic, scholastic, and artistic skill in the class.

The Piterman—Reynolds—Hand nomination report offered with one accord for editor-in-chief and the class unanimously accepted the name of Goldie Gunderson, class secretary '27, and one of the leaders in university activities, who will guide the publication of the Lincoln annual this year.

From a nomination of three candidates for the first and second assistant editor offices the class chose Dorothy Shirley and Marion Reynolds, respectively.

The re-birth of a former Prowler staff office-assignment editor found Irene Hansen the class's choice of literary editor.

Phillip Sundahl and Gladys Remmem, elected business manager and assistant, will lead all the Prowler money-making and money-spending efforts, which were initiated with the candy sale last Friday. This department will no doubt devise other means for making money in the near future.

Since the Prowler is partly a literary venture the office help of Ella Pilerman as literary editor will be one of much work and importance. Margaret Patten will be her assistant.

Comps and descriptive writing are large share in the success of an annual, livening up the feature section and making possible fine backgrounds for individual senior pictures and high scores for the "Annual" reason, clever cartoonist and feature writer, will head this department.

Two football and basketball stars will have charge of the athletic department. Ray Wengaler, Prowler editor, and Selmer Severson, assistant. When votes were counted for the remaining offices the following were declared elected:

Organizations and Music, Louise Nordby.

Assistant Organization, Luella Harper.

Society, Helen Grisbaekin.

Assistant Society, Ruby Anseby.

Feature, Charlotte Kordahl.

Assistant Feature, Edward Kiland.

Art, Ingeborg Hegna.

Assistant Kodak, Leonard Knadle, Lena Amon, Ella Pilerman.

Alumni, Winnifred Waggoner.

Assistant Alumni, Eva Ayers.

Typists, Selma Gunderson, Alpha Gauwen, Thea Rauger.

MAY ENROLL NOV. 1.

Due to the delay in farm work this fall, many boys and girls who had reserved rooms at the Northwest School, Crookston, were unable to register October 4 and have thought it necessary to wait until the second term in January to attend. Plans have been made whereby such students and others may enter beginning classes November 1, according to Superintendent C. G. Selvig. Students will be placed in separate classes. They will therefore not be handicapped because of late registration. They will in this way be able to complete a full year's work by attending until the close of the second term in March. Young men and women who plan to take advantage of this opportunity should reach Crookston some time Monday, November 1, so as to be ready for beginning classes the following morning.

The Lancaster co-operative creamery board last week let the contract for a new creamery building to Roberts & Nelson of Greenbush, at $13,650. The new structure will be 48 by 52 feet.

Mr. Tuleen is Leader of Crookston Game Pep-fest

Lincoln students enjoyed the thrilling pep fest of the year last Friday morning. After Principal H. C. Hand had announced the honor roll, the following were conducted by L. F. Tuleen, who displayed all the characteristics of an local pep leader.

Mr. Tuleen's first rube stunt in the senior girls, arrayed in dilapitated fashion, with representatives of Crookston's team. It was a splendid opportunity for Coach L. A. Dome to display original football characteristics. After a few minutes of action, interrupted by brief tales from two of the disgusted football men, Coach Dome, in the midst of difficulty in hearing their complicated signals.

Mayor W. W. Prichard, Jr., heartily assured the football men that the townspeople gave them sincere support in the game against Crookston.

Two fine girls sang a ditty to the tune of "That Certain Party" for each individual on the team, causing considerable merriment.

"Bunny" Hoppe helped "top off" the affair by leading the Lincolnites in several football songs and individual yells.

Be Careful About Handling Rabbits, Health Board Warns

Be careful in handling dead rabbits and rabbit meat and be sure to cook well any rabbit meat used for food.

This was the warning issued Friday by the state board of health, following a meeting called after a Detroit Lakes, Minn., woman died from tularemia, the first known case of tularemia in Minnesota.

The disease is one of rodents, such as rabbits and squirrels, chiefly, the statement of the board said, but can be communicated to humans. Dogs and cats are believed immune.

The board met with state game and fish department heads and University and Farm school authorities on the matter.

Although the disease is one of rodents, such as rabbits and squirrels, chiefly, the statement of the board said, but can be communicated to humans. Dogs and cats are believed immune.

The board met with state game and fish department heads and University and Farm school authorities on the matter.

Although the team was out of form and unorganized in Friday's practice, the members of the squad have given them back their old style, and Coach "Lars" Thune thinks the slope will be heavily in T. R. F.'s favor in the East Grand Forks game October 30.

CROOKSTON STELLAR PLAYING LEADS TO 9-TO-0 CHERRY CHASE

Those Dissatisfied with Ragged Offense, but Gives Lindee Drop in K. C. F. Game

The "Crookstonites, playing their strongest game of the season, held the Lindee team to a 9 to 0 victory Friday. Although the "Lindee" outplayed their opponents in every department, the team to be win by at least 40 points, the visitors scored one drop and had the poorly executed ball in every chance.

Thief River Falls received the ball and after advancing to the center of the field by line plunges, Crookston's fullback failed to punt on the 4th down in the second period gave the "Lindees" the ball and chance to score. Fromth, big half back carried the ball to Crookston's 7 yard line, fumbled, Crookston was forced to punt from behind their own goal line, and were blocked by "Boomer" Dahlow, Sophomore guard, who downed the punter for a 2 point "safety."

The half ended, clearly showing that Crookston would have to resort to long advances by punting and that Thief River Falls would have to be content on their hands in backing the deterrined visitors line.

Crookston, receiving the ball on their 29 yard line, were downed, and after a few futile line bucks found it impossible to penetrate the strong defense, began punting from behind their own goal line, but were forced to punt and marched down the field for their first touchdown. Lack of difficulty in hearing their complicated signals.

Mayor W. W. Prichard, Jr., heartily assured the football men that the townspeople gave them sincere support in the game against Crookston.

Two fine girls sang a ditty to the tune of "That Certain Party" for each individual on the team, causing considerable merriment.

HIM SAMMY!

Did you see the "big parade" Friday?

Sure! I had the heebie-jeebies in my little toe and wanted to call an M. D.

What about it?

Well, as soon as school let out, which it did fifteen minutes earlier than usual, I went to the end of Main street to see the parade. Jumpin' Catfish and little mimeoes! What first met our eyeballs was a fleet pretty nice cow, pushed and pulled along by Freshmen. Right behind the bovines the bovine brute was all decorated up with the sweetest of signs; "We're going to beat Crookston—this is no reform."

Being rather alarmed by her swollen proportions, the cow kept discreasd along once in a while. Behind her came Mr. Tuleen's thirty or forty "howling boollums." Some were dressed in boys' football outfits, some in their grandmamas' petticoats, others in grandpaas' trousers and Mr. Hallowell H. V. Hay's while still others strolled gracefully about in the spirit of a Sunday stroll. Oh! yes, Dan Fulton, your namesake, was as ever present as the cow. Behind the boollums were several cars loaded with kids. The boollums howling, pulled, yowled, and bellowed—raising cain—through the whole town. Oh! It was some parade—but you should have seen the game. We skinned 'em alive!

Faulty Elimination

Should Be Corrected—Good Elimination Is Essential to Good Health.

If you would be well, see to your eliminative organs. Poorly kidneys often permits toxic material to remain in the blood and upset the whole system. Then, one is apt to have a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, a toxic backache or headache, and often some irregularity of secretions, such as scanty or burning passages. More and more people are acclaiming the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, in this condition. For more than forty years Doan's have been winning favor the country over. Ask your neighbor!

An Ode to the Dairy Cow

The frogs may lift the mortage
The hens may carry the mail
But that don't leave us much of work

To mention in our wills.
From shingle nails to mates
Dancing is the rule of the day
We pull most everything we need

From our old dairy cows —
It takes a lot of stripping
We handle them by the score
We wear more overalls, it's true
Than fancy shirts and collars
But we have health and happiness
A steady job worth while
You couldn't trade my good old cows
For Rockefeller's pile.

Building for the Future

Part One of the Federal Oil Conservation Board's report to the President makes a preliminary statement of the nation's oil resources, and suggests directions in which the industry can contribute to assured future supplies.

One of the important suggestions on this program is—"Systematic research and experiment in new methods." For the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) this suggestion comes "carry on."

Systematic research and experiment in new methods have always been a part of the program of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Day after day—for years—the patient work of scientific experts has gone on in the quiet of its laboratories. Chemists and other men of science on the staff of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have devoted their lives to research.

The Company has backed them with all the resources at its command, providing proper equipment and facilitating their investigations in every possible way.

The average motorist in the Middle West has known little of the men or their work. But they have helped him in ways he does not suspect.

It is due to their work in developing processes for producing gasoline by cracking, for instance, that he is able to buy gasoline anywhere in the Middle West—any time—at a price he can afford to pay.

The one achievement of the scientific staff of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has intimately affected the lives of two million people of the Middle West.

Hundreds of other important discoveries and improvements—far-reaching in their results—have been made in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The new discoveries for them have been promised, for the most part, unknown to the public. They have been content to serve mankind in the name of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) quietly making their contribution to progress.

Research and experiment are going on now in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). New discoveries and new developments are being made constantly.

The suggestion of the Federal Oil Conservation Board is virtually an endorsement of the policy of the Standard Oil Company, (Indiana) and an encouragement to "carry on."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) will continue its work of building for the future, holding aloft the torch of progress, serving with all the knowledge and skill at its command the thirty million people of the Middle West.

Farm Societies Have Weaknesses

Every Director Must Feel That He Has Accepted Position of Trust.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the serious weaknesses of many agricultural cooperatives is the attempt of members of boards of directors to shirk responsibility in the matter of management.

"Too frequently," says the United States Department of Agriculture, "the directors of a cooperative come into relation to the office of director merely as a means of securing a standing in the community. Such an attitude is unfortunate and until every director of a cooperative feels the duty and trustworthy for the successful conduct of the cooperative's business and prizes still fait of attaining the full measure of success they wish to achieve.

Every Director Obligated.

This trusteeship, say the department, obligates every director to become absolutely thoroughly respecting the operations of the cooperative in which he has become vitally connected. In addition he will need to understand fully the benefits and limitations of the type of working knowledge of which depends, in a large extent, the degrees of success which the cooperative will attain.

"If lack of interest is a weakness," says the department economists, "the wrong kind of interest is equally bad. Too frequently one finds the board interested in matters of detailing. It is the duty of the board to determine the policies and to see that these policies are carried out by the executives. Direction by the board of the petty detail of day to day operation is not favoring the best interests of the cooperative. It is interference. Such interference can only result in unstable and unsatisfactory management."

Unwise Management.

Probably the most frequent cause of unwise management, or points out, is the lack of ownership feeling. This may be at hand, an unwillingness to face the facts. To the extent that the board of directors makes a real effort to understand the demand for its product, and to formulate policies in the light of the facts, rather than on the basis of mere opinion, to that extent will its activities contribute to whatever measure of success it achieved.

Plowing Under Clover

There are various opinions as to the best time for plowing under sweet clover. Some think it is best to let it grow until the first part of spring before plowing under. One will get more value out of the clover in plowing it early in the spring before growth has started. Its fertilizing value at this time is mainly in the roots and quite deep in the ground. After growth has started it is largely in the stems and has about the same fertilizing value.

Benefits of Mulching

Mulch for strawberry beds serves four important purposes, viz: (1) Protection against winter injury; (2) protection against spring frosts; (3) it keeps down the weeds; (4) it keeps down the soil moisture, and the berries need all they can get at time of ripening. Mulch should be applied after the soil is solidified or splashed with sand or earth at the time the fruit is ripening.

New Males Each Year

Many poultrymen follow the practice of obtaining new male birds each year. They will trade their own males with their neighbors, or buy them. Introducing new blood. Such a practice is entirely unnecessary and makes for poor results. Introducing new blood is fine if your flock is giving satisfactory results, select and use the best male of your own raising.

Public Fixes Own Rates, Says Fire Insurance Man

Fire prevention is at least as important as fire fighting, J. H. Council of Minneapolis, state agent for the New Hampshire Fire Insurance company, declared at last Thursday's Commercial club luncheon. He was here to attend the city's annual Fire Prevention week, two weeks previously, but was then unable to get here.

There are three things to consider in fire prevention, the speaker said, to prevent loss of life, prevent waste and destruction of property, and to reduce cost of insurance. More than 15,000 persons lost their lives by fire in the United States last year, while many times more were injured, two-thirds of them women and children. The property loss last year in this country reached the staggering sum of $500,000,000, or more than $1,000 a minute, by comparison it was pointed out that the per capita fire loss in the United States was $12.50, while in Great Britain it was only 72 cents.

Insurance rates go up or down according to the loss falls, Mr. Council said pointing out that the public makes its own rates. Fully 75 per cent of all are preventable, he said. Citizens were urged to co-operate with the fire department in making inspections and buildings in general of rubbish and dirty corners, defective electric wires and other potential sources of fire.

Sunday School Institute at Holt is Well Attended

Approximately 40 parents and Sunday and weekday school teachers of the Holt Lutheran church attended the Sunday School Institute held at M. B. Grelah's church at Holt Sunday. More than 200 persons from the various churches attended the afternoon and evening sessions, at which inspirational and instructive subjects were discussed. Rev. Tallakson of this city spoke at the afternoon session and Rev. Lee in the evening at a similar gathering at Roseau, which session was attended by 30 persons attended, according to the pastor, Rev. O. G. Birkeland. The Roseau meeting was also addressed by Rev. Lee, the Junior choir of 60 members from Roseau and Rev. Rudger, elected by Rev. Birkeland. Excellent music was furnished at Holt by the newly organized Junior choir under the direction of Mrs. Grelah. The hymn singing at the afternoon session was led by E. Arlond, a former Holt resident. Rev. A. L. Swedenburg of Bauleite, who will have spoken during the afternoon, was unable to be present on account of road conditions.

The case was first tried before a jury in municipal court September 30, but the jury failing to agree, another trial was set for Friday. Another jury was called but the attorneys agreed to merely submit to the court the facts in the case. At the first trial and the jury was dismissed, Mrs. Carlson sued for the balance on a loan and the balance on a board, lodging, garage, and washing bill. H. E. Chamnic represented plaintiff and T. Scanlan of this city and Chas. Loftsgaarden and Leo Lake of Fosston appeared for the defendant. Costs amounting to $41 were also assessed against defendant.

Your Health-- or Money

When you're not feeling quite right you'd better pay a small fee to a doctor once or twice or three times a week till he gets your body adjusted, exactly as a farmer or mechanic would tighten up the burrs and oil a machine when it begins to squeak, or bind, or skip.

It is better to pay a little for health than to keep your money and go on taking chances. In the long run you will make more money, in addition to feeling better, if your health is taken care of.

You'll live longer if you're in good repair—which means that good health is a better investment than life-insurance the you need both.

Even if you don't feel very bad, better have an osteopathic physician look you over once this fall. It pays to be sure.

Mrs. Bishop is Home from Philadelphia Convention

Mrs. J. M. Bishop, president of the Minnesota Legion Auxiliary, returned home Monday morning from Philadelphia, where she attended the national Auxiliary convention. On her return she visited New York City, Washington, and various historical places. She left Thursday, the day that the American marine was visited by Queen Marie of Rumania and her party. Mrs. Bishop reports that the convention parade was the most impressive spectacle she had ever seen. The meeting of the voters by the Pennsylvania Legion harbor specially impressed Reports of the convention have been presented by Mrs. Bishop at the district parley rally and at a meeting of the local Auxiliary.

Mrs. Bishop will represent Minnesota at the national convention to be held in Paris next year, both organizations wishing to make a three-month trip to the former battle grounds. Dolly Gray and Mrs. Bishop are the Canadian and "Mountain" from Montana.

Sons of Norway Lodge Which is Sponsoring the Gary Bellringers Entertainment at the Sons of Norway hall here next Thursday, November 11, at 8 p. m. is offering what will probably turn out to be one of the outstanding musical events of the season. It is bound to be a colorful display when four men on a set of 110 silvery handbells introduce each numbers as "Bellringers Stripes Forever," "Wedding of the Winds," etc.

Those who heard these players declare that every number on their program is rendered true to the original score with correct melody and full harmony. In effect the music resembles that produced on a piano only it is more mellow and sweet.

Bell ringing is not a new art. As far back as the 14th century it was popular in northern Europe, especially Switzerland. Since then it has been popular at various intervals in other parts of that continent, but not until the present time has it been developed to the standard set by this troupe. These players do not merely rush thru the fast drills to show that they can pick the bells with astonishing rapidity, but they actually possess such control that they can produce such an organ in the bells apparently as easily as a pianist can strike out a piece on the keyboard. They will also give a few concerted selections between groups, to add color to their program. One of the players is a well known Victor and Columbia artist.

The players, who are all natives of Norway, are Albert and Ottar Agerholm from Gotteskalen, George Holter from Oslo, and Edar Mundt Rolf from Lofoten. They will appear in the native costumes of several countries.

LAND DEMAND INCREASING

While the fall of the year is not a time when farm lands move to any great extent, there are several instances at the present time of increased appreciation of local farm land values. For several fall seasons there were practically no sales and none recorded. During the last few weeks several deals have been made, and indulging by the number of inquiries passing by the members of the local banks, the county agent, and others there will be sales a number more in the course of the coming year. There is also a keen demand made by renters, it is reported.

This is an encouraging trend of conditions. What we need in this country more than anything else is more farmers to farm the fertile land which is now available at extremely reasonable prices.

Labor has also been more than the ordinary number of purchasers of city property, home seekers taking advantage of opportunities to acquire property at nominal figures.

NOT MUCH CHANGE

Both preservation of men from the Immeasurable has survived the mists and cycles, who have viewed with alarm the unfavorable features of their contemporaries.

According to these gloomy individuals, the characteristics of human morals has always been in evidence, with the skids in perdition well greased.

Like a number of fort, there is at least little change in human nature since the dawn of civilization. At any time in the world's history there have been ample grounds for pessimism on the part of those who prefer to look upon the dark side. A writer in the Boston Chronicle in the year 1600 deplored conditions closely resembling those of the present day, from the viewpoint of the alarmists. In an article entitled "Critics Curse it," he wrote:

"Mirror (female)—Quite out of fashion.

"National Honor—None on the market.

"Single Taxer—In great abundance.

"Religion—No price controversy.

"Virtue—Unfortunately considered an article if discovered would ruin its possessor.

But there was nothing original in the loudmouth reflections of this writer of 1600 years ago. The same things, in substance, were said centuries before, are being said today and probably will be said for centuries to come.

Somehow people can't help being more tolerant toward the campaign liars in their own party.

Most persons can make up a splendid list of goods they have never used.

This is said to be a hard world. Motorists were seen thrown out on the ground will any so.

All kinds of drives seem to be popular now except driving the cows to pasture.

Complaint used to be made about the doings of the high steppers, but the pace steppers seem to make more trouble now.

Big Gains in Implement Business in Northwest

He also a delegate from the Minnesota association of which he is president, and took part in the various discussions at the sessions. Following the Chicago meeting he attended a meeting of officers of the state association in Minneapolis to consider plans for the annual convention of that group which will be held in Minneapolis January 11, 12, and 13. It is announced that J. H. Hay of St. Paul, deputy commissioner of agriculture and formerly of this city has been secured as one of the speakers.

Mr. Gustafson states that reports from all parts of the United States indicate that conditions are improving particularly in the Northwest where the harvest of farmers has increased in a large degree. "This section is actually showing up splendidly," he says, declaring that many sections of the country are just now suffering the depression from which this territory is recovering.

Mrs. O. G. Storhoku Dies Unexpectedly Monday

The community was saddened Monday when it was learned that Mrs. Olaf G. Storhoku died at the Warren hospital following an operation for a complication of ailments, given as anaemia, acute nephritis, and cancer. She had been failing for some time and was taken to the hospital 24 days prior to her passing, which came after intense suffering following the operation. Two blood transfusions were given in the futile attempt to save her life, the blood being furnished by Mr. Storhoku and Mrs. E. V. Evenson.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran church, Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery. Rev. R. L. Tallaksen will officiate.

Mrs. Storhoku, who was 58 years old at the time of her death, was born in Douglas county, Minnesota, and at the age of six came to what was then Thief River Falls, near Belmont, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Olson, the latter of whom is still living. She was reared and attended the public schools at Thief River Falls, and in May 1900 was married to Mr. Storhoku. They resided in Crookston for a few years before coming to Thief River Falls where she have made their home for the last 21 years. She was a highly respected woman of the community, a loving wife and mother, and well liked by all who knew her. She will be missed by a large circle of friends, both in church work, she has served the Trinity Ladies aid in various capacities and was prominent in various community projects. She was secretary of the Pennington County auxiliary project club which are just completing a four-month course.

Besides her husband and 81-year old father, Mrs. Storhoku is survived by three children, Orrin, 14, Gordon, 15, and Martha, 11; two sister, Mrs. Oscar Opgaard of Mcintosh and Mrs. C. J. Reisdal of Crookston; and three brothers, Hans Olson of Grand Rapids, Henry of Prineville, Canada, and Alfred, whose address in Canada is unknown.

90 Per Cent of Trunk Highways are Surfaced

With the completion of 177 miles of paving, 224 miles of grading and 650 miles of gravelling, during the construction season which ends about November 1, more than 90 per cent of the trunk highway system in Minnesota is now surfaced and improved.

This does not mean, Commissioner Babcock points out, that the highway system is anywhere near 90 per cent completed. Many of the surfaced roads have only a light coat of gravel, suited only for light traffic. While several hundred miles which are graded and heavily gravelled carry as much traffic that the present sufficiency is only maintained at very heavy cost. It assures us passable roads in anything but extreme weather.

The paving completed this year includes 77 miles on T.-H. No. 1. With paving done on this road in former years, this leaves only 20 miles unsurfaced between the Twin Cities and Duluth and this is now under contract to be completed before July 1. Pavement is now completed, though not all of it accepted, on T.-H. No. 2 from Rock Creek to Pine City and from Mistoon Creek to Duluth.

Two roads has been laid this year on the following stretches of roads: T. H. No. 7, Kellogg to Wabasha, Winona to Minneiska, St. Joseph to Albany; T. H. No. 5, Shakopee to LeSueur county line; T. H. No. 10, east of Wayzata; T. H. No. 27, Belle Prairie to Bralnerd. All of these jobs are now completed and open, except from Wilmar to Minneiska and the upper end of the project between Belle Prairie and Brainerd, both of which will be carried early in November.

The grading and gravelling jobs have been scattered over the state. Among the larger grading jobs may be mentioned 12 miles on T. H. No. 2 between Morehead and Warren; 11 miles on Nos. 2 between Grand Rapids and Cohasset; 22 miles on No. 11 east from Roseau to Pelan; 10 miles on No. 5 from Shakopee to Minneapolis; and 11 miles on No. 52 west from Port Byron. Hail has hampered the work in all parts of the state but most of the jobs are being completed or soon will be, Traffic has not been seriously inconvenienced except on No. 11, where no detour was available and where the portion under construction has occasionally been impassable.

Of the gravelling surfacing, 547 miles have been done by contract and 87 miles by the maintenance division. The maintenance division has also reshaped 213 miles, resurfaced 347 miles, oiled or tarred 221 miles and applied calcium chloride binder to 192 miles.

Not all of the people who go thru life smiling regard existence as a joke.

BUTTER CLOG CREAMERY

Butter consumers are often heard complaining about the high price of butter, while the farmers who produce the product feel that they are not getting enough for their butterfat. It should be remembered, however, that the cost of buying cream is far greater than the cost of manufacturing butter. At present the average cost of making butter should not exceed three cents per pound and the cost of buying cream in the central states will vary from fifteen to twenty cents per pound with an average cost of seven cents a pound, according to a recent survey. This survey states that the average farmer is losing a large number of cows to the dairy industry but has been overcrowded.

Statistics show that every 10,000 milking cows in the northwest support approximately 60 cream stations and 40 cream routes. As a result of the insufficient amount of cream per station we have high butter prices and low money for butterfat. The man who places a Butterfat producer supports, the less he will be paid for his product. The more stations, the more profits they must have; because there will not be enough volume per station.

A cream station may be of some service to the farmers who are located far from the market, but where we have as many creameries as we have in Minnesota there is no necessity for cream stations.

Many farmers in Minnesota are supporting over 2,000 stations besides several creameries. Why not let the creameries handle the product and eliminate the expense of cream stations.

Many think that we must have stations for patrons. Such a concern such as the co-operative creamery, that does not operate by the week, but every day—everything above expenses reeds no competition.

A co-operative creamery assures a fair market the year around.

SUNSETS AT THIEF RIVER FALLS

If I were an artist with paints, brushes and things
And a heart filled with love like the Gauls,
I'd paint me a picture to present to the kings,
Of the sunsets at Thief River Falls.

For my red I'd borrow a Cardinal wing,
For blue, the sea that enthralls,
And O, such a picture to charm my dear king,
A sunset at Thief River Falls.

For my yellow I'd use the canary bird wings,
At noon on the old garden walls,
And I'm sure that my picture would dazzle the kings,
My sunset at Thief River Falls.

I'd use green and gold and purple that effects,
Of a Monarch that rules Jasper Halls,
And I know I'd find favor with all noble kings,
With a sunset at Thief River Falls.

All the color and magic that is found in the Spring,
Would be chosen in the picture I'd present to my king,
A sunset at Thief River Falls.

If you will tarry a moment as you hurry then life,
And picture for double our walls,
You will see such a picture that will banish all strife,
A sunset at Thief River Falls.

I've seen the sun set in many a land,
I've seen the sun set on the seas and all,
But I never saw sunsets so splendid and grand,
As the sunsets at Thief River Falls.

Let me tell you again as I come to a close,
That the beauty and grace that enthralls,
Can only be found out of poetry and prose,
In a sunset at Thief River Falls.

—Billy Doo

To The Voters of Pennington County

Now that the election is over I wish to thank the voters of Pennington County, both men and women for the splendid vote given me on election day. I tried to come around and see as many of the voters as possible, and met a large number of people. Many kindnesses and courtesies were extended to me, and all I can say is that I certainly appreciate the splendid vote given me, and the confidence shown me, in the country district as well as in the towns and city. Again thanking the voters of the county, both men and women, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

TO KEEP UP FIGHT FOR PROHIBITION

"Dry" Hold Law Enforcement Conference at Crookston; Local Citizens Attend

The Volstead law is fundamental, universal and simplicity itself, Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren declared as a banquet of a regional enforcement conference sponsored by the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league at the Crookston Friday night. About 100 representatives from five counties in the section were present, including the following from Thief River Falls: Rob. and Mrs. O. B. Sande, Mrs. O. Brother, Mrs. Andy Craik, Mrs. J. H. Hermanson, Mrs. J. H. Hanley, Mrs. George M. Wilson, Rev. E. H. Lorenz, Rev. E. L. Tungseth, and Olaf Neset.

Other speakers on the evening's program included: D. C. Mellfield superintendent of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon League; Rev. Bagne also of the League, and county attorney W. O. Bergum of Warren and J. G. Montague of Crookston. All emphasized the duty of continuing the fight against liquor and urged support of the Anti-Saloon League which is taking the lead in the fight against the foes of prohibition. Andrew J. Volstead was unable to attend.

Supt. Mellfelt told the conference that they must "change their method, scheme or device after another Pussyfoot Bruhn" and that they were surely bring them victory; only to meet disappointment and defeat, and disillusioning results.

"The fight of the drys has only just begun," declared Mr. Grindeland.

Facts were presented by the speakers to show the great benefits of prohibition and disproving claims by the wets that there is just as much or more liquor than before the 18th amendment was put into effect. It was declared final relief will be slow to set in but being enforced 100 per cent, it is nevertheless proving a success. It was also the bitter opposition of the liquor interests and the indifference of some citizens that kept up the fight for enforcement machinery was urged.

Sessions continued thru Sunday, with group conferences and discussions.

"Paunee Bill," Necktie Man, is Declared to be a Fake

The following article, published in a recent issue of the Fairmont Daily Sentinel, will no doubt be read with interest by many Thief Riverites, and especially by those, who contributed to their dailies to "Paunee Bill," the salesman." All sections of the country were flooded with letters from bogus full of envelopes, each of the latter containing three bottles of liquid and a necktie—both a "blind man," who was trying to make "an honest living" by selling neckties to sympathetic men. Here is what the Sentinel says:

"Paunee Bill," who recently flooded this country by mail with neckties and 'which' were accompanied by a pitiful letter, telling that he was blind, is a St. Louis, Mo., knitting mill, backed with large capital and which uses this trade name to disguise of its origin.

The fake was unmasked by the Spencer, Iowa, News-Herald, which wrote to a St. Louis financial house to get the facts in the matter, after many Spencer people had fallen for the trick.

The reply said that the still had a good financial rating and was disposing of large amounts of goods in this manner, adding:

"As to the reliability of the organization, we must admit that the ethics of its advertising appeals may be subject to some criticism, but as far as we know, considerable capital is represented."

The sympathy gag is now being worked by several other fakirs. Recently at Louisville, Ky., a selling agent peddle for a regional enforcement conference sponsored by the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league is mailing five gaudily initialed handkerchiefs for the same amount.

Fairmont merchants should break a leg or two and they might be able to dispose with the outside crayfarm.

Just recently the country was flooded with Christmas cards sold in a like manner by some Eastern firm.

Three Cheers! We're proud of our "Linkie" team! When we remember our last year 27 to 0 defeat at the hands of East Grand Forks, we have occasion to congratulate the team. An added reason for gayety is the fact that we're champions for the first time in many years. The two games remaining—with the Crookston "Aggies," and with Bemidji on Armistice Day promise plenty of thrill and will decide the record, although they will not affect our conference standing.

"Education Week," the seven days in which the whole nation turns its mind to matters of education, will find a habitat in The Hilltop. Falls as well as other cities, towns, and villages in the United States. The pupils and teachers in the five R. F. Falls schools have been busy preparing interesting programs for the entertainment of parent and friend visitors, and will welcome a large delegation of visitors on Monday. Special assembly periods for each school. In the evenings pupils will entertain in gymnasium theatre movie crowds. The work being done in the schools will be more favorably bear investigation, and will be no doubt be of much interest to the parents of the 2200 odd students enrolled.

TO THE PARENTS—WHO NEARLY ALWAYS PAY THE PRIVILEGE OF THE THING KNOWN AS "CLASS DUES:"

It's rather a surprise to you when you get when your son or daughter comes to you for, two dollars for "Class Dues." "What, son, haven't you bought all your books yet," questioned the parent.

"Yes, but—well, this is money we all have to pay for the privilege of going to school," answers the stole.

And he is right. The class are a small outfit "which" begins to "run" November 11, under the direction of several "old" heads for spending a few years there with a little fun thrown in. In the lower classes class dues are not more than fifteen cents a year, and in the Junior and Senior years, two dollars. This money creates a fund from which each class may draw for parties, plays, the "Frontier," and memorials. So parents, when your fair lady comes to you for "class dues," sigh heavily, well resembled play book, and give him the required dollar or two. It's only once a year, anyway.

Will oats will never be anything but wild oats, regardless of the opinion in some quarters that every boy has to sow a crop.

MANY ATTEND P.-T. A. MEETING AT KNOX

Parents Urged to Give More Attention to Health of Their Children

Nearly 300 persons gathered at the Knox school Monday night at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association to hear various health topics discussed by local doctors. The East Siders demonstrated interest in the school by being specially well represented at this meeting, at which many pupils took part in the program. The talks were instructive and interesting and the speakers urging the parents to guard the health of their children most carefully.

The importance of caring for the teeth was emphasized by Dr. H. Arnold, dentist, who pointed out the proper care of the teeth and the necessity of close watch by parents in the early years of their children. Eating of coarser foods was advised, the speaker blaming the modern flour mills for much of the trouble with teeth today. Extensive use of pastries and sweets was warned against. Special attention to the molars of the children was urged. You cannot expect that your child will be efficient in school if he or she suffers from a toothache, he said.

Speaking on "The Health of School Children," Dr. B. C. Bernadi, medical director of the Oakland Unit, associated aside for each school. In the evenings pupils will entertain in gymnasium theatre movie crowds. The work being done in the schools will be more favorably bear investigation, and will be no doubt be of much interest to the parents of the 2200 odd students enrolled.

The numerous duties of the health officer were enumerated and explained by Dr. J. T. Bowers, city physician. It was pointed out that the various health regulations and laws are established for the protection of the people and a plea was made to those present to co-operate in enforcing them effectively. The necessity of quarantine and other measures was emphasized and the organization of the various health units in government reviewed.

Miss Gladys Ilaly, for the nurses, spoke about the American Red Cross, its organization, relief work and the annual roll-call which begins from November 11, under the direction of Mrs. Ira. In connection with Red Cross relief work attention was called to the aid given the people of the cyclone stricken Florida recently.

A wall received solo was sung by Dr. J. N. Nesse, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. O. F. Mellby, and the children of the primary grade of the Knox delighted the audience with two songs. A feature of the program was the clever and well executed play, "The Bad Baby Molar" by children of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades, which in an effective manner brought out some of the points in Dr. Arnold's talk. Knox teachers were highly complimented upon the attractive decorations in the auditorium and the different rooms, which some of those in attendance had occasion to visit.

Lunch was served by a committee consisting of Mrs. J. T. Bowers, chairman; Mrs. H. Arnold, Mrs. Olaf Nesset, Mrs. George Nicholson, and Mrs. George Howe.

President Dreng Bjornsrua announced that there will be election of officers at the next meeting, on December 6.

Miss Charlotte Ellis was honored with a five-hour theatre party Monday afternoon by Miss Gypsy Dorothy Sorenberger. After a social hour everyone, including Pierrettes, clowns, Hook Finns, gypsies, Spanish, and countrified, decorated teachers, enjoyed refreshments of orange blossom ice-cream, wafers, and pretzels.

The All-Hallow's frolickers then motored to the auditorium, returning that they had had "a big time."

FOOTBALL PICTURE TAKEN

Following the custom of previous years, the football team met on Tuesday afternoon at Salerson's Studio to have the annual group picture taken. It will be hung in the lower high school hall with the many pictures of former years teams, in memory of the 1926 27 fighters who brought home the bacon at all the conference games.

AT CONCORDIA HOMECOMING

Misses Ragna Stenerson and Margaret Quammen, local school instructors, attended the Homecoming-Foundation day exercises of Concordia college, Moorhead, Saturday. Miss Stenerson, who is a graduate of Concordia, also visited at her parental home in Moorhead. During the exercises Prof. J. A. Holvik of the department of Norwegian literature at the college, received the Order of St. Olaf by King Haaken of Norway, represented by Consul Hide of St. Paul. Prof. Holvik received this honor especially for his work in connection with the Norse-American centennial "of which he was executive secretary.

Juniors Decide on Junior-Senior Rings, Class Party

At a meeting of the Junior class last Wednesday, it was unanimously decided to buy class rings for the year instead of rent, this the class chance to wear them for two high school years and also lessening somewhat their expenses as Seniors. A rings committee of four, composed of Lovern Leibersman, Chester Dahlen, Esther Ness, and Margaret Barsen are looking over samples this week.

Another interesting feature of the meeting was the treasurer's report on the class dues. Ethel Moline as cashier of this "fund," has collected thirty-five dollars at that time, and Marguerite Johnson, leader of the "Blues," thirty six. Both amounts have risen considerably during the past five days, however, as stated in last week's issue, a party scheduled for last Saturday, but postponed because of the All-High school Masquerade, will be given by the losing side next Saturday in the high school auditorium.

ALL-HIGH PARTY IS ENJOYED SAT. NITE

Class Stunts Furnish Entertainment for Gala Masked Affair

More than 200 students and faculty members were present at the Hallowe'en party in the gymnasium last Saturday evening. The guests were masqued as witches, gypsies, clowns, Spanish dancers, and peasants, presenting a gala scene when assembled.

The opening number, "The Gathering of the Nuts," conducted by Sarah Bjornsrua, played an original and humorous stunt, after which all the masqueraders were directed to the individual class affairs. In room 102 the Seniors entertained their audience by revealing mysterious visitors of the future. In room 204 Freshmen staged a "scary" time, impersonating cannibals devouring a fellow being. Mr. Tolsen's room, 9, was the scene of the Sophomore cleverness, a "Spook Chamber," in which "ironing board tumbling" was a prominent feature.

The merry masqueraders then directed their steps toward the gymnasium where the Juniors represented the leaders and pupils in classes and activities. The teachers and their impersonators are here listed: Miss Thompson, Gladys Weeks; Miss Leavens, Mary Swenson; Mrs. Kerstad, Elaine Kerstad; Miss Stenerson, Florence Kaelin; Miss Tandberg, Margaret Bjorkman; Miss Watson, Peggy Hines; Miss McMillan, Lucille Larson; Miss Seals, Margaret Barsen; Mr. Ophelm, Manville Gunderson; Mr. Hand, Chester Myron; Mr. Nye, Arthur Lufkin; Mr. Mathewson, George Johnson; Mr. Tolsen, Leo Amundson and Mr. Thune, Earl Beseler. These "teachers," by the way, had donned their costumes when their original reality wear in school, making the acts quite realistic.

The center of the floor was then cleared and Miss Seals, dressed in an appropriate costume, gave an interpretative Russian dance in such a pleasing manner that she was encored. This was the feature number of the evening.

The teachers' training department did its bit by a physical culture stunt, the Misses Wingfield, Ayers, and Sensabaugh participating. Fortune telling booths, under the supervision of Misses Gypsy Dorothy Sorenberger and Florence Kaelin, were also in evidence.

After a social hour everyone, including Pierrettes, clowns, Hook Finns, gypsies, Spanish, and countrified, decorated teachers, enjoyed refreshments of orange blossom ice-cream, wafers, and pretzels.

The All-Hallow's frolickers then motored to the auditorium, returning that they had had "a big time."

EAST GRAND FORKS WIN MAKES CHAMPS OF "LINKIE" ELEVEN

Next Game with Crookston "Aggies" Saturday; Bemidji Next Thursday

The "Linkies" romped through the East Grand Forks eleven last Saturday to a 22 to 0 victory by scoring its first touchdown on a pass, and two others on intercepted passes.

As the Grand Forks Herald states: "At no point in the game was Thief River Falls in danger from East Grand Forks," the locals outplaying the visitors in all departments. Only once did the visitors threaten, when Thief River Falls lost the ball on the East Grand Forks 20 yard line. The visitors managed to bring the ball to Thief River Falls' 32 yard line. They failed to gain however.

The ball alternated between the two teams in the first two periods, the first score being made by the punt to the enemies 10 yard line, another to the 33 yard line by East Grand Forks. Dorr's 9 yard side line run and 6 yard line bucks, a pass interception to Oen, and a final beautiful dropkick by "Jesus" added 7 points of score to Thief River Falls' beacon.

On "Chuck" Dorr's fumble in the third period the visitors had a chance to score by recovering the ball on the Thief River Falls' 8 yard line, but intercepting a pass on their second play, "Chuck" redeemed himself and carried the ball back to the other end; no gain.

East Grand Forks opened up a series of passes in the fourth period in an attempt to score, but were thrown back to our 8 yard line, where "Jesus" Sevrson drop-kicked for an added three points. With another serial attempt at advancing to scoring territory, East Grand Forks lost the ball to Froseth, who ran 40 yards for a touchdown.

Kirk, flashy East Grand Forks back made a 10 yard end run, but when his mates tried another serial attack, Severson galloped 60 yards for a touchdown, making the final score 22 to 0 by failure to kick a goal.

Thief River Falls made their downs 16 times to but five on the part of the visitors. Our shifty, powerful backfield, a strong defensive game, and East Grand Forks' lack of co-ordination contributed to the final score. Fans will remember this game as one of the best flights put up by local teams in four years.

Miss Goddard, a representative of the Victor company of Camden, N. J., spoke to the seventh and eighth grades and the Normal Training department on Tuesday, October 26. Her subject was music. She gave a very interesting demonstration of the patterns and described the different records played on the Victrola.

$75 A. C. Scholarship is Awarded Irvin McKercher

Irvin, the 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McKercher of St. Hilaire, last week received a $75 (also) four scholarship to the A. C. School of Agriculture at Crookston. The award is in recognition of Irvin's work in dairy calf club work and the placing of his animal, which was one of the best in the county. It was granted on the advice of County Agent J. J. McCann and H. J. Blackhoft of Crookston, district club leader.

KEEPING YOUNG FOLKS HOME

How to keep the young folks at home in the evening is a problem that has confronted many parents, because of the counter attractions that take them away.

Some parents think they have solved it by installing a radio. There are few young people, especially boys who are not attracted by a radio receiving set.

It brings to their ears concerts, news, results of athletic events, lectures and sermons. They can travel from coast to coast in one evening, picking up the strains of a famous piece of classical music one minute and casting it aside in a few minutes for one of their favorite jazz numbers by an orchestra in a city perhaps one thousand miles away.

The boy who last year was standing on the curbstone smoking, or wasting his hours away in a pool room, may now be spending his time at home, roaming over the universe with his mind, tuning in here and there, constantly striving to find something new that the air is willing to give up.

It is a new and thrilling pleasure for a boy and has a peculiar fascination that attracts father and mother too, but the wise parents will sit back and allow the youngsters to manipulate the dial, realizing for once what it means to have them at home.

The radio provides a peculiar useful interest for boys, stimulating their ingenuity and encouraging them to do things themselves instead of watching someone else do them. The boy who receives skill in handling the instruments is the one who has patiently figured it all out, and he is the boy who will apply himself with the same care to the life job out in the world when he gets to it.

Centralites Enjoy Meet In Political Campaign

A mock election campaign featured the Central Junior high school assembly Monday morning. The speeches for state and county candidates, presidential nominations, and other numbers on their program are as follows:

Solo and song; remarks, John Malone; Melvin for Congress, Bernice Bendel; Wefald for Congress, Bessie Carlson; song by 7th grade; Regina Johnson for governor, Vanella Johnson; Christianson for governor, Forrest Anderson; Holmes for lieutenant governor, Lloyd Verner; Nolan for lieutenant governor, Lucile Bawden; song by 8th grade; Movies should be closed on Sunday, Linnea Backlund; Movies should not be closed on Sunday, Vera Erickson; Star Spangled Banner.

Dame Politics Troubles History-English Hearts

November 1 and 2 afforded an opportunity for the Lincoln students to strengthen their reactions in the field of politics, for in both the history and English classes votes were cast on sample ballots.

In Mr. Ophelm's American History classes everyone had a chance to express his political sentiments. The campaign managers, representing their party affiliations, were responsible for the enthusiastic and interesting talks given in behalf of candidates.

The party representatives selected were: Republicans, Ruth Hanson and Byron Thorallsen; Democrats: Selmer Thorallsen and Phillip Johnson; Socialist and Marion Reynolds; Farmer-Labor: Stella Salveson and Lars Barstad.

Noted Minneapolis Pastor to Speak at H. S. Graduation

Smith, pastor of Simpson Methodist church in Minneapolis and one of the silver speakers of the northwest, has agreed to deliver the commencement address at the high school graduation exercises here June 2, 1927, it is announced by L. M. Rayson, superintendent of schools. Dr. Smith is in such demand as a commencement speaker that he has turned other occasions that it was difficult to secure him for this date. The Thief River Falls high school is getting a speaker of Dr. Smith's ability, which assures one of the most interesting addresses ever heard in this city, according to those who have heard him speak.

Lady Surgeons Diagnose East Grand Forks Game

After announcements by Principal Fred Tolsen, the Lincoln pep fest leader, took over the Friday meeting. It was opened by enthusiastic singing of the school songs to cheer the boys for the game. To give the Lincoln students a better chance at the coming contest an operation was performed on East Grand Forks by five surgeons, representing Wengeler, Oen, Arnold, Ericson and Severson. Such organs as "20 and nave, left hand, rest run," were victoriously extracted from the enemy by the clever skill finally poor "East Grand Forks" was quite empty.

The Tom meeting ended with some rooting yells led by Bernice Hoppa, "master spear."

OH! SAMMY!

"Say, Sammy, were you the lumber jack of the dare at the masquerade?"

"Lumber jack, say, I wasn't a lumber jack and ain't no dude at any time. I was a Milwaukee beer baron from Milwaukee front—Yes, sir! Uncle Sam's prohibition laws didn't bother me this old red flake nose. Of course not a gal recognized me since I was a Milwaukee beer baron and not played in the show window. But as soon as I opened my mouth they all recognized me in. Oh! yes my old pal! Alkali Ike was along—streaks (ens) lizzie butte—but nobody noticed him; not with me around anyway!

"Oh! yes, say, Big Boy, when Miss Sadie was giving that dandy Russianlady dance I saw you standing in the corner with your mouth open. Where were the girls then? Queer!"

"Oh! They were pushin' me close as they could get to "the dancer from" Paris."

"Dry up, Blabbermouth, and dip your head in a rain barrel!"

Always There
"For an industry that has grown from practically nothing in 25 years, the business of forging motor cars has become one of the wonders of the industrial world," says a bulletin of the American Research Foundation. "The notable thing about it is that the gasoline is always there."

The achievement of having gasoline ready at any spot where it is wanted has been accomplished through superior organization by the various units of the Standard Industry. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), is acknowledged a leader in size—in production—in manufacturing—in distribution.

Gasoline is always there. This is so true that few people realize there is anything "notable" about it.

If you were to drive up to a Service Station of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the attendant were to say, "I'm sorry, but we are out of gasoline just now," you would be surprised, to say the least.

Because you can always get gasoline anywhere you go, you have learned to take its supply and distribution for granted.

Motor to the farthest corners of the Middle West—North, South, East and West. Travel in any of the ten states. Seven are Natives of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are always there ready to supply you with gasoline.

The vast network of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Service Stations is so established that the millions of motorists in the Middle West might have gasoline when and where they wanted it.

This system represents the direct producer to consumer method of distribution, adopted by the petroleum industry, to make petroleum products universally and conveniently available to the people.

The products of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are sold directly to the consumer. There are devices and complicated machinery separating producer and consumer.

The thousands of resellers, garage men and others who sell Standard Oil products because it is profitable are part of this vast chain of direct distribution.

This direct method of complete distribution has naturally tended to lower prices and raise efficiency.

It has brought the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) into direct contact with the people of the Middle West.

Direct contact with its customers has made it possible for the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to serve them with the highest possible efficiency and good-will.

It has promoted a friendly spirit of mutual understanding between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the people of the Middle West. They know the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) personally.

Integrity of purpose, a policy of frankness and sincerity, and a consistent fairness in all its dealings have earned for the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) the confidence, respect and esteem of millions of people.

CAUTION IN WINTER DRIVING IS URGED

Cold Weather Brings Serious Accidents; Babcock Makes Plea for Safety

The Times has received a request from C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways, to urge its readers to use extreme caution while driving automobiles during cold weather.

"There has been an unusual number of serious accidents in all parts of the state since the coming of cold weather," Mr. Babcock says. "Curtains or closed windows, especially if they are not kept clean, make it difficult to hear auto horns, train whistles and crossing bells. Pedestrians with coat collars up or caps over their ears add to the hazard. Driving at dusk without proper lights is another element of danger. Motorists should exercise more than ordinary caution at this season of the year.

"The State Highway department is anxious to do everything possible to promote safety on the highways. We against the hazards of modern traffic cannot be responsible too often. Motorists must ever be reminded that eternal vigilance is greatly appreciated by this department."

Auditorium is Filled for Reformation Festival

Members of the Zion, Augustana, Trinity, and neighboring Swedish congregations filled the auditorium Sunday evening for the Joint Lutheran Reformation festival. Inspiring sermons were delivered by the pastors, Rev. E. L. Tungseth, Rev. K. L. Tellekson and A. A. Westlund who paid high tribute to the work of Martin Luther, the founder of Lutheranism, and pointed to various characteristics of the denomination. Pupils in the Sunday and week-day school of the parochial churches recited in addition to the usual Luther's catechism, led by superintendents Olaf Nesset and Gunther C. Fossum. Recitations and song numbers by the children also made up the program, a recitation by little Elizabeth Jovis being particularly well delivered. Accompaniment of an orchestra added much to the hymn singing. Rev. Tellekson presided.

An offering was taken for Lutheran relief work in Europe, announced by O. A. Naplin, the sum of $53.35 being contributed.

NAFFETT HINTS

Keep your mind on your driving.

See that your lights are O. K. Have your brakes and steering gear inspected.

Drive carefully on slippery roads and streets.

Have antifreeze and throttle adjusted to prevent stalling.

When your curtains or windows are up, be sure to—

Keep the windshield and windows clean.

Remember that pedestrians with ears muffled may not hear your horn.

Drive as carefully as you have done, what we say by wielding highways, providing sight distance, illuminating dangerous places, safe grade crossings and erecting warning signs. This work is constant. But there our direct control ends. Beyond that we depend upon officials, newspapers and motorists themselves for co-operation.

If expect to ask the Legislature to establish a highway patrol, as a means of getting more uniform, lawful enforcement and curbing of criminal and reckless driver. But a large portion of accidents do not seem to level-headed and law-abiding citizens who lapse for a moment into the unusual condition. The only way to reduce the number of accidents to the irreducible minimum—and repeated experience can in driving. The newspapers of the state have given much space to safety propaganda, but warnings

IT COSTS-TO WAIT

If you're well, you'll keep on working and making money—and you can afford to spend a little now to make sure.

You may think you're all right, and still you may have a beginning disease. It wont cost you much to find out—it may cost a lot to wait.

In the spring the farmer goes over the place and examines the machinery to see if very little has broken the bushings, etc., or the machinery breaks. Why not do the same with your body? It costs—to wait till you're really sick.

Osteopathy costs money, but it's cheaper to vet it at the first indication of trouble than to wait till you're really sick.

An osteopathic physician will find the things that are starting wrong, and often can stop them before they do real damage. That's where the saving comes in—to you.

T. R, F. TEACHERS TO STATE CONVENTION

Supt. Bye and Hazel Krause Delegates to Annual Meet of Minn. Education Ass'n.

A delegation of Thief River Falls teachers left last night for St. Paul to attend the annual convention of the Minnesota Education Association which opens today and continues thru Saturday.

It is expected that approximately 5,500 educators will gather to discuss problems in education, the aims and objects in teaching, new methods, class room management and procedure, and planning difficulties. In addition four legislative reports regarding teacher problems will come before members of the association. These include a bill with legislation which favors the revision, rather than repeal, of the Teacher Retirement Fund bill; providing for a county board of education; laws to the effect that state aid must be paid promptly and in full; and the passage of the proposed Hallam law providing for teachers' tenure.

The program has been arranged so that there will be three general sessions, at which Supt. H. C. Bell of Laverne will preside, and numerous sectional meetings, at which there will be talks by specialists in each field, discussions and round table discussions. Among the specialists who will appear is Miss Mary E. Bryne, director of special day classes in the Minneapolis schools, who addresses the Parent-Teacher association meeting here last spring.

Among the outstanding speakers at the general sessions are Miss Julia Richman of Portland, Ore.; Alexander Meiklejohn of the University of Wisconsin, college instructor and administrator for more than 30 years; Miss Ada Ward, English and American lecturer; Raymond B. Schweigert, acting dean of education at the University of Minnesota; and Will Irwin, writer and lecturer.

Problems which will be taken up at the sectional meetings include: Diagnosis and treatment of the problem pupil; the relative place of extra-curricular activities in the secondary school curriculum; bridging the gap between theory and practice; the Modern's club in the rural school; some objective measures in social science teaching; developments in vocational education; the home economics; a closer articulation between high schools and colleges in German; book education for high school and college; the next step in Latin teaching; a survey of articulation between high schools and social value of art; the best preparation for high school for college physics; transportation of pupils; objectives of adult education.

Miss Bye, superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools is a delegate from the northwestern division of the association, the other delegates being Miss Hazel Krause of this city, instructor in a rural school in Pennington county; Supt. G. Holmquist of Warren, Supt. A. Gloor of Crookston, and Supt. Estenson of East Grand Forks. Miss Krause left for St. Paul last night and Supt. Holmquist, Supt. Gloor and Supt. Estenson left this morning.

QUEEN MARIE PASSES THRU

Queen Marie of Rumania, her son, Prince Nicholas, and daughter, Princess Ileana and other members of the royal party which is touring America, passed thru this territory Sunday. The royal party stopped in Crookston at five o'clock in the morning, and of course curious Crookstonites were quite disappointed that they were unable to get a glimpse of the beautiful queen, who was on her way to Minneapolis from Winnipeg. They were traveling in a special Great Northern train consisting of 12 cars. One enthusiastic Thief River Falls booster felt indignant about the fact that this city was left out of the queen's itinerary.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE PLANNED BY LEGION

Enthusiastic Rally of Ninth District Posts Held in T. R. F. Saturday

Legionaires from a dozen towns in the northern half of the Ninth district gathered at the annual rally at the Legion home Saturday night as guests of the local post. It was an enthusiastic meeting with plans and emphasis on why every former service man should belong to a legion post. Plans for an intensive membership drive thruout the territory were discussed, and definitions of some of the various posts, including the local unit, will go over Sept. 30.

Among the speakers were Sidney Stralsvold of Fosston, Ninth district commander; Arthur Young of Thief River, former district commander; Dr. C. A. Gunnarson of Warren, former commander of the Warren post; and H. O. Chemnie, former commander of the local post.

An echo from the national Legion fall meeting conventions in Philadelphia last month was brought to the meeting by Mrs. J. M. Bishop, president of the Minnesota Auxiliary who was a delegate to the convention, who related interesting facts about the meeting before going to Minneapolis to take up work for the Auxiliary. She cited a number of interesting improvements, declaring the convention to be the most wonderful gathering she had ever attended. It was pointed out that Minnesota was a notable shaving figure in drum and bugle corps competitions and succeeded in electing former state adjutant, Hafford Farrage, as national commander of the national Legion. She urged the Legionnaires to carry on the fine work of the organization.

Commander Oscar Paulson presided and the dinner was fed by Earl Stanton. State Commander Rufus B. Rand of Minneapolis was unable to attend the rally, but it is announced that Thief River Falls has been chosen as one of Ninth district rallies, and he will visit during the forepart of November, accompanied by State Adjutant Eddie Linsell.

The local Auxiliary served a delicious lunch, which was much appreciated by the Legionnaires.

The next meeting of the Elmer J. Eklund post will be held Friday, November 12. It has been decided to hold but one regular meeting each month, the second Friday, a meeting of the executive committee to be held the fourth Friday. However, all legionnaires will be welcome to attend the executive meetings, and efforts will be made to provide something special to attract a large attendance at the regular post meetings.

Local ex-service men are urged to join the Legion now to get the membership campaign under way.

A new service will be launched this month, when the local post will issue a news bulletin to be called the "Thief River Falls Legion Call." This, it is hoped, will help stimulate interest in Legion affairs.

INDIANS GET PAYMENT

Distribution of approximately $735,250 to Chippewa Indians of Minnesota will be made by Indian Service Department Saturday. The sum comprises former accumulated tribal funds of these Indians in the United States treasury for the last year. Under the distribution plan, approximately 14,107 Chippewas will participate in the distribution; 12,236 of whom reside under jurisdiction of the consolidated Chippewa agency at Cass Lake and 1,771 on the Red Lake reservation. Each Indian will receive $50.

BURN WATER SOFTENER

The Evelyn Hotel will install a $1,000 water softener plant within the next three weeks, as a result of a deal closed Saturday night with the Twin City Water Softener company represented by L. C. Bennett of St. Paul. The tank has a 10,000 gallon capacity, and is similar to a plant purchased from the same company recently by the Model Steam laundry.

ON HUNTING TRIP

Following the district Legion rally in this city Saturday, Oscar Smith of this city joined District Commander Sidney Stalsvold, Ben Johansen, and Martin Ostrem of Fosston in hunting ducks at Fosston on Sunday. "Debie" Stalsvold, basketball coach at West Virginia university, was also a member of the party. Oscar reports that they got their limit.

ROTARY GOVERNOR VISITS CLUB HERE

Minot Physician Makes Strong Address on Rotary Principles Monday

Dr. Archie McCannell of Minot, N. D., governor of the Ninth district of Rotary International, made his official visit to the Thief River Falls Rotary club Monday and that evening addressed the club and guests at a dinner meeting at the Evelyn hotel. Fifty-two persons attended the dinner, the guests including a delegation from the Crookston club, the mayor and members of the city council, and directors of the commercial club. It was a thoroly enjoyed fellowship affair, the inspiring address on Rotary principles by Dr. McCannell being the outstanding feature of the evening. The listeners were especially attracted by the district governor's enthusiasm and sincerity.

Dr. McCannell in his talk reviewed the formation of Rotary International 21 years ago and pointed to its tremendous growth since its inception, which now functions in 44 different countries of the world. He discussed Rotary principles, with service as the keynote, pointing out the part of Rotary in the affairs of the community, state, nation and world at large, and outlined the district's program for the year of his administration.

Greetings were extended by Secretary W. J. Kirkwood, Hugh Torrence, Dr. Chas. Sproule, who addressed the club, and the following local members: Mayor W. W. Prichard, Jr., Rev. E. H. Lee, Rev. W. J. Hertz, Dr. H. W. Foehlich, Dr. A. W. Sivertsen, Dr. L. A. Wu, Dr. J. E. Melby, Dr. G. A. Penney, Julius Trosvig, Dr. Benzie, Wm. Dahl and Capt. Thos. Quale, H. C. Hand, Jr., H. S. Snyder, President Alfred Hendrickson and Secretary Kirkwood led the singing.

The district governor met with the officers of the Thief River Falls club at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and discussed with them the operations of the club, made suggestions for the coming year's work of the local unit and proposed plans for the coming visit of Rotarian Hertz, district governor of Rotary International.

GREENBUSH P. O. BURGLARIZED

Greenbush lost its first burglary Tuesday night of last week when Donald Sutton, postmaster, in a safe which a robber was unable to open, the day's receipts at 11 p. m. when the safe was entered by the burglar, amounted him to throw up his hands. Sutton, after complying, Sutton reached for his pistol and opened fire. The robber returned the fire and wounded Sutton in the arm. He then backed out of the store and the electric wires in the room in darkness and the building man, Mr. Sutton's brother-in-law, amateur, fled without a loot. The robber only fired one shot.

Network of Truck Lines to Get Permits in November

Permits to operate a network of motor truck lines in a number parts of Minnesota will be granted late in November by the railroad and warehouse commission, as a result of hearings which were conducted in 25 cities since last spring, including a hearing of three applications for truck lines between this city and Grygla and Four Towns. Rates which truck lines will be permitted to charge apparently will be based on the Minnesota scale of freight rates, which railroads in most cases are not using because higher interstate rates have been precedence. What rates will be granted is as yet undetermined because the state commission is seeking a bird's-eye view of the truck situation before determining a policy.

The issues are complicated because of various facts such as that railroads are appearing in consistent objection to virtually all truck lines alleging duplications of service and opposing particularly long hauls.

The commission has before it requests of 74 truck companies to operate 6,000 miles of truck lines. The proceedings are under the 1925 motor vehicle control act, which instructed the commission to issue permits to operate lines where "convenience and necessity" can be shown. Lines in operation when the law was passed have been permitted to operate.

ATTENDS NAT'L CONVENTION

Dr. O. F. Melby left Monday for Chicago to attend the National Dairy Show Surgeons convention Nov. 3-5, and from there will go to the Soo Line. He will return within a week, expecting to visit for a few days in Northfield before coming here.

FIRE AT CARR RESIDENCE

The local fire department was called at 8 o'clock Friday afternoon to the Carr residence, 103 11th St. E. arriving there in record time, but the fire proven to be a serious affair. The fire started in the kitchen of the dwelling, caused by the burning of accumulated soot. No one was in the house at the time; Mrs. Edward Henry Peterson, noticed the illuminated window and sensed something wrong, immediately turning in the alarm. Firemen found the fire in the basement extinguishing the fire with chemicals.

MORE THAN 4,000 VOTES CAST IN PENNINGTON CO.

Turnout at Last Week's Election Exceeds Presidential Election in 1924

O. R. SANDE LOSES TO GUNDERSON BY 83 VOTES

Official Returns for County Announced; Results in Neighboring Counties Given

A total of 4,299 votes were cast and counted in Pennington county's 37 precincts in the general election last week, according to figures submitted by County Auditor T. F. Anderson following the county canvassing board's labors. The board, consisting of Mr. Anderson, Emil Larson, chairman of the county board, and Clerk of Court Stene of Smiley and Harry Myrom of Norden township, was in session last Thursday and Friday.

Altho the vote of about 700,000 in the state in last week's election was the lightest since 1920, the vote here in the county was the largest in any election last June only 3,907 votes were counted, of which 1,267 were cast in Thief River Falls. On November 2 vote in the city totaled 1,871, divided as follows: For governor Ja Preus, 556; second, 530; Olson, 320; and fourth, 567. Counting of ballots was completed in the fourth ward until late Wednesday evening, the 3rd.

The official figures disclosed that George R. Gunderson defeated O. R. Sande by only 83 votes in the race for the county superintendency. In the last election Sande defeated Gunderson by 1,200 votes. Hickory township gave Gunderson 48 votes and Sande 16, while the canvassing boards figures show a reversal of the figures—55 for Sande and 16 for Gunderson, cutting down Gunderson's majority to a fraction of last year's vote and therefore lost in this county.

There was well defined opposition against three new measures and the figure was fed by them all by about 450 short of obtaining the required majority of votes cast (See Amendment No. 1, which would increase the salaries of district judges at the state supreme court, polled 1716 "yes" votes to 1119 "no." Play Director for Summer Months is Sought

Wars in which the Rotary club can work for better boys were discussed in talks at the luncheon Tuesday by Supt. Morris Bye and H. C. Hand, high school principal.

Mr. Hand pointed out the way business and professional men can be "big brothers" to boys in high school, citing the value to boys resulting from associations with good men.

Mr. Bye suggested that a movement be started for a play director to supervise recreational activities among boys and girls in the grades during the three summer months, urging the Rotarians to back such a project. He stated that it has been tried out in other cities and believes that it will work out here.

Coach L. A. Thune also his squad of fellball players will be entertained by the club at next Tuesday's luncheon. In recognition of their record for the season.

PRIZE ANIMALS OF STATE SHOW COMING NOV. 13

Great Northern Junior Livestock Special to Stop in City Saturday Eve.

FARMERS URGED TO ATTEND PROGRAM HERE

Special will Carry Champion Calves, Pigs, Sheep, Poultry and Young Owners

According to information received yesterday by County Agent J. J. McCann from D. C. Lundy, commissioner of agriculture for the Great Northern railway, the Junior livestock special from the Junior Livestock Show in St. Paul next week will stop here and this is expected to arrive in Thief River Falls Saturday afternoon, Nov. 13 and plans are being formulated for receiving the travelers. The matter was taken up by the Commercial club at its noon luncheon today, with W. C. Eaker in charge of the arrangements.

It is planned to hold a meeting in the auditorium commencing at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at which boys and girls will show their state fair winning and demonstrate their methods of caring for and feeding these animals. It will also be made the occasion, state boys' and girls' club leader, and others who will accompany the special.

The Great Northern is offering three prizes of $75, $50, and $25, respectively, to the towns extending the best welcome and entertainment to boys and girls most royally. The youngsters on the train will be the guests of the club while here and time to Crookston.

George Wilson of St. Hilaire, winner in the sheep division, was a member of the Junior Show by George Haines and Woodrow Wilson and Laurier Peltier, a group and Charles Taggart of Newfolden, a flat barrow division. The show started Tuesday and closes Friday, with more than 700 young livestock breeders competing for cash prizes, ribbons and scholarships. Last night the club members were entertained at the annual banquet in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. The animals are to be sold at auction today.

George Wilson was chosen president of all the 4-H clubs of the state, with more than 26,000 members.

Emmett Peters, poultry club winner, was unable to attend the show, as he is a student at the Northwest School of Agriculture. Pennington county also won showing at the Junior Livestock show in St. Paul, where Harry Myrom, Royal Campion, Chas. Confer, and Clifford Eslinger of Angus, and Loren Parkin, Harry Sheridan, and Elizabeth Graham of Euclid. The Angus and Polled Hereford calves shown by these communities are showing exceptionally rapid progress in club work, Pennington being among the most active in the state.

Parts of "Men of Steel" Were Filmed in Minnesota

George Archaleaud is responsible for the filming of Milton Sills in "Men of Steel," the big First National picture special, which will be shown here for the first time Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Lyceum theatre.

Much of "Men of Steel" was filmed in the steel mills at Gary, Ind., Pittsburgh, at the iron mines in Minnesota and at the docks of Lake Superior ports in Duluth. This is an epic of steel. Archaleaud is a real life character of his engineering training, which placed him at home in the industrial centers, where most of the attraction of the Sills picture was laid. Sills is supported by a cast of first rate caliber, which includes: Doris Kenyon, May Allison, Victor McLaglen, Claude Gillingwater, George Fawcett and John Philip Kolb.

ACHIEVEMENT DAY PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

EXHIBIT AND PROGRAM AT AUDITORIUM HERE

Units to Present "Stunts" During Afternoon; Public Invited to Attend

Arrangements for the first Achievement Day in Pennington county next Thursday, November 18, are nearing completion, according to local leaders of the 18 units of the clothing project. Some 200 members of the project clubs will bring to the auditorium in this city many articles that they have made during the past months, from lessons given by a specialist from the University of Minnesota. FINDING OURSELVES

There are few communities, and Thief River Falls is no exception, that do not need a little self-criticism at home, in order to get ahead.

Every community has its good points, but in most instances, few people appreciate them.

Thief River Falls is not attractive, such a really fine place and has such a fine site, that most of its habitations are well satisfied and say "let well enough alone" or "let someone else do it."

Letting someone else, when it comes to matters of public welfare, will not work out in actual practice. There are two reasons; there is no somebody else if everybody puts it up to someone else.

Then let, someone else do it, we lose half of the benefit, because in the doing of something for the common good, for the welfare of the community as a whole, there is a very direct and positive benefit which rebounds to the doer because of the act, of doing develops a better man and a broader and fuller citizen.

No man may live for himself alone. He is the shortsighted man in the world who thinks he can.

It is little less than no man at all who attempts to attend strictly to his own business and takes no interest in community welfare.

Every man can do something for the betterment of the community.

Every man owes it to the community to do something more than merely pay his taxes, for the taxes are spent for the community good and, therefore, the taxpayer gets his money's worth in return for a fair assessment. Communities, as a rule, are too inept to become self satisfied.

WHAT KIND OF A HOME

Some of us know of homes which are always in order, where no tell-tale dust ever hides in the corners and crevices; where meals are served on the dot, and everything moves in a strictly efficient manner. We look with envy at the housewives who manage such homes, that is our feeling always justified? Homes are for people, not things. A home which has to be kept too neat to permit children to play in it or which makes guests feel as if they have to put down newspapers to walk comfortably, has degenerated into a mere house. Children who are afraid to come home, who bring in their playmates and know they will be welcomed, live in a true home even tho dishes may be late occasionally. The home that cannot make a guest feel at ease lacks the right atmosphere no matter how neat and spic n span it may be.—Northfield News.

There are plenty of good people left in the world, but they don't get themselves on exhibition.

It is a lot better to be fired by ambition than to have the boss do the job.

A pessimist is a person who believes everything he hears.

THE PROHIBITION REFERENDUM

After reading some of the ebony tower propaganda in the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press, it is encouraging to find the following editorial in the Minneapolis Journal:

In the results of Tuesday's referendum on various aspects of prohibition there can scarcely be found cause for the vets to dance in the streets, or yet cause for the drys to view with alarm.

The fact that six States conducting merely initiatory plebiscites skewed much tendencies, is hailed by the modification tendencies and repealists as indicative that, if the people themselves had opportunity to pass on the matter, wet sentiment is to dry sentiment in the nation of six to two.

Which is a long, long way from the truth. How about the forty States in which no referendum may exist under existing laws?

Consistently three or four of them might vote wet. All the rest—thirty-six or thirty-seven—would be extremely likely to vote dry.

Indeed, were not the sentiment in nearly all these forty silent States preponderantly and obviously dry, two or three dozen additional referendums would have been conducted last Tuesday. That such referendums had not been ordered by Legislatures surely was not the fault of the wets.

So, instead of being in the ratio of six to two, wet sentiment in America, when measured by States, is approximately to be in the ratio of ten to thirty-eight, possibly eight to forty.

Naturally there can be no modification, no repeal, no nullification, without the acquiescence of Congress. There can be no lifting of the dry bill until not six States, but twenty-five States, are actually represented by moist Senators in Washington.

In the elections and the primaries themselves the only notable wet victories this year were in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, each by a single notable dry victories in Ohio and Illinois.

Taken all around, Tuesday's results give the wets but slim comfort, and give the drys no reason for becoming panic-stricken.

More Than 4,000 Votes Cast in Pennington County court of Lake commissioners and precinct constables and referendum received 1778 "yes" votes to 1690 "no's". Ms. 8, authorizing the legislature to prescribe and limit the liability of stockholders in banking, received 1660 "yes" votes to 1083 "no's".

The vote in the Ninth congressional district is believed to have been increased by the lively campaign conducted by Harold and Selvig. In this city the Sunday services closing gave added impetus to a big vote.

Republicans Elected

When tabulators quit work on state office returns last week, all Republican candidates were assured of pluralities exceeding 100,000.

Re-elected with Governor Christianson are Nelson, Holm, Chase, Secretary Koerner, and Hilton. Schmahl replaces Treasurer Stark. Ellseth defeated Vanderpool for associate justice nearly two to one.

The following Republican congressmen were re-elected: Allen J. Furlow, first; Frank Clague, second; A. H. Andersen, third; Walter H. Newton, fifth; Harold Knutson, sixth, and Godfrey Goodwin, tenth. M. J. Nolan of the fourth and C. G. Selvig of the ninth are the new Republican members of the Minnesota delegation in Washington. Mass defeating Oscar Keller, progressive Republican, and Selvig winning over Knud-Wefald, Farmer-Laborite. Rev. O. J. Kvale of the seventh and W. L. Carss of the eighth district were returned and make up the Farmer-Labor representation. Kvale, who for a short time served the Twenty-fourth church in this city, was re-elected with a majority of approximately 12,000 over his Republican opponent, Major P. C. Howard, Wheaton editor. Knutson defeated by a small margin over J. B. Himel, Farmer-Laborite.

Marshall County

Unusually close victories were recorded in Marshall county. Following is the vote, with three precincts, Holt, Mud Lake, and Veblt, missing: Legislative representative, F. J. Green of Stephen, 2324; P. H. Mallory of Excel, 2667. Auditor, A. G. Lundgren, 3271; Levi G. Johnson, 2125. Treasurer, F. Bakke, 2941; Peter E. Kvitsland, 2776. Sheriff: John P. Berntsen, 2891; Justice Carlson, 2702. County attorney, O. G. Braggans, 2823; Irvin H. Barnum, 2718. Clerk of court, C. Nesamby, 2723; J. E. Berg, 1562. Superintendent of schools, Nels M. Engen, 3729; G. Helmquist, 1811. Commissioner, first district, A. W. Larson, 526; A. C. Knudsen, 436; complete. Commissioner, third district, A. C. McMillan, 559; P. G. Sorter, 441; three precincts missing. Lake commissioner, fifth district, Irving E. Quist, county surveyor, and Dr. H. M. Hagen, coroner, had no opposition. Robertson was the only present incumbent defeated. The Farmer-Labor ticket was given a majority in Marshall county, Johnson receiving 1922 votes to Christianson's 2198 in the gubernatorial race. Wefald led Selvig in a 2307 to 2579 vote.

In Red Lake county Sheriff Chas. Fellman was re-elected over R. H. Reardon by a vote of 1262 to 955 and Clara Normandeau was elected register of deeds over Darbi T. Beery by a vote of 1214 to 741. The closest contest was for county attorney in which race the winner was not known until the returns from the last precinct, Garnes, were received. Chas. J. C. Pratt, Crookston the other legislative representative, was re-elected over Alfred Gabriel. Ingeborg Jensen was re-elected register of deeds over Fisher. Theresa remains treasurer and Mrs. Thomas Hagen returned as judge of probate.

In Clearwater county O. E. Lovis was re-elected county attorney and Geo. P. Jones, assistant, succeeds the vacancy created by the unfortunate demise of Oscar T. Sherrick's death. Others elected were Oliver Barstad, sheriff; Henry E. Poehls, auditor; P. L. Ranum, register of deeds. Treasurer T. L. Jacobson and Dr. F. C. Hjermsby, coroner, had no opposition.

C. G. Chesterson of Roseau, brother-in-law of Rev. A. Tjellander who has been twice beaten for county treasurer of Roseau county, defeating Paul Wahlin, incumbent. Edgar O. Wold, present county auditor, was re-elected over C. G. Lee for another term. H. J. Bell was given a comfortable lead over M. J. Hedgen for county attorney. Sheriff Sanford A. M. Landby of Swift and Representative Louis Engerman of Beltrami were returned to the legislature. Judge Ira Farmer-Laher endorsed.

James E. Rice, re-elected commissioner in the third district in Polk county.

Peter Sharp of Ada defeated J. F. Mellberg of Twin-Valley for the state senate in the Ninth senatorial district. Both are Republican members of the Minnesota delegation in Washington. Mass defeating Oscar Keller, progressive Republican, and Selvig winning over Knud-Wefald, Farmer-Laborite. Rev. O. J. Kvale of the seventh and W. L. Carss of the eighth district were returned and make up the Farmer-Labor representation. Kvale, who for a short time served the Trinity Lutheran church in this city, was re-elected with a majority of approximately 12,000 over his Republican opponent, Major P. C. Howard, Wheaton editor. Knutson defeated by a small margin over J. B. Himel, Farmer-Laborite.

THANKS TO VOTERS

To the voters of this legislative district I wish to express my gratitude for the splendid vote cast for me on Nov. 2. I look upon this vote as an approval of my past record in office and will endeavor to merit the continuance of your confidence.

Yours sincerely
Bagley, Minn. Nov. 8th, 1926 41c

APPRECIATES SUPPORT

Altho I did not win out in the election, I feel that the results of Tuesday evenings election are very gratifying, and I wish to thank the voters of the district who showed their confidence in me by their support and vote.

Sincerely yours,
PETER ENGELSTAD, 41p

THANKS VOTERS

Dear Editor:

I wish to extend my appreciation in this column to the men and women of Pennington county for the support they gave me in the recent election.

Altho my total vote was not as large as those of the county candidates there were men at your city and fared better in the wards than I did, I wish especially to thank the voters of my own precinct, the surrounding townships, and other townships where I am well acquainted for the good majorities they gave me.

I shall enter the legislature in the "experience column," and only regret that I am not able to have the pleasure of meeting each of our city and people than I did in my one short campaign.

Respectfully yours,
JAS. A. DAHL

THANKS TO VOTERS

As one of the Democratic candidates for county office, I wish to thank you most heartily for the splendid vote and support given me at the recent general election, and to you rest assured in mind that I am your servant, and not your master. I shall, upon entering upon the duties of my office, be attendant of schools, try to give you the full benefit of my training and experience in this work.

Very truly yours,
ELMO M. GUNDERSON.

Polarine and Performance

The performance of individual cars may vary, but the performance of every car depends, to a large degree, on the same factor—lubrication.

A new car poorly lubricated may give more trouble than an ancient model that is perfectly lubricated. The motor oil affects performance more than age.

Improper lubrication always causes trouble in the engine. Surface grinds against surface using every piece of dirt or grit as a weapon of destruction. A slow steady fight goes on between the parts of the engine until they wear each other out and the car breaks down.

If you want smooth, sustained performance from your car, keep it lubricated with Polarine, the perfect motor oil.

Consult the chart at any Standard Oil Service Station or authorized garage for the grade of Polarine made expressly for your car.

Thanks Voters

I wish to express to the voters of Pennington county who so loyally stood by me in the recent election, my sincere thanks and appreciation. I will do everything possible to merit the continuance of your esteem and confidence, and will do all in my power to conduct this office to give every possible service to the people of the county.

T. P. ANDERSON,
County Auditor.

An Appreciation

Altho I had no opposition in the election November 2, I am nevertheless grateful for the unanimous vote accorded to me by the voters of Pennington county. I shall continue to make every possible effort to serve you satisfactorily and trust that I may retain your good will and confidence as in the past.

JOHN GULLINGSRUD,
County Treasurer

SAYS VOTING CONTESTS ARE ILLEGAL

The attorney general's office in Minnesota has ruled that newspaper contests are illegal and conflict with the lottery law in this state, writes Sam Hilseth, field secretary of the Minnesota Editorial association in his weekly bulletin published in September. The Mankato "Free Press" has been recently sued in several separate newspaper contests, at their St. Paul meetings.

Educators Give Junior Red Cross High Praise

Growing recognition by leading educators all over the world has been an achievement of the Junior Red Cross in the last fiscal year.

Included in those which have taken especially favorable cognizance of Junior Red Cross efforts are the World Federation of Education Associations at Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1925, the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association, Washington, 1926, and the National Education Association at Philadelphia, June, 1926. Various State educational bodies have confirmed this approval, the report adds. In the minds of their work, the Juniors have developed contacts through exchange of correspondence, with similar Junior organizations in virtually every part of the world, and through the development of the idea them many leaders see a better chance for world peace in future.

An especially notable development of Junior organization has occurred in Porto Rico, with an enrollment of 127,000, and the Philippines, with 212,000.

More than $,000,000 American Juniors are at work in this organization of the American Red Cross. Their example is held out by the American Red Cross during the Tenth Annual Roll Call for membership, as one for all Americans to endorse by joining the parent organization during the period November 11 to 25 this year.

War Over, But Red Cross Nurses Are Ever On Duty

Has the romantic picture of the Red Cross Nurse faded with the war days? It has been more than 12 years story that fair contingent of brave women to the war zone sailed from America in spite an nudging record of service behind every battle front. For as career to their whereabouts today, it is only necessary to refer to any large disaster of recent years in which the Red Cross rendered relief. Wherever there was injury and suffering the Red Cross nurse will be found to have been an active duty.

These nurses are enrolled under the American Red Cross as a reserve of the Army, Navy, and U. S. Public Health Service, as all times ready to serve in war or peace. This reserve of Red Cross nurses aggregates 8,000 members. Each must have attained standard in the nursing profession, and pay $3 Call for membership to the Red Cross this year in November 11 to 25, when the American people identify themselves with the good services of the organization by joining its ranks.

Join the Red Cross November 11 to 25.

The sorrow coming to four of the students of Lincoln high School last week by the death of their parents has been felt by all. Mrs. O. G. Hovbelen and A. G. LeDrew were both well known by many of the pupils. Words are useless. Gordon Sturbelen and Alvina, Viola and Bernice Lofthus, for whom we write this note of sympathy, need only to know that we feel their grief very keenly also and feel it best to express it through the "Progress" columns.

They stayed with us a fleeting time on earth—

But long enough to rear young men and women—

Their look flight to a bigger, brighter world.

ON TO BEMIDJI

Lincoln students were eagerly anticipating the dawn of November 11, Armistice Day, which gave them a recess from their daily routine.

The customary excitement accompanying a holiday, is very much increased because of the game our team is playing with Bemidji that day. Such exclamations, breathless questions and enthusiastic chatter resounds through Lincoln, filling the air with this kind of conversation!

"Do you going to Bemidji?"

"We can use our car—yes, I think we'll have room for you."

"Can you get a 'Free Pass'?"

"Sure, freshie, I'm going to be "The Best Game Ever."

Yes, everybody feels the urge to follow the merry crowd down to see the "Big Battle." Can't you hear the lusty rooting of Thief River's backed by all that fun and hope?

The Junior class held a meeting Wednesday of last week to make final selection of the class rings from three samples which the committee had chosen. The ring which won the unanimous approval of the class was a Black onyx, surmounted by a white gold shield engraved with the letters T. R. F.—the girl's rings being finished in 10 filigree and white gold, and the boys' in wide yellow gold bands. The rings are being purchased from the Jostes Manufacturing Company, Owatonna, Minnesota, through Olaf Neset, local jeweler. They will be ready for distribution on New Year's Day.

SCHOOL PROGRAMS ARE OF INTEREST TO CITY PARENTS

Education Week Observed with Special Programs in Various Schools

Much interest is being shown this week by parents in the special programs arranged in the city's five schools in observance of National Education Week. Tuesday 115 persons visited the Central school and similar response was noted in the other schools. All programs were exceptionally well rendered.

Supt. Arnold Gloor, Crookston will be the principal speaker at the assembly to be held at the high school at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Friday. Other numbers include "The Constitution" by Clara Barstad, "Justified Faith in Education" by Goldie Gunderson, and musical selections by the girls' glee club and orchestra. Parents and friends are urged to attend the program and visit classes.

PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

No, I don't want to run your gas. I'm just going to ask a few questions. In which of these three, past, present, and future, do you like best? Do you know which you prefer? Why do you prefer it? Maybe you are one of the group known as "Day-Dreamers," who are constantly talking about what you live in the future. Your ideals are evidently very high, and your ambitions are to be a success. Let your past, last, but not least, you have the enthusiastic zealots who have such original ideas that they dwell upon them day and night, but proceed to make the best of the present. Of course, we must some times look back on what has gone before us, but not with that spirit of "Oh, well, I suppose I'll have to do the same thing over again. They got along all right, so I guess I will, too." We must also look ahead, plan what to do tomorrow, but let's be sane enough to have ideals that can be realized. Always make the foundation before we build the house. Let the present the most important to us and live accordingly, the answer is "Yes." Then let it be the topic of most discussion, for the past and future may be sub-topics.

OH! SAMMY!

"Hang the luck! If my ma finds out that this is Education Week, I'll catch it."

"Well say, my kid sister blabbed to ma first thing, and she says she's gonnin' to school 'see-why-my-mark' was so low. If that ain't fierce, I'll like to know what is."

"That ain't the worst of it. You know every time ma comes to school the teachers all call on me. Last year when ma suddenly popped into Accident History class I made a stab at spelling. Of course I whole class roared, and boy, yuh should have seen the 'stinky' state ma and the teacher gave me."

"The same thing happened to me in English class, and yah can't feature what ma did! It was this way: Pa stayed so long as I dared to act rebellious because I guessed what was going to happen. Then I got Armistice Day off work, ma said. 'Sammy my son, your father will hear of this.' And, gee, he also called the bear at the supper table. Don't you see a look on my face, ma said—'You're hitting on all two horse.'—Heinrich.

JOKES

Mr. Tolen—Young man, where do you expect to go when you die?

Philip—Maybe to the grave, but business says that I'll be elected to the medical college.

Mr. Opheim—What were some of the fruits of victory?

Anna S.—Applesauce.

Seek to Place Students in U' Classes That Fit

Improved methods of finding out the line of work for which a student is best fitted, so that he may be led to take studies suited to his best personal attributes, will be sought at the University of Minnesota. Such a recommendation has been adopted by the College of Science, Literature and Arts and referred to President Coffman.

As a first step in this direction the university is selecting some class as on the basis of ability. Students whose talents seem to show that they should seek intellectual rallings study in one section of a class and those who should prepare for other than distinctly intellectual work, in another.

This has been impossible in extent this method to advanced courses, but it is pursued in some of the large classes of the first year, notably freshman English.

Using freshman English as a test, the university has found that a great proportion of students placed in lower sections, because they did not do well in English also got low marks in other courses. This has been taken as an indication that the English placement test was correct.

The committee also recommended that experimental studies in freshmen should use placement tests or other devices which will enable them to place students as nearly as possible in accordance with their abilities. Students who show equal attainments carefully consider the advisability of placing the freshman course in the interest of students who are at a disadvantage in regular freshmen classes.

"Active effort should be made by instructors, students, to place 'to the' those who will be attracted by the intellectual life and those with other chief ambitions."

Per Bolstad's Playing Delights Fri. Assembly

The spontaneous applause that greeted Per Bolstad after his violin solo at the last assembly ends ample proof of the student's approval of his playing. He was persuaded to play for the Lincoln students as a special assembly, and he delivered two numbers which were encored, which he graciously applauded for fully five minutes.

Although Mr. Bolstad would have kept him playing for a much longer time, he selected but two more with the second number. As it was, their appreciation left the great musician's violin vibrating with the applause of students attending his evening recital at the city auditorium.

Scouts Get Use of Room

The Boy Scout troop under Scoutmaster E. H. Lorenz at Monday's meeting of the school board was given permission to use the southwest room on the first floor of the Central school for its meetings on Thursday nights. The troop has formerly gathered in the auditorium.

Total abstinence is a good policy in some cases, but not when it comes to voting.

One disadvantage to the eighteenth amendment is that no one seems to care any more whether the gang is all here.

No testimony is ruled out as immaterial by neighborhood gossips or senate investigating committees.

To the sophisticated, there is no such thing as innocence. It is just plain ignorance.

Too many politicians hear the echo of their own voices and think it is the people calling them.

Expert testimony is the kind that is accepted as fact, because nobody disputes it.

SECOND DEFEAT IS LINCOLNITE FATE AT CROOKSTON SAT

Aggies Take 7 to 6 Victory In Hard Battle—Locals in Bemidji Today

Although they outplayed the Aggies throughout the game, the local aggregation of fighters suffered a 7 to 6 defeat Saturday at Crookston. The Lincolnites were outweighed about 20 to 30 pounds to a man by the huge Northwest School team, who averaged over 170 pounds. Two fumbles at critical moments lost the ball to the Aggies. Several plays which would have meant miles gains, were broken up by the Crookston interference.

The game opened with the Lincolnites receiving and Dodal's running the ball forward several yards. By a couple of line plunges and end runs the locals managed to place the ball on the line, and Oen went over for a touchdown. Swanson's drop kick for the point was declared not valid because the Lincolnites were offside. Now Thief River Falls 6, Crookston 0.

The Aggies then received the ball on their own 20 yard line, and were only a few yards before they were stopped. They opened up with a strong line-plunging attack. The Lincolnites' defensive work was very strong, and the Aggies were forced to place the ball over the line before the end of the first quarter. They received in their kick for the point, netting the score Crook ton 7, Thief River Falls 6.

During the second quarter no great gains were made by either team, although the Lincolnites showed much pellish in the second half the Lincolnites received the ball on their own 40 yard line, and by steady gains to go, Severson elected to pass. A pass from Severson to Severson in the end zone for a touchdown was the fumbled by Frierson. Only two out of six passes were completed due to fumbles and Crookston's interference.

In the final quarter Fruseth's shoulder, which had been injured in a previous game, was mutilated again, forcing him to leave the field. He was replaced by Oen. Donald Snyder took Orrk's place at halfback. At the end of the entire second half did Crookston threaten. The Lincolnites' defensive work was well-night perfect, although their offensive work was a little ragged. Statistics allowed but 3 first downs to the Aggies' nine.

The beginning line-up for T. R. F. was:

R. Wengseler, le; Beasley, lt; Myrom, lg; Puram, c; Dahlow, rg; F. Wengseler, rt; Ericson, re; Severson, qb; Fruseth, lh; Oen, rh; Dodal, fb.

Wilhelm, Hagen, Hole, Hodne, and Engman played well for the Aggie trams; referee Hyde, Bemidji.

Referee: Claffy of Ada and Upstate of Crookston school.

As November 6 was Parents' Day at the Northwest School, there was a large crowd of spectators present for the hosts. The locals were supported by a large group from Thief River Falls, who made the trip by car.

Today Armistice Day will witness the last game of the season, when the locals meet Bemidji there. This is the leading game for the championship of Northwestern Minnesota, and much interest is being centered on it. Bemidji boasts a strong team and Coach Thune feels confident of his men. Last year Lincoln defeated Bemidji 19 to 0.

Retired Nebraska Farmer Wins 20-Year Fight

Victim of Chronic Ill Health Conquers His Ailments. Now Eats Foods Long Denied Him. Praises Tanlac

J. C. Eley, 3418 R St., Lincoln, Nebr., a retired farmer, says:

"Seven years ago I had almost given up hope of ever getting well. For 20 years I had suffered torture. My strength had gone; in fact, I was a wreck. My arms and legs were almost useless. I couldn't eat without bloating and suffering all the torments of indigestion.

"I was about ready to give up when a friend suggested Tanlac. His 'smile' worked wonders with me. My old strength quickly returned. I recovered my appetite and ate everything. Tanlac certainly put me on my feet. I am now 70. Tanlac made me stronger and gave me better health than I have had in years. I have recommended Tanlac to hundreds of people since and it backs up all the praise I offer it."

Tanlac—finally "conquers ailments and builds up strength in weakened bodies. It frees the system of poison caused by gases in-tion and sluggish liver. It is nature's own remedy made from roots, barks and herbs according to the famous Tanlac formula.

Watch the skies from your life! Take Tanlac. The first bottle will surprise you. Ask your druggist for Tanlac—Adv.!

High Schools Are Getting Ready for Annual Debates

Students of 100 high schools throughout the state which are members of the Minnesota State High School Debating Team League have begun interclass debates, preparatory to entering local, district, regional and state debates in competition for the championship now claimed by Pelican Rapids.

The issue which all members of the association will debate for 1926-27 is "Resolved that a United States Department of education should be established, with a secretary in the cabinet." Rules call for completion of schedules for preliminary rounds by November 5. All meets within districts will be conducted before the third Friday in February, while preliminary contests must be disposed of by the third Friday in December, according to league rules.

A group of students in Lincoln High interested in debating have been feeling up on the question and a team will likely be picked at a tryout during the week. Dates will be announced by Julius Opheim, debate coach. Those trying out may speak for either side of the question.

Inner-district contests follow determination of district champions, the final contest will take place on or before the first week in May.

The high school winning the state championship will have its name engraved on a silver cup which will be kept in the school permanently. Each school receiving the cup in two successive years will become permanent possessor.

W. O. Lippitt of Fergus Falls is president of the league. Other officers are Alice V. Dunnell of Pelican Rapids, vice president, and E. N. Hamilton of Fergus Falls, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the Ninth district of the league are the following high schools: Bagley, Crookston, Bemidji, Fergus Falls, Mahnomen, Detroit, Fergus Falls, Perham, Roseau, Thief River Falls, Warren.

LET'S LEARN THEM

I. F. Tuleen, pep leader, reminds every student of Lincoln High that these songs are to be sung so that he can come out strong on the 11th. Let's get behind the Bemidji game and for the coming basketball season commences. And, by the way, a few minutes of singing usually spent to no special end, would be time well spent. The leads of the school song:

Hail to Thief River,
Hail to Thief River,
Hail, hail, hail!
We wear our banners proudly
About them we shout and sing this,
We wear a smile that won't come off,
For we've begun to win!

Come on Lincoln
Let's get some help.
Let's see you fight like Blue
Let's see some fight
Let's see some fight
Let's get to win today.
Go on! Go on!
Yell on Lincoln
Let's not forget
The color of red and blue
Come on—Wear
Let us win for Lincoln's team
(Sky blue name of team picked at particular time)

A BY-PRODUCT OF A MODERN SCHOOL

Few people realize how important a factor are our schools in the prosperity and growth of a community, purely from a commercial viewpoint. We measure the products of our schools in terms of culture and educational value. Their spiritual influence their part in developing better citizenship, their work in equipping our youth to meet the problems of life. These primary products are of first importance and it is a wholesome condition that they are so stressed. However, we cannot overlook the fact that a community without an effective school system may be not only lacking in these essential elements but likely to be equally far behind in material prosperity.

When the time comes for a family to change its residence, a factor of paramount importance to an efficient school is of first concern. This is true in business as well as home-city requirements. Realty values are affected by proximity to the class room. A good school will surround itself with a solid population

Industrious families; families whose wants must be supplied to build up church memberships, patronage for stores, give their support and subscriptions to the professions and that class of families of trade with the blood of business.

The Better Schools League calls attention to the fact that the difference, an influence that aids in building up the city in which this value appears as well as leading in the mental attainments of its youth, is a solid, substantial, sightly and well-equipped school plant, manned by a teaching force of proficiency and training, with adequate facilities for study and play. As a source of profits, a worthy success means big returns in dollars. Such a school atmosphere makes for stability and solidity in property surroundings, increasing land values through its influence on the character of the neighborhood and on the volume of trade.

We have the testimony of a former resident member who has said that ambitious citizens will go where children can get the best schools. The same point is emphasized in the story of another prominent American who has said that he would move backwards of the Ozark mountains because there were available but three months' schooling for his children, rather than live in a city with a nine months' free high school.

These are the wonder how desirable are the residences to a community who are not sufficiently interested in their children to provide adequate school advantages before establishing their homes. Any one is a competent judge of a real estate—as well as one individual by the way chil flood treated."

This is a view of a by-product of our schools, which is of great value to the community that should impress every citizen with a sense of public responsibility in the support of public schools as well as non-resident property owners, both of whom sometimes feel that they have taxation without proportionate benefits.

The boosters of the products and by-products of our schools may be encouraged in the words of Herbert Hoover, "If we were to suppress our educational system for a single generation the equipment would decay, the spirit of our people would die of starvation, and intellectually and spiritually we would slip back four thousand years in human progress. We could recover our loss of any other big business in a few years—but not this one."

C. G. SELVIG WINNER BY NARROW MARGIN

Majority Reduced to Nearly 700 Votes as Complete Returns are Received

Complete returns from the ninth congressional district show the election of C. G. Selvig, Republican, by a majority of 722 votes over his opponent, Emil Wefald of Hawley, present Farmer-Labor member of congress who served two terms. This is declared the narrowest margin given any major candidate in Minnesota.

By the election of Selvig, superintendent of the Northwest School at Crookston will again be represented in Washington, by one of its townmen, Halvor Steenerson holding office for 20 years.

The unofficial vote, with seven precincts missing, three in Kittson, three in Marshall, and one in Roseau county, is:

County	Selvig	Wefald
Becker	3,104	2,784
Clay	2,876	3,209
Clearwater	1,257	1,618
Kittson	1,533	1,223
Mahnomen	753	1,240
Marshall	2,257	2,257
Norman	2,444	1,976
Otter tail	6,691	6,269
Pennington	1,299	2,206
Polk	6,161	5,431
Roseau	1,536	1,760
Red Lake	964	962
Wilkin	1,274	1,218
Totals	32,777	32,006

In a formal statement last week Mr. Selvig viewed the results of his election as an expression that the Republican party shall carry on in the campaign to assist agriculture. His statement follows:

"It is apparent from the returns already in that the people of the Ninth district of Minnesota have elected me as their representative in congress.

"The result is gratifying but the outstanding feature is that the people have expressed confidence in me. To the hundreds of supporters in every part of my district I am truly grateful.

"The result is a mandate, too, that the Republican party shall carry on in the campaign to assist agricultural areas. I am for the farmer and the working man. Let no man mistake that. Every ounce of energy and strength will be devoted to their interests, as to the welfare of the district as a whole, to the state and to the nation.

"Agriculture must organize, unite and speak with a single voice, like the American Federation of Labor does, instead of with many and illconsidered voices. When that is accomplished, we shall achieve economic equality with other occupations.

"I feel very grateful for the expression of confidence, following the campaign of last year in the Red River Valley. My aim has been to serve the entire district, of the state, I shall continue to have opportunity now to render this service."

Princess Pat's Band De-Lights Large Crowd Here

With numerous medals adorning the bright red coats of the 30 musicians, members of the Princess Pat's band of Winnipeg Saturday night presented at the auditorium one of the best and most enjoyable musical programs heard here. From the beginning, when a stirring march piece was played, until the end when band and audience gave to their feet at the strains of the American national anthem, enthusiasm over the rendition had the members on the program running high among the 600 persons in attendance.

The repertoire of this band is orchestral and the program here, which was the last of a series of 152 concerts in 56 cities in the United States, included various interpretations of operatic and concert music, and popular numbers. The program was well balanced that it could not help but appeal to everyone.

Captain F. W. Adams, conductor of the band and scion of an old British army family, had exceptionally fine support from his men, all of whom are war veterans. So smooth was the performance of the band, added that an illusion of a string orchestra was effected.

Special features on the program included soprano solos by Kathryn Hall, talented singer and winner of a national beauty contest in which she was acclaimed "Miss Canada"; and the "Sword Dance," the "Highland Fling" and "Sailor Jig" by Gladys Graham, Scotch dancer.

Only a few in addition to the Red Lake falls band members attended the afternoon matinee.

The band came to this city under auspices of the local Elks lodge for the benefit of the state Elk's convalescent fund. In a statement from Manager of the tour, stated that the receipts at the concert here and at the largest Saturday night audiences on the tour.

DEER HUNTERS ARRESTED

Game Warden Munch of Crookston and Martin E. Nelson of Thief River Falls arrested Henry Mattson, Joseph Josephson, Ole Kein, and Theodore Le Mereur of Plummer last Thursday on a charge of hunting deer out of season. The men were taken to Red Lake Falls where they were arraigned before Judge V. M. Healy. They pleaded guilty and were fined $60 each, $10 of which was for costs. Mattison and Josephson have since been released, while the other two were confined in jail, where they will serve 30 days unless they can raise their fines.

LOCAL FIREMEN BUSY

The local fire department has been called out twice within the past week, neither occasion proving serious to any great extent, however. Friday afternoon a fire started in the vacant upper story of the building in which E. P. Reed has an auto repair shop, 1st St. and Horace avenue, caused, it is said, by several youngsters playing with matches. Damages resulting will, it is estimated, amount to nearly or $400. Tuesday morning a chimney fire started in the Jesse Vetlam house on 6th St. between, but was quickly with chemicals immediately, causing very little damage.

CITIZENS RESPOND TO S. A. FUND DRIVE

Envoy Rolfe Explains Features of Annual Salvation Army Home Service

The Salvation Army Home Service Campaign which has been carried on for the past few days by Envoy and Mrs. H. E. Rolfe of the local corps is meeting with fair success, but the workers state that it will take several days to complete the drive.

hoped that the public will realize the importance of the work that is being carried on by the local corps and help on the good cause to the best of their financial ability.

There have been several statements made by the different individuals as to this drive and the envoy wishes to correct these. "First there is no high salaried campaigner in connection with the drive" he says. "Second, as is that by several, the money secured by this campaign stays right in the city, and is not sent out of town. Third, we now have seven families receiving aid, and some in very dire circumstances. This list will be greatly increased as the colder weather comes on, and unless we receive the aid of the public we will be unable to render the much needed assistance."

The envoy wishes to thank those who have so liberally donated and asks that those who have not as yet given will do their best when called on.

Annual Red Cross Roll Call Commences Today

Beginning today memberships in the Red Cross will be received throughout the United States in the 12th annual Roll Call which closes Thanksgiving Day, the 25th. Supt. Morris Ness of the Red Cross at the Washington country. Persons desiring to become members and have not as yet been seen by a solicitor are asked to communicate with Mr. Nye, O. R. Sande, secretary, or H. Anderson, treasurer, of the local chapter, and membership will be mailed.

"The Red Cross recognizes neither creed, race nor color. Its arms are strong from constant use. Its hand is gentle—ministering—to suffering. It is the one organization in the United States able and ready to give relief in time of disaster and to assist the government in the past war solving problems. Its other activities are as necessary, and its sole purpose is to serve. Every member of the community is eligible to membership and everyone should enroll. A part of the membership dues is retained by the local chapter for service in this community.

A popular misconception of the relation of Christmas seals to the Red Cross exists. To the occasional the following statement from national headquarters:

"Originally the Christmas seals were furnished by the Red Cross to the National Tuberculosis Association for distribution to its affiliated associations and state leagues. As the distribution of these little health stickers became more wide-spread, the work of the Tuberculosis Association enlarged, an agreement was reached between the Red Cross and the National Tuberculosis Association whereby No. Red Cross turns up all interest in the seals and turns over to the whole matter to the National Tuberculosis Association. Since then, the Christmas seal sale has been carried on absolutely independent of the Red Cross and is not at present in any way related to the Red Cross Annual Roll Call."

Pressed Lamb or Mutton Is Delicious for Lunch

The cooking of the tender cuts of lamb or mutton is a pressing question of the outside by browning it, then turning it, cooking it in its own juice until the meat is tender, reduced, by utilizing the tougher cuts for stewing. The tough must be softened by steaming or boiling divided by cutting into small pieces as in making hashes, meat loaf, croquettes, or mutton sausages.

A good use for the cute woolly sheep is suggested by Miss Ethel Stutsman State Department of Agriculture. Simmer the head, neck and other ragged pieces of lamb in a small amount of salted water until the meat falls from the bones. The lamb liver may be included, although it is less tender and delicate and equal to other meat. When sliced, and fried. When the meat is cool remove the bones and excess fat, add a little lemon juice and other seasoning to taste, and chop or grind the meat. Dissolve a tablespoon of plain gelatin in one cup of the liquor from the saucepan and pour it over the meat. Mix well, place in a suitable mold, and put in a cold place. When the "jelly" is firm it may be cut in cubes and served. It is especially suitable for a lunch or supper dish.

Care of Milk

No matter how well milk has been handled up to the time it is delivered to the consumer, it cannot be expected to keep well if it is not carefully treated. Milk should be kept clean, covered, and cool; these three points consumer as well as producer should bear disregard.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

In a Thanksgiving proclamation President Coolidge asked the nation to make November 25 a day of praise to God for a year in which the United States had been "blessed among the nations of the earth."

The text follows:

As a nation and as individuals we have passed another twelve months in the favor of the Almighty. He has smiled upon our fields and they have brought forth plentifully; business has prospered; industries have flourished, and labor has been well employed. While sections of our country have been visited by disaster, we have been spared any great national calamity or pestilence visitation. We are blessed among the nations of the earth.

Our moral and spiritual life has kept measure with our material prosperity. We are not unmindful of the gratitude we owe to God for His watchful care which has pointed out to us the ways of peace and happiness; we should not fail in our acknowledgement of His declared favor which has bestowed upon us so many blessings. Neither should we be forgetful of those who, through no fault of their own circumstances, are less fortunately placed, but by deeds of charity make our acknowledgement more acceptable in His sight.

Wherefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States do hereby set apart Thursday, the 25th day of November, next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer and I recommend that on that day the people shall cease from their daily work and in their homes or their accustomed places of worship devoutly give thanks to the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received, and seek His guidance that through good deeds and brotherly love they may deserve a continuance of His favor.

Boldstad Concert Pleases; Artist of Rare Ability

Musicianship of the highest degree was displayed in the most highly appreciative audience Friday night in the auditorium when Per Boldstad, famous violinist, put on a concert himself into the hearts of his hearers. He came here hailed as not only one of way's greatest violinist but one of the outstanding in the world. Those who heard him agree that the claim is valid. The young man performed with a master hand and technique, displaying flawless technique, his interpretations, however, of the melodies and the great classics were particularly pleasing and his fingering particular appeal among those present from the land of the midnight sun.

The first group of selections consisted of Handel's "Sonata in A Major" Fantasie", Sarasate's "Romanza Andaluza" and Brahms' "Hungarian Dances". The second group opened with Ole Bull's "El Sextetbrog", in which the artist proved he is worthy successor of the famed Norse violinist. Then followed Svendsen's "Romance" showed rare ability. "Cradle Song" by Burmester an encore number followed. The group closed with "Moto Perpetuo" by Ries, a novelty number true to its name.

The climax of the program was perhaps reached in the last group which opened with "Air Norvegien" by Joh. Halvorsen and "Masurka" by Zarzycki. The latter was drawn in clear and full tones to play Mendelssohn's "On the Wings of Song", and Sarasate's "Gypsy Air" with its varying moods was played with unusual technique.

In his modest and unassuming manner Mr. Boldstad yielded to an encore by playing Borsa "Norse Fantasie", a very pleasing number.

Two Menus Suggested For Thanksgiving Day

It was Lincoln who first appointed the fourth Thursday of November for a Thanksgiving Day—that day of family reunion, of home-coming, of feasting and good cheer. Observance of some day for Thanksgiving dates back, however, to the Pilgrim fathers.

Already housewives of the land are planning the Lincoln holiday dinner. Two menus for that occasion are suggested by Lucile Horton of the home economics staff of University Farm, St. Paul, as follows:

Fruit cup (Grapefruit, white grapes, pineapple)
Roast Turkey
Cranberry Ice
Mashed potatoes Baked Squash
Lettuce and Celery with French dressing
Pumpkin pie with Whipped cream
Coffee
Raisins Assorted Nuts
Celery Olives
Roast Chicken Cranberry Jelly
Sweet potatoes (Southern style)
Corn custard
Pickled peaches Asparagus-Green pea per Salad
Vanilla Ice Cream with Maple Syrup
Sauce and Chopped Nuts Sponge Cake Coffee

BELLRINGERS TONIGHT

Another fine musical program is in store for this community tonight when the Bellringers of Bemidji will appear at the Sons of Norway hall auspices of the local Sons of Norway lodge. American and Norwegian folk melodies and classical numbers will be played by four natives of Norway on a set of 110 handbells with several in war. We should feel inspired to solve the problems of our agricultural situation service of all the people.

Public vs. Family Physician

The architect does not co-operate with carpenters, plumbers, steam fitters, electricians, and bricklayers. They co-operate with him. The banker does not co-operate with borrowers. They co-operate with him.

The co-operation flows, or should flow, toward those qualified by education, experience and training for leadership. The one outstanding exception to this normal rule is where the Public has a large tendency to let health matters "drift" along.

Co-operation with the family physician should always be foremost in mind—as it is your health he is looking after. Have your periodic examinations made at least twice a year.

Interesting Reports Filed With City Council Tuesday

Milk users in Thief River Falls should feel that they are being well taken care of by the city authorities in supplying milk and cream to the public, for not only were the various samples tested by the city chemist, Miss Ruth Hall, but he was accompanied on his trips by a representative of the state board of health, who also examined the premises where the cows are milked and the cream separated, all samples having been found to be free from tuberculosis with but one exception, this animal being condemned and ordered sent to St. Paul.

According to the report of the city clerk the city milk is in good financial condition, the balance on hand of each being $17,587.74, as compared to $9,493.63, the receipts and disbursements respectively being $7,723.56 and $10,-629.45. The light department also made an excellent showing as to earnings for the past month, the figure being $1,256.71, while the water department reported $2,290.65. The figures for three months period, readings being made quarterly.

The council also had an excellent report for the city council at the regular meeting Tuesday night, it being revealed that there was an estimated total of the assistance of 2,022, while the books loaned out during the month totaled 2,289. Juvenile books to the number of 1,621 were loaned, were those for adults, the young people's department showing a total of 1,621 volumes. Of all of these loaned only 21 were lost, or but 1 per cent. Fines amounted to $35.80, there was received from the library in Pennington county, and $3.50 from the public library in Pennington county was organized in 1919.

Milk licenses were also in demand at the regular meeting of the council Tuesday night, six applicants meeting the requirements of the ordinance, of whom were present except H. A. Swedenburg, "Doc" Swedenburg were: John Helbuldt, Bernard Hauge, Martin Rustebakke, Ben Peterson, Arthur Anderson and Dan Sysack. A license permit was also granted to Joe H. E. Nelson to operate the auditorium Thanksgiving evening.

The use of the auditorium was granted to the Legion for the annual Armistice Day program and dance; to the Commercial club for the annual Northern Livestock show to be held here November 15; to the extension department of the state university for a sewing club demonstration for Pennington county, November 17 and 18; and to the Pennington County Poultry association for the annual poultry show December 6-7.

The matter of electric lights near Bridge street was referred to the lighting committee, and the report of the clerk regarding the election on Sunday closing of the movies was accepted, while bills were allowed and adjournment taken within an hour after the meeting started.

Mrs. Bishop Urges Club Women to Work in Behalf of Veterans Orgn WCCO

Thief River Falls radio fans Monday afternoon were pleased to hear a local woman speak from station WCCO, Minneapolis, when Mrs. J. M. Bishop, president of the Ladies Auxiliary of Legion Auxiliary and chairman of the division of co-operation with war veterans for the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke at the weekly federation radio program. The program, which was arranged by Mrs. Bishop, was broadcast between 3 and 4 o'clock. Rufus Ilami, state Legion commander, also spoke, as did Mrs. Clara Villers, whose subject was "National Defense." Miss Elizabeth Curtis played four piano solos; Miss Helen Miller sang several vocal solos, and Miss Miller and Norman Coulter gave three duets.

The division of co-operation with war veterans under the department of American citizenship of the Federated Women's clubs was organized in January 1925." Mrs. Bishop said. "Patriotic service to the end that we help for us is one of the fundamentals of our citizenship and the club women wish to give service, co-operating with the American Legion and Auxiliary, who have done the finest work of relief for the sick, disabled, and needy ex-service men, the first year after the war. There are lines of endeavor that more really be screened by this club division than by any other of their own relatives.

"Probably the greatest opportunity comes in the matter of legislation favorable to disabled veterans giving them the recognition they have so justly earned and dearly bought. The shame of our people as a nation is that we said nothing would be good enough for our boys when they returned from war. We said this when they left for war, seven years after, nothing is what many receive. We can help us to hospitals and see the living dead we have allowed to be made, to realize how far we have failed. I suggest that all ladies possessed by the Legion and Auxiliary be also organized by club women; that a copy be sent for, each member.

There are so many gracious acts of service which may be rendered to the hospitalized men and women. There are at present 7,000 hospitalized, including about 250 women. Remembering special days, providing entertainment and assisting men in finding employment when they are able to leave, are services that will be appreciated. It is estimated that the peak of care for the disabled will not be reached before 1927. Disabled men make the people easy in our state. Let us remember that they are the heroes of our land.

"As the need of hospital service increases, the child welfare work will increase. The war veteran of today is populating the earth. In many instances parents are ill prepared for this great privilege and obligation. Children of today are born into a world of unrest. Social and economic conditions in the United States are in a turmoil. International relations are strained to the breaking point. Child welfare work today means giving to every child a home, food, clothing, the opportunity for an education, religious and moral training and the opportunity in which to live. As club women, let us consecrate to the end that the child of a war veteran may have at least an equal chance with the child of the slacker. Considering all this, we should prepared—to—our minds—the dark days of '17 and '18 when our men were answering their country's call. Let us be a day of thanksgiving as well as one of prayer."

BIG GAME SEASON OPEN NOV. 20 TO 30

Hunters May Get Licenses from County Auditor November 17

A supply of big game hunting license has been received by County Auditor T. P. Anderson but none will be issued until three days prior to the opening of the season. The season this year, November 20 to 30, both dates inclusive. Residence license sell at $2.25, including metal locking seals for carcass, while $50 is charged for non-resident big game permits. Resident licenses are obtainable from county auditors only, but non-resident licenses are issued by the state game and fish commissioner.

Hunters for big game are cautioned that it is unlawful to kill moose, elk, or caribou at any time; to use steel traps for the purpose of taking or catching black bear, except with consent of the commissioner; to kill black bear within the corporate limits of any city or village or within one quarter of a mile thereof; to have in possession for the purpose of having in possession for the purpose of having in possession within the corporate limits of any city having a population of 50,000 or more, any grouse, pheasant or quail.

This year the season is closed on moose, elk, caribou, beaver, otter, harmless birds, as pine futher than jackrabbit, prairie wolf, coyote, plover, wild turkey, hungarian gray partridge and black squirrels. As the general open season prohibits the killing of wood duck the local statute is not in force.

The state bounty for adult wolves is $15, for pups $6, and several counties pay additional bounties for wolves and other species of vermin. There is no closed season on wolves. Each hunter will be permitted to kill but one wolf this season. The season is closed in Itasca county.

Farming in Central and Northern Minn.

(By Oscar H. Smith, State Commissioner of Immigration.)

"If the farmers of this part of the state pulled their money out of the banks today there would be no banks tomorrow," is the conclusion reached by a statement credited to H. Z. Mitchell, president of the Northern Pacific railway, and one of the shrewdest observers in Northern Minnesota.

Is this statement, which we believe to be absolutely true, could be applied to the people of every county resident of Southern Minnesota, every banker, lumber and wholesaler in the state, as well as every member of the state legislature. It is impossible to agree with the fact that in Northern Minnesota we have a wealth of productive farming section and a potential wealth in the cut-over lands and possibilities than all of the territory in the Dakotas and Montana, which some of the people of Minnesota apparently are so frantically attempting to build up and develop.

Just let's take a look at the figures to prove what I have stated. It is conservatively estimated that there remains in Central and Northern Minnesota, 2,000,000 acres of cut-over land that is considered high grade agriculture land, and which is generally speaking, but let's be very, very conservative. The average production per cultivated acre in a group of thirteen Northern Minnesota counties, according to Governor Jacobson's message is $47.50 per acre—if the 1,000,000 acres of vacant farm land lying north of the Twin Cities would be taken up by settlers and developed to a point, where they would produce but the value of the acre are Northern Minnesota farm, they would yield approximately the value of $200,000,000 more than the present production of the entire state with over $100,000,000 to spare.

This is a sum seven times as great as the value of the entire wheat production, greater than the combined crop production of the State of North Dakota and Montana, or of South Dakota and Montana. All these vacant lands are largely located in a section of the state that has never experienced a crop failure.

"But," it will be argued, "this section is too slow in developing." Let's see about that. In Marshall county all lands and holdings in Kooshkonong in 1910 at $14,691,215. In 1920 at $41,620,290, an increase of almost 300 per cent in ten years. Within less than 50 of the fast that he had a veteran salesman at his back," says the Interstate Falls Press. In commenting upon the election. "His friends are glad to see him in a position to take the office of register of deeds on Jan. 1, 1927." A brother of Mr. Fulton was re-elected auditor of Norman county without opposition, by acclamation having withdrawn from the race.

Red Lake Falls Club Sends Band to Concert in T. R. F.

Nearly 60 members of the Red Lake Falls Municipal and Juvenile bands attended the matinee concert by the Princess Pats band in the auditorium here Saturday afternoon. The band members were supplied with free tickets by the Red Lake Falls Commercial club and care were furnished by business men of that city, to give the youngsters an opportunity to hear one of the best musical organizations of its kind. The matinee was specially arranged for the benefit of children attending who were unable to come here in the evening on account of a scheduled rehearsal. They were enthusiastic about the playing of the Canadians.

Among Red Lake Falls business men who furnished cars, some of them accompanying the band to the concert, are: Mayor Theodore Christianson, Geo. W. Christie, Geo. F. Henning, W. H. Gilfillan, Jos. Sailer, S. E. Hunt, "Kaiser" Savard, A. J. Lenertz, V. V. Basel and E. F. Wilson.

The Red Lake Falls band, which now numbers 75, has shown remarkable progress since its reorganization last April. Rehearsals are conducted every Saturday night by Prof. Hall, director of the band grew rapidly that it was necessary to divide it into two groups, the Municipal and Juvenile. "We have a good band and we are here to show it," is the spirit manifested by the members of the two bands, which include 18 members in a factory employing from St. Hilaire to Hendrum. Their officers are: President, Ole Ferguson; vice president, Roy G. Sailer; secretary, Oliver Olson and Rev. T. A. Hagen of Helma financial secretary.

ELECTED REGISTER OF DEEDS

William H. Fulton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fulton of this city, was elected register of deeds in Kooshkonong county with a majority of 1200; votes over his opponent Lang. "Billy" Fulton has been a big boy in the state of the fact that he had a veteran salesman at his back," says the Interstate Falls Press. In commenting upon the election. "His friends are glad to see him in a position to take the office of register of deeds on Jan. 1, 1927." A brother of Mr. Fulton was re-elected auditor of Norman county without opposition, by acclamation having withdrawn from the race.

LAWRENCE LETNES WINS SWEEPSTAKES

Awarded Championship Cup in Home Projects at A. C. Third Consecutive Year

With approximately 125 parents in attendance at the annual Parents Day at the Northwest School at Crookston Saturday to witness the winning of honors, excitement ran high when the judges of home project exhibits announced their decisions and pinned the various colored ribbons on the winning articles. Agnis Pennington county students made a splendid showing, capturing many of the prizes, chief of which was the Boys' Sweepstakes, won by Lawrence Letnes, out of a field of 14 boys. Lena Letnes of Thief River Falls, for the third consecutive year, an exceptional record. The Girls' Sweepstakes was awarded to Elida Erickson of Clearbrook.

The judges included R. S. Dunham and T. M. McCall of the school faculty, and Miss Mildred Peterson, assistant state club leader from St. Paul Farm School. Miss Schanck, a fo- ner teacher at Thief River Falls, judged the sewing, cooking, and canning exhibits, while Messrs Dunham and McCall passed judgment on the potatoes, grain and corn.

The total of the 174 students enrolled in the home project work, of 68 are girls. Their work for the annual exhibit, which is done in home study work, is carried on the year in which they are not in school. It is done according to methods taught in school work, and under the direction of each project, which includes reasons for carrying out each special line of work along with personal records, not any exhibit is complete, etc., being just as much weight with the judges in their final decisions as the articles themselves.

People who have seen the annual exhibits of the Northwest School during few years say the demonstration this year exceeded all previous ones both in quality and quantity.

Lawrence Letnes, who was awarded the championship cup, won first prize in the pure seed oats and pure seed barley exhibits. He is a student at the school this year.

JUNIOR STOCK TRAIN DRAWS LARGE CROWD

Royal Welcome Given State Show Champions on G. N. Livestock Special Sat.

JUNIORS SHOW FINE ANIMALS; GIVE TALKS

St. Hilaire Boy Elected Head of Minnesota 4-H Clubs Given Rousing Cheers

Minnesota's champion club workers and their pet animals traveling on the Great Northern Junior Livestock special train on a tour of three states, were given a royal reception upon their arrival in Thief River Falls Saturday night. In spite of a drizzling rain approximately 1,000 Thief River Falls residents and farmers of the surrounding territory gathered at the Great Northern station and at the city auditorium to manifest their interest in what the boys and girls of the state are doing to raise better livestock. The train of nine cars carried 27 winners of the Junior Livestock Show in South St. Paul which closed last week.

Among the Pennington county club workers who met the champions here was George Wilson of St. Hilaire, who was last week honored at the state show by being elected president of all the 4-H clubs of the state, which comprises more than 25,000 boys and girls in 2,000 junior clubs in every county of the state. George, a member of the Great Northern's first junior special last year, was given many rousing cheers when introduced at the auditorium program. His lamb was awarded fifth place at the South Paul show, in competition with 120 entries, and netted $30 at the auction sale following the show.

Led by the local band and the Boy Scouts of the city carrying banners, the winners marched down Main avenue to the auditorium, arriving in the city at 8 p. m. Mayor W. W. Wedena, Park Rapids, and Bemidji that day. The animals were also brought to the front of the auditorium where a space had been arranged below the stage. A splendid program of extemporaneous talks by the Juniors and others on the train was given after all questions asked by the audience in regard to the talks and the animals of the program, which opened with a selection by the band, and was followed by Mayor W. W. Pickard, Jr., Louis W. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railway, who was introduced and responded with an appreciation of the reception given by the city, declared the best so far. C. L. Leedy, general development agent for the Great Northern, spoke briefly about the organization of the Junior Livestock Shows and expressed the hope that people might realize by reading the good impressions of the boys' and girls' club work. He also pointed to the work being done by Louis W. Hill for the development of the Northwest and in forming the St. Paul show to the various communities in the territory.

T. A. Erickson, state club leader, spoke briefly regarding the growth of club work in Minnesota and commented the work being done in this county by Miss Vivian Hjermstad, Minnesota 4-H club president. The records of Lawrence and John Letnes and Natalie Wilson of St. Hilaire, were cited to be outstanding. A plea was made for more club work in every home."

J. J. Kittleson, assistant state leader, who was district leader with headquarters at Crookston for six years, introduced one to the six boys and girl winners, all of whom made a short talk telling of their experiences with their respective animals, which were demonstrated on a platform erected for the occasion. The juniors displayed the ability of experienced showmen in handling their animals and their talks were remarkably well delivered, from the lisping effort of Norman Hagen of Granite Falls to the older members of the team. All stressed the value of club work in an educational way and showed how they had profited financially.

Lydia Potter of Springfield, 14, exhibited the grand champion steer, which was bought by the Merchants National bank of St. Paul for $1,020. It cost her only $85. Wayne Nelson of Ada showed the reserve grand champion steer, which also won first in show for $608. The grand champion lamb, exhibited by John Halldorson of Montgomery, sold for $297, while the second prize lamb, shown by Don Bunce of Ottawa brought $171. Others included: Henry Roninger, Pelican Rapids, grand champion hog sold for $477; Jeannie and George Tellier, Farmington family group; Elmer Lacross; Ernest Smith, Litchfield; Pauline Frank, Breckenridge; Stephen Comselinus, Hastings; Harry Hansen, Angus, prize perverted Shorthorn yearling, sold for $140; Melvin Swanson, Lakefield, winner of McKerrow trophy for seven years meritorious service in the clubs of the state; Vernon Reiter, Monticello; Ruth Bemidji, LeSeur; Howard Hammer, Bentsley; Monty Morrison, Hallock, first prize ducks; Lawrence Quinn, Monticello, first prize turkeys; Maynard Tiede, Farmington; Elmer Schaefer, Park Rapids, prize Jersey heifer at Northwest Dairy Exposition St. Paul; Fred Welch, Canton, prize Guernsey heifer and Earl Kammerer, Anoka, prize Holstein heifer.

The high school glee club, led by Maude L. Johnson, pleased the visitors by greeting the juniors and champions with the "How-do-you-do" song.

Following the program, which was

F. P. Nash, Head of Great Wholesale Concern, Dies

Fred H. Herrick Left Tuesday for Minneapolis to attend funeral services for Fred P. Nash, 67, president of the Nash-Finch company of which the Thief River Grocery is a branch. Mr. Nash died Sunday from kidney trouble from which he had suffered for some time.

The history of Mr. Nash is one of the most remarkable stories of business achievement ever recorded in the northwest, declares the Grand Forks Herald. Born in Swanton, Vt., in 1859 he came to Minneapolis when a young man, and in 1886 he with his brothers, Edward and W. K. Nash, went to Devils Lake, N. D., then the western end of the Great Northern railway and opened a small fruit and candy store there. A year or two later they moved to Park River, and in 1887 came to Grand Forks where they established a fruit and candy store. The venture prospered and a few years later the young men established a small wholesale fruit house. From that beginning the great organization which is now the Nash-Finch company was eventually built up. It now includes about 75 affiliated fruit and grocery houses and 50 more in Canada. The last 15 years Mr. Nash had made his home in Minneapolis, and in recent years had been especially active along the line of promoting welfare of the company employees and aiding them to become stockholders in the concern and in other ways promoting their thrift and well-being.

Besides his wife Mr. Nash is survived by two sons and four daughters.

The local branch was closed yesterday from 2 to 3 o'clock in tribute to the dead executive.

NEW CHURCH ONE OF FINEST IN SECTION

City's First Brick Church Being Used This Week; Dedication November 28

Work on the new Trinity Lutheran church was practically completed Tuesday and the fine brick edifice put to use Sunday morning for the first time, when the Dorcas society met in the church basement room equipped with a fire place. The Ladies aid society had formal banquet in the new quarters this afternoon, and tonight the Luther League meets. The furniture and fixtures have been moved from the old church.

J. H. Smith, foreman for the contracting firm, expects to remain here this week to complete various details of the interior. The architect, Dickenson and Bradeen of Grand Rapids, plan to be present at the dedication services, which will be conducted by Rev. T. T. Austad of Detroit Lake, and other prominent men will take part.

Those who have visited the new church praise it in high terms, commenting upon its exceptional aesthetic beauty. One of the finest in the state, declared one of the finest structures of its kind in northern Minnesota. As announced last week, the final dedication services for a class of 14 will be held next Sunday. Rev. O. J. Kvale of Benson, former pastor here and now superintendent of the Fergus Falls district, will preach at the evening service and is also expected to address a special men's meeting Monday night, when the subject will be "Christ and His Church and Our Men." He is unable to take part in the dedication services, following which there will be special rallies for the women and young folks.

Mrs. D. N. Winton, Wife of Early Lumberman, Dies

Word was received here Monday by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shaw that Mrs. Daniel N. Winton, formerly of Thief River Falls resident, had died that day at her home in Minneapolis, 2117 Fifth Avenue, after an illness of several months. Mrs. Winton, whose maiden name was Rhoda Norton, came to this city from Lockport, Ill., in 1902 as the bride of Daniel Winton, who had come here two years previously and was secretary and manager of the Thief River Falls Lumber company which was then being built by the Wintons. The Wintons built the house now owned by N. K. Harris, near the Shaw home, and lived there until 1909 when they moved to Minneapolis.

Mrs. Winton, who was prominent in social circles here, was a member of the home and education department of the Minneapolis Woman's club and was active as the board of directors of Pillsbury Settlement house. She was a member of Plymouth Congregational church. She was also a member of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce Welfare association and was chairman of the association's Minnehaha district welfare committee. Survived by her husband, and three children, John, Lucy, and Anne.

Mr. Winton is vice president of the Winton Lumber company which operates the Winton-Nichols Lumber yard in this city.

Postmen Given Only Half Christmas Day This Year

Thief River Falls postal employees, together with other postal workers of the nation, will get only a half holiday on Christmas day, under orders issued by Postmaster General Harry New. On account of the holiday falling on Saturday, which would mean a two-day suspension of mail service, Christmas deliveries were omitted, the postal department has ordered that all city and rural carriers make a delivery Saturday morning. A full holiday was given last year for the first time.

"We will send our carriers out on their regular routes Saturday morning," Postmaster Daniel Shaw said when asked about the department's order. "It will clean up everything many places the new drifts have been as we can and as soon as the men get piled up quite high, blocking traffic in from the deliveries we will be dis- on side roads. FORMER T. R. F. MAN SHOT BY BANDITS

H. N. Peterson, Employed in Citizens Bank, Killed in Wheelock, N. D., Bank Holdup

Local friends of Herman N. Peterson, employed in the ice roundhouse storeroom and later as bookkeeper and stenographer in the Citizens State Bank in this city, about 15 years ago, were shocked to read the following item in the Minneapolis Journal:

"Three bandits robbed the Citizens State Bank of Wheelock, Williams county, today, and shot and mortally wounded H. N. Peterson, cashier. Mr. Peterson, who was 40 years old, died without regaining consciousness.

"The bandits fled without obtaining any loot, it was reported.

Mr. Peterson was shot in the head three times. He died 10 minutes after his wife arrived from Williston.

"The three bandits fled in a motor car, probably north, it was reported.

The shooting was discovered by G. O. Hougen, an employee of the First State Bank of Wheelock. Going to the Citizens Bank on business, Mr. Hougen heard heavy breathing in a room, and upon investigating, found Mr. Peterson on a small bed bleeding and unconscious.

W. F. Davidson of Williston, vice-president of the First National Bank of that city, said late today that an investigation had revealed that no money was taken.

"Mr. Davidson said that the robbers shot Mr. Peterson after the cashier refused to open a vault compartment containing about $3,000 in cash. There was approximately $100 in silver on the counter, which the bandits did not take.

The report that the automobile containing the bandits had been seen in several towns was received in Wheelock late today. It was also reported that persons who had seen the car believed that one of the occupants was wounded.

Mr. Peterson is survived by his wife and four children. While in this city he served as yearly patron of the local Eastern Star lodge and took an active part in the affairs of the community.

MUSICAL COMEDY BY GLEE CLUBS FRIDAY

"Pickles" Operetta Promises to Be Rollicking Entertainment in Auditorium

More than two hours of enjoyment will be afforded the public in Pickles, the musical comedy which will be presented at the city auditorium Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings, at 8 o'clock, by the boys' and girls' glee clubs of the city. Tickets will be on sale at the auditorium.

Miss Lucy Sampson, Miss Johnson is assisted by Miss Agnes Sampson, in charge of lines, Margaret Beals, who coaches the dances, and Miss Johnson will furnish several selections.

Rehearsals have been conducted for several weeks and present indications point to one of the best school productions ever put on here. The principal characters are taking their parts splendidly and the members of the choruses are doing very well. The operetta is full of comedy and mirth-provoking thruout, according to Miss Johnson, who advises those desiring to get a good seat to apply at the Lambert's Drug store where reservations may be made.

Engelstad and McCann Head Winter Shows Departments

Paul Engelstad of Thief River Falls, Saturday attended a meeting of directors and elected officers of the Red River Valley Livestock association at Crookston when plans were laid for the 11th annual Winter Shows to be held in Crookston February 7 to 12.

Superintendents in all the livestock departments were reappointed, including: Cattle, Hereford, swine, County Agent J. McCann, Thief River Falls; cattle, county Agent J. A. Kappel, Crookston, assistant; J. M. Hagen, Crookston, horses; J. M. Taylor, Roseau, sheep; M. A. Thorfinnson, Hallock, junior livestock; C. H. Bottum of the Northwest School and secretary of the association, will be in charge of the livestock judging contest. The various judges were appointed.

It was decided to offer a premium of $5 for the best Jersey and Ayrshire cattle to be shown at the show. Entries will close on the order of vessel until all available space is filled. The largest number of entries on record is expected.

Pennington county was again given recognition as the alfalfa center, a request being made that the Alfalfa exhibit be made the 1927 shows. The arch attracted much attention last year.

PREPARING DIRECTORY

T. L. Lang and assistant of the R. L. Polk & Company of St. Paul are in the city making a canvass of the business and residence sections for the new Thief River Falls directory to be published soon. It takes about three weeks to complete the canvass and it is expected that the book will be ready for delivery by the first part of May. The Polk company has taken over the interests of John H. Ley and St. Cloud, who published the local directory in 1924, and intend to publish a new directory every two years. The company maintains libraries in all the United States cities in which may be found copies of all of its 900 directories.

Payments on the last half of 1925 real estate taxes in Pennington county during the month of October totaled $123,794.32, according to County Treasurer Axel Gullbrand. This makes a total of $462,190.21 in tax money collected in the county this year, and it is estimated by the treasurer's office that payments will reach the half million mark. The 1925 levy on which tax payments are being made this year totals $424,548.30. PREPARING FOR '27 POULTRY SHOW HERE

Increased Number of Fanciers Expected to Compete for Prizes Jan. 4-7

Officers and directors of the Pennington County Poultry association held a meeting in the Commercial club room Friday night to complete arrangements for the annual poultry show to be held in the city auditorium January 4 to 7. Indications are that the 1927 show will at least equal and may surpass previous shows, there being increased interest in poultry raising thruout this and neighboring counties. Turkeys will again make up a prominent part of the display.

More than $400 in cash prizes will be offered to winning exhibitors by the association. In addition there will be merchants specials, giving a large number opportunity to win prizes, including beginners. The special prizes attracted many to exhibit at last year's show. Boys and girls who enter in the club division must be members of junior clubs in 1926 and 1927, it was decided. An extensive display of eggs is expected, additional prizes being offered in this department.

Plans are also under way for a crops show in connection with the poultry show, a special committee of the Commercial club having this in hand.

A committee composed of Secretary E. McCann, chairman, Olaf Nesvig, Chester Dols, and B. Ranum, has been named to revise the premium list, which will be issued at an early date. Cards will be sent to prospective members. The annual meeting of the association will be held at noon January 7, the last day of the show, in the form of a dinner.

H. C. Nierengarten of St. Cloud has been secured to judge the birds at the coming show. He is an experienced judge and assures satisfaction to exhibitors.

Present at Friday's meeting were President C. D. Gustafson, W. J. Jacobs, B. Ranum, Chester Dols, and J. A. McCann. Another meeting will be held in December.

Gilbert Delights in Film "Bardelys the Magnificent"

In "Bardelys the Magnificent," Elinor Vidor's picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which comes to the Lyceum theatre today, Friday and Saturday, John Gilbert has a role that will be an everlasting delight to his constantly increasing number of admirers.

If Rafael Sabatini, the author of "Bardelys the Magnificent," had personally chosen the hero for the picturization of his stirring romance, he could not have made a happier selection. He swims raging rivers on horse back, engages in fierce encounters with hordes of strenuous and determined enemies, pole vaults over a line of charging spearsmen and scales walls of dizzying height.

The love scenes of the picture are fully as convincing and moving as were those of "The Big Parade," and of course the picturesque setting of the story, its medieval background, with the exotic costumes and flamboyant conventions only enhance this phase of the production.

Eleanor Boardman as the heroine is thoroughly acceptable, looking every bit the blond of a girl for such a heart winner as Bardelys.

Gilbert's acting is of the smooth, restrained sort that makes the spectator feel that they are witnessing the intimate development of a genuine romance.

A brilliant supporting cast surrounds the star, including Roy Stewart as the cruel and treacherous Chatellerault, the villain of the piece; Karl Dane, comedy star of "The Big Parade," as the ludicrous Rodenard, Bardelys' attendant, an extra cast which George K. Arthur, John T. Maurray, Lionel Belmore and others.

TURKEYS HELD FOR CHRISTMAS MARKET

Only Best Birds Marketed For Thanksgiving; Local Dealers Busy Past Week

While northwestern Minnesota has a large turkey crop, even greater numbers than a year ago, it is indicated that Thanksgiving shipments will be light as compared to the Christmas trade. This is due to the slowness of the birds in maturing, and the desirability in many cases for the birds to be held over for the Christmas markets. Only the best are being picked out at this time local shippers reports, a brisk business with a favorable market.

The Thief River Valley Co-operative Poultry association has shipped three carloads of dressed turkeys, a fourth car going out today. Thanksgiving shipments are expected to reach about 75,000 pounds, Manager Ole Kirkhus reports, as of poultry was also shipped yesterday. The association reports a big increase in business the past year, the number of members having been added. George Hanson, formerly of Hazen, N. D., today brought a load of turkeys from Crookston, where he now resides, to be a member of the association.

The association is still shipping hay, the last railroad already shipped being only a beginning, according to Mr. Kirkhus. The market has shown some strength this week as a result of improvement in the weather.

Shipments at Fosston, Mahnomen, Fertile, Ada, Crookston, Mentor, Northcote, Warren, Grygla, Goodridge, Thief River Falls, Argyle, Stephen, Karlstad, Kennedy, Hallock, Greenbush, Newfolden, Badger, Roseau, Middle River, Oslo, Donaldson, Hazen, Angus, Lancaster, Alvarado, Viking, Gatzke, Strandquist, Kelliher, Bemidji, Baudette, Williams, Wannaska

Thanksgiving Turkey To Be Highest This Season

Thanksgiving turkey outlook will be somewhat more costly this year than it was last year, according to reports received by the Minnesota department of agriculture. Increased consumption, poultry experts say, is the reason for the boost in prices, but a greater part of the increase is due to the fact that the crop of turkeys is not as large this year as it was last year, and a smaller number of old turkeys will be left over after Thanksgiving Day.

The mild weather this fall has been favorable "turkey weather." So long as the days and nights are comparatively warm, poultry, confined in open pens, will not go to roost in the evening but will keep on eating. Consequently they put on weight rapidly. Cold weather, on the other hand, makes poultry restless and causes them to huddle together for warmth. The crop consequently is farther reduced. Last year, the Minnesota crop was the smallest on record. The quality of the turkeys, however, which is the determining factor in the price, was very good. The average weight was 14 pounds, a record—and, year after year, the quality of the turkeys is improved.

Reports from the turkeys growing districts indicate that the number of turkeys marketed this season will be less than last year. Shortage of turkeys is shortage enough to restrict any heavy demand, and the consumer will be forced to pay more for his turkey than he did last year. Reports from Kansas, Iowa and Ohio are expected to have fewer turkeys for the market this season while the other states are definite about the same size as last year.

Stocks of turkeys in storage are less than half as large as at this time a year ago and 40 per cent below the five-year average. Stocks of frozen turkeys, therefore, will be less of a market factor this season than last. Holdings of chickens are also small, five million pounds larger than a year ago and ten million pounds larger than the five-year average, however, offsetting.

W. T. Carlisle, director of the Nashville Grocery company, was in the city Thursday, attending to matters of business and visiting at the home of his son, W. L. Carlisle.

FLORIDA LEADS RELIEF RECORDS

Heads Major Disasters of 1926. Red Cross Active in 62 Emergencies in Year.

ALSO SERVES FOREIGN LANDS

Preparedness to Cope with Great Disturbances Gives Good Results in Action.

Facing one of the largest rehabilitation efforts in its whole history, as a result of the Florida hurricane, the American Red Cross already had behind it a record of service in 62 disasters at home, up to the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1926.

When the hurricane struck Florida with such devastation and loss of life, the Cross National Headquarters at once was just congratulating itself that a year had passed without a major disaster within the borders of the country. The destruction in Florida has been, tentatively estimated by Director of Disaster Relief Henry L. Baker, of the American Red Cross, in terms of relief work ahead of the organization. This takes into account all sufferers who must be cared for.

Casualty surveys by experienced authorities place the injured at 6,000, exclusive of the stricken Gulf Coast cities of Moorehaven and Clewiston. Of the 1,300 injured sent to Miami hospitals, 500 were suffering from major fractures. In two other east coast communities the injured numbered nearly 1,000. The homeless were conservatively estimated at 50,000. Both figures sketch only vaguely the human and material problem which the American Red Cross is still doing its utmost to solve.

For comparison the other outstanding recent disaster, the Midwest tornado of March 18, 1925, can be described in more detail. In that catastrophe the final check showed 900 dead, 2,000 injured and 4,247 families of approximately 20,000 men, women and children rendered homeless. The final relief operations of the Red Cross were brought to a close March 18, 1926, exactly a year from day of the tornado struck five states.

Five terrible did the death and destruction impress itself on the experienced Red Cross forces, rushed into Florida that Chairman John Barton Payne did not hesitate to call for a relief fund from the whole country of $5,000,000. Never before Cross exhausted every resource in trained personnel on its stricken region.

The New Jersey munitions explosion, in July, while terrible as a spectacle, could not compare with either of these other two disasters in final extent of losses. It gave the Red Cross an opportunity for service in which Red Cross nurses treated 48 injured, and during the height of the emergency fed between 700 and 800 people driven from their homes. More than 400 cases were registered with the Red Cross after the explosions for assistance in regaining their hold on life through rehabilitation work. This latter is a regular part of the Red Cross relief operations in all disasters, and means a task continued long after the country has ceased to think of the occurrence itself.

The year has seen a new measure of disaster relief preparedness inaugurated by the Red Cross, under which a trained reserve of medical and other relief experts is constantly on call for any service. This preparedness justified itself in both the New Jersey explosion, and in the Florida hurricane. In the latter the Red Cross had at call more than 500 experienced disaster workers with a network of prepared Chapters all over the country. This preparedness, constantly demonstrated, is cited as material assurance that the country is better protected today than ever before from the suffering such misfortunes engender.

Had as were domestic disasters in both the last fiscal year and recent months, some of those abroad in the same time have been comparable, especially a flood in Mexico. Altogether the American Red Cross served in the name of the American people in more than 15 foreign catastrophes.

The Tenth Annual Roll Call for membership to maintain such activities will be held from November 11 to 25, and is an opportunity for all to enroll themselves in the American Red Cross.

Rising Young Star Fond of Cooking

Claiborne Foster.

Claiborne Foster, the clever little lady who makes Betty Cannary plus "Appliances," the outstanding comedy success of the year, is an extraordinary young woman. She is generally recognized as one of the rising young stars of the American stage and her services and company are always in demand but such is her nature that she shuns the "bright lights" and leads a simple and unostentatious life whenever she may be. She is essentially a home girl, being passionately fond of cooking, an art at which she is very adept, and much of her leisure time is spent in the modest little kitchenette of her apartment. When not playing in some production, Miss Foster may be found at her home a short distance from New York city, where she revels in the joys of cooking for the whole family and her friends and spends her vacations doing the work of the ordinary housewife.

There are two dishes which are regarded with more favor by Miss Foster, than are any others. These are Brook shrimps and chicken en casserole. She uses the simplest of formulas but insists upon the purest of ingredients, using pure butter, and especially milk. The recipes that she uses are:

Brook Shrimps.

2 cups cooked or fresh shrimps	½ cup evaporated milk
¼ tsp. salt	½ cup water
Few grains cayenne	2 tbsp. flour
	2 tsp. lemon juice

Clean the shrimps, and cook in half the fat for 2 minutes; add seasoning and bepper; cook 2 minutes longer. Remove shrimps and make a white sauce of the remaining fat, flour and milk; when thickened add yolks of eggs slightly beaten, stirring in quickly and cooking two minutes; add the shrimps.

Chicken en Casserole.

1 tender chicken	1 can evaporated milk
for roasting	1 pint milk
1 tbsp. butter	1 tbsp. chopped
2 tbsp. lard	parsley
Salt and pepper	1 cups chopped
1 pint hot water	1 pint hot water

Clean chicken, split down back, and lay breast upward in casserole. Spread fat over breast, dust with salt and pepper, add hot water, cover closely and cook in hot oven one hour. When nearly tender put in evaporated milk, mushrooms and parsley. Cover again, and cook 20 minutes longer. Serve hot in casserole.

Official Paper Pennington County

AN IMPORTANT EVENT

Poultry feeders of Pennington county are already grumbling because of the annual poultry show in January, and there is every indication that this county will again have one of the largest and best exhibitions of its kind in the state. The poultry show is perhaps the best method of arousing and holding interest in standard bred fowls. The shows in the past have been a big drain on the pocketbook and many people have availed themselves of the opportunity to see them. With poultry and turkey raising becoming an important factor in the agricultural life of this territory the interest should be greater than ever before. The income from chickens and turkeys in Northwestern Minnesota is no small sum and with standard bred stock the could be greatly increased.

MANY DID NOT VOTE

Amendment No. 2, authorizing the enactment of laws encouraging and promoting forestation and reforestation of lands in the state, which was carried by private persons or the public, was the only one of the three constitutional amendments submitted to the voters on November 2 that was adopted. Legislation to put amendment No 2 in effect will be one of the principal matters before the coming session of the legislature. Laws will be drafted providing that the land be taxed at such a rate as to encourage the growing of timber to a merchantable size. The laws now are said to encourage the early cutting of all timber.

Both the other amendments received more than twice as many "yes" votes, but according to the wording of the state an amendment cannot be adopted unless it has a majority of all votes cast. It is discouraging to note the large number of voters who fail to register their preference on important measures. Every voter should know enough about the proposal so as to vote either for or against it.

Newspapers of the state are joining I na general cry for a change in the closing time of the election polls, calling for an hour's uniformity of keeping them open until nine o'clock at night. This practice makes it necessary for the judges and clerks to work all day Tuesday and count votes all the following night and in numerous instances all of the next day. Wednesday. This tires out the election officials who have to complete their task without rest. It also retards the returns which the public is anxious to receive. Minnesota is the only state in the union which has a law keeping the polls open until nine o'clock and it is likely something will be done in the next legislature to remedy the situation.

THE IN ELECTION

The election of superintendent of schools of Kittson county resulted in a tie vote, for the two republicans, Hilda Hanson and Martin P. Lager. The latter defeated the incumbent, Hanson, by drawing.

THANKS VOTERS

I wish to thank the voters of Pennington county for the splendid support which I received at the last general election. The large vote given me must be taken as a violation of any recent in the Senate and republication of the methods used four years ago. After all it seems that even republics "deserve the best policy" Anyone going after, let us put him to it. Remember the old saying "Actions speak louder than words" and I will endeavor to live up to each one of my promises.

Death Rate from T. B. Among Children Reduced by Vaccine

A new vaccine has been discovered that will immunize children against tuberculosis among children, during the first years of life, according to an announcement issued by the Minnesota Public Health Association.

"An anti-toxin recently discovered by Dr. A. Calmette, noted French bacteriologist, director of the Pasteur Institute, after 20 years of intensive study, develops real immunity when given to infants who have had no tuberculosis infection," Dr. J. A. Myers, newly elected president of the organization and professor of public health at the University of Minnesota, said.

"It will protect children at an age when the disease brings heavy fatalities—the first two years of life. Dr. Calmette's discovery and methods have been made in ten thousand cases. Of the first 5,000, to whom the treatment was not administered, the death rate was 30 per cent. Of the remaining 5,000 given the treatment, the mortality of less than one per cent.

"The extensiveness of the work on charity and biology of the tubercle bacillus that is being carried out by the research committee of the National Tuberculosis Association leads us to believe that more valuable light is soon to be thrown on the treatment of this dreaded disease."

Dr. Myers strongly urged extensive campaigns to be conducted this year, saying: "Minnesota although planning many, has not enough. The work is of immeasurable value. Besides our sanatoriums and programs, there are needed 500 hospital beds, one sanatoria with a 1,000 beds, one hospital with 2,000 beds, open air schools, 24 preventoria, 600 permanent clinics and dispensaries, besides many other activities."

"Health ignorance of parents is the cause of 80 per cent of the ills of children" said Dr. Walter Ramsey, noted specialist in children diseases, in commending the work of the Christmas seals. "Education is the remedy. The public health problem is the duty of every individual."

Pickles! Pickles! Sweet or Dill! But this time it's an operetta, otherwise "In Old Vienna", and as you know, Miss Blanche Johnson is directing. The quality of the play is insured by the fact that she is directing, for Miss Johnson has (or not many, if former success, not the least of which are "The Lass of Limerick," "The Gypsy Rover," "Princess Chrysanthemum," and "Snow White,") a Junior high school venture. We look for the early some of them have had considerable training before. Yes, there's Mildred Myrin in the role of "Olga" (hey Chiefkin, don't you remember him as "Judge Healey" last year?) Kenneth Olson is "Arthur Crofton," Ronald Kinghorn as "Hans Muller," who held supervision in the last year operetta, and Clarice Nordahl, and Muriel Reynolds fill out the cast, the latter as "Mrs. Muller," who had previous vocal training in the most assuredly! Height child!" Now Clarice Olson! But I almost forgot to include Nordahl and Runsvik in that list, which should be a real crime, since "Art" and "Hugo" furnish the broad humor throughout this romance of Vienna.

And—yes, we've said enough here! In this column we mention your shortcomings, but you Pillay even sing at "Pickles."

THE ARTS OF EXPRESSION

Debate, Declamation, and Oratory are the outside activities which furnish the best training in self-expression. They are comparatively neglected in comparison to the interest displayed towards basketball.

Athletics are fine. Made of that which warrants a discussion—of their merits. They cannot be judged fairly by their surface attractiveness; "deep slipping" only will ascertain their value to the full force of their charm and appeal.

Debating implies keen intellectual battling with weapons of quick, decisive, logical, thinking ingredients. It demand a thorough knowledge of the subject under discussion. Because the end and the hope to have a chance to play upon always dealt with an important current question, one's education in world affairs is broadened.

But—debating is not just work and no play. Can't you imagine all the satisfaction the debator must get, her of the present hand-scrambling, while he is tearing down his opponents arguments? One cannot list definitely the points which make debating profitable as well as enjoyable, for each individual's interests are not the same as another's.

Then—there is declamation and Oratory which afford you an opportunity "to act" in your own way. Practically all the work in these arts is displayed as pleasure; yet declaiming is not a "rattling off" of mere words without the backbone of conscious thought.

If you have only a little interest in these fields, Debating and Declamation, and belong to no outside organization, make at least an attempt to enter into one of the coming contests. Don't excuse yourself on the ground that you haven't "the ability" or never commit himself until he has tried.

OH! SAMMY!

"Hot stuff!" Did ya see the ringer our class is getting"?

"Yah—that actual much. Ours beats yours all hollow; furthermore, you little runt of a Junior, you won't get your rings until January and we're getting ours about the time the Operetta's coming off—yuh see you can't beat your elders."

"Huh, say—Mr. Wiseman—you'll agree with me, won't you, that Pickles is a sow and's half, won't you?"

"Absolutely, positively, certainly—that is most assuredly! Height child!" Now Ollie Olson! But I almost forgot to tell you that "Pickles" is the biggest affair ever put on by the Thief River Falls high schools since "Art" and "Hugo" furnish the broad humor throughout this romance of Vienna.

"Well—not only does it consist of a distinctive cast, and a small majority of wonderful voices, but the entire production is being directed by our own and only—Miss Johnson. Honestly, I didn't know whether Mr. Glaser gave some of the credit there were so much good material to work with."

"Before stating his own definition of education, Mr. Glaser gave some of the ideas of Herbert Spencer, who was regarded education as: 'The preparation necessary for complete living.' A doctor in Columbia University, New York, Dr. Dewey, said, 'Oh, Gee, you're good! You'll be a success!' Then Piper's Pepperoni Pick, of education is to teach boys and girls to do better in the worthy things that they are going to do anywhere." Dr. Butler, president of Columbia University said: 'Education is the process of transmitting to boys and girls their physical, intellectual and religious education.'"

Mr. Glaser gave as his own definition of education, "the process of preparing the finest type of American citizens."

Several other numbers helped to make the high school program an enjoyable one. Miss H. Wilson, representing the local Commercial club told of the valuable something of the "Hoys" and Girls' Live Stock Club" train that was to enter the city Saturday.

Miss Berglund, a member of the public speaking classes, gave an interesting talk on the "Constitution." Mildred Myrin's "Hells of the Evening" received much applause. Goldie Gunderson also gave an oration, "Faith in Education."

Also members by the Minisota Orchestra furnished a fitting addition to the programs Color Guard March—Fenley, "Star of the Sea" by "The Rockies," "The College Boy," "A Day at the Beach," and "Old Oaken Bucket."

Supt. Gloor of Crookston Speaks at High School Education Week Assembly

Supt. Arnold Gloor of the Crookston high school helped Lincoln put the finishing touches on a fitting, successful National Education Week observance in his speech on "The Meaning of Education Week" before the assembly of visitors and students Friday afternoon.

One of the many interesting facts brought out by Supt. Gloor was "Foreigners are not fully American until naturalized. In spite of the movement for education there are many illiterates among us.

"There is no better way of knowing the schools than by visiting them," was one of Mr. Gloor's remarks in regard to our parents' visits to the schools during the last week.

"The people of the Northwest are generally interested in education," said Mr. Gloor "They are giving generously for education. Fifty-four percent of Thief River Falls people are of Crookston's and 42 per cent of East Grand Forks' are going to and aside every year for this purpose."

In showing some of the reasons why high school attract boys and girls, he said, "Game attend high school to go out and make something of himself. Boys and girls, also, attend high school for recitation, "Two Brothers," Gordon Solheim; "Health Habits," Ruth Health," children from both rooms; recitation, "Two Brothers," Gordon Solheim; "Health Habits," Ruth Hamilton; "Thanksgiving Day," Miss Trogen's group, "Wind Song" by Miss Song's group; "America," all.

BEMIDJI WINNER IN HARD FOUGHT GAME

Locals Lose Season's Final Contest 3 to 0 at Bemidji Armistice Day

The "Linkies," after a zealant struggle to make the Bemidji game their "crowning glory", of the season, Armistice Day, November 11, were forced to chalk up a three point defeat when Bemidji's place kick from the 25 yard line netted them three points. This was the closing game of the season for Thune's eleven.

The Thief River team received the ball, but were forced to surrender it when Fenseth fumbled. The "Lumberjacks," subsequent to penetrating the ball on downs. Thief River, with two first downs, advanced the ball to their 10 yard line where two 5 yard penalties caused them to fail in making the extra yardage and were held for downs, the ball going to Bemidji and Thief River punted. On the next play Bemidji attempted a field goal, which failed, making the score a no and end of the first quarter.

Thief River again received at the opening of the half and fumbled, giving the Bemidji aggregation of the ball on the 40 yard line. Off tackle bucks netted the locals first downs and put them in scoring territory.

Bemidji here attempted several passes and also a place kick, which were "smeared" for losses, and on the fourth down and 15 yards to go, attempted a perfect-place kick against the wind. The kick was good for three points and the defeat of Thief River Falls.

The "Linkies" kicked off to Bemidji and were forced to punt. As the time passed the playing became more intense, with the "Linkies" weakened and the "Lumberjacks" tightened up, trying to form. They were unable to make any further gains, however.

The large number of local rooters accompanying the team were instrumental in aiding the team to hold Bemidji to the three points. Special round trip fare was offered by the Soo Line.

Prospects for Strong 1927 Basketball Team

Coach Thune's tryout and elimination meet will commence on the following Monday night for the 1926-27 basketball season. About 15 candidates came out for practice.

Five lettermen will form the center of a strong team, as three of the applicants are veterans of last year's games, and it is expected that the new material will be found among the public rye. Thune's team encountered many victories last year as they won the basketball District championship, defeating Thief River Falls for the second time. The 1927 team can surely do as well, with the material at hand.

BIG GAME SEASON OPENING SATURDAY

Local Sportsmen Getting Ready For Deer Hunt: Season Open Eleven Days

Pennington county as well as other Minnesota sportsmen are making preparations for deer hunting this month with high hopes for a successful season. In almost all sections of the deer range, the animals appear to be plentiful enough to afford good sport when the season opens next Saturday, November 20, to remain open thru the 30th.

Up to last night County Auditor T. F. Anderson had issued a total of 40 big game licenses. The first Pennington county resident to get a license this year was Edward Bigger of Fisher, who also secured the first small game license this fall. In Beltrami county approximately 1,000 big game permits are issued.

Under the Minnesota law deer of either sex may be taken during an open season but the season is limited to seven days, so the hunters of this state will have their first opportunity to shoot big game since the fall of 1921. The season opened two years ago on November 10.

While does are not protected by law, it will be unlawful to take them in Itasca county. Sentiment for a buck regulation is especially strong in that county, and on the petition of Itasca sportsmen and the recommendation of the commissioner, Governor Christianson has issued an executive order prohibiting the taking of does there. All deer are protected by executive order in Dickinson, Hennepin, Ramsey, Ramsey, Winona, and Houston counties, where it is considered advisable to encourage an increase.

For the most part Minnesota sportsmen will find good sport in the north part of the state and indications are that they will find good sport in practically all sections of northern Minnesota, judging from the plan to invade the territory east of Middle River. The snow this week is expected to make conditions very favorable.

Minnesota residents must pay $2 for a license to hunt deer, an additional $1 for a deer tag, and $1 for a muzzle loading tag. Non-residents are charged $50 for the privilege.

SIPES TO HANG

J. Sipes of Spencer, Iowa, convicted of first degree murder for stabbing to death Daniel Detlog of Bemidji, formerly of Red Lake Falls, will die tonight tomorrow, at the state penitentiary at Fort Madison, in accordance with the sentence imposed by Judge Deland in November last year. The stabbing occurred September 21, 1925, in a dispute over a garage bill amounting to $3.50. Detlog, a brother of the stabbed youth, attended the hanging.

Bellringers Well Received By Large Audience Thursday

The Sons of Norway hall was filled last Thursday when a concert was played by Agve's Scandia Art Bellringers. Enthusiastic applause expressed appreciation by the listeners throughout the entire program and has special commendation to the music of Scandinavian folk songs which proved especially appealing. The concert was given under auspices of the local Sons of Norway lodge.

The four artists, all natives of Norway, included Otto E. Agve, Albert J. Agve, George Holter, and Edward M. Hall, bellringers. In Minneapolis, ringing a set of 110 silver handbells with a total range of five octaves, they played a program of classical music and folk songs, achieving astounding accuracy and richness of harmony. The grace and artistic skill with which the men handled the bells greatly impressed the audience. Before going on this tour the bellringers went thru a period of four months of intensive training, spending eight hours a day in practice.

The program included the following varied numbers: "Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa; "Evening Star" from "Tannhauser," R. Wagner; "Norwegian folk songs medly, arranged by Otto E. Agve; "Evening Chimes," Stigrian; "Wedding of the Winds," Hall; "Humoresque," Dvorak; "The Chapel Girls' Sunday," Mrs. Hall, arr.; "Anne's Death" from "Per Gynt," E. Grieg. The last number is particularly well adapted to rendition on the bells which sounded with the solemnity of church bells.

The bell numbers were interspersed with accordion selections, a feature of which was a trio with the Agve brothers playing on the accordion instrument.

Following the concert the bellringers were guests at the John Sundt home, leaving Friday for Fosston.

Only 8 Carloads of Sugar Beets from Here This Year

A total of eight carloads of sugar beets; six loaded at Thief River Falls and two at Hallock, will be shipped to the new sugar factory at East Grand Forks this fall over the Great Northern railway reports W. E. Baker, local agent. Only about 60 acres of beets are being grown in Thief River Falls vicinity this year, but it is expected that the acreage will be greatly increased next year.

The American Beet Sugar company announces that it will contract for the acreage that the farmers in this community will sign contract for on suitable land. Beside a guarantee of $6 per ton for beets grown, the company provides for an added payment to the growers based on the sugar contents of the beets raised.

FORMER RAN PATIENT KILLED

Louis Demarais, 42, of Red Lake Falls was killed in an accident on the highway near Bemidji Wednesday night of last week. He was employed by the Paine and Hagen road construction company which had completed its blading operations and was returning to Red Lake Falls. Some months ago Mr. Demarais was stricken with tuberculosis and was a patient at the Oakland Park sanatorium here in Pennington county, but was later being released as cured and had been in good health since. He is survived by his wife and five children, four brothers and two sisters.

Brandon Makes Statement

It has been brought to my attention that rumors are being circulated industriously that I had some dealings with Emery Smith before he sent me to the penitentiary. Such statements are absolutely untrue, and false, as I had never seen the man before he stepped into my car on the afternoon of November 3 demanding at the point of a gun that I take him to Hallock.

I trust that this statement will stop the false rumors now being industriously spread either maliciously or without knowledge of the true facts.

Care Counts for More Than Location, Breed

Summarizing a year's report of 31 Minnesota poultry record flocks in 19 counties, Cora E. Lewis, poultry specialist with the agricultural extension service, University of Minnesota, finds that one location is about as good as another in Minnesota for keeping poultry; that there is no one breed or profitable breed; that improved feeding methods pay, for itself in increased returns; that good housing is essential to good returns, and that Minnesota farm flocks are an asset to the farm business.

Also the records seem to show that increased annual net returns can be expected from a high egg production, a low feed cost, and the selling of poultry and eggs to advantage especially for breeding purposes.

Six breeds are represented in the 31 flocks. The average number of eggs laid per hen was 128 and the average feed cost per hen for the year was $1.96. The average net return per bird was $2.63. In the ten flocks having the highest production the actual feed cost was $2.04 per hen as compared with a cost of $1.90 in the ten lowest producing flocks. Figured in terms of dozen eggs the highest producing flocks did the best with feed costs amounting to only 15.65 cents per dozen eggs while it was 24 cents a dozen in the low producing flocks. The average was 18 cents a dozen. In other words, it costs more to produce eggs, but the increase should produce a greater return.

ELIMINATING CROSSINGS

Three hundred and eighty two railroad grade crossings have been eliminated in the trunk highway system of Minnesota since the state took control of them in 1921, according to a statement from the State Highway commission. Of these, 256 have been eliminated by relocation of the road, 90 by building overhead bridges, and 36 by underpasses. Two hundred seven grade crossings have been eliminated by the Minnesota Highway commission, 161 by the railroads, and 14 by counties. Public safety is the first consideration, in making a change in location. It is often possible to move grade crossings and dangerous curves and at the same time reduce the cost of construction and shorten the distance. Eliminating grade crossings by relocation, grade separations by overhead or by underpass bridges are effected as rapidly as possible. Nearly 500 grade crossings still remain on the trunk highway system. Some of these are protected by gates or watchmen and many are on branch lines where traffic is light. A large number are slated for elimination within the next two years.

He was chasing a kitten in one of the stalls when a cow pushed him against the side of the stall, pressing his head so hard that he started to bleed thru his ears. He was rushed to the hospital here as soon as possible after he had so badly hurt himself, but his injury is not thought serious.

The Osteopathic physician is preeminently fitted by the nature of his training to discover incipient conditions threatening health which come through periodic examinations. Prospects for Continued High Potato Price in Minn.

High potato prices for Minnesota consumers are foreseen by the division of agricultural economics, Minnesota College of Agriculture, in a recent market letter, the following appears as the probable price of potatoes in Minneapolis and St. Paul should average about 27 per hundredweight from now until May.

This estimate is about 92 per cent above the normal prices in these markets for the winter season. It is based on the August price which was 33 per cent above normal and on the assumption that the production in the 27 late crop states will remain about 14 per cent below normal. The fact that the price level of commodities in general remains at approximately 150 also is considered.

The Great Northern railway reports shipping 22 carloads of 600 bushels each of potatoes from Thief River Falls so far this season.

who for 24 years served the old Synod branch of what is now Trinity congregation until he was elected president of the northern Minnesota district of the Norwegian Lutheran church in 1919, with headquarters in Detroit. He will officiate at the Trinity dedication next Sunday. Many of the trials and hardships of the congregation's early days will be remembered by this pioneer church man.

The basement is also thoroly modern and includes a fully equipped kitchen, a large and a smaller auditorium, cellar with fruit and coal, ward robe and storeroom, Sunday school secretary's room, toilets, and rest room for mothers. There is also a rest room upstairs. The Ladies aid has installed a $400 range. A telephone was put in this week.

Contractors Dickenson & Bredeson of Bemidji are to be complimented upon their work here, which was supervised by Foreman J. H. Smith of Bemidji. The contract price was approximately $30,000 and everything is entirely satisfactory, according to the building committee. The plans were prepared by Architect Thorwald Thorsen of Fergus Falls, Iowa. The lumber for the building was furnished by The Prichard Company of this city.

Ed Lee of this city installed the heating plant and plumbing, costing approximately $4,000; the wiring was done by Nagler Electric Construction company of Bemidji, at $700; the light fixtures were ordered thru the city light and water department, at $1,000. Pews costing more than $2,000 were made by the Northern Woodworks company of this city and add much to the appearance of the interior.

In addition the pipe organ, bell, furniture and fixtures moved from the old church are valued at $5,000, a similar value being placed on the altar and basement, making a total value of $45,000.

Mrs. Sampter, Hazel Resident 18 Years, Dies Fri.

The community was saddened Friday morning by news of the death of Mrs. T. J. Sampter, highly esteemed Hazel woman. She was in the Physicians hospital recovering from injuries sustained in an auto accident November 5, when she broke five ribs, and was to have returned to her home in a few days when she was stricken. Death was caused by a blood clot lodging in the lungs and came so unexpectedly that she passed away 15 minutes before Mr. Sumpter arrived from Hazel after being summoned. The death was a decided shock to the family and her many friends.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the home and at the Methodist church in St. Hilaire, conducted by Rev. Bertha L. Gaulke of the Grand Forks Church of God. The choir of the Grand Forks church sang several beautiful selections. The Sumpters were returning from a three-day reveival meeting at the Church of God in Grand Forks when the accident occurred near St. Hilaire.

Surviving Mrs. Sumpter are her husband, five daughters, Mrs. Henry Schawe, Mrs. Herman Smith and Miss Nora of Grand Forks, and Dorothy and Lavora at home, and four sons, Roy of St. Hilaire, Charles of Virginia, Floyd and Myron at home; also five grand children and five sisters. A son, Hubert, aged 16, died a year ago, three other children having preceded their mother into eternity.

Mrs. Sumpter was born in Marian county, Iowa, 53 years ago, and was married to Mr. Sumpter in 1892. They resided in Jasper county, near Newton, Iowa, until 18 years ago when they moved to the farm two miles southeast of Hazel. Mrs. Sumpter was active in community affairs and was a leader in the Hazel clothing project club.

GIVE THANKS

Again we have come to that season of the year when our thoughts are especially turned to thanksgiving. We should be grateful to the Giver of All Things and give expression to our gratitude by being of some service to others less fortunate situated, not only on Thanksgiving Day, but every day of the year.

As the products of the soil and man's labor have been harvested, it is our sense to reflect that God's abundance is unlimited and what we still in of it is in proportion to our understanding and the use we make of His gifts.

In acknowledgment of the way nature has smiled on this community we should give expression to our gratitude in some form or other.

The theory that the world owes us a living has been proven a delusion, the same still follow it. For what we receive, by way in kind, are those we do not acknowledge our blessings, we are very apt to suffer—as suffering brought upon us by ourselves.

This community as others has much to be thankful for on this Thanksgiving Day. We have been especially favored in many ways.

A CREDIT TO THE CITY

The Times joins in congratulating the Trinity Lutheran congregation upon the completion of its splendid new church home. It is an achievement in which not only the members of the congregation should take pride but other citizens of the city and community as well. This improvement marks an important step in the progress of this city, and those who made it possible are deserving of the highest commendation.

A number of towns in this section of the state are making arrangements for abating risks among them Red Lake Falls, which will have two risks, Newsan, and Warren. How about Thief River Falls?

River skating was made impossible by the early snowfall and is the opinion of many citizens that some effort should be made to provide this healthful and in-expensive recreation for the boys and girls of the city. If the smaller towns in this vicinity can do it, why not Thief River Falls? It would perhaps do away with much complaint about youngsters doing things which they should not do.

Only four weeks left until Christmas. The early Christmas shopping and mailing are as important this year as before.

A GOOD MOVEMENT

Pennington county women are to be congratulated upon their Achievement Day program presented in this city last week. A very worthwhile enterprise has been started and it is to be hoped that the Clothing Project will be followed by others.

The aim of the different projects is not solely to instruct the members in its particular subject at hand, although that alone is invaluable and every lesson is helpful in every way as we received it. But the main goal, rather, is to develop better rural life, trained leadership, better community spirit, and in this project we will dress the family in every home. This last need not mean richly dressed; but rather that the clothing has been well selected as to color, line, texture and purpose, that it is well made, and is suitable to the person wearing it.

It is evident that these goals are being achieved. Anything which helps a home-maker to do her work better or easier, uplifts her and with her, her family and friends. The getting together of neighbors which these lessons necessitate cannot help but develop better community spirit, and it is unconsciously increasing the interest in club work, extension work, and community betterment in general. The good fellowship which pervades the community meetings is inspiring to the casual observer.

The training of local leadership is not to be overlooked. The result can not be measured for some time. These local leaders, feeling they can serve in an humble way, take joy in the meeting, forget self, and will gradually become more responsible and better leaders, enriching the lives of their families and neighbors and thereby enriching their own lives, for they will give most receive most of life's blessings.

WANT HIGHER PRICES

Higher prices for sugar beets will be demanded and no contracts will be signed for any portion of the crop by members of the Red River Valley Growers association, it was formerly decided at a meeting held at Hallock, Wednesday last week. There were about 40 members at the association present. The Polk county agent was present and gave a talk on crop growing.

SUPPLY QUARTER DONE

More than one fourth of Minnesota's allotment of two million pounds of grain for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, has been sold to farmers, reports A. J. Schwantes, land clearing expert with the university. It is expected the "usual spring rush" will practically clear up what is left of the state's supply. Special bulletin No. 116, "The Use of Explosives on the Farm," by Mr. Schwantes explains how to use dynamite in blasting stumps, rocks and muck, says the bulletin. This bulletin will be sent wither charge to any address on application to the Office of Publications, University Farm, St. Paul.

Plans and preparations for the 17th annual Red River Valley Winter Shows, held in connection with the annual Northwest School farmers' and housewife's meetings at Crookston, are under way following a meeting of the board of managers last week. The dates for this event are February 7 to 11. Outstanding speakers have been secured for the evening sessions, including Will Irwin Neuwirth and Bushell, Chicago; Mrs. T. G. Winter, Minneapolis; Governor Theodore Christianson, and for Friday evening of the week the Northwestern Singers association, a group of 150 male voices from 14 different Red River valley communities. The program is being prepared under the direction of Supt. C. G. Selvig, president of the combined shows and meetings.

The main evening service will be repeated on three nights, Monday, Tuesday, February 9, special service will be sought on the last night of the Great Northern, thru this city. Last year between seven and eight cars responded by a large delegation, and with the erection of another Alfalfa Arch at the show by Pennington county it is expected that the 1927 event will find even more interest manifested. Last year the total attendance figures are given for the different individuals, according to records.

Music for "Sissies"? Listen to These Boys

Either, last night's special entertainment they considered music as something for "sissies" to enjoyed in a private home or to light by the Orpheum Music Center here.

More boys want to study music than by girls, questions put to 2,000 children between the fourth and ninth grades revealed. Forty per cent of the boys announced a willingness to study music if given an opportunity. Thirty-seven per cent of the girls manifested interest.

Parental influence was seen in the fact that while only 18 per cent of the musically interested expressed a preference for the piano, 80 per cent were studying that instrument. Only 12 per cent were interested in the violin, but 20 per cent were taking lessons on the bow and fiddle.

The saxophone, the banjo and the cornet took honors for preference among the boys. None studying these instruments was dissatisfied. Among the extremely popular boys the lively harmonica ranked high.

ONE AT A TIME

Buying a new car is one thing. Selling is a used car is another. Don't get the two confused—or you are almost sure to end up with a new car you never really wanted.

Reliable Motor Co.
Thief River Falls, Minn.

A USED CAR IS ONLY AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT

A Life Saver for Your Car

EXCEPT in the case of accidents, cars die a gradual death. Dr. Clare E. Griffin of the University of Michigan has made some interesting estimates from statistics on the length of life of automobiles.

In his "Life History of the Automobile" he says that of any 100,000 automobiles beginning life at the first of any year, 220 will be junked the first year; 2,031 the second; 4,400 the third; 6,750 the fourth; 8,920 the fifth; and 10,670 the sixth; etc.

What sends some cars to the scrap heap while others of the same age are still serving a useful life?

Faulty lubrication in most cases. That is the most important single cause for the premature demise of automobiles.

Keep your car perfectly lubricated with Polarine and you will thereby save life. Polarine is the most perfect protection that could be devised for the motor of an automobile. Heat and friction cannot break its tough oil film. You can depend on Polarine to protect all the moving parts of the engine at all times.

Polarine is the result of years of experience and scientific work. It is one of the major products of an organization that is noted for its absolute dependability.

Polarine is a life saver for an automobile and a worry saver for the man who drives it. If you have had trouble with your car, you will appreciate the pleasure of driving a car that runs smoothly—a car that is properly lubricated.

Polarine will save your car from the junk heap and it will produce a smooth performance that will add immeasurably to the pleasure of motoring.

Have the crankcase drained out today, cleaned with Polarine Flushing Oil, and refilled with the particular grade of Polarine made expressly for your car.

We are glad to see some loyal Lincolnite speakers answer the call for debate, and congratulate not only those who will be the active debaters this year, but also all of those others who have taste the affect. Debating is a worth-while activity, and will test the brain power of this trio to the utmost, if they are to be formidable and successfully ward off the attacks made on their well laid arguments by Crookston, Ada, Warren, Roseau, and other rival teams. When the fun begins and the fire-crackers start shooting, let's hope that Lincoln will find their forensic athletes in such a sincere way that they cannot help but win!

It seems that interest is waning—in other words that interest in some of the operetta are over, attention will turn to basketball without any consideration of the important activities just now coming to the fore. Next week's (Wed.) issue carries an editorial called for more "intellectual competition," and although we are concerned more with history examinations than with what's taking place in Lincoln right now, in debate declamation, Prowler, Progress, and everyday class work. It is a good thought for this editorial. "To drive home" as the saying is, we say sincerely, wishes for more interest in debate. If Lincoln is going to stand any chance in the 1927 forensic race, there must be competition to begin with, and the only way to get this competition is through the schools continue college work may be given a chance to develop. Indicating that they have finished the junior college course in speaking, and for future teams. Debate is surely worth every effort thought, practice, and competition in speaking.

The call for declamation and orator candidates has met with little success, but we hope to see a large number answering Miss Stenerson's second call. We know from past experience that Lincoln holds a wealth of prospects for a declaimer-orator group.

The best way to boost Prowler activities is to turn in "snaps. The handiest article is—nothing of any subject one, but if everyone is to be represented, and if it is to be really enjoyable, everyone will have to get out his cameras and do some original "snap-hunting" of his own.

Turkeys; Yum-Yum! Turkey, stuffin', cranberry sauce, mmm, everything to make Jack Horner's heart leap, a holiday too so that we can enjoy ourselves to the utmost. Remember "You betcha" life we shall we eat—eat—eat—sigh, sit back, and eat some more, until every vestige of turkey suit and I closed drowsily after the feed. "Lunch I weighed five more after I'd made the last Thanksgiving turkey look like the "Arbiter" in the closet. It sure mean to make this year's one rival for this man in the circus, too. "Yes I like Turkey. Who doesn't? I know I should like" of our Filipino fellows way out in the islands, and now thanks that no Indian was all include a word or of either has decided to sell to sculp to his importance a some substitute for an old collection, but Lee still feels that "Oh" before I sit down and "Um" severe to undergraduate students.

Yum-Yum" all through that delicious meal.

But anyway I'm going to wobble back to my desk Monday after my big orgy of eating on the day of—THANKSGIVING!

OH! SAMMY!

Well, boys, I hope you learned your lesson from that operetta "Pickles," Ha! Ha!

What are you driving at now? You mean as if your Adam's apple was cutting capers in your cranium.

Little Innocent! Wasn't it possible—mustache and everything, who was singing back of the scenes what they call a "petitin' part."

"Petitin' party." My eye! Can't a Dago talk to a Gypsy without somebody—like you—saying a bright remark?

Hot-dog-gity-dog! Don't accuse yourself. But—it seems to me that the wide brim of your sombrero was in great way it did make a fine shade for a "smacker," didn't it?

Honest Injun! You talk like a loaded cigar. By the way, where did you pick up all this "crap"?

Oh, I was sittin' on the bench.

Say, you're a fine one, you scoundrel. Now I know it was you I saw tickling a certain little gal.

Take that back! I was holdin' my hands, was not tickling, nor was I tickling anybody like you.

Shoot!

Well, because why?

It was this way. Just as I was going to hold the one and only lassie's hand—Bang! A total of 37 points—stars, "Bad little boys must go home" right from good little girls! Woof! Woof!"

'U' May Give Diploma for Two Years of Work

A system whereby students who successfully complete two years at the University of Minnesota and then decide to discontinue college work may be given a certificate of completion, indicating they have finished the junior college course in speaking, and for future teams. Debate is surely worth every effort thought, practice, and competition in speaking.

The call for declamation and orator candidates has met with little success, but we hope to see a large number answering Miss Stenerson's second call. We know from past experience that Lincoln holds a wealth of prospects for a declaimer-orator group.

'LINKIE' FOOTBALL RECORD COMPARES WELL WITH OTHERS

No Defeats on Home Field or in District 1 Conference Games in '26

In looking over the record made by the local and rival football teams this year, The Progress has discovered that the two strangest elements in the district have been Thief River Falls, and East Grand Forks. In the district Thief River Falls' record is as follows:

- T. R. F. with Grafton, 12-0.
- T. R. F. with Grand Forks, 0-22.
- T. R. F. with Red Lake Falls, 26-0.
- T. R. F. with E. Grand Forks 22-0.
- T. R. F. with Crookston Aggies, 6-1.
- T. R. F. with Bemidji, 6-3.

In the seven games played Thief River Falls secured a total of 87 points against their opponents 32. Tie 22-0 defeat at the hand of Grand Forks in the early part of the season was the only defeat suffered in the record. In Minnesota high school team ever managed to cross the Lincolnite's goal line, the 13-6 defeat at Bemidji being caused by a successful place kick. Although the offensive work of the team was not of the best, the defensive work was so strong that no high school team in Minnesota succeeded to score a touchdown on the Thief River Falls goal. The 2-0 victory over East Grand Forks was the biggest defeat of the season. They came over here with a clean slate, having won all their games by large margins, and were the subject of about 40 points at their hands. The Lincolnites were not to be denied on the field. This victory gave Thief River Falls the district championship. Bemidji managed to tie for the championship crown of the district by defeating Crookston 6-3, but being able to secure a single point during the tilt.

- Crookston with Fargo, 0-21.
- Crookston with E. G. Forks, 0-19
- Crookston with Bemidji, 0-20.
- Crookston with T. R. F., 0-6.
- Crookston with Moorhead, 0-23.

This record shows that out of five games played they did not make a score. Bemidji tied them twice. These defeats were very likely due to the fact that their team consisted chiefly of green material.

East Grand Forks record is also shown below:

- E. G. F. with Crookston, 19-0.
- E. G. F. with T. R. F., 0-22
- E. G. F. with Warren, 46-0
- E. G. F. with Grafton, 26-0.

In these games showed that they scored 91 points against their opponents 44. Their defeat at the hands of Thief River Falls was the only one suffered by them in the district. Their defeat by Crookston was a surprise to many, as they had defeated the Crookston team by a large score earlier in the season.

Staff Working on Plans for 1927 Lincoln Annual

After a peep at the busy 1927 Prowler staff. The Prowler, as it is to be called this year, will include a number of other features in addition to the usual write-ups, cartoonings, plenty of humor, a special theme, and several new ideas; further that it is to be "bigger, better" has been represented than ever.

Although the staff is not prepared to make definite announcements about its plans, some of them are already being worked on. The cartoons will be one of the most entertaining divisions of every Prowler, will be complete in every respect. Many snapshots have been taken of the faculty and students. Snaps are having evaluated and others taken at Saturday's football game.

Byron Thorbjornsen, art editor, has presented an unusual plan for the theme to be carried throughout the book, and is asking the staff to make every effort to finance it.

To supply the needed funds for filling up the usual Prowler debut the business managers, Philip Sundal and Gladys Rommen, have proposed a plan whereby one fourth of the class will furnish cash for weekly sales, and are on the alert for any other money making opportunity.

All of this preliminary work has been done without a regular meeting, and it is expected that as soon as a formal meeting can be held material will be set up for the engravers.

The following mistakes in examinations may convince almost any one that "Ignorance" is the name of "Ignorance which he has yet to climb:

In History:

The Pyramids are a range of mountains between France and Spain.

The seven great powers of Europe are gravity, electricity, steam, radio, phonics, and motors, and Mr. Lloyd George.

The Habeas Corpus act was that no one need stay in prison longer than he liked.

The two races living in the north of Europe are Esquimau and Archangles.

A bishop without a diocese is called a suffragette.

In English:

Ellipsis is when you forget to kiss.

CONG. KVALE TELLS ABOUT WASHINGTON

Students Hear About Capital City and Workings of U. S. Congress

Lincoln enjoyed a visit and address from Congressman O. J. Kvale of Benson, who is a former Trinity Lutheran pastor, Monday morning during a thirty-minute assembly period. "Washington is not a manufacturing center, but is rather a residential city which has as its chief function that of being the seat of government of the United States. It's street all radiate from the capitol building and are numbered accordingly. The streets running diagonally across the city are known as avenues and are named after the states of the Union.

One of the most interesting and beautiful sights in Washington is the Lincoln memorial which stands on the north bank of the Potomac river and is in direct line with the capitol and Washington Monument. Across the river is Arlington cemetery where the unknown soldier is buried. Washington is in many respects like Minneapolis, and has a population of 500,000 people. 65,000 of these are in the employ of the government, so it can readily be seen that Washington's business is solely in regulating the affairs of government of the United States, and that the city must contain a very large population.

Mr. Kvale stated that a congressman and senator's work is never done, because of the large amount of mail they receive each day which must be sorted and very often answered. The many committee meetings, and finally the work in the regular sessions of congress.

"I place the majority of men in congress on a high level," said Mr. Kvale, "and an ever-increasing majority of them are thinking only of what is right, "What is the best for the—is-for-my-nation and my district" etc.

"I like to think of the home of the capitol, which also houses the library, has been lighted every night, as symbolic and emblematic of the Justice in houses and not the greed commonly attributed to all of the great work that is being done, and of the law making in lines of the best there is in moral and social welfare," said Congressman Kvale's closing remarks.

The concert band also spoke to the Central school pupils.

GLEE CLUBS SCORE ANOTHER TRIUMPH IN "PICKLES" PLAY

Large Audience Enjoys Musical Operetta by Youthful Actors Friday

Once more Maude L. Johnson, music supervisor, has scored in her presentation of musical-drama, "Pickles," the 1926 Glee Club venture, not with a hearty reception when it was presented to a full house at the auditorium last Friday, November 19.

The cast was the have viewed the operettas yearly now remember the "Gypsy Rover," given two years ago, the best play of "Pickles" may resembled this drama—a long-lost, aristocratic and wealthy child (our leading lady) is stolen by Gypsies—only in this latter play it is a girl—charmingly played by Dorothy Woods. She gave to her role of Iona the innocence and sincerity necessary, and furnished a large part of the musical score.

Randall Peterson as the self-satisfied advertising expert, J. Jennison Jones, played his part naturally, and revealed a pleasing tenor voice in his song numbers, "Pickles," "Gypsy Queen," and others.

Marjorie Pendell Lesley Yeadon's fancy was a dignified portrayal of a young Gypsy maiden. She was at all times the unhappy mother, and her characterization was deftly drawn.

Perhaps the most glorious voice in the cast was that of Clarice Swenson, who gave a very creditable performance as Jane Pennington, an American girl. Miss Swenson's voice is of a nature beauty of tone usually associated with the finished singer of many years. Leonard Knadle was the obnoxious artist lover, Arthur Crofont. It required the best efforts of the audience to hear one over the footlights, but his singing was pleasing.

Lillian Sundal, Lucille Lundeen, and Mildred Myrin played "Judge" Town" last year. His "Jigo," the upper-class flirts, was a colorful part, and Mildred developed it in an accomplished manner.

At points when the dramatic response was light Arthur Lufkin and Gordon Johnson injected matters by their comical antics as "Burnski" and "Hunski," the amateur detectives of Gypsy Camp. This part was admirably played by Byron Thorbjornsen, Jr., and Mr. Osborn, under Director Hoppa's rule, of Lucille Thompson, Swenson Waitress brought her a great deal of applause by her comical antics. Her composed of "Monster Kunski" and "Frankenstein" were received.

"Jane Marie" proprietor of the Gypsy Camp, was a fine role, and Lucille Thompson, in a recent test in Modern history, asked us to name some of Shakespeare's plays which figured in the literature of the early 19th century. Among the titles were these: King Lear, A Merchant of Venice, Old Fellow, Macbeth, and Omelet.

The try-outs for the 1926-27 debate team were conducted in the Literary Assembly Monday evening. The topic for the discussion was the question which the teams this year will debate: "Resolved that the United States should have a compulsory education with a member in the present congress." Each speaker gave about five minutes in length, and decisions as to the affirmative or negative, as the contestants chose, the judges were: Miss Tamberg, Mr. Sundal, and Mr. Osborn. The debate team, chosen by the judges after the try-outs, is as follows: Lucille Asseley, Ardis Ayers, and Chesley Ayers are Seniors, and Chester Myrom is a Junior.

Miss Thompson, in a recent test in Modern history, asked us to name some of Shakespeare's plays which figured in the literature of the early 19th century. Among the titles were these: King Lear, A Merchant of Venice, Old Fellow, Macbeth, and Omelet.

Supt. Sande in Charge of Christmas Seal Sale in Pennington; Starts Today

Pennington county is active with preparations for the annual sale of Christmas Seals to raise funds for local, state, and national tuberculosis and general health work.

Supt. Ole H. Sande, Thief River Falls has been chosen for county campaign director and is active in completing a county-wide organization which will insure a record breaking sale. The local campaign manager is Supt. H. Halverson; St. Hilaire, Supt. F. N. Reierson, and Thief River Falls, Supt. Morris Bye.

These workers are all giving voluntary service and, with the local group of assistants in each community are making a splendid combination of time and effort to the county and state anti-tuberculosis campaign.

The sale opens officially Thanksgiving day throughout the nation and the local campaigns will be in progress soon after the date. Rural schools and graded schools in the various communities in the county district, which has been leading in the sale of seals for several years, will be organized and school-children solicitation will be employed in the towns of the county, according to the local directors.

Local managers this week received from Supt. Halverson a letter containing a thirty-minute assembly period program for Thanksgiving day which the world" was the subject of his interesting speech in many schools of the county. "Washington is not a manufacturing center, but is rather a residential city which has as its chief function that of being the seat of government of the United States. Its streets all radiate from the capitol building and are numbered accordingly. The streets running diagonally across the city are known as avenues and are named after the states of the Union.

One of the most interesting and beautiful sights in Washington is the Lincoln memorial which stands on the north bank of the Potomac river and is in direct line with the capitol and Washington Monument. Across the river is Arlington cemetery where the unknown soldier is buried. Washington is in many respects like Minneapolis, and has a population of 500,000 people. 65,000 of these are in the employ of the government, so it can readily be seen that Washington's business is solely in regulating the affairs of government of the United States, and that the city must contain a very large population.

Mr. Kvale stated that a congressman and senator's work is never done, because of the large amount of mail they receive each day which must be sorted and very often answered. The many committee meetings, and finally the work in the regular sessions of congress.

"I place the majority of men in congress on a high level," said Mr. Kvale, "and an ever-increasing majority of them are thinking only of what is right, "What is the best for the—is-for-my-nation and my district" etc.

"I like to think of the home of the capitol, which also houses the library, has been lighted every night, as symbolic and emblematic of the Justice in houses and not the greed commonly attributed to all of the great work that is being done, and of the law making in lines of the best there is in moral and social welfare," said Congressman Kvale's closing remarks.

The concert band also spoke to the Central school pupils.

In the wild bush of Australia—in the jungles of Africa—in frozen northland and in the sunny lands—millions of American homes, too—children hug to their hearts their beloved "doll babies"!

Dolls are as old as humanity! In dolls, every people mirror themselves. Every small girl plays at being "mother" with a family of dolls. Perhaps it is only a name, torn rag doll, or maybe it is a gorgeous doll with real, curly hair and a fine silk dress—but the maternal feeling may be assured of finding dolls in the most humble tenement and the most palatial mansion.

There is no beginning of the history of dolls; all vestiges of early savage and barbarian life show dolls. The commercial manufacture of these favored playthings is also old.

Around 1850 the French toymakers began to fashion beautiful dolls of wax; their skin was as fair as a queen's, and their beautiful red lips and rose-bud cheeks were the pride of their possessors. But, alas, they melted when exposed to the heat of a fire or to the sun! The roseate cheeks ran into the raven black hair and dolly became just a dirty mixture of paint melted into the wax.

The German toymakers then brought out the dolls with bisque heads; to be true, they didn't melt, but they broke very easily. However, many a real tragedy was enacted when dolly was laid down one too gently, or inadvertently dropped on the floor. The bodies were made of sawdust with replaceable heads.

About twenty years ago dolls of wood pulp head were introduced into the world by American manufacturers. Here, at last, were safe and sane dolls, marvelously unbreakable!

Because of the high cost of labor, dolls has been increased a thousandfold in the happy advent. No longer do we see the intriguing sums "Doll dressed in silk." no longer does the doll mother need to guard against the ravages of moths, as in the days gone by.

The soft-body dolls were the next development. No longer does little Mary croon to sleep a hard, angular doll—it is cuddly, warm-feeling "baby."

Real, honest-to-goodness hair enhanced the dolls greatly! Painted-on hair is still popular for youngsters one and two years old; but the dolls of a few years ago were patterned after adults, with small heads and thin bodies. The doll of real baby is the model, and we have dolls with large heads and chubby, cunning bodies. Individuality in doll clothes has also developed amazingly, and America the doll designer is responsible for a genetic walk. There are dolls in all sizes, with all types of dresses, or eyes, or arms. The manufacturers in this country in fact 20,000,000 annually—and we certainly are the proud owners of this breed of pretty puppets. The industry is largely a American area.

The talking doll, the walking doll, the walk and talk doll, the baby doll, the lady doll, and character dolls are the favorite nowadays. The "mothers" of the nation tend to their problems gently, rocking them to sleep, feeding them, and, in fact, experiment all of their inborn mother instincts on their most precious possessions, their dolls!

The Invisible Foundation

"Modern electricity is not built upon a foundation of brick and mortar, stone and steel. Its foundation is the invisible realm of the ether." said Dr. H. A. Pierce of the Research Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Of the many fields that the pioneering of the Standard Oil Laboratories has explored, none has been so fundamental as the study of the liquid of the earth—petroleum.

Dr. Pierce, in the research laboratory of the Standard Oil Company, the dream was developed that the secret to producing gasoline by cracking, which have more than doubled the yield obtained from crude oil by former methods.

The new process were leased to competitors and thus hastened the entire industry and ultimately all the motorists of the country.

Recently a new allowy of scientific lubrication has been worked out in the research laboratory of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

This discovery has resulted in the development of a new motor oil which solves many of the lubricating problems that have baffled experts for years. The far reaching importance of this discovery to motorists cannot be overstated.

These are but two examples of revolutionary ideas originated in the laboratory of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) which have been converted into important benefits to every motorist in the Middle West.

Every product of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the result of careful scientific research backed by experience.

Upon this invisible foundation of ideas and scientific research the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has built the sturdy structure of its vast organization to serve the 30 million people in the Middle West.

WIDOW GETS $7,675 BY COURT REVERSAL

Supreme Court Reverses Industrial Commission's Decision in Angell Compensation

A decision of the state industrial commission was reversed by the Minnesota supreme court Friday when the state tribunal decided that Mrs. Symmes Angell, widow of the late Carl Angell, is entitled to $7,500 under the workmen's compensation act. The opinion was written by Justice C. Lees, and is of special interest to the general public as it defines the term of "employee" under the compensation act. Mrs. Angell, relator in the action, was represented by Ted W. Maloy and H. G. Temmle, local law firm, while the White Eagle Oil & Refining company and the Standard Union Indemnity Insurance company, the respondents, were represented by Ernest F. Watson, Minneapolis attorney.

Carl Angell was fatally injured in an accident November 11, 1924, while delivering gasoline and oil for the White Eagle company, and his widow, in behalf of herself and five children between the ages of 5 and 14, sought to recover compensation from the respondent and its insurer. She filed a petition with the industrial commission, which referred the matter to a referee. There was a hearing before the referee, who found that Angell was an employee of the White Eagle and sustained an injury arising out of and in the course of his employment which caused his death. He awarded a full compensation of $7,500, and $150 for funeral and $75 for hospital expenses. On appeal by the insurance company the industrial commission found that Angell was not an employee of the oil company and denied compensation in an order of July 31, 1926. The widow soon out a writ of certiorari to review the decision of the commission in the supreme court, be which she's case was argued October 26, Mr. Clements representing Mrs. Angell.

Following is a syllabus of the opinion handed down by the court, as written by Judge Lees:

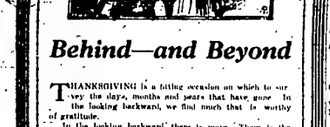
"1. As used in the Workmen's Compensation Act, the term 'employee' means a person who has contracted to perform a service for hire, to whom he pays wages directly and the term 'employer' means a person in the service of another under any contract of hire.

"2. Any partnership is not a legal entity. The members thereof may become the individual employers of a person who hires them to perform services for him.

"3. An employee who receives compensation for his services in the form of commissions instead of wages is within the scope of the Compensation Act.

"4. Construing a written contract, it is held that relator's husband was not an independent contractor but an employee or servant of the corporation he served."

The court holds that the only question is whether Angell was an employee of the oil company at the time of his injury. In this connection the opinion states, "The fact that they (referring to Angell and Edw. Neal, his partner) received definite portions of the receipts from the sales made instead of a fixed daily or weekly wage is not determinative of the question. Payment by commission is the customary method of payment of wages, provided there is a 'contract of hire.' Any other holding would prevent those from the benefits of the Compensation Act the hundreds of employees who work on the commission basis as, for example, commercial travelers who are paid a commission on their sales in lieu of wages."



The court's opinion contained references to the claim of Mrs. Augusta Sletten against Orchard Bros. in connection with the death of her husband, resulting from an accident while employed by the Cadwell contracting firm. The decision of the industrial board was also allowed $7,675, was also affirmed by Mr. Justice Lees in the opinion of William DeParcq, who was not a member of the court.

Mrs. Angell's compensation will be paid in monthly installments, the last payment to be made in full up to the time of the decision.

ORDAHL TO BE DAD.

The Thief River Falls district of the Norwegian Lutheran church will lose two pastors in the near future, Rev. H. B. Ordahl of this city and Rev. Childseth of Greenbush having resigned. Rev. Ordahl, pastor of two congregations in this community for 13 years and president of the circuit since the departure of Rev. T. O. Hirmerud of St. Hilaire, will leave about November 15 for Binford, N. D., while Rev. Childseth has accepted a call at Belmond, Iowa, for which place he will leave in January.

The latter had been at Greenbush two years.

Behind—and Beyond

THANKSGIVING is a fitting occasion on which to our very the days, months and years that have gone in the looking backward, we find much that is worthy of gratitude.

In the looking backward, there is more. There is the inspiration to guide our eyes toward the future—that it may be moulded by the finest achievements of the past. The Pilgrim Forefathers established the original ideals of the American men, and gave impetus to ideals that have made us a better people.

We should not forget them this Thanksgiving, and we should be thankful for the continued memorials to our happiness, freedom, and the ultimate elimination of strife and problems that are after all only the growing-pains of a country's perfection.

A Lame Arm And Osteopathy

A lame arm is usually an "industrial" ache it was may have operated, a drag key too long or be in a wrong position. A gift may have her typewriter too high, or her chair in a wrong position.

Of course there are cases of rheumatism, and of arthritis and of this and that—but the best "industrial" doctor is the one who can differentiate—who can recognize the case that is due merely to malalignment of the body machine—the case correct it and who can study into the cause and advise how to avoid it.

The best "industrial" doctor is the osteopathic physician for he has studied his machine and he knows when it is normal—he knows why it is not. He knows that heat or bandages or other palliative measures are not sufficient.

When you think of a lame arm, think about the kind of doctor who is trained to correct the trouble—an osteopathic physician.

CHRISTMAS MAILING SCHEDULE LAID OUT

Some Gifts Must Go Soon to Reach Destination Before Christmas Holiday

There are 25 more shopping days before Christmas, but persons intending to send gifts to foreign lands cannot wait that long, and in some instances must mail their packages within a few days, if they wish to make certain delivery before the holidays.

Early mailing and careful wrapping of Christmas packages is the theme of Postmaster Daniel Shaw's first warning in his annual campaign for public cooperation in handling Christmas mail.

"We will have additional workers for the holiday rush season," Mr. Shaw said today, "but unless the public helps by mailing early no number of workers will be sufficient to assure timely delivery."

Among details of mailing packages stressed by Mr. Shaw are secure wrapping of parcels in substantial containers reinforced by heavy cord, careful writing or printing of address, with return address in upper left hand corner and address of person who is to receive the parcel near the center, and placing sufficient postage on all parcels.

Avoidance of mailing later, announced by Mr. Shaw includes:

November 20—South Africa

November 27—Chile and New Zealand.

November 29—Ceylon.

December 3—Brazil, India and St. Kitts.

December 1—Japan.

December 6—Argentina, Egypt, Greece, Rumania, Turkey, and Uruguay.

December 10—Australia, Belgium, Cocho-Slovakia, Honolulu, Hungary, Spain, Switzerland, Norway and Italy.

December 13—Denmark, Germany and Panama.

December 17—England, France, Ireland, Scotland and Panama.

December 23—Cuba.

"Special handling stamps are particularly advisable, for the Christmas season," Mr. Shaw said. These stamps, costing 20c each provide insurance for parcels as is accorded first class mail. Parcels carrying special stamps get right-of-way, both in local post office and at the other end."

Salvation Army Corps Making Public Appeal

"The Salvation Army drive, which has been conducted during the past two weeks for funds to carry on the work for the coming year, locally, has met with but considerably of the budget necessary to properly conduct the work," stated Envoy H. E. Rolfe, of the local corps.

In closing up the campaign in the city the Envoy states that the results are encouraging.

"Just who will be enlisted to assist in the work is not yet known, but it is planned to launch this campaign the coming week and whoever calls on you, the writer will not turn the cold shoulder," says the Envoy, "but will give liberally as you can, as the need is becoming very apparent as the colder weather sets in.

"Calls are beginning to come in for warm clothing, overshoes and shoes, and in order to properly care for these unfortunate and needy ones we must have the funds.

"Let each one do his or her bit and we will then be able to serve you in your city."

Car Occupied by E. F. Ohm Smashed by Train; Unhurt

Elmer F. Ohm, former Thief River Falls resident, figured in an accident near Shevlin last week according to the following item in the Clearwater Record:

"Stalled on the Great Northern railway crossing about two and a half miles east of Shevlin and unable to go forward or backward on account of the drift, the Hudson coach belonging to Abe Parker, driven by Elmer Ohm, of Bemidji, was badly smashed about 5:30 Monday evening when a Great Northern passenger train struck it before the engineer could pull his train to a halt, after being sighted a short distance from the crossing. No one was injured in the accident, but the car was badly smashed up.

"Mr Patterson and E. F. Ohm, manager of Alexander Popular Price store, were returning to Bemidji from Grand Forks in the Ohm car when the car crossing this side of Shevlin the car became stalled in the drifting snow and it was impossible for the driver to go ahead or back out. While the men were working in an effort to free the car from the snowdrift they noticed a headlight approaching, and thought it was that of another car. Shortly afterward, however, they discovered it was the headlight of the engine and efforts were made to flag the train but it was too late for the train to be brought to a halt on the slippery rails."

TRINITY CHURCH DEDICATION IS WELL ATTENDED

Rt. Rev. Aastad, Veteran Pastor Here, Dedicates New Edifice Sunday Morning

PRES. BROWN, CONCORDIA COLLEGE, IS SPEAKER

Former Local Pastors Partake in Services and Discussional Sessions

Despite the inclement weather 800 persons attended the dedication services in the new Trinity Lutheran church Sunday morning. A large number from neighboring towns and communities would have joined the local congregation for the festive occasion had it not been for the heavy snowstorm Saturday night. The services were pronounced exceptionally impressive.

The dedicatory sermon in English by the Right Reverend I. T. Aastad of Belgrad, president of the Northern Minnesota district of the Norwegian Lutheran church, was an inspiring appeal for a deeper interest in religious affairs. His presence reminded members of the former Scandinavian Evangelical Lutheran congregation, which organized the Trinity church, of the time between July 29, 1896 and October 1, 1919, when he served as their pastor. He introduced the service in Norwegian was given by Rev. I. I. Lasseson of Bergen, former secretary in this district, who was pastor of the former Bergen Synod congregation from 1916 to 1919. Rev. Aastad, Rev. Lasseson, and Dahle spoke on "Christ and His Church—and Our Young People," making a strong appeal for faithfulness in Christ. A feature of the morning was a prayer service by Miss Mildred Evers, student at MacPhail School of Music, which showed exceptional talent.

Rev. Dahle and Rev. C. A. Stenjem of Crookston addressed the Tuesday night meeting for the women, and a solo was sung by Mrs. O. F. Melby.

Reverends A. E. Hanson of Stephen and Harold Jensen of Warren were present Monday afternoon.

More than $1,000 were contributed to the new fund and for current expenses of the congregation during the services last Sunday and November 21.

JUDGE WATTS WILL NOT HEAR CONTEST

Declares He Does Not Have Jurisdiction in Wefald Contest Case

With Judge William Watts refusing to hear the petition of Carl Wefald, ex-woman Knud Wefald's contest of the recent election in the Thief River district Wefald, Selvig was at their request strip nearer a seat in the legislature. Judge Watts announced the receipt Saturday of his certificate that he will not hear the petition, and the governor of Minnesota and incumbent, by the secretary of state events him a seat for the next congress as representative of the ninth Minnesota district.

Announcement was made Friday by Judge Watts that he would be ready for a hearing of Wefald's claim, the judge declaring he had no jurisdiction in the matter. It was learned by Attorney Attorney for Wefald, declared the contest is the property of the state supreme court for action.

Supporters of Selvig place little importance to Wefald's claim that Selvig violated the election laws in connection with the campaign literature he gives out in the immigration bill," says Wefald's attorney. "Mr. Selvig is not responsible for the acts of Wefald's move as an attempt to prejudice the minds of voters in the recent election in 1926.

"In a statement made by Martin Wefald, Wefald's campaign manager, he declares the circular to which Wefald takes exception, was printed entirely on excerpts from the Congressional Record and that Selvig is not strictly within his rights in publishing the record of this district's congressman.

"Mr. Wefald's complaint," Mr. Wefald's opponent to be sent out in an circular on the immigration law, which he claims misrepresents his position in this issue. That the circular states, over the signature of Mr. Selvig, that as a result of the passage of the new immigration law the number of Scandinavians who come every the United States in a year, after July 1, 1927, will be only 7,341, as against 27,342 under the law as it existed; the number of Germans to be admitted will be 22,118, as against the former quota of 67,674, while at the same time the British quota was increased from 77,342 to 91,210. This he holds is unfair to the Scandinavians and Germans and expresses the opinion that the quotas should be based upon the same proportions as in the former law.

"No mention or reference to Mr. Wefald is made in the statement that Selvig has sent out, and in which he states that in the future he has admitted the Congressional Record and will not be opposed the selection of excerpts from the proceedings of congress, as he has done in the past. They appear to several tabulations. The only reference to Mr. Wefald in the circular is where he calls attention to the fact that Mr. Wefald's vote in opposition to the immigration bill in congress. His contention is that some of the figures were changed as a result of the adoption of the conference report in the house and that Wefald voted against the conference committee of the house and senate and that he opposed the adoption of this conference report in the house. Wefald's attorney insists that what was said in the circular but what was not said."

1926 TAX RATE REDUCED BY 4.4 MILLS IN CITY

Taxpayers in T. R. Falls to Pay 103.5 Mills; 109.9 Mills in Past Year

Drop Principally in Real Estate; Rates in Many Rural Districts Cut

Taxpayers of Thief River Falls and many of the county rural districts are given pleasing news this week, if being announced by the county auditor's office that in most instances there is a reduction in the tax rate for the coming year.

A reduction of 4.4 mills in the total tax rate for the city of Thief River Falls is revealed in a comparison of the 1925 and 1926 figures, the rate in effect the last year being 109.9 mills, as compared with 105.5 mills which will be the rate on which the 1926 tax payments will be based. This comparison is made with the rate for former years, the figure for 1924 being 111.6 mills; for 1923, 108.5 mills, and 1922, 108.5 mills, showing a downward trend.

While the county tax has increased slightly on account of the extra appropriation for the construction of an addition to the Oakland Park sanatorium, the reduction is made possible by the increase of 2.5 mills in the amount required of the city as its share of the expenses of the state government, a cut of 3.3 mills in the rate for city funds, and a 1 mill slash in the school rate.

The rate in mills for Thief River Falls property owners in previous years, as well as the rate for 1926, is compiled as follows, with a comparison of figures for two preceding years:

	1926	1925	1924
State	10.2	12.5	12.5
School dist.	80.3	83.6	85.1
County	14.0	13.9	13.8
City	5.4	7.7	8.78
Total	103.5	109.9	111.6

In most instances the township and school rates thruout the county are lower than for the previous year, according to Deputy Auditor Axel Risberg who has just completed computing the rates in the various districts. Except in districts joint with Marshall county, which has yet submitted its valuations.

That there has been a considerable decrease in levies is evidenced by the fact that the rates are lower in spite of a $651,807 reduction in the assessed valuation of Pennington county property. Of this total $78,282 represents the reduction in Thief River Falls property, the remainder being in the assessed valuation in the rural estate, which is $573,526 less than in 1925 and $1,225,926 less than in 1924. Personal property valuation dropped only $47,418 in 1926 as against $467,752 in 1925. The total assessed valuation in the county is $4,350,400 in 1926, $5,002,207 in 1925 and nearly reached the 1924 figure of $5,576,326.

QUITE A CHANGE

Members of the younger generation may feel that the snowfall of 74 inches Saturday night is the "same" snowfall, but some of the "old-timers" are inclined to minimize its immensity. For instance, when the Times editor remarked about the depth of the snow Monday morning to Harry A. Brunsdal, local theatre manager, he smiled, saying, "That's nothing compared with the snow of '86."

And undoubtedly Harry was right, for he tells us that where he was working on a farm in western North Dakota the snow was fully six feet deep on the level and in places between the hills it reached a depth of from 25 to 30 feet.

That he found snow which had defied the sun's rays so late in the following June. In order to get to the barn it was necessary to build a tunnel from the house.

Nevertheless, they refer to the "good old days."

Here comes the season of the year when we search our failing memory in vain for the names of the folks who sent us those handwritten, engraved greeting cards last year; when we try to decide whether we should try to match the gift that came last year, and when to get our pestiness looks forward to the unhappy days and wee ken if he can hold out.

Pity the poor postman! Give him a chance to get thru another holiday season without becoming roundshouldered and bow-legged from carrying the heavy loads with which we burden him for it before Christmas.

Mail them early and not any more frequently than you have to. And remember, also, to wrap them correctly. Then Uncle Sam will have no quarrel with you.

It's entirely proper, too, if you want to make your friends and relatives real curious, to write on the parcel, "Please do not open until Christmas."

Grove Patterson, in the Duluth Herald, truly says: "We accidentally think that a man does not agree with us is wrong. The chances are that he simply knows more about it than we do. Listening is two things: It is profitable and it saves you a lot of trouble."

MOVES TAILOR SHOP

Phil Amon, local tailor and cleaner, who has been operating a shop at 212 Second street east, this week moved his equipment back to his former location at 113 LaBree avenue south.

Harry Amann of New Ulm, brother of Charles Amann, local clothier, steal near Kepler, Marshall county, was badly shaken up in a head-on collision on Trunk highway No. 75, near Courtland last Thursday. Mr. Amann and two other men who were returning from a hunting trip when they collided with another car in which was Miss Alice Malle, 19, freshman at the university, who was killed in the accident, and Mr. H. N. Thomson who was severely injured. Mr. Amann visited his brother here last summer.

$4 MILLION TURNS

A news addition to the local postoffice equipment is an electric canceling machine, flung away with the handstamp device which had been in use here since its installation in December, 1911. The new machine was installed in the old quarters a short time, before the office was moved.

It is estimated that during the the 25 years in which the old machine had been in service, approximately 24 million letters and cards were cancelled, the average being put at about 6,000 a day. This means a constantly mounting number of turns of the hand by postal employees. The new machine will be especially appreciated during the Christmas rush, having a capacity of 600 pieces of mail per minute.

APPLETON GETS 1ST PRIZE

With the combination of speed, brawn, and brain, which will be displayed in the season-opening basketball tilt with Roseau tomorrow evening, Lincoln seems well primed for the next lively inter-scholastic affair of which they can and are going to do as the season progresses, Coach Thune's efficient and straight methods of bringing out the best there is in Lincoln's veteran and "green" basketball material has brought results before and will this season. No doubt many Lincoln will be seen in the ring, about two more weeks of practice and in a regular fighting trim but from the two weeks' practice given the cubs Lincoln's three b-sidedness of Thief River Falls' local basketball form.

A look at the basketball schedule assures us that there will be plenty of thrills for basketball fans during the coming long season, because the opposition will be so keen that the Lincoln team will have to be at the peak the best they have to become District champs and to keep their record clean from defeat.

The Lincoln basketballsters will meet such strong opposition as Crookston, Northwest Aggies, Fosston in addition to last year's rivals Warren, Argyle, Stephen, and Roseau.

For two years we've been District champs and have come very close to the coveted Regional championship but the tilt at Moorhead, Minnesota. If the Regional championship and a tidy tussle for the state title is to be the student body will give the squad as much or even more loyal support than they gave them last year, the team is going to be just what we want—a real credit to the Northwest—and Red Lake.

OLD MAN FOOTBALL MAKES HIS LITTLE BOW TO YOUNG B. B.

Change in Schedule Brings Roseau Here Friday; T. R. F. at Roseau Dec. 11

Old Man Football no longer occupies the center of interest in the corridors of Lincoln High. The arrival of winter in full blast has witnessed the exit of the football season and the entrance of the basketball season. The chief topics of discussion among the pupils and even faculty circles are bent toward the district tournament.

With only two more practices Coach Thune's quint of boosters will bring out the best there is in Lincoln's veteran and "green" basketball material has brought results before and will this season. Prowler Staff Lays Its Plans for Dec. Campaign

Discussions on the "Ways and Means" of doing preliminaried at the Prowler meeting, Wednesday, November 24.

Among them was a substitute for candy sales. It was carried into effect this Wednesday in the form of a "hot-dog" and hamburger sandwich sale. The success of this experiment will determine future action.

The campaign for selling Prowlers will begin in December. The drive will consist in competition between the two lower and between the two upper classes with a party for the victors as an incentive.

In order to arouse enthusiasm among the students a "Pep" assembly will be staged by the staff in the near future. The committee responsible for the plan of the program is: Dorothy Shirley, Rita Stegerman, Byron Tharaldson, and Charlotte Kerstad.

B. B. QUINT NAME

Coach Thune has asked Lincoln students to contribute any original names they might conceive for this year's basket ball squad. The person who submits the staff suggestion will receive as a reward a season ticket for all the coming basketball games. The contest closes Thursday night and winners will be announced at the "Pep-Fest" Friday evening.

What this world needs is a shortage of long faces.

skillful line plunging and end running attack and a fast charging defense that allowed but few gains through the line or around the ends. Their goal was never threatened during the season.

Coach Thune's record for the season is a fine one indeed. Not only has he succeeded in developing a championship team but he has also developed a number of players who will be available for next year's team. Of the eleven men who have played in the majority of the games this season only three will be lost through graduation. Those three are Captain Wengzier, Center, Eriksen, Coach L. A. Thune.

Expressive Expressions Expressed

How do you like our new dress as a substitute for "Student Publish"?

What do you think about them?

"Senior Sun" believes it is the proper word. "Think before you speak." Watch for her discussion on it next week.

My Ideal Teacher or Student

Intelligence and humor-plus. Result: Perfection. To me they imply that my ideal is interesting, suitable, not conspicuously partial, possessing a creative and imaginative mind, and other innumerable desirable qualities. But can 'one human' approximate all these traits? Don't you think that after we are attracted to a personality, we attribute the desirable qualities to that person?

Ah! Yes, I doubt my consistency; today it may be one kind and tomorrow another. Are we all fickle? Ideals."

—Senior Sue.

It's on again! That lively, mad scramble for photos has been resumed once again in the halls of Lincoln. Once again—In the library hangs a large framed plate containing photos of the graduating class of 1915. Thirteen years have elapsed since that lively group of seniors decided to leave a memory of themselves via photographs. Since that day the upper classes have annually taken their places in Reference Hall. Why? Because, gee, this is a beaner, I want one of 'em!"

My Ideal Student

Hon. can you tell a real student? If, for instance, there is a certain student who gets good grades, who flits or all books and reads, and, in the event I could not find in the book, can you know for fact that he studies for into the night, could you call him an ideal student? Not by exceptional students, but generally speaking is by no means ideal.

"Ideal" has a far different meaning to me. Ideal student is one who studies enough to know what he's up to about, but who really learns to by paying attention to things. He has good qualification (not-flexible) time, and exercise outside out and will be shark in studying an ideal student need not be afraid of work, for he should be efficient enough to play his work and make it easy on himself.

To accomplish this, system is very important. I've noticed the pony system in studying, it is not necessary to deprive himself of pleasure and school nights. He can study and spends very little time on school work outside of school, but who spends that time profitably. An ideal student is never found among the boys who listens to everything that is said and asks numerous questions in order to get as much out of the subject as possible. Don't think that asking questions in class makes you appear "dumb." It is really only the bright, ext student who have questions to ask—and as one teacher said to her class, "If you're stu-fied, your brains will have lots of questions to ask."

—Danny Hoppa.

Sales Talk in Public Speaking

Since the Reserve began waging war on the gum chewing students, it is natural that someone should rise in behalf of the students and help them to chew without being caught. It is not according to the law of nature that we should bow down to the law of our schoolteachers.

To chew gum in school time is one pleasure, but to chew it without being caught is a greater one. The Wrigley Gum Manufacturing company has made a handy package especially for this purpose. It contains small ready-coated pieces of gum which can be held conveniently in your mouth, then packed under the chair in the usual manner, and a new piece taken. With so small a quantity of gum in your mouth there will neither be any noticeable bulge or sparkling, nor fear of detection by the teacher because of that. This package is especially suitable for the public speaker because it is cheap, three packages for five cents, less serious flavors like chewing-gum is easily concealed while making it distasteful from the oratorary type. It is for sale at all the places where candy and gum are sold, and I heartily recommend it, as I have never been caught chewing this kind, even by the best of teachers.

Each of the four members will debate the affirmative side of the question with a secretary in the cabinet. Each is one of the latest moves to aid power to the central government. STATE'S AUTO BILL NEAR $300,000,000

Read Cost Small Part of Total Paid for Motor Transport, Figures Show

How much do the people of Minnesota spend for automobiles and upkeep in a year? A quarter of a billion, perhaps more than $300,000,000 says a bulletin from the State Highway department, just received by The Times.

A fairly accurate estimate of the main items can be made from public records. The total registration up to November 20 was 824,000. The registration in 1925 was 547,500, but about 60,000 cars have been exported, junked or removed from the state. This means 113,500 new registrations this year. A few of these are used cars brought in from other states, but at least 90 per cent are new. The average price delivered is about $750, making $97,000,000 spent this year for new cars. Nearly every buyer pays a trade-in for used cars, other accessories, and about 75 per cent buy on time, paying interest and a brokerage charge. These items probably add $8,000,000.

The State Oil Inspector has complete reports on the gasoline brought into this state and used for automobile fuel. Using 24 cents as the average retail price, we find that motorists paid only $70,000,000 for fuel, including the gas tax of $5,000,000. Oil and grease probably added another $10,000,000.

Due to better roads, lower prices, and better quality, the cost of the rubber tires has fallen to about 3c. The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce has published statistics showing the average per car per year for replacement tires. The figure was $82 in 1919 to $31 in 1925. Allowing for a further reduction to $25 in 1926, and using the chamber's figures of $85 for repair parts, $45 for accessories and $13 for insurance, we get $181 per car or $76,250,000 per year for these items of upkeep. The high cost of fatal accidents, the high cost of fatal coverage, but allows for the fact that many owners carry no insurance.

Adding $9,500,000 license fees paid during the year, the above items bring the total to $267,150,000. It is more difficult to estimate such items as building and maintaining private garages, storage in public garages or parking lots, fines for traffic violations, damage caused by accidents, (partly covered in above figures on insurance and new cars,) wages of bus and truck drivers and chauffeurs, paint and incidentals. It is a safe guess that they bring the total above $300,000,000.

These estimates show that the license and gas taxes total less than 2 per cent of the annual motoring bill, and still including state aid, county and town levies, about 10 per cent of the money spent for motor transport," said Commissioner C. M. Babcock. "Whether a town or a county spends too much or too little for the roads which carry the local traffic, is a matter for each community to decide, but no one can plead that the license or gas tax is a hardship. These taxes are a very small part of the cost of operating a car, and the individual who wishes can cut his motoring bill by driving less or using smaller cars. Collectively motorists can reduce their annual bill by platting more economical, better roads. It will come back fourfold in reduced repair, gasoline and tire costs."

H. O. Herve, who is associated with F. M. Bishop and was recently elected county attorney, will take charge of Mr. Naplin's law office during his absence. Mr. Naplin also served in the state legislature during the 1919 and 1921 sessions of the legislature and succeeds C. L. Hansen, former, banker here, by whom he was defeated four years ago.

Glee Club Concert in New Church is Enjoyed

An enthusiastic crowd of more than 200 people heard the concert by the Glee club of the Luther Theological Seminary, at St. Paul in the Trinity Lutheran church Friday night. It was the first concert in the new church and, proved to be one of the finest programs of its kind ever heard in this city. It was an inspiration to hear 24 young men sing so beautifully from the master pieces of such artists as Bach, Mendelssohn, Wagner, Nicolai, Grieg and others.

To single out any certain numbers for praise is difficult since they were all sung in such excellent manner. "The Last Chord" by Sullivan and "Den Store Hvide Flok" by Grieg were perhaps among the most appealing. The Last Chord" introduced a baritone with a powerful and pleasing voice, Alvin S. Rosvold, former member of the famous St. Olaf college choir. The solo in "Den Store Hvide Flok" was also sung majestically by Mr. Rosvold. Oscar A. Syverson sang the solo in "Afternoon" by Hoag, which also pleased the audience greatly, the Norwegian group being especially appealing because of their clarity and beautiful harmonies. The concert was truly a sublime message in song.

The club evidenced careful training under the direction of John Dahle, who, however, did not take any part in the tour, his place being skillfully taken by Hjalmar Hanson, an undergraduate of St. Olaf college. Other St. Olaf college club director s Most of the numbers were given without accompaniment but when used Robert Wahlgren presided at the piano.

The fine acoustics of the new church added to the charm of the singing and simplicity of the singers. The concert was given under the auspices of the Trinity Senior choir.

During the intermission, Dr. Jacob Preus spoke on the subject of "Standing the retention of the fundamental truths as found in the Bible. "The Lutheran church-missouri synod," he said, "stands for

James Rogers

Word has been received here that James Rogers, 85, pioneer farmer, west of this city and former Thief River Falls resident, died November 24 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nell De Maris at Burns, Ore. Mr. Rogers, who was grandfather of James Walker of this city, settled here more than 35 years ago and made his home in this city for some time leaving 12 years ago. He was past master of the local Masonic lodge, of which he was a charter member.

Official Paper Pennington County

A Boston capitalist once met a man from a small city some miles away and soon found that he was so heavily convinced that his home town was the best place on earth, that the capitalist investigated. The capitalist wired the home town newspaper:

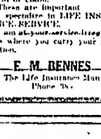
"Just rest one of your boosters; he is a wonder, and if your city is anything like him, I want to know more about it."

The lad to an arrangement that was of mutual benefit to the capitalist and the city as well.

It merely shows that a community will advance only when it is composed of boosters instead of those who pull back in the harness.

Every resident of Pennington county can be a real asset by saying something good about this community every time they are away from home.

You never know when your words may fall on fertile soil. If you are not enthusiastic about the advantages here, you can not expect new living elsewhere to be.



We must have a wholesome enthusiasm for the whole community and for the opportunities it offers others who may be induced to locate here, before we can hope for healthful growth and development.

"The Times joins in extending congratulations to members of The Progress staff for their achievement in the recent school contest, an account of which appears on the high school page. They are doing splendid practical work and are deserving of much credit. The Times takes pride in co-operating with these boys and girls in giving to the public an interesting review of school activities in Thief River Falls.

Ottertail, and Clay counties ought to be favored for lawyers. The fall term of district court in Clay recently opened Monday with a civil calendar of 238 cases, of which forty-six suits to collect taxes. Otertail county district Monday had a civil and a criminal calendar of 120 civil cases, the session being expected to consume two or three months at least. It is safe to say that many of these cases are hardly worth fighting over.

If the pessimists were all as bad off as they think they are, this would be a fine old world.

Many a man who thinks he ought to be the fullback on the team would only be a drawback.

"NORTHWEST ASSOCIATED"
(The Detroit Record)

Recently in the twin cities there was formed an association known as "Northwest Associated," and much literature has been sent out regarding it. Just what it plans to do is not quite clear in the mind of this writer, but apparently it is going to "boost" something, whether it be the hotel rates in the cities during state fair season; the advantages of Minneapolis as a milling center; St. Paul as a trading center and convention city; the cost of potatoes on the half-shell; the price of skimmed cream to the producer-consumer, or whatnot, is not definitely set out.

Perhaps we shall have drafted a new plan or program for diversified farming; a new breed of dairy cattle, a new kitchenette for the downtrodden farmer's wife; or some other dreamy, intangible, boost proposition which will bring us the millennium—if only the businessmen of the various small towns and villages will come through with the kale to keep the professional boosters "greased up."

Another "Hay West, Cub"—so to speak!

The editor of the Record is firmly of the opinion that the country, and particularly this section of the Northwest, has been boosted (?) altogether too much by the professionals, and we ask in all seriousness to be let alone for a while until we work out our own problems.

We have been located (?) by the twin cities and Eastern industries until we are now at the foot of the ladder—located as it were, and if we can't get above for a few years we may again be in shape to be "boosted" and located.

Something like the wounded soldier in the early part of the World War, of whom hundreds of well-meaning young women rushed over to make the supreme sacrifice by doing everything for the wounded soldier. One morning a soldier lady apologetically said to the nurse, "Beg pardon, ma'am, but you'll have to excuse me this morning; I'm hardly up to being myself."

So, Mr. Booster, please, please, please let us get our breath once in a while and give us a chance to accumulate another bankroll, and then maybe we can stand another "boosting!"

You know, deep down in our bosom we are inclined to believe that the isolated banks and general agricultural depression of the Northwest is largely due to many the Eastern business interests, and they now wish to divide the profits by helping the rural communities may be speeded up to continue the jazz era during the next thirty years! The rurallites are starting up in purchases and this is being felt by the big manufacturers of the industrialist who has been laughing up his sleeve when half of the "serious plight" of the farmer!

The farmer has worried some in the past, but the worrier of the future will be about over for he knows where he is at—the bottom! He can now sit tight and watch the Big Fellow squirm a little!

If "Northwest Associated"—can bring to the people a banking system in which they can place confidence; a readjustment of the tariff which will give the agriculturist a dollar of the same purchasing power as that on the tariff fed monopolies of the industrial section; a scale of transportation rates which will allow a margin of profit over production costs; and a system of marketing which will eliminate the horde of middlemen who perform no useful service but fatten on both producer and consumer, then we shall feel that this new booster organization will have merited its existence!

We do not need and emphatically do not want further extended credit, further blasting of transportation rates, nor further interferences with our affairs in any manner. What we do want is to be let alone and be given an equal chance with the rest of the nation's workers in our natural natural!

If everybody who thinks himself a genius, near-genius, who would like to "boost" work!

One of the joys of an old man is to tell the mean things he did when he was young.

REVIEWS CHANGE IN 9TH

In reviewing the recent general election, Charles R. Chenoy, political writer for the Minneapolis Journal, makes the following comment on the results in the Ninth district:

"The overturn in the ninth congressional district was about the most significant feature of the late Minnesota election. That a farmer-labor majority of 9,132 in the "landslide" republican election of 1924 should be turned into a republican victory in the off year certainly means something.

"The total vote of the district fell off somewhat this year from 1924, but the republican vote for C. G. Selvig showed an actual gain in all the counties but one. The exception was Clay county, home of Congressman Knud Wefald, which also happened to be the home of the republican candidate in 1926, F. H. Peterson. This year Clay county has found me studying at college and the greatest ambition of my life had changed from planted to doctor. After that, the life work that I dreamed of was medicine.—Finnora Ziegfeld."

"TODAY—Ziegfeld may be called a student of anatomy, but not in connection with medicine. He has a deserved reputation for being the best judge of feminine beauty in America, and in the possession of this power has made his "Follies" a reigning institution in this country.

Ziegfeld was the first to give American the form of entertainment known as the "revue," and which is so popular now as the standard one. He started the Follies 17 years ago and with each new annual edition it has received more acclaim and become the leader in its field despite the fact that so many entertainments of this kind are produced every year. In fact, Ziegfeld's case has been proven once more that the originators of any popular product remain first choice with the people.

The Follies was not Ziegfeld's first theatrical enterprise. It was he who exhibited Sandow, the famous strong man, to American audiences. Every line from this enterprise both for his charge and himself

"WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE"
BY JOSEPH KAYE

AT 21—Finnora Ziegfeld's Great Ambition Was to Become a Concert Pianist.

AT THE age of twenty-one I was the manager of the Chicago Musical institute, founded by my father in 1890, where all branches of musical art were taught.

"My ambition then was to become a great pianist, but soon this desire gave way to something very different. Twenty-three found me studying at college and the greatest ambition of my life had changed from pianist to doctor. After that, the life work that I dreamed of was medicine.—Finnora Ziegfeld."

"TODAY—Ziegfeld may be called a student of anatomy, but not in connection with medicine. He has a deserved reputation for being the best judge of feminine beauty in America, and in the possession of this power has made his "Follies" a reigning institution in this country.

WHERE THE FIRE'S BURNING BRIGHT
By FRANK L. STANTON
(In Atlanta Constitution)

SHELTERED from the winter,
Safe from the fury of howling delight,
Talking through the night.
He's telling all the stories
It heard so long ago
Of all the Christmastides
And the Old-Man-of the Snow.

Listen, little children,
To the tales the fire tells,
And soon you'll hear the music
Of the Christmas bells.

A wand of Christmas children
Is the friendly fold
And Santa Claus is coming
To see them, as of old.
He knows just where to find them
He brings them golden store,
Even to the humble dwellings
Of the children of the poor

Listen, little children,
To the tales the fire tells,
And soon you'll hear the music
Of the Christmas bells.

Good news is no news unless you can repeat it to somebody.

These Improvements are Important

There are two general classes of motor car improvements. Those made primarily for their effect on the public—and those made primarily for their effect upon the car.

You will perceive at once that Dodge Brothers new five-bearing crankshaft; two-unit starting and lighting system, air cleaner and other recent improvements, are the sort that represent genuine value.

They are sound and substantial betterments, producing definite and marked results, and as such they are typical of Dodge Brothers methods and product.

Provided Breakfast for Old Santa Claus

"DO YOU think Santa Claus will forget David at his house, that Santa is coming 'bout this time?"

"Why, not quite so early, son. A little later, perhaps. Still, if you tie it carefully, perhaps you can hear his bells."

Small David stood on tip-toe near the window and cocked his pink ears. "I think," he said slowly, "I think I hear 'em!"

The family rather forgot small David in the next half hour. There was much to do. But finally father looked up. "Where's the boy?" he asked.

David had disappeared. They searched about hunting for him in every room. Ma-David. Then some one heard a faint noise on the front porch. Father stepped out to see what it was. A small, square figure in very short pants was bending over something.

"Son," called father, "what are you doing out here?"

"Sh-sh!" warned small David. Father stepped nearer.

"See," said small David reaching up on tip toe to whisper. "See, I brought out a bowl of breakfast food for Santa Claus. He might get hungry."

Father gathered his son, grasped and pleased.

"That's the very first time I ever knew of any one thinking about Santa's comfort. Bless you, boy! That's it—right holiday spirit."

Next morning small David found a bowl empty and smiled.

Sebultz, farmer, who protested the widening of a road past his land. The town board's records had burned and Mr. Cermosek, who was the first clerk when Tabor was organized in 1883, was the only source of information regarding action taken by the board in the early years. Judge Wm. Watts dismissed the action.

His Christmas Dream and It All Came True

IT WAS—not a "beautiful little" during that his mother boosted at him and forgot what she was going to say, when she was about to give him a hotbox about putting his cats 'nit. And when he went with her to the hospital with a basket of flowers, and passed up and down the wards with a smile and a Christmas flower for every sufferer, they felt as though a angel had appeared again in it was in his own room at home that he had a dream home. There he had day dreams as well as night dreams. There he entertained "Mr. Bachelors," and "Betty Bookworks" and her brother "David." On the chimney shelf was a bunch for Santa Claus, and next it was a letter that registered a few of his hopes. "His two-eyed chocolate elephants rather than chocolate horses, as they gumoated to more. He reinforced with a white rabbit named Snow, the chipmunk skin that served as a rug for his carpet, built for the coming automobile. There must have been a redtail in the room, it was so full of happy thoughts and aches, faint sounds. "Listen," he said to Mr. Bach-elors, "I hear sleigh bells. I hope he rides, he's most here, Look, Betty, look there's the stars!"

And it was. That very night brought all that imagination had fostered and the Christmas day found the glorious light of Christmas morning.—Christopher St. Hazard.

And some shall not.

CHESTNUT DISHES

WHEN roasting chestnuts before the fire, always slit the small end so that they do not burst open too violently. A corn popper is a convenient utensil to use. Shake them over the coals until they pop open.

To prepare chestnuts for various dishes, they are all the same after having been placed in a frying pan with a small amount of fat, stirred until they pop open, then set in the oven for a few minutes. This takes the inner brown coat off with the shell.

Chestnut Souffle.

Blit one cupful of chestnut puree (prepared by boiling or roasting until soft, then until fine and smooth) with one-fourth cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour, cook with one-half cupful of milk five minutes, stirring constantly; beat the whites of three eggs until stiff, cut and fold into the mixture. Bake in cup souffle and serve with:

Cream Sauce.

Blit, three fourths of a cupful of thick cream with one-fourth cupful of milk, beat until stiff, add one-third of a cupful of powdered sugar and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla.

Chestnut Pudding.

Blanch a pint of chestnuts, halve and cook them an hour in a cupful of milk, letting them simmer until soft. Press through a sieve, add a half cupful of sugar, a little salt, vanilla and, a pinch of nutmeg. Beat three eggs, separating the yolks and the whites, add the yolks to the chestnut pulp, stir well, then fold in the beaten whites. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake three minutes. Serve hot or cold, with cream or custard.

Chestnut Ramekins.

Beat separately the yolks of three eggs, add three-fourths of a cupful of cream, a tablespoonful of melted butter and buffer with sufficient flour to make it thicker. Drop on a hot griddle and when well baked on both sides spread with chopped and seasoned chestnuts. Sprinkle with sugar and roll up. Serve hot.

Christmas Giving Is the Year's Opportunity

ONE stamped a sturdy exford: "Don't you dare say again you have to give at Christmas!"

Ellis Marsh grinned at his sister. "All right, Sherwin's the fool!"

Rose sat down and sputtered: "If you'd seen Joey and Betty Hogge last Christmas in their play suits, that I couldn't have given any other time of year, without Mrs. Hogge thinking it was charity! And what luck it was I could give Cousin Eleanor a vase for her room when she'd always taking me out in it."

"Um—m. I might give old flabby tires something for his car. She'd saved me a lot of dull hours on the train. I never could think of a way to do him such a favor."

Rose smiled a little triumphantly and went on: "Then there are the girls at school that I would lose touch with if there were no Christmas. They appreciate my little gifts and appreciate Christmas cards. I can tell you."

"Well, if you're so clever, tell me how to make it so in my stenographer, for keeping her late so many evenings."

Rosalie! Why, she'd be delighted if you'd get her a new typewriter. That would eliminate overtime and she could keep up her night school work."

Flip-top! And I'm going to give the kid that rodded for me last summer in the ribs to break to round out her life golf set. Then—Well, first, let's see that opportunity list you were showing me."—Frances Grinstead.

The City of Seen

In Holland the story of the city of Seen is told every Christmas. That wonderful place was famous for its magnificent herring, and also for its wickedness and shamelessness the day the whole city was swallowed up by the sea. It is said that every Christmas Eve the belle of the children of the submerged city are heard to ring again.

Christmas Eve

Christmas Eve refers to the evening of December 24. The word "eve" in its original form was "even," meaning "evening." Christmas Eve is the evening from the Jewish mode of reckoning the day as beginning at sunset.

PROPER FOOD FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

The age during which children are attending school may aptly be called "The Dangerous Age." It is the period of rapid growth and very care should be taken to insure the child of a normal and healthy body. The idea of eating only fit and wholesome food should be early impressed on the younger members of every family in order to protect them against later ill health and its accompanying unhappiness. If the utmost care is not taken in the diet that is used by children, cases of food poisoning, indigestion and kindred ailments may result.

And milk, being the chief item in the diets of most children, should be carefully guarded. It is, because of its nature, prone to infection if exposed to germs and may soon become dangerous to the health of those who use it.

Milk should be kept from contact with the germ carrying flies. Those the directors along lines of greatest need were followed, namely, continuing the use of phosphate, encouraging the growing of sweet clover and alfalfa, boosting for the dairy cows, and assisting all co-operative organizations. Following is a summary of the report:

Alfalfa Acreage Increased

"The Pennington county acreage of alfalfa was increased 15 per cent, making the total approximately 10,000 acres for the valley. Demonstration plots where sweet clover was sown showed a yield of almost double the quantity of flax and wheat.

"Pennington county is advertised by alfalfa tours, over the state, and Alfalfa Day celebrations held annually.

"Guernsey breeders of the valley held their annual sale in Thief River Falls, netting the association $8,674 for animals sold.

"Pure seed was secured from the Northwest School of Agriculture for 78 farmers.

"Sixty-five per cent of the wheat planted in the county was treated for smut in the spring of 1926, reducing the smut loss at least 50 per cent.

"Better Beef Cattle and Great Northern Club specials stopped here, demonstrating the value of better stock raising in this locality. Five fertilizer farmers present purchased different stock after observing these demonstrations.

More Sheep

"Sheep population of county increased by 1,000 head thru assistance given by the Credit Corporation.

"Local Guernsey breeders exhibited three carloads of livestock at the Red River Valley Winter shows, securing 99 per cent of the premiums offered.

"Pennington county holds the record for children and turkey show in north Minnesota. Approximately 600 birds were exhibited.

"Six farmers took up correspondence courses in keeping farm accounts thru the co-operation of the farm management department of the university.

"Clothing project enrolled 183 members, helped 476 others, making 2,576 short suits, 235 garments from guide patterns, as well as many made-over garments.

Hearings for Truck and Bus Applications Closing

The hearing of applications for certificates of public convenience and necessity under Chapter 185, Session Laws 1925, to operate a motor vehicle common carrier for the transportation of freight was begun April 20. On that date there was scheduled for hearing 39 applications for routes radiating out of the Twin Cities. Nineteen of these applicants are members of the Minneapolis-St. Paul Transfer. The application of the Murphy Transfer & Storage Company petitioning for routes radiating out of the Twin Cities covering a mileage of approximately 900 miles was also included in this schedule of hearings. Other applications for routes between points in other parts of the state numbered 60 and required hearings at Litchfield, Alexandria, Cambridge, St Cloud, Wadena, Red Wing, Chaska, Buffalo, Fergus Falls, Mankato, Preston, Winona, Detroit, Crookston, Thief River Falls, Fergus Falls, Pipestone, Worthington, Albert Lea, Rochester, Duluth, Hibbing and Virginia. Approximately 25 days were devoted to these hearings at the office of the commission in the state capitol, the out-of-town hearings requiring 42 days. Approximately 3500 pages of testimony have been transcribed by the reporters for the commission records.

The applications of routes are sought in these applications. But four certificates have been granted.

The taking of testimony in all these cases has been completed.

The applicants and the rail carrier objectors have been given to the number of 1,000 hours in the hearing of these cases. That time has also been set for the hearing of rate questions.

A very considerable part of the 3500 pages of testimony has also been given to the hearing of applications for certificates of public convenience and necessity to operate passenger motor vehicles on regular routes. Since noting the foregoing cases for hearings on April 20, 190 applications for passenger motor vehicle routes have been heard at as many different points thruout the state. To date the commission has heard 160 applications for passenger motor vehicle routes both freight and passenger.

DEMAND ABOVE SUPPLY

The Land O'Lakes Creameries association has experienced an unusual situation the last few weeks of having to go into the open market and buy back Land O'Lakes butter which went into storage last spring. The demand for this famous food product, produced and sold cooperatively by the farmers of Minnesota, has exceeded the supply although the association has been receiving full shipments from all its member creameries, thus making necessary the repurchase of stored butter to fill the current orders. This situation is served to bring out the fact that storage firms find that Land O'Lakes butter comes out as sweet and fresh as when first placed in storage. As a result, some of the biggest firms in the East are now contracting with the association for its cold storage. The member creameries of the Land O'Lakes association, which are divided into 17 districts, have been holding their district meetings which reveal sentiments very favorable to the association than at any time in the past. Each district chooses its own member of the Land O'Lakes board to manage the affairs of the big association, which is one of the most democratic organizations in existance, where the members have absolute control of its affairs through their local directors.

P. Lindahl, Hallock, is Among Minnesota's Master Farmers

Sixteen winners of the northwest district master farmer test were honored in St. Paul Nov. 27. They were entertained at a convocation and luncheon at the Department of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, and at a dinner given by the Farmers, St. Paul, at the St. Paul Athletic Club in the evening. At the evening dinner the 16 winners received a bronze gold medal, and each had a part in the after-dinner program which was broadcast thru the Gold Medal station WCCO.

Of the 16 who have won in this contest, 11 are from Minnesota and two from North Dakota. The list of winners is as follows: Minnesota—Thomas Hallaway, Claremont, Dodge county; Peter Lindahl, Utica, and Louis Spetla, Altura, Winona county; Peter Larson, Lake Wing, Goodhue county; H. H. Hillier, Browndale, Mower county; Herman Bubke, Newstrand, Rice county; J. W. Stevenson, and H. N. Muir, Winnebago, Faribault county; Floyd Lindsley, Gaylord, Sibley county; Carl Olstad, Hanska, Brown county; E. E. Bonham, Park Rapids, Hubbard county; Peter Lindahl, Hallock, Kittson county; F. B. Hutchinson, Floodwood, St. Louis county; Herbert Peterson, Chisago City, Chisago county. North Dakota—John Thelin, Devils Lake, Ramsey county; H. E. Bruns, Oriska, Barnes county. Half of the winners of the contest are graduates of schools or colleges of agriculture. A Master Farmer's Club organization was formed.

The movement for such contests is rapidly becoming nation wide. It originated with a similar contest in Illinois last year. This year in addition to the northwestern contest including Minnesota, North and South Dakota, state wide contests have been held in Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Nominations for the contest were made by neighbors who wished to give recognition to men who had served agriculture and their communities with distinction. The nominators furnished data as to the qualifications for the nominees as carefully devised score cards which called for ratings as to qualifications both in general and in detail. These score cards were then turned over to the judges—W. C. Coffey and F. W. Peck of the university department of agriculture; N. J. Holmberg, head of the state department of agriculture, and D. A. Wallace, editor of The Farmer. The nominees, who, on examination of the score cards by the judges, proved to be eligible were visited and qualifications were carefully checked up.

In the farm enterprises and qualifications of the winners of the contest have been disclosed some interesting facts in relation to farming in the northwest and it is the purpose of those interested in the contest to make these facts available to the public. Representative business men of the northwest attended the meet on Monday.

Northwest Minnesota Club Workers Take Many Prizes

The list of prize winners at the recent Junior Livestock Show in South St. Paul in addition to George Wilson of St Hilaire includes the following from northwestern Minnesota points: Louis Parada, Brooks, 7th, purebred yearling beef calf; Ernest Dufner, Warren, 11th, grade yearling; Ernest Hallock, Lith, grade yearling; Wayne Naugle, Ada, 1st, purebred calf; Royal Campion, Angus, 5th, purebred calf; Ernest Palmer, Gth, Hereford purebred yearling; Louis Parada, 3rd, Aberdeen Angus yearling; Wayne Naugle, 1st, purebred Aberdeen-Angus calf; Royal Campion, 3rd, purebred Aberdeen-Angus calf; Leonard Miller, Warren, 5th, pen of lambs; Milton Anderson, Warren, 11th, baron hog; Gustaf Lofgren, Warrenoad, 3rd, grower; Hardy Morrison, Hallock, 1st, ducks. The calf exhibited by Louis Parada is from the Parada herd which has been named several Pennington county fairs.

One of the 20 boys and girls of Minnesota to attend the International Livestock Exposition and Boys' and Girls' Club Congress in Chicago November 27 to December 4 as guests of the Minneapolis Journal is Howard Urtel of Warroad. Gustav Lofgren of Warroad is also attending. They were selected for excellent records in junior dairy calf work.

LAND SALE SETS RECORD

S. C. Bailey of the state land department, who conducted a sale of state land in Clearwater county at Bagley on Monday, reports one of the most successful sales held there in the past 15 years. Thirty-one forties or 1240 acres were sold at an average price of $8 per acre, amounting to $10,000, also paid up interest on 233 forties amounting to about $4000. Sales were made mostly to farmers which indicates a more stable condition than the lands and not be bought for the purpose of inflating the values. Mr. Bailey is very much pleased with the results of his land sales this fall which show the conditions in Northern Minnesota improving—Bemidji Pioneer.

DILUTION DEAD

Research Laboratory Develops Oil That Won't Thin Out.

Constant viscosity of oil in the crankcase, with no dirt, scored cylinders and damaged bearings on arch mornings from "frozen" oil before the engine warms or from thinned oil after it heats up, is the revolutionary discovery announced by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana in placing on the market a new and unique line of motor oils to be known as 180-VIS.

The new oil is unique in a really literal sense, for except that it is a petroleum product it bears no relationship whatever to other motor oils now on the market, either those of the Standard Oil Company or of any other company. Its preparation is based on what is known in the chemical engineering world as the "theory of equilibrium dilution"—which is almost as stunning in fact as it sounds—never still now applied to the practical manufacture of motor lubricants.

The practicability of such application after three years of intensive research was first reported by Standard Oil scientists to the Society of Automotive Engineers at their annual meeting last winter, and published in the February number of that society's official organ. Since then the commercial possibilities have received the unstinted attention of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) laboratory development, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Farmers' Special is a practical test by making use of the new oil in the company's great fleet of trucks and tractors.

Since the invention of the automobile, motorists and engineers have relied upon all motor oils as a mere compromise with perfection, for while virtually all the well-known oils used by the reputable companies possessed all the qualities that go into making of a good motor oil, there was not one that possessed a supreme fault, namely, that of being subject to dilution by the heavy "ends" of gasoline, particularly in winter. This left the emulsified mixture between the dirt and the deposit, as it is used, a heavy oil to counteract dilution, on a zero morning in the Standard Oil laboratories, and after five or ten minutes elapsed before the thinned oil could be pumped or drawn all into the pump and circulate it to the vital points of the engine, with dead batteries, scored cylinders and injured bearings often the result. To be used a light oil to prevent "freezing," but not good results for the majority or one hundred miles, when dilution would begin to thin the oil and the point of safety. It was a compromise, he used a medium oil, he had the difficulty of "freezing" and after dilution because of all six from which sand and soon thereafter had dilution thin like oil to the danger point.

The application of the "theory of equilibrium dilution" to the most supreme fault of all motor oils, Stripped of scientific verbiage it means this:

Oil in the crankcase can be diluted only up to a certain point. In the first 100 to 200 miles of motor travel nearly all kinds average operating conditions pick up about 10 per cent of dilutent. After that, while dilution still continues to enter the crankcase, it is drawn off by the heat of the engine. But an oil that has accumulated 16 per cent of dilutent has reached the point of equilibrium dilution and if it of all was light or medium to begin with, it has been thinned to the lower point. If, in the beginning, it was a heavy oil, after it had acquired the 16 per cent of dilutent it gave perfect lubrication, but during the 150 to 200 miles it took to acquire that 16 per cent of dilutent it gave imperfect lubrication, but during the 150 to 200 miles it took to acquire that

NEARLY $60,000 IN DELINQUENT TAX PAYMENTS

Back Payments Make Up Approximately Fourth of 1926 Tax Distribution

$133,375 DISTRIBUTED IN NOVEMBER SETTLEMENT

Tax Payments Reveal Improved Conditions in County, Officials Declare

Current tax collections between June 1 and November 1 in Pennington county totaled $127,607, according to the November tax settlement prepared by Treasurer John Gulligerud. The November distribution last year amounted to $123,375.

In addition to the current tax, the treasurer's office collected $59,768 in delinquent tax money, which together with the delinquent collections of $15,-515 distributed last March makes a total of $59,262 in back taxes paid up during the past year. This is the highest clearing up of delinquent taxes since the organization of the county and indicates improved financial conditions, court house officials point out.

The March settlement of $59,743 in personal property and delinquent taxes and the November distribution of real estate taxes makes a total of $237,605 in taxes paid to the Pennington county treasurer from November 1, 1925, to November 1, 1926.

Following is the distribution of the November settlement among the various funds, according to the treasurer's figures:

State revenue, school	1	12.119
County revenue	2	8,940
R. road and bridge	3	9,256
Ch. bond and interest	4	7,210
County sinking	5	1,888

Town, village, city	7	30,927
School district	8	46,690
General slitch	9	14,904
Total			$127,507

The November distribution last year included $8,868 for state revenue and school; $4,500 for town, village, and city; $26,870 for school districts, and $17,686 for general slitch fund, the other amounts being about the same as this year.

Of the $59,767 disbursed among the various county units, for township, village, and city purposes, Thief River Falls gets $20,526, as compared with $22,763 in November, 1925. The other cities receive payments as follows, with the amount of taxes collected in each township and village for all purposes given in the second column, the first column being the amounts for town purposes:

The sum of $55,264, or nearly one-half of the total, was collected in November.

In the distribution of school money, which includes local collections and state aid and apportionment, district No. 1 in this city benefits to the extent of $7,276, of which $2,160 represents current collections. Warrants totaling $9,262 in favor of the school districts of the county as follows:

It is interesting to reflect back to the first report of the Pennington county treasurer January 1, 1911, showing total tax collections for that 12 month period of $42,160. In 1916 the collections aggregated $156,297. The November settlement in 1919 amounted to $96,585.

St Hilaire village:
82	13.5	12.1
Goodridge village:
82	15.9	14.2

As noted in the preceding figures and those published last week, the village of Goodridge has the highest total rate, namely 15.9 mills. St. Hilaire village being second high with 13.5 mills, show an increase over last year. The reason for the high rate in these two villages is the high school tax. In those districts, the school rate in No. 82, Goodridge, being 6.7 mills, and in No. 192 it is 8.3 mills. In the Thief River Falls district, the school rate is 23.8 mills.

One rural district, No. 39 in Hickory township, has only the one-mill school tax, while No. 14 in Black River township has a school rate of 24.2 mills. In district No. 47, Deer Park, the total rate is only 39.9 mills, the lowest in Pennington county.

Although it is regarded as good policy to stay out of the way of most things, we are willing to be hit by a prosperity.

It is interesting to speculate on the effect of the new tax rates on the assessment of property in the various districts. Will the increased rates result in increased assessments? Will the assessors be more liberal in their valuations? Will the increased rates result in a reduction of the tax burden? Will the increased rates result in a reduction of the tax burden? Will the increased rates result in a reduction of the tax burden?

Pennington Man Serves On Special Committee Which Investigated Co-op. Ass'n

A report has just been issued by a special committee which has made an independent study of the various departments of the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., finding that the organization is honestly and efficiently working for the best interests of the association's 45,000 patrons. The committee, which was created at the July meeting of the directors, consisted of Stuart McLeod, Goodridge, president of the 17th district; Ole Rath, Easton, district 16; Theo. Hilpert, Bertha, district 7; Wilfred Zeimke, attorney for the association, and J. C. Thomson, appointee of the state commissioner of agriculture. They held many meetings at intervals during the three months' period preceding the October meeting of the directors.

The committee studied operations of the organization from five following angles: The relations between members, creameries and the central association; machinery and supply department; butter sales department; financing the association; and organization itself. Every thing was found very satisfactory, with steady progress being made, the executive committee of the association are summarized in a crop show in connection with the tenth annual poultry show in the auditorium January 4 to 7 at the agricultural college. Land O' Lakes brand of butter, the committee points out, is now distributed in 26 states, and the number of creameries affiliated with the association has increased from 18 to 70 in the past two years.

Nash Wills $90,000 For Public Service; Employees Share in $25,000 Bequest

Of an estate of more than $1,000,000 left by Fred D. Nash, Minneapolis wholesale grocer and operator of 100 branches in Minnesota, who died November 14, the will provides bequests totaling $90,000 for public service and charitable purposes, it was announced Saturday. Included in the bequests to charities are bequests to employees of the establishment.

A fund of $50,000 to be set aside for the benefit of projects and causes for the public good of the northwest" is one of the items in the will. It is requested that the fund be used in cities where Mr. Nash had business connections, including Thief River Falls.

Another item of the will provides for the division of $25,000 equally among all employees with five or more years of service in companies in which Mr. Nash owned at least 10 per cent of the stock. This item will affect employees of the 100 branch stores operated by the Nash-Finch Company, of which Mr. Nash was president. Several employees of the Thief River Grocery company here will likely share in this distribution.

Mr. Nash, who was 67 years old, is survived by his wife and three children, to whom the rest of the estate, including his home in Minneapolis, is left in trust.

Election of Sheriff In Polk County Contested

A petition bearing the signers of 2,000 voters of Polk county was filed at the office of the county auditor in Crookston Nov. 30, asking that the election held Nov. 2 be declared void, Sheriff Halbach, who was elected sheriff of Polk county by a three-cornered race at the recent election, nominated by petition, claims that Mr. Haaven had violated the corrupt practices act in circulating petition charges that Haaven violated the act in the campaign made by him during the campaign and in his campaign literature, and also in letters sent to members of the American Legion and other voters of the county in which the charges were made. Haaven denies any connection with the other candidates' campaigns.

The petition was filed by Attorney Ole Hanson of Crookston, and includes all of the names of those who signed the petition charging that Haaven violated the act in the campaign made by him during the campaign and in his campaign literature, and also in letters sent to members of the American Legion and other voters of the county, in which the charges were made. Peterson-Biddick Ships Many Thanksgiving Birds

The Peterson-Biddick company of this city handled approximately 70,000 pounds of turkey for the Thanksgiving trade, according to a statement issued by the firm. The indications are that an even greater quantity of turkey will be sold for Christmas trade, present indications being for a favorable market. Buying turkeys for Christmas was started this week and the various shippers are reporting a brisk business, interest in turkey raising is steadily increasing in northwestern Minnesota, declares Mr. Biddick, who has been in the business here for a number of years.

Arm Broken 4 Places When Boy is Hurled Around Shaft

Hans, the 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knudsen, returned to his home near the city Monday after having been confined in the Deaconess hospital since November 20 when he was caught in the machinery of a flour mill and broken in four places.

Hans was at the time employed in running a small engine and incidentally helping in the operation of the mill. His hands, having just come into the mill from the outside, were caught in the shaft, hurling him around several times, which resulted in the arm being wound around the shaft. Fortunately his companions threw the belt off the pulley at once, thus saving his arm being torn off. He was rushed immediately to the hospital during hospital where it was given medical attention and it is not expected that he will suffer any permanent injury.

New Telephone Directories Are Distributed

Approximately 1,500 telephone directories are being delivered in Thief River Falls and vicinity by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company. The present book is the December directory, the last one having been issued twice a year, June 1 and December 1, it is thought by the company officials to be unnecessary to issue books of this style directory. Under the present plan subscribers make their name changes, number appointments, etc., before the books are printed and delivered.

Considerable time is wasted, Manager Ferguson points out, when subscribers does not refer to the directory or does not know the telephone number and asks information. In order that the company may furnish the correct information it is impossible that the directories be kept available and used, since it is easy to transpose a number from memory.

SARAH SKIBICKI

Sarah, the 12-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Skibicki of Krat-ka, died unexpectedly last Thursday, death being caused by heart trouble, according to Dr. R. W. Froehlich, county coroner. Funeral services were held Saturday at St. Bernard's Catholic church in this city and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery, Father A. I. Smith officiated.

Poppenhagen in Line for Trip to Guernsey Island

A trip to Guernsey Island, near England, offered by the American Guernsey breeders' association to a member who has made the best record in the country, may be in store for Albert Poppenhagen, Goodridge youth who won first prize in his class with his grade Guernsey at the state fair last fall. His winning at the county fair gave him a free trip to the state fair, where he was given a free trip to the national show in Detroit, Mich.

In suggesting Poppenhagen as a candidate for the trip, C. E. Haaven, state club leader, writes to County Agent Ed Jerstad: "I want to say that we have boys in our state who have made outstanding records and we would like to have you report as much in detail as possible of the good club boy who has made the best record for a number of years in your county. Mr. McClure, president of the Goodridge fair has a good choice in Poppenhagen with other champions of the county.

Considerable feeling was stirred up in the election when Haaven ran against Sheriff Halbach for the office of sheriff of Polk county, the latter defeating Haaven by a majority of 1,000 votes. The petition also charges Haaven with spending $1,000 for which no accounting was filed. It is asked that the election be called and that both sheriff candidates be declared vacated.

Continue Hauling Gravel on 2 Surfacing Projects

Travelers of two Pennington county projects this week are complaining of the cold weather and the bad roads, the mercury registering 7 below zero Tuesday morning. It will take the force of the Elwell road two weeks to finish the job, according to Foreman Ivan Wyandotte. Highway Engineer R. F. Umlauf reports that less than three miles remain to be graveled of the Elwell road and that the force is expected to finish up the job before the end of the month. Foreman Wyandotte has a force of 15 men and a mile on the south end of the project to complete. The gravel is being hauled from the pit on the Elwell farm.

Considerable time is wasted, Manager Ferguson points out, when subscribers does not refer to the directory or does not know the telephone number and asks information. In order that the company may furnish the correct information it is impossible that the directories be kept available and used, since it is easy to transpose a number from memory.

CROP EXHIBIT COMBINED WITH POULTRY SHOW

Exhibitors of Farm Crops to Vie for Special Prizes Given by Merchants

BEST SAMPLES TO BE SENT TO WINTER SHOWS

Exceptional Long List of Special Awards for Poultry and Crop Winners

Encouraged by the splendid response of special prizes by the merchants of Thief River Falls, the Pennington County Poultry association at a meeting of directors here Saturday decided to stage a crop show in connection with the tenth annual poultry show in the auditorium January 4 to 7 at the agricultural college.

The awards to winners in the crop show will be made by the merchants' specials, of which there is an unusually large number this year. No money fee will be charged and the prizes used in the Winter Crop Shows at Crookston will be applied. However, a small fee for the poultry show and indications are that the number of entries will pass previous records.

The best samples of the various grains and other farm products exhibited will be saved for the Winter Crop Shows in Crookston in February, as in former years.

The annual meeting of the poultry association will be held at noon Jan. 7, during the poultry show, it was announced. It will take the form of a dinner at the Evelyn hotel for all paid up members, the association paying part of the expense of the affair.

An auction sale of exhibition birds, the closing day will again feature the show.

A number of judges from prominent exhibitors have already been secured by Secretary J. J. McCann, and indications are that the quality will show an exceptional increase this year. Those desiring premiums are requested to make their entries at the Liberty January 1 so that a judges' space may be provided.

Interest in the poultry show is increasing by leaps and bounds, according to Secretary McCann, and it is expected that the number of entries will be the largest in the history of the association.

Premium lists will be ready for distribution the first week in December.

Arm Broken 4 Places When Boy is Hurled Around Shaft

Hans, the 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knudsen, returned to his home near the city Monday after having been confined in the Deaconess hospital since November 20 when he was caught in the machinery of a flour mill and broken in four places.

Hans was at the time employed in running a small engine and incidentally helping in the operation of the mill. His hands, having just come into the mill from the outside, were caught in the shaft, hurling him around several times, which resulted in the arm being wound around the shaft. Fortunately his companions threw the belt off the pulley at once, thus saving his arm being torn off. He was rushed immediately to the hospital during hospital where it was given medical attention and it is not expected that he will suffer any permanent injury.

TAG DAYS REPLACE CHRISTMAS KETTLES

Once again the Yuletide season is here, the jingling bells and the "ring, ring, ring" when goodwill and "peace on earth" are the watchwords.

We realize that most folks are hustling around with last minute purchases to make before the "will laid tables; yet it must be remembered that there are many instances in which both parents and children are very, very unhappy at this time.

It is for this reason that the Salvation Army is busy at this time trying to locate these families and to plan a Christmas dinner and a few presents for the children. While investigation is going on, we would appreciate it very much if needy cases were reported to us by a friend or the family themselves.

The Christmas kettles will not be placed on the corners this year as has been the custom. All we need is help, but instead, what is known as the tag day will be used. When you are tagged please be as liberal as possible as at present there are many calls to be made after and many more are expected.

Two days will be known as Tag Day's in this city, Friday, Dec. 17 and Saturday, December 18 and 18. If you want to help bring cheer to the needy in this community on either of the days, please remember the Army.

ANNUAL REUNION OF H. S. ALUMNI DEC. 27

Members of Many Graduating Classes to Frolic at Soon of Norway Hall

Monday, December 27, has been selected as the date for the annual reunion of the Thief River Falls High School Alumni association, it is announced by Clarence W. Pope, local high school instructor and president of the association. The gathering will again take place in the local Norway hall.

Coming between Christmas and New Year's, it is expected that the reunion will attract a large number of more than 1,000 graduates of the local high school, many of whom are attending second, teaching, or otherwise employed in institutions of learning during the holiday recess.

An interesting program is being arranged, details of which will be announced next week. The high school band will attend in a body and render a number of selections during the evening.

This year is a national organization and not annual reunions attract from 500 to 1,000 alumni and alumnae from all parts of the country. Last year's reunion was held in Duluth, where the invitation to convene here was extended by Mr. and Mrs. Lund Hall, president of the local group. Farewell was also held during the 1926 convention, it is said, it likely will be held in the exact states to be selected.

Committees to make arrangements for the big gathering will be named next week, it is said, and complete details will be started shortly after the first of the year.

Mayor Kolberg and News were re-elected president and treasurer, respectively, of the local alumni group at the Thief River Falls Commercial club meeting last night. Jorgen Eide remains vice president and Miss Inez Borgen secretary.

A total of 40 members have been added to the list of the unit the last month, bringing the membership to 112. Many Fargo, Duluth, and other cities of the Northwest are represented in the group.

A shadow social in which the women and the children will be present is the feature of Monday's meeting.

Cold Spell Cuts Down Early Christmas Mail

Mailing of Christmas packages has been unusually light during the past week by the exact of extremely cold weather this week, the local postoffice reports. The coming week, however, is expected to see the postal work be more plenty to do, with the usual rush of holiday parcels and greeting cards. Postmaster Ralph Erickson urges that shop-mailing as early as possible to prevent congestion, and that parcels be packed securely enough to withstand rough handling.

Proper insurance of contents and accurate addressing is obvious. Legible writing in preference to artistic effects on addresses is urged. Care in inventing the name of the state will help the postal handling during the busy season, when every delay may mean disappointment. The full name and address of the sender, preceded by the word "from" should be placed on the upper left hand corner of every package.

TRONDERS OF U. S. A. TO CONVENE IN CITY

The date will likely be in June, the exact dates to be selected.

Committees to make arrangements for the big gathering will be named next week, it is said, and complete details will be started shortly after the first of the year.

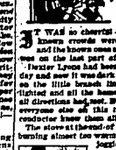
During the year of 1926, 1,200,357 tourists visited Minnesota, a gain of 209,640 over last year, according to a report of H. C. Hotaling, executive secretary of the Tri-State Tourist Association which was read at the annual meeting of that organization in St. Paul yesterday. Mr. Hotaling's report also stated that the tourists spend $71,272,800 in Minnesota during 1926 as compared with $50,872,560 for 1925.

This year the work of the ten Thousand Lakes Association has been watched with considerable interest inasmuch as the association conducted the greatest advertising campaign in its history, according to Mr. Hotaling, the campaign brought remarkable results and while many other sections of the country suffered losses as far as the tourist business was concerned Minnesota showed a big gain. A striking increase was noted in the traffic over this territory, hundreds of tourist cars visiting Thief River Falls the last year. It is apparent that the Jefferson Highway serves to attract many to this city, several tourists coming from distant points, who prefer to follow some national trail.

In this connection, Thief River Falls citizens should keep in mind the wonderful possibilities that Red Lake as a playground for Minnesota tourists. It is a fact that Red Lake with its thousand miles of sand beach, studded with pine forest is ideal for resort purposes, and when properly developed will undoubtedly prove the most popular place in the state.

Much has already been done by public spirited citizens here to open up this wonderland to the tourist, but the good work must be kept up until it becomes a reality. The person who instigated the first tour to Red Lake some six years ago and later organized the Red Lake Summer Resort Association, of which he has served as president, H. O. Mogensen, is deserving of much credit for his enthusiastic efforts in getting the project underway. It seemed like an impossible task but everyone have stood behind the idea was first launched.

If a newspaper should publish some of the best society in the community it would be entertained and the editor would be dropped out of the circle. Think a minute of the mean and low things you say about your townsmen and your neighbors and imagine how they would look in print. Don't criticise the newspapers for what they print, but give them great credit for what they don't print. A newspaper that sanctioned one-half the meanness current among the best citizens would be considered unfit to read—Deerfield News.



Fifteen violators of the hunting laws were arrested by game wardens under the supervision of Wm. Mundt of Crookston, chief district warden, it is reported. Mr. Mundt declares that in his opinion there was a larger number of deer killed and a greater number of violations of the law this year than in any other previous season he has known. He feels that the state has yet a long road ahead of it before real sportsmanship can be found among many of the men who go afield to shoot the protected wild life, and is to be hoped that the spirit of Izaak Waltonism will sweep over the state, giving its citizens a greater degree of true conservation. With the enormous influx of deer this year it is apparent that the saying that the "one book law" will again be reinvoked.

Old Bobbin is again coming into his own this winter season and the flivver will be given a chance. Here's a chance for some optimistic statistician to figure out the saving.

Here is a curiosity all our married readers will enjoy testing, that is, perhaps they can explain how and why it works out accurately: Add together the year of your birth, your age, the month of your marriage and the number of years married. The answer will be 3852.

The CHRISTMAS EVE HOME-COMING

By GRAHAM BORDER.

IT WAS so cheerful when the ordinary evening crowds were left behind and the known ones appeared. That was on the last part of the journey. Dexter Lyons had been in town all day and now it was dark and the lamps on the little branch line trains were lighted and all the home-comers from all directions had met. Everyone knew everyone else on this train and the conductor knew them all.

The store at the end of the train was bursting almost too warmly. The train jogged along. The car was filled with people, basic, substance, packages of all sizes and shapes and colors. The conductor took the tickets only as a necessary ceremony. He first listened to the interest was hearing how everyone had been, what they had been doing, when school or college began after the holidays, and then the business talk must be back in the cities. To everyone he wished a merry Christmas.

They had hurried so to make connections, they had scrambled and pushed through the great holiday crowds. But now they were all sure they would get home on Christmas Eve. After they got on this train there could be no missing of connections and the conductor had promised them they would be on time.

Out of the windows occasional lights could be seen in the farmhouses they were passing and in the streets of very small villages. But every house, no matter how separated and alone, was decorated. Christmas reached everywhere. It penetrated the traffic of cities and reached even to the most remote places.

There was a general chatter going on, a renewing of friendships, a talk between some who saw one another each other at this time of the year, who had different interests and occupations and lived in different lots who engaged this annual little talk.

Then the engine gave a long, long, long whistle. It was not the ordinary whistle of an engine. It was the way the engine always whistled on Christmas Eve, so as to carry word to the waiting families and friends at the little station at the end of the line that the train was doing its part to wish them a merry Christmas by bringing its load of people.

Dexter was out on the station platform. Oh, such greetings as there were. And then a rush to the different homes among the waiting carriages and our town children all tables and were muddy from replaced their shoes of chairs.

Dexter was surrounded by his family. And besides there was Nancy.

That made the home-coming perfect. For if you've him the hugs, the smooches promise that he would have his own, own home-coming before long.

Nancy would never have joined this family gathering on Christmas Eve when Dexter was just home, if she had not decided that certain matters be had taken up with her in letters were to be answered by answer!

"Oh, Nancy," he told her later, "it does, it does mean that you say 'yes,' doesn't it?"

And Nancy said that it did!

"He is telegraphing those flowers," whispered one of the women in line. "Isn't it wonderful what science can do?"

SWEET CLOVER AND TURKEYS

One of the farmers in the Highmesting lassilly has a small federal land bank.

A couple of days ago he forwarded there was an secretary-treasurer of the land association to the Federal Land Bank somewhat better than one thousand dollars to be applied on the principle of his loan. He was personally urging that the entire interest be paid with money from sweet clover and turkeys.

It did use a lot of good to know; that some are striking a little gold now and then. Guess I am passing this little Christmas cheer on to others.

It is time when so many wish they could quit farming this is a little bit of good news, even for those who have not yet either turkeys or sweet clover. Well, besides it can be duplicated by others, and maybe it has, for all I know.

At any rate I am glad to know it; and I say: "Good for you Matt."

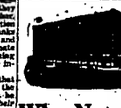
J. W. Black Gives Views on Bank Examining in Interview in Banking Magazine

The December 1 issue of The Ninth District Banker, the banking magazine of the Northwest, contains an interesting interview with John W. Black of Minneapolis, president of the First National bank of Thief River Falls, under the caption, "Has the Bank Examiner Become Obsolete?" Mr. Black has been a director of the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis for eight years and now it was decided to ask him to comment upon the subject of the day, namely, "Dealing with the entire bank examination with money from sweet clover and turkeys."

"I did use a lot of good to know; that some are striking a little gold now and then. Guess I am passing this little Christmas cheer on to others.



"It is time when so many wish they could quit farming this is a little bit of good news, even for those who have not yet either turkeys or sweet clover. Well, besides it can be duplicated by others, and maybe it has, for all I know.

"At any rate I am glad to know it; and I say: "Good for you Matt."

P. ENGELSTAD.

Mr. Black says that probably one coming these who owed closed banks would be a big help, not only in facilitating them, but in inspiring others again. He favors a law making it mandatory to publish in a local paper the names of all persons who owe money to a suspended institution. He would allow 30 days in which to arrange payment, and have the power of every remaining bank to undo court orders at the close of the 30 days. Depositors who sign these documents would make it their business to tell the neighbors about the property which the debtor might have that would make his loan collectable, and thus help him.

Extreme care has been used by bankers to prevent bank failures since 1920, Mr. Black says. Applications have been considered with the greatest of care, and failures have been due in almost every instance, to the purpose than in years prior to that time.

Why Not

AFTER you have worked hard comes pay day.

WHY NOT do something for yourself?

Save a little out of each pay check.

Then when the next year is over you will find that your earnings have worked, to—and for you.

More Value than the Price Suggests

In the year just drawing to a close the price of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars was materially lowered.

Yet during this period more important improvements were incorporated than in any year in Dodge Brothers history. Advances were made in engineering and body designs. The cars possess a greater degree of smoothness, silence and ease. They are more comfortable, more beautiful.

Current prices—made possible, of course, by constantly mounting sales—are therefore not an obvious measure of value. Prices in fact, have never told the full story of Dodge Brothers dependability and basic worth.

But now, more than ever before, there is far more value than the price suggests.

GOODRIDGE

There will be a basketball game Friday, Dec. 17, between the Oklee and Goodridge high school teams, providing the weather permits.

Christmas Party

The Goodridge ball was the scene of a very pleasant party last Saturday evening, when Mrs. F. J. Chester, Gregory Vaughan, Jr., Christmas Dance Orchestra and Miss Goldie Gilbertson entertained about seventy-five friends. The hall was very prettily decorated with Christmas trimmings and the tables which the lunch was served also had Christmas decorations, with a miniature Christmas tree forming the center piece with candles on either side.

Dancing and card playing formed the entertainment, a number of which were played in honor of the married guests. At midnight a delicious lunch was served. It is needless to say every one had a very enjoyable evening.

Community Club

All the different numbers for the stunt program are busy practicing, and all signs point toward one of the best programs given.

It is hoped for favorable weather so all the country people can come.

Remember the date, Saturday evening, Dec. 25, at the high school auditorium. A light lunch will be served. Everyone welcome.

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

ONE can't feel well when there is a condition of poisons evolving in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and languid. Other symptoms are sometimes backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many people have learned the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic when the kidneys seem functionally inactive. Every where one finds enthusiastic Doan's users. Ask your neighbor!

C. G. SELVIG URGES FARM LEGISLATION

Farming Must be Put on Parity with Other Industries, He Tells Kittson Farmers

Asserting that the "farmer's economic position is far from what it ought to be in a country possessing as great a natural resource and wealth and that business interests should lend a helping hand in restoring prosperity to the nation's agriculture, Superintendent C. G. Selvig of the Northwest farm school, Crookston, outlined necessary practical steps to be taken to improve their present condition in an address before the Farmers of Kittson County at the annual meeting of the county farm bureau association at Hallock December 3rd and 4 at which meeting the members of the farmed Kittson County Council of Agriculture also were present.

In his first public address before a group of farmers and business men since his election as ninth district congressman a month ago, he stressed what the farmers can do themselves to improve their economic position and also the interrelations existing between agriculture on the one hand and industry, our tariff policies, the price depressing effects of our crop surpluses and the difficulties in the way of organized effort on the part of the farmers, on the other.

We are sorry that some folks more fortunate than others must display the poor financial status of others on bulletin boards.

No doubt the system of getting ideas does paid by the bulletin board plan is merely a means to an end, but it also is an intrusion into the personal affairs of the other persons—in some cases a rather embarrassing intrusion.

If a student can't pay, his class dues, he can't and that's all there is to the question. On the other hand all those who possibly can afford it should help their class in that small way. But the idea is not a public question in any sense and their offensive work is something to brag about. Whispers are offered many shots at the basket as they were given during the past two games, considering the improvement in their accuracy, the game should have a successful ending in favor of Old Lincoln High.

Oh! Sammy!

Man, Oh Man! Will Christmas vacation never get here? I cant so sick of school that I could croak.

Hey you Sammy, Why worry over a little thing like that? Surely you don't let a little thing like school disturb your gastronomic region. You know you never talk a look home.

Aw! You're so awfully smart! Uh huh!

Say—just what are you insinuating? I'll stick a muffler in you Mr. Loudspeaker,... yes....Why...today I talked ten time in economics, English, and my blessed self.

Yes, you old, sil right. I'd sure like to know what radio and such hot air has to do with banking, Hamlet and Louis XVIII.

Oh the big hunk of cheese! Your line wouldn't catch a mosquito.

I hope you don't think you've got an "behaviour in the Schools," There is a reason—too—complicated to explain in detail. However, as small a paper as this should have a certain amount of intelligent readers. Who possesses to fall back on without resorting to crime—should have vicarious school life, this fall—should have originality enough to break away from the monotonous preaching story... Here's to bigger and better "ads" during the coming year.

HEALTH SEALS

These two verses are expressive of the spirit that should prevail during the near future Christmas seal campaign in charge of the grade children, beginning Friday and continuing until Tuesday:

Under the cross the Christmas seal
Rifts 'gainst disease its lance of steel,
"Health for All" is its slogan bright,
"All for Health" is its rule of fight.

Only a penny Christmas seal;
It gives to each the chance to feel
Its in the great work has a share
Though 'tis but pennies he can spare.

PERSONALS

Gertrude Steenerson and Kenneth Christie have registered for the second semester.

Hazel Tallewson, Progress editor '26, visited school Wednesday. He has just returned from Wichita Falls, Texas, where he has been employed the summer and fall.

Hazel Fricker and Florence Dunn was receipted, taking effect at the close of school for the Christmas vacation. Numerous applications have already been received to fill the vacancy.

WHIPPETS TO SHOW FIGHTING SPIRIT AGAINST STEPHEN

Friday Game Approaching Mid-season Should Show Better Form

The Whippets will be given a chance to show their real fighting spirit when they meet the strong Stephen high school team here tomorrow, Friday, night. Stephen has long been one of Lincoln High's strongest opponents on the basketball floor and according to all predications this year's aggregation is no exception.

Coach L. A. Thune has been giving his charges very strenuous practices during the past week in preparation for this game and has been producing much improvement in every department of the game. If Thune's labors have once break loose in their true form, Stephen will have little show of carrying home any of the well known side-pork. The Whippets' lineup is as strong and their style of offensive work is something to brag about. Whippets are offered many shots at the basket as they were given during the past two games, considering the improvement in their accuracy, the game should have a successful ending in favor of Old Lincoln High.

City's Schools Close for Christmas Vacation Dec. 23

Christmas vacation in the Thief River Falls public schools will commence next Thursday, December 23, instead of the 22nd, it was decided by the school board Monday. January 4 had been set for the return to classes after the holidays, but this has been changed to Monday, the 10th, giving a day to be made up later in the term. Non-resident members of the faculty plan to leave next Thursday night and Friday morning for their respective homes.

St. Bernard's Catholic parochial school will observe the same vacation dates.

It is expected that most of the rural schools will close next week for the teachers' vacation, altho some districts have longer periods.

WEEK-DAY RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION CHANGE

Grade Children May Attend Church Schools Wednesday, Friday After Recess

Commencing at the beginning of the second semester children in the fourth to eighth grades will be given religious instruction in their respective churches twice a week, on Wednesday and Friday after recess, instead of only on Friday afternoons, as heretofore. This change was made by the pastors of the city was granted unanimously by the school board in session Monday night when the pastors appearing to suspend religious instruction classes don't let a little thing like school disturb your gastronomic region. You know you never talk a look home.

Aw! You're so awfully smarti Uh huh!

Say—just what are you insinuating? I'll stick a muffler in you Mr. Loudspeaker,... yes....Why...today I talked ten time in economics, English, and my blessed self.

Yes, you old, sil right. I'd sure like to know what radio and such hot air has to do with banking, Hamlet and Louis XVIII.

Oh the big hunk of cheese! Your line wouldn't catch a mosquito.

I hope you don't think you've got an "behaviour in the Schools," There is a reason—too—complicated to explain in detail. However, as small a paper as this should have a certain amount of intelligent readers. Who possesses to fall back on without resorting to crime—should have vicarious school life, this fall—should have originality enough to break away from the monotonous preaching story... Here's to bigger and better "ads" during the coming year.

HEALTH SEALS

These two verses are expressive of the spirit that should prevail during the near future Christmas seal campaign in charge of the grade children, beginning Friday and continuing until Tuesday:

Under the cross the Christmas seal
Rifts 'gainst disease its lance of steel,
"Health for All" is its slogan bright,
"All for Health" is its rule of fight.

Only a penny Christmas seal;
It gives to each the chance to feel
Its in the great work has a share
Though 'tis but pennies he can spare.

PERSONALS

Gertrude Steenerson and Kenneth Christie have registered for the second semester.

Hazel Tallewson, Progress editor '26, visited school Wednesday. He has just returned from Wichita Falls, Texas, where he has been employed the summer and fall.

LOLLYPOPS, 'CONES MINGLE WITH GIRLS AT MIDDY PARTY SAT.

Games in Charge of Miss MacMillan are Enjoyed by "Reds" and "Blues"

Another social success was scored in the Lincoln High Gym Friday evening, when the "Reds," winners in the Girls' Volleyball contest enjoyed a "Middy Party" given for them by the "Blues." The losers.

The party was in charge of Miss Marion McMillan, girls' coach, who directed the many competitive games which occupied the greater part of the evening.

The girls wore their regular class outfits, middies, gym bloomers, and tennis shoes, as suggested by the name of the party, while any flashes of color were evident in the red tags worn by the losers of the contest.

In addition to the relays, two basketball teams, members of the official Red and Blue clubs, gave an exhibition of basketball for the benefit of the Freshmen, who had never witnessed a girls' basketball game. This resulted in a victory for the Blues. Every number on the program aroused much enthusiasm, especially the Elephant Relay, in which the girls traveled on the backs of their mates, and also the "Skin the Snake Relay," which was accompanied by much screaming and laughter.

Delicious "golf-ball lollypops" were served at intervals between the contests, while the affair was topped off by the serving of chocolate covered ice cream cones.

The girls are looking forward to another party of the same type after the basketball season.

Colonial Art Exhibit Is Being Viewed This Week

The Colonial Art exhibit, housed during this week and next in the Central school, is drawing the school and city population toward its fine educational display of some of the world's masterpiece in art.

Several of the high school classes have been given opportunities to see and study the pictures this week during the regular class periods, and the others will most likely view the exhibit next week.

In order to make the art study more interesting, and to make the appreciation of it more lasting, the fifth grade painters and the pictures themselves are being discussed in English work. Public speaking classes in the high school this week.

As stated in the last week's Progress the money received from the ten cent admission charged for admission will be placed in a fund to buy will known pictures for the permanent use of the elementary schools, Central Junior High, and Lincoln high school classes. In Lincoln the name of this year's class will in each case be engraved in a bronze plate at the bottom of the picture.

The public will not be able to view the exhibit until Christmas.

A Defense of the High School Girl

When I was a Freshman I once wrote a theme entitled "A Defense of Shylock," which was characterized as a heartless old miser, but now as a Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" in my theme, how I defended Shylock's many good points; and now, as a Senior, having heard the high school girls described, I am ready to defend them. I deserves me to point out some of their many points too.

Can we really deserve such a sweeping statement as some "popular opinion" gives us? Perhaps you can tell me which can be described thus; but is it fair to condemn the whole class, should be considered silly and frivolous? Are not exceptions are not groundless? I will not answer for you.

In one of the local stores there are a few girl clerks who went to high school last year, and who receive but a small salary. Because of their poor financial condition they have everyone (especially high school girls) against them. Take for instance a certain clerk. Mother said something about her bracelets in a joking manner. They laughed, and one replied: "Yes, my pa just loves me; and he doesn't use wearing them—would—be a needless advertisement especially if some of the high school girls knew it. They'd think it was a fad and all of them would be wearing them before they are." She gave me a knowing look as there, so I also threw her one in return

Red Lake Falls Men Nearly Overcome by Gas from Car

Repeated warning of the effects of carbon monoxide poisoning meant little to Red Lake Falls persons until a forceful demonstration of the effects of the poisonous gas was driven home last week. Arthur Daugherty, Hiago Peterson, and Jos. J. Uhrin of the Peoples Auto company and known to many here, suffered a partner escape from possible death by the deadly poison while engaged in sealing the ceiling of the garage. Two cars had been running in the garage the greater part of the day. The men had discovered their plight before they were helpless and were able to get out of the building before they were overcome.

Garages are not the only places where carbon monoxide, from the automobile exhaust, sets in its deadly work. Recently a Sandstone man and two hunting dogs were found dead in a closed car on the roadside. Appearances indicated that his radiator had been frozen, that he had got out to put a blanket over it and had gone to sleep in the car, with the engine running to sit and wait until the radiator thawed out. The wind was in such a direction that it drove the gas up through the floor boards and caused death in a few minutes.

The Baudette Region tells of another man who was overcome while in the rear of his car trying to push it out of a snow drift near his home. He succeeded in getting it into his yard and summoned medical aid. After working over the man for some time and slowly recovering, but if he had been alone there might have been a sadder story.

Persons riding in trucks with closed cabins should be careful to guard against carbon monoxide. To remain in a closed truck for any length of time going and the doors closed is almost certain death. The other hose cold it may be, the only safe way is to see that you have some circulation of air, whether it be from your garage, or in a car.

Another suggestion: check up on your exhaust pipe to see how new. A hole in the exhaust into the heater may be serious, but a properly constructed heater which covers a hole in the exhaust gases warm air, should lessen the danger.

GREEN AUTO TAGS NEXT YEAR

According to information received from the secretary of state's office the color of automobile license plates for next year will be changed. On plates for rare and bosses Minnesota will use a blue green letters on a white bottle green background. Trucks will be white with white letters on a Tuscan red background. Dealers, a background and tax exempts will be a yellow letters on a green background. Motorcycle plates will be white with a license plate with yellow letters on a green background.

ADDING MORE LAND FOR PARK PURPOSES

Council Appropriates $550 For Lover's Lane Tract Owned by Zeh Estate

The park board was given endorsement of its efforts to obtain possession of additional land to Lover's Lane for park purposes by the city council at its session Tuesday night when the city fathers passed a resolution appropriating the sum of $550 for 11-lots belonging to the Emil Zeh estate and which are a part of the park as now used under permission of the owner.

These 11 lots will give the board 33 lots out of approximately twice that many used for park purposes, a few having been purchased from time to time in the past. It is the intention of the board to continue to obtain the remaining land as rapidly as such steps warrant, condemnation proceedings in all probability being necessary in some instances. The park board is also endeavoring to secure title to the bed of land in Twodolph park, where the bathing beach is located.

There was little other business transacted by the council, three milk licenses being granted after approval by the dairy inspector, and the formal approval of dance permits to two applicants. The milk licenses were granted to Mrs. Emma Olson, Mrs. Anna L. Olson and Alfred N. Sonberg; and the dance permits to the sons of Norway for a series of winter dances, the Royal Neighbors for a dance in March, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Larsen for three dances in the Elks hall Dec. 22, 30 and Jan. 6.

Much Interest in Dairy Meeting Thruout Valley

It's going to be a great convention," declared Stuart McLeod of Goodridge, in commenting on the joint convention of the Thief River Falls and Red River Valley Dairymen's associations, to be held in Thief River Falls January 18-20. Mr. McLeod is president of the valley group, was the city last Thursday evening, when speakers will discuss co-operative marketing and the various dairy problems of the past year. Nearly a dozen row test associations have been formed in the valley counties this year under auspices of the dairymen's associations. This phase of dairying will be discussed by A. E. Hanson of University Farm, St. Paul, state supervisor of row testing associations, while H. A. Plughoff of the Northwest School, Crookston, district club leader, will "open" on club work in the valley and its influence on better farming.

Attending the meeting were Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Franklin, Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Bernard, and Dr. O. F. Malloy and Miss Ruth Dahl. They were in Dr. Franklin's car and report a pleasant trip, the roads having been opened by the state highway department's large snowplows.

USED CAR HERE

The Thief River Falls office of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company has the only one in the St. Paul district. The white car is operated by the service crew during the winter months, and is equipped for Russell reports. The storm and extreme cold have caused a number of cases of toll-line trouble a day in the district, the copper wire contracting from the cold. The car is a Dodge touring, however, Mr. Russell says.

Many a girl makes a fellow think she is interested in his welfare, when what she really wants to hear is his farewell.

MCMILLIN IS CITY

A. C. McMillin of Stable Marshall county commissioner, was in the city last Thursday on his return from War ren, where he attended the last 1926 meeting of the county board. Present at the meeting were State Senator A. M. Landby of Swift and Representative Ivy A. Green of Kingsbury, who appeared before the commissioners to secure their views and ideas on laws. These men will work out bills at the coming legislative session to revise the law regarding the repairing of ditches, which if passed will eliminate a large amount of expense. It is planned by the proposed bill to do away with the overhead expenses connected with ditch matters, such as viewers, legal work and fee of various county officers. Marshall county's board of commissioners will be practically intact when it organizes at the annual meeting January 4, with the exception of Dan Robertson of the Third district, who was defeated by Ole Torgerson of Stephen.

All the characters played their parts splendidly and every character bringing bursts of applause and laughter from the audience. The setting of the play was at a home located near a large insane asylum and the outcome of affairs was that all the people were adjudged insane by their relatives and friends. Another year is about concluded. To most of us it has represented a year of hard work—in fact often time difficult and discouraging—but during that time many tasks have been accomplished and the more difficult they have been the greater our pleasure in reviewing them.

No doubt the New Year now facing us will present its difficulties and problems as well, and we meet it with a clean slate and keen anticipation of whatever it may hold forth.

And So—

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Again The Times extends to all its readers the glad and greeting Christmas greeting of "Merry Christmas."

We wish to take this opportunity of expressing to you all our most earnest wish for, your happiness during this holiday season and hope that the Christmas spirit may continue through the coming new year. Let us join in rejoicing over the birth of Him who brought new life into the world.

The spirit of Christmas is a spirit of good will, of happy fellowship, and of joyous optimism.

"Peace on earth, good will toward men," was the message of the heavenly chorus to the shepherds abiding in the field. Some may look upon this as the message of the heavenly host brought a hope of peace and co-operation to the world; the Master, whose birthday we commemorate, gave to the world a vision of service for others, a realization in practical form of the unselfishness of a life lived for and with others. A knowledge that a world wide living of these principles can be a world of justice, humanity, co-operation.

If the rush of modern living let us pause and contemplate the real values of life. What are we here for? What is the object of our life? Through Christian lands the answer is found in the Christ who came to save the world for His kingdom.

Wouldn't mothers and fathers be happy if all the boys were as good all the time as they are these last few days before Christmas.

No one has been heard complaining that there isn't enough snow for a white Christmas this year.

A MATTER OF LOYALTY

All the many campaigns have been waged for the purpose of getting people to trade at home, judging by the amount of business that is taken away from Thief River Falls by out-of-town solicitors there is still need for further educational work along this line. It would seem that anyone who makes his living in this city would be loyal enough to this city to support it loyally. Institutions, which regularly help determine the growth of our city, as much as possible. If this support does not exist, it must need considerable booster to withstand the wiles and high-pressure methods of the salesman from outside towns. In our opinion it is shortsightedness which is responsible for many of the orders which are sent to business institutions outside of Thief River Falls. If this city is to grow and prosper we must do all that we can to build up Thief River Falls' business places, and that can only be done by patronizing them on every occasion that they can give satisfactory service.

The Red Lake Falls Gazette last week published the following editorial:

"Confessing a policy that has always been adhered to under the present management of the Gazette, that a paper should be said on its merits, the St. Cloud Journal Press issues some newspapers with subscribers by merit. The week sisters, usually classed as 'dippers,' feel it necessary to buy subscribers with premiums, and the like. Among the leading papers of Minnesota, enjoying the largest circulation are the Minneapolis Journal and Tribune and the Duluth Herald. They never resort to prize giving either, and this is the refuge of papers who can not keep up the pace. There are some very clever men who devise some publishers into the belief that they can do wonders in securing new subscribers, get the publishers to offer a long list of prizes, and then walk away with 25 percent of the proceeds, and leave the paper to struggle along with dissatisfied subscribers, who drop out after awhile and go over to the papers who give value received and more every day of the year. As evidence of this the papers including in this sort of frantic appeal find that they are slipping and they know no other way to hold it up except by giving away their profits to promote circulation.

"Subscribers gained through the medium of contests are not what we would consider valuable to the advertiser patron. Under the contest method the paper is in reality a vendor to gain a price and not for its value to the subscriber as a news furnishing institution. The paper which is gratuitously increasing its subscription list, directly on its merits, is the one we wish to the man looking for publicity."

"Highways and byways blocked with drifts, Canadian cars reversed due to the blizzard in an exchange. This may also be put down to the credit column for the present winter.

It is perhaps a consolation to some folks to know that winter did not arrive officially until Tuesday.

Sixteen days, 384 hours, and innumerable minutes of freedom, just because it is Christmas! What a pleasant thought! Sixteen days' release from the worries about Miss Nelson's phrases, e-books and all the other "specters" connected with school life. Many realize that, too. Others feel their thoughts with such things as semester exams, delinquent themes, make-up, and disagreeable things because it needs to be. But what I would like to have uppermost in my mind is the spirit of the New Year, of approaching new things, and of replacing those done poorly in the past.

I like to think of Christmas vacation as an opportunity to let out some of the "pent up steam," accumulated during nights at home studying, in the parties, talking, skating, and general recreation. (That's one thing I'm going away!) Vacation isn't the time to study lessons, but is the opportunity given a person to do the things he likes to do, to rest for further duties. Professor Owens told the students with some emphasis why they decided not to do it, and which team scored highest in each department of the debate. The speaker also told why the decision of nine points, including: matter of delivery, use of notes, use of body, constructive argument, rebuttal, and really enjoy making or hearing them. Tastes differ! Merry Christmas! and don't look for the moral in this little sermon!

Senior Nan tells you why she rejoices from arguing: Just because I argue, and enjoy it. If you disagree with her, express your sentiments, regardless of how conservative or radical they may be. Let's see if we can't give such a person credit for his ability to think—and what he thinks—sincerely of others.

Schools of County Close For Christmas Vacation

A number of the country schools of Pennington county closed last Friday for the annual Christmas vacation. There are a few schools in the county that will take only one week vacation this year, closing today and tomorrow, on account of either late starting or in order to close the term earlier in the spring. It is announced by the county superintendent's office.

Most of the schools arrange for appropriate Christmas programs and a Christmas tree for the children on the closing day before the vacation period. Several programs are scheduled for today and tomorrow. In some of the schools these Christmas programs reach the proportions of a community gathering as people living in the districts are invited to participate in the entertainments.

LINCOLN DEBATORS ARE VICTORIOUS IN MEET WITH ROSEAU

Prof. Owens of U. of N. Dak. Critic-Judge, Explains Basis Used in Decision

A spirited contest opened the 1927 debate season last Thursday evening, when the Lincolnites scored a victory over the Roseau high school debaters in the high school auditorium. A fair sized crowd attended.

After a prelude in the debate, Principal H. C. Hanf, chairman of the evening, announced the question and read the debate rules. The question for "Resolved, That a Department of Education be Established with a Secretary in the President's Cabinet." The Roseau team, Evelyn Price, Carol Hawes and Melvin Johnson upheld the affirmative, while the local debaters, Arlie Ayers, Chester Myrom, and Hilda Aasby defended the negative, and the local debaters, coached by Julius Ophein, made splendid delivery and displayed a thorn knowledge of the subject.

Professor James W. Owens, public speaking instructor in the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks, was critic-judge. While the decision as to the debate was unanimous, Owens told the audience that this opportunity was welcomed by the high school and middle grades. Two things which encouraged us in the prospect of looking at these pictures were that we would get to see persons work in the school, and second, it gave us the privilege of securing pictures for our school rooms. Many of the rooms in the high school have a unique lack except possibly a calendar. When we students let our thoughts wander of the lessons, and our eyes begin roaming around the walls, it is pleasant to have some interesting scene meet our listless gaze, rather than having it rest on the clock, stopping to speculate how much time there is left, or "haughty" countenances of our instructors.

Besides these benefits there are countless others. All have more or less artistic temperaments, but they need to be cultivated. It is because of this that looking at good, beautiful pictures helps to us.

It would be foolish to describe any of the pictures because almost everybody in high school went to see them, but I will say that everyone appreciated them.—Thea Saugen '27.

Most places that are nice to settle down in get that way because the inhabitants are in the habit of settling up.

Juniors Bow to Seniors in First Girls' Game

The first girls' basketball game of the season, played between the Junior and Senior girls in the preliminary to the Stephen game here Friday evening, resulted in a Senior 4-0 victory.

Although it is early in the season, the girls had not had much practice at shooting, they showed good defensive work. In the first half the ball passed back and forth across the floor with only a few attempts at shooting. The second half started with a basket for the Seniors made by Warnie Margaret Patten dropped in another basket for the Seniors, making the score 4-0. The fourth quarter was a repetition of the first half. The Juniors had several attempts at the basket but failed to score. Neither team threw a free throw.

PERSONALS

Raymond, Thomas, and Gilbert Gunderson of Red Lake Falls, have registered here as freshmen for the winter semester.

The general science classes visited the rural home during their class period Monday, December 13.

Gudrun Bevick has returned to school after an absence of a week.

Gladys Sorenson, a freshman, has been absent because of sickness for past a week.

Lois Nash '26, who is attending the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks, visited Lincoln Monday.

Ruth Sangren '26, science instructor at Medella high school, visited Lincoln Monday morning with her sister, Thea, '27.

"Bennie" Bennes '25, visited Lincoln Monday afternoon.

We all like pictures, like to look at them. But we cannot live in a picture gallery, nor is it possible for us to see good pictures very often. The Young Picture Company has given us an excellent opportunity to see good and beautiful pictures. I may freely say without haunting my conscience that this opportunity was welcomed by the high school and middle grades.

ROY OKEN CAPTAIN-ELECT

At a meeting of the football squad last week Roy Oen, halfback on the 1926 team, was elected captain for the 1927 season. "Roy" has a good record for running and general football skill, and it is expected that he will lead the team through another successful season like the past one. Ray Wenzeler, captain this year, will be the only man lost through graduation. Fourteen of this year's team will return. Another important matter of discussion was the football sweaters, which are to be made in natural, in blue, with the T. R. F. and stripes in yellow.

WHIPPETS WIN LAST PRE-HOLIDAY GAME WITH STEPHEN FRI.

Strength in Defense and Offense Accurate Shooting Feature Local's Playing

Stepping away to an early lead the Lincoln high school Whippets defeated Stephen High here Friday night 26 to 8 for their third successive victory this season.

Where, by clever team-work, Stephen scored the first basket shortly after the game started, it appeared that the Whippets were in for a tussle from the time. During the first quarter the local defensive work was rather ragged, and the Stephen boys were offered several opportunities to score by their shooting. However, they were inaccurate that they succeeded in scoring only one field basket during the entire game. The Whippets were somewhat confused by one of Stephen's plans, but soon "discovered" it, and prevented Stephen from further scoring.

Stephen scored the first basket by a short shot. Stephen kept the lead low while he was attempting a long shot from the center of the floor, but was unsuccessful. Then Wenzeler came back with his specialty, a long shot, and placed the ball into the basket. Stephen was unable to score again until Thief River had run up a 10-4 score.

When the second quarter opened, Stephen had substituted Soo Nelson for Johnson, and Fossum replaced Gowen for Stephen. Stephen failed to score shortly after Fossum's entrance, but after a few minutes next resumed playing. Fossum scored a basket from the center of the floor but Wenzeler came back with a long one from the center of the floor, increasing Thief River Falls' lead to 16-6.

Shortly after the opening of the second half Ericson scored on a free throw, Stephen's only point from the floor, for another tally, 9-14. Dahlow scored a long shot of a wide angle, and Wenzeler duplicated the basket from the center of the floor, increasing the score to 20-8. Another basket, Fossum scored again for the Stephen team, but Stephen was unsuccessful in making two free throws, raising the score to 4-17.

The final quarter opened with a bang when one of the Whippets scored a basket shortly after the game was on. Fossum replaced Stephen for the last time. Stephen failed to score. Ericson scored a basket, and Johnson added another point by a free throw. Coach Thorpe, Thief River Falls, substituted Stephen for Johnson, and two of the second string men, Carlson and Dan Dahl, for Wenzeler and Dan. Another counter was added to the score by Ericson, Thief River Falls.

The starting lineups were:

Whippets		Stephen
Ericson	f	Fossum
Johnson	f	Gowen
Wenzeler	c	Nelson
Dahlow	g	Hanson
Dan Dahl	g	Johnson

Referee—Thorpe, Thief River Falls. Umpire—Hanf, Lincoln.

Substitutions—Thief River Falls: Carlson for Wenzeler, Wenzeler for Dan Dahl, Dan Dahl for Carlson, Ericson for Johnson, Johnson for Ericson, Stephen: Fossum for Gowen, Gowen for Fossum, Johnson for Nelson, Nelson for Johnson.

Field baskets—Ericson 2, Johnson, Wenzeler 3, Dahlow, Dan Dahl, Fossum 2, Gowen, Nelson.

Free throws—Ericson 2, Fossum 2.

Score by quarters:

	1	2	3	4	Total
Thief River Falls	10	6	4	6	26
Stephen	4	0	2	2	8

Scores—Thief River Falls: Ericson 7, Johnson 2, Wenzeler 6, Dahlow 2, Dan Dahl 2, Carlson 2, Stephen: Fossum 2, Gowen 2, Nelson 2, Johnson 2.

Student Body Uses Pep Test to "Get Acquainted"

Friday's Pep Fest, conducted by Bernice Hoppe, yell leader, served as a "get acquainted affair" for the high school students.

Miss Hoppe mentioned the students' conduct at the last basketball game, commending them on their cheering and rebuking them once more on the right attitude to assume towards opponents, referees, and players on our team.

The program opened with the school's two pep songs and this ditty in honor of the Stephen squad, who were to be entertained by the Lincolnites during the assembly:

"Stand up—Stand up—
Our dear friends from Stephenville
Stand up—stand up!
Coach MacMillan, Captain Nelson
The senior and Junior girls' basketball teams would like to see the regular game. Because the girls have been the subject of much criticism, she strenuously accounted for their lack of ball form, which is due to the girls' rules and regulations. Miss Hoppe also discussed the rule which requires boys make a short shot now.

Some of the outstanding points were:

He is not a bully.
Does his best in his school work.
Does not throw side remarks.
Is a real sportsman.

To satisfy our curiosity, the Stephen coach gave an interesting talk, which resulted in an introduction to each individual in his team. To captain Nelson, the Stephenville sports writer "pulled a fast one" when he introduced him as the "Stephenville Swede." Nelson is a Norwegian.

BUS CO. GIVEN RIGHT

The Triangle Transportation company with headquarters in Crookston county agents' conference at the Crookston Commercial club Friday was granted a certificate of convenience and necessity to operate buses by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission. MANAGER OF 'OX' PAPER

It will interest many readers to know that Ole Heller, assistant at the Thief River Falls high school, is business manager of The Midwest Student, published monthly in Minneapolis by the Midwest Student Association. The managing editor is Frederick Van Gram. The magazine, the first issue of which was published in November, contains contributions from prominent students of the university, and is rather outspoken in its expressions.

Mr. Heller was color-bearer of the Progress during the 1923-24 school year.

H. WERNER'S WORK CITED

In an article concerning the state county agents' conference at the Minnesota Journal makes the following mention of Henry Werner, Mortenson county agent and former agricultural instructor in the local high school: "Mr. Mortenson and Henry Werner this year has devoted attention to clearing land for farming and has obtained 1,000 pounds of pyroil, manufactured from war explosives, which is simple to rid the land of stumps. He has organized two cow testing associations, started alfalfa, poultry, livestock and women's and junior club projects and is inaugurating an animal husbandry program that well be further developed next year."

PROWLER PIE SALE

Who says the Prowler staff doesn't know how to tempt the rest of us hungry students? At the Stephen-Whippet game the table cry was "Who wouldn't answer the call? An Eskimo pie is worth a nickle, but these 5-cent pie sales add valuable assistance to the newly Prowler fund—this time in the form of $3.50.

JOURNALISM

Editor W. P. Davis of the Grand Forks Herald, in addressing a session of the Northern Intercollegiate Press association at the Grand Forks Grand, said in part: "The fact that training in journalism plays an important part in educational work is receiving consideration and more recognition. We have evidence of the fact in the consideration of the N. D. A. C., which is extended by representatives of the journalistic work being carried on in the high schools of the state, which is now general and well organized and which a few years ago was not all fall at the Tell farm west of Argyle returned home on Saturday evening.

"U" Reports on Study of Student Activities

A study of student activities apart from studies at the University of Minnesota, made recently at the request of President L. D. Coffman shows, among other interesting things, that one third of all students belong to future organizations of some type and that earning money is the commonest of the "extra-curricular" activities.

More than 50 per cent of the students in the junior and senior classes are earning money towards their own support.

Women tend to engage in more activities than men.

Considering professional fraternities in the group, 49 per cent of the Minnesota students are members of a fraternity or sorority of some kind.

Upper classmen engage in more activities than do freshmen and sophomores.

There is also an increase in the number engaging in these activities in the junior and senior years as compared with the freshman and sophomore years.

Women are more active than men in literary activities and student governments.

Men are more active than women in athletics and music.

A larger percentage of men students than women students earn money.

In general, men spend more time than women in athletics, fraternities, and self-support, women more than men in religious activities.

New Decision in McEnally Action Against two Banks

Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren has handed down a decision in district court in the J. A. McEnally vs. Gamble and Nash suit of St. Paul and First & Peoples State banks of Thief River Falls case in which defendants appeal were sustained and action dismissed. The original action was brought to recover a judgment being ordered against the First & Peoples State bank for the sum of $362 with interest at 6 per cent from November 1, 1923, together with costs and disbursements. The St. Paul bank was brought into the action for the reason that a $7,500 draft of 30 days was granted and it is claimed that the bank will appeal the case to the supreme court.

The decision is important inasmuch as the duties and liabilities of banks are concerned relative to the collection of drafts forwarded to them for collection.

According to the findings of fact the Farmers & Merchants State bank of this city on Oct. 27, 1925, issued to the order of Peter Stebo his cashier's check for $7,500 drawn on the First National bank of Minneapolis by the Farmers & Merchants bank. Stebo delivered the check to Collier Bros. in connection with the American National bank of this city after receiving the $7,500 in cash. The check was dated October 23 and the next day was credited with the amount thereof. On Oct. 30 the check was sent to the First & Peoples State bank of this city where it was indorsed by the Nash bank and in the regular course of business did not reach the desk of the cashier of the proper officer until Monday morning, Nov. 2. The check was returned to the Nash bank on the following morning, Nov. 3, with a letter from the cashier requesting payment of the amount of the check, $7,500. The cashier of the Nash bank refused to honor the check and an action was brought against the defendants on the theory that they did not use due diligence in the matter of the check for payment.

The case was tried in district court here last February, G. Halvorson of Thief River Falls appearing for plaintiff, Peri W. Mabey and H. O. Channels of Thief River Falls and Oppenheimer, Dickey & Donnelly of St. Paul represented the defendants.

CHARGE AGAINST WM. STOCK IS REDUCED

Guilty of Gross Misdemeanor, Not Felony, Says Supreme Court Decision

A decision by the Minnesota supreme court reduces from felony to gross misdemeanor the charge against William Stock, Bemidji saleman, twice convicted in Pennington county district court for furnishing liquor to a minor girl. The opinion was written by Judge Stone and was filed Friday. Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren had sentenced Stock to serve two years in the penitentiary but the supreme court remanded the case with directions to vacate sentence imposed and reenience the defendant for the commission of a gross misdemeanor, which carries a maximum sentence of only one year in the county jail or $1,000 fine.

Stock was first tried and convicted in district court here during February, 1925, term. The supreme court however granted a new trial on a technical error of the court, and he was again convicted and sentenced to imprisonment last February. At the second trial the evidence was substantially the same as at the first. The last appeal was from the judgment.

The decision reads: "The indictment charged the defendant with having sold and furnished intoxicating liquor to a girl of the age of sixteen years. Read as a whole, it appeared with a certain degree of certainty that the gravamen of the offense was giving intoxicating liquor to a girl. . . .

"Chapter 290, General Laws 1911, forbids the sale of certain intoxicating liquor to a minor for consumption as a beverage. The penalty of the statute cannot be escaped by showing that the gift was made in a spirit of hospitality or good fellowship.

Subdivision (f) of Section 3225, provides that any person who shall sell liquor to anyone under twenty-one years of age, in violation of Ch. 136, G. S. 1923, shall be guilty of a felony. Ch. 290, G. L. 1911, provides that anyone who violates its provisions is guilty of a gross misdemeanor. After his conviction the defendant was sentenced to imprisonment in the state prison. He should have been sentenced pursuant to the provisions of Ch. 290, G. L. 1911, for the crime of a gross misdemeanor."

County Attorney Theo. Quale was in charge of the prosecution. The case was argued by C. I. Ivgaard of Bemidji.

Florida Orange Concern Fraud; Promoters Arrested

The Times, in common with practically every other new paper in the Northwest, last week published a small advertisement for "Acme Farms, Gainsville, Florida," offering fresh Florida oranges for sale. At the time the advertisement was received it looked suspicious, but lack of time would not permit an investigation and accordingly the same was run.

It now develops that the concern is a fraud, Sam S. Haislet, field secretary of the Minnesota Editorial Association, having investigated and notified all papers of the state of his findings. Later advices are to the effect that Nichols and Grimes, two of the promoters of the Acme Farms Florida Orange scheme, have been arrested and are now being held in jail in Atlanta, their bonds being fixed at $10,000.

Any Pennington county residents or other Times readers who have ordered oranges, as a result of the ad, are requested to call at the office and notify their bank to stop payment on the check, if check was inclosed.

NORTHWEST'S BANNER POULTRY SHOW OPENS IN T. R. F. JANUARY 4; CROPS ALSO TO BE EXHIBITED

Nearly $1,000 in Cash and Special Prizes Offered For Pennington Show

TERRITORY'S BEST TO BE EXHIBITED 4 DAYS

Auction Sale Last Day, Friday; Association's Annual Meeting January 6

Biddy and her flock will reign supreme in Thief River Falls next week, when the 10th annual show of the Pennington County Poultry association is held in the city auditorium January 4, 5, 6, and 7. Everything is in readiness for the event, which promises to be the biggest and best in the history of the association, according to President D. D. Bratlund, who points to the expansion of the poultry industry thruout this section in recent years.

Judging by the increased interest locally and the number of inquiries from outside points, it is safe to say that the number and quality of entries this year will exceed all former records, reports Secretary J. A. Olson, who predicts that there will be at least 600 entries in the 1927 show as compared with approximately 400 last year. Premium lists have been distributed thruout the territory and anyone desiring a copy may get same by communicating with Secretary Olson.

Indications are that there will be an unusually large and fine display of turkeys. Nearly 70 turkeys were exhibited last year but a large number of farmers have acquired flocks during the last year and have expressed their intention to enter one or more birds at the show. In order to insure sufficient coops, it is urged that entries be made by January 1.

An interesting feature is the cash and $400 worth of special prizes in cash and trade are offered for the best 100 business and professional men of Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire. A list of the men who will be awarded to premium winners by drawing will appear in the Times. The Thief River Falls trade territory has been pointed to as a favorable one for poultry raising, and it is expected approximately $400 in cash premiums will be awarded to the poultry winners by the association.

Awards in winners in the crops department will also be made from the exhibits of grains, grasses, vegetables, corn, potatoes, and other farm products, H. McCann reports. H. Benson will act as judge in charge of the crop show. The last samples will be received to be entered at the valley Winter Shows in Crookston in February.

An extensive egg display will also feature the show this year. Last year the silver loving cup awarded by Olaf Neset, president of the Thief River Valley Co-operative Creamery association, was won by Mrs. Oscar Brotta of Viking, and the same award will be the best.

H. G. Stevenson, Bemidji judge of the score card plan, while the crops entries will be judged by Prof. R. A. Dunham or Prof. E. R. Clark of the Northwest School of Agriculture. Judging of poultry will start Wednesday, January 5, at 9 o'clock.

The auction sale of birds exhibited at the show is to be held Friday, the last day, the 7th, at 1 p. m. This is an excellent opportunity to get first class breeding stock.

The annual meeting of the association will be in the form of a banquet at the Fenlyn hotel Thursday. Members will likely be addressed by the poultry judge at this time. Present officers are: D. D. Gustafson, president; H. Fuller, vice president; J. J. McCann, secretary; Chester Dale, treasurer; W. J. Jarvis, Olaf Neset, H. B. Thorstad, L. A. Warshall, H. C. Woodward, B. Bacon, W. Yonker, and G. Ose, directors.

Prizes for silver trophies will be awarded: First National bank, for best male chicken; First Peoples bank, for best female chicken; Olaf Neset, for best egg display; Sunnyside Poultry farm for best 5 birds of White Leghorn cockerel; Peterson-Bublick Co., for best hen; Thief River Falls Produce Co., for best male turkey.

An addition to the cash and trade prizes offered is printed in a 50-pound sack of International egg mash offered by the Bergstrom Co.

City Getting Ready For New Year's Day

Thief River Falls stores and other business will be closed all day Saturday in observance of New Year's Day, which is a legal holiday. In order to give people of the city an opportunity to enjoy New Year's day at home most of the stores will be closed tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock.

The post office will be open from 9 to 10 a. m. and 12 noon, and only completed delivery will be made in the morning by the city carriers. There will be no delivery on the rural free delivery routes, but the star route carriers will be out as usual.

As noted in the announcements appearing elsewhere in the Times, the churches of the city are planning New Year Wakes and special services on Saturday.

SPEAKS IN GRAND FORKS

Attorney H. G. Chommie gave the principal address at the Annual banquet of the Grand Forks Trondertag held last night. An elaborate program was given. Indications are that a large delegation of Grand Forks members will attend the convention of the national Trondertag in Thief River Falls next summer.

RUNAWAY TEAM STRUCK BY TRAIN IS KILLED

Preference for a railroad track proved fatal to a team of horses when they met the 8:00 passenger near Plummer Saturday night.

The team, owned by a farmer near Plummer, had apparently been left on the street, untied while the farmer was shopping in one of the Plummer stores, when they decided to take things into their own hands. Running south on the Soo Line track they soon relieved themselves of the rear end of the bob sleigh, as well as the box, and with only the front bob attached they met the passenger train from Duluth about two miles south of the village at 8 p. m. Evidently not cognizant of the traffic regulations in such instances the horses stubbornly refused to leave the track and were struck by the speeding train, which was stopped by Engineer H. Hoag after only a few yards. The animals were not seen in time by the train engine and were badly torn to pieces as they were dragged along the track. Inquiry as to the owner of the team was made upon arrival at Plummer.

A ten per cent dividend for creditors of the Farmers & Merchants State bank of this city, closed January 4, 1925, was authorized in a district court order issued Saturday by Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren. This is the first dividend to be paid to the depositors of this bank since the closing of the state banking department. Payment is made from the First & Peoples State bank of this city, which is acting as agent for the day by the department.

According to the petition filed by the commissioner of banks, A. J. Veland, the bank's assets amount to $152,916.96, represented here by John Bratrud, claims totalling $157,217.10 were filed against it, of which $152,916.96 were allowed as general claims. Claims offset as preferred amount to $6,000.41; claims withdrawn, $2,220.99, and rejected, $117.02. The bank had on hand when the petition was made $15,291.61, which is available.

RECEIPTS OF PARCEL POST SETS RECORD

Largest Christmas Mail in History Handled by Thief River Falls Postoffice

The Thief River Falls postoffice has set a record for parcel post business for Christmas mail; nevertheless, the employees gave patrons the usual excellent service, the huge quantity of parcels and greeting cards being handled most efficiently. The improved facilities of the new and larger quarters greatly aided the workers in performing their duties.

Parcel mail cleared at this office over last year's figures compiled in the office show. During the 13-day period, December 9 to 21, this year, a total of 1511 sacks were sent out, as compared with 1,000 sacks for the same period in 1925. This is an increase of 511 sacks, or more than a 50 per cent increase of 25 per cent in the amount of outgoing mail was noted over 1925. Approximately 1,000 sacks of parcels. The quantity of incoming parcels was also a considerable increase over last year.

Records of the postoffice show that the number of outgoing sacks of parcels for the period immediately preceding Christmas for the last four years as follows:

December	1926	1925
14	55	57
15	82	70
16	97	90
17	100	122
18	130	118
19	200	180
20	250	200
21	312	231
22	327	276
23	201	177
25	42	42

In the old postoffice quarters on Third street and a complete clean-up was made by the delivery force every night. All parcels arriving Christmas Eve had been delivered by 11:30 p. m., and the entire postal staff, including the carriers on rural routes were given opportunity to be home for Christmas dinner. The completion of delivery was made by the city carriers in the forenoon.

Postage stamps from December 1 to 24 amounted to $677.

One may get an idea of the immense number of greeting cards sent in this community when it is known that approximately 45,000 letters and cards were put into the incoming and outgoing mail during the five days of last week preceding Christmas. Nearly 12,000 were handled on the peak day. The average cancelling machine handles about 2,000 pieces a day, under normal conditions.

Plans have been completed for the annual Firemen's Ball, to be held in the city auditorium Friday night, January 21, which promises to be one of the most pleasurable events of its kind ever staged by the fire department. SURVEY SHOWS FARMERS ARE DIVERSIFYING

Wide Variety of Products Marketed by Pennington County Farmers

SEASON'S SHIPMENTS BRING IN LARGE SUMS

Greater Efficiency Thru Farm Accounting and Diversification Stressed

That Pennington county farmers have been on the job during the year just closing and that the productivity of this section compares favorably with the best, is indicated in figures compiled at Thursday's Commercial club luncheon by County Agent J. J. McCann relative to the county's crops and products during 1926. A careful survey of the various shipping points secured, as at least $3,500,000 was received for farm products actually shipped out, while a large portion left on the farm for feed, seed, etc., is not accounted for.

The products listed firmly establish Pennington county as the center of the greatest in the progress of diversified farming. Farmers here no longer carry all their egg in one basket.

Following are the figures submitted by Mr. McCann:

Sweet clover, 60 cars	$216,000
Potatoes, 2,000 cards, 10 cars	50,000
Turkeys, 40 carloads	250,000
Poultry and eggs	200,000
Hay, 41 cars	50,000
Cream	24,000
Livestock, 254 cars	381,000
Dairy products	900,000
Grain, value of grains and potatoes, was placed at $2,257,000, of which it is estimated $1,000,000 was marketed in the natural form.

The figures were compiled from reports of shippers and railroads.

As previously stated in these columns, Thief River Falls was the largest primary turkey market in the northwest, several carloads being made by the Thief River Valley Co-operative Poultry association, Swedenburg Company, and Peterson-Bublick Co.

The Commercial club's agricultural committee's office here this fall handled the most poultry in its history, according to Secretary Ivan Sorenson, who reports that 22 cars, 1,000 crates, were shipped out by the association. Approximately 60,000 pounds of poultry ex-

It is interesting to note that 87 out of 254 cars of livestock shipped from Goodridge, Agent O. C. Paulsen reports.

Carloads of hay still remain to be disposed of, it was pointed out. The county agent also submitted other interesting facts, that Pennington county has among other things—two thoroughbred herds of Aberdeen Angus cattle, the largest herd of Guernsey cattle in the state.

One of the largest and best poultry shows in the Northwest.

The largest county fair in northern Minnesota and one of the largest in the state.

Lady-Fingers, twice state champion Guernsey cow, owned by F. R. Cooke.

Mr. McCann pointed out that one of the chief aims of county extension work during the ensuing year will be the development of better farming communities among the young folks.

FAST BEMIDJI TEAM PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

Big Turnout of Fans Expected For Feature Game of Season; Locals in Good Shape

What is expected to be the season's feature basketball game will be played by the Thief River Falls boys on the local floor tonight when they meet the fast Bemidji quint in the third game of the season. Indications are that a large crowd of fans will turn out to see this game, which Coach D. A. Thorpe promises will be one of the best exhibitions of high school playing ever seen here.

The Whipperts were undefeated this season, having made a good showing and playing on their home floor may be able to turn the tables, according to Coach Thorpe.

January 7 the Falcon team comes here, according to the schedule.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

The year 1926 is soon history, and we are on the threshold of another New Year. The past 365 days have seen this community take another long step forward in development along various lines, and the outlook is brighter for the future. Not all have enjoyed happiness and prosperity during the year just passing, but it is safe to say that most of us have much to thank providence for and should enter upon the duties of the coming year cheerfully.

The Times takes great pleasure in wishing everyone a year brim full of happiness, with advancement spiritually and materially as the days pass by. The sorrows of 1926 are forgotten so—Happy New Year!

The fact that twelve in Pennington county for the coming year make possible another state fair, its jaysments, details of which appear elsewhere in this issue, is a conclusive evidence of the economical operation of the various units of government in the county in an effort to reduce the tax money. Everywhere one has taken the cry for tax reduction to which the tax levying agencies have responded with a retrenchment in appropriations and officials have curtailed expenditures wherever possible. The taxpayers of Pennington are fortunate in having officials of the conscientious officials in charge of their affairs and should give them all possible co-operation. It should be remembered that the citizens themselves make demands for the various governmental functions which naturally aid to the cost of operation and increase taxes.

Blighting remarks are often made about the idea of sending Christmas cards—a sort of necessary nuisance. But who is there whose heart is not warmed at least a little by the receipt of sheer Christmas time? Isn't there a little reminder of friendships which would otherwise perhaps be forgotten. And it is worthwhile to wish each other happiness and good fortune. It develops the spirit of goodwill, and in this old world of ours is by no means overlooked.

There is at least one time of the year when Thief River Falls may justly classed as a religious city. That is during the Christmas season. Then nearly everyone makes it a point to attend some church service or program, as is evidenced by the capacity audiences at that time. There is but another expression of the Christmas spirit—the desire to be in God's home. But why not let the Christmas spirit prevail throughout the year?

Says the Mahnomen Pioneer: "Our generally admirable chamber—and that can do something better than the rest of his fellows, but just what, champion coffee drinker, at Fergus Falls, is good for, outside of his tank capacity, is unapparent."

—Attend the Pennington County Poultry and Crops Show next week.

The world of business, like the world of social life, needs no regulation that only by paying attention to the needs of our neighbors can we gain good for ourselves.

How can we consistently blame boys for trying to be funny when that has been the aim of their dads at their lives!

The dangerous curves would not be marked if there had not been a fatal and his automobile over the ground before.

A community is not made by the number of square miles it covers, but by the number of square people who live in it.

Be careful how you distribute your advice because some day it might come back to you.

After it is all over, we will look back and wonder why we all got so excited about the election.

Friendly advice is good to follow, but always make certain first that it is friendly.

Kindness aim high, always blitzing at the man on top.

Honesty comes in two varieties—the real and the make-believe.

The average man is honest, or at least he thinks he is.

Live up to your word and you will never have anything to live down.

Greetings!

We extend to our friends and customers our hearty good wishes for the Holiday Season and may the NEW YEAR bring an abundance of Happiness and Prosperity.

NORTHERN WOODWORK COMPANY

A LITTLE PUSH— A LOT OF SLIDING

A movement has been started towards the establishment of a toboggan and ski slide in Thief River Falls. That there is an actual need for recreational facilities of this kind is agreed and it also appears that a suitable location could easily be secured along the river.

The only factor remaining—but the principal one—is that of personal support. What is needed is a bunch of live boosters who are willing to do a little pushing to get a lot of sliding. The matter was broached last week by Leonard Larsen, local ski enthusiast, who hopes to enlist other astonauts and get the "ball rolling." It has been brought to our attention that a small fund was raised some years ago which would form a nucleus for a sufficient sum to carry the project thru to completion. The expenditure of a large sum of money would hardly be necessary.

The winters in Northern Minnesota are long and should be made use of—at least more than at the present time in this city. Some towns are providing winter sports by means of skating rinks, which has also been done here in past years. This season, however, there is no organized effort to provide the community with wholesome outdoor recreation.

The Northwestern Health Journal, official organ of the Minnesota Public Health Association, in its January issue carries an interesting article along this line, entitled "Winter Sports for the Old Young and Incurably Infirm." It says in part:

"Let us not be afraid in all their exercising in the summer. As soon as cold weather begins they lead an indoor life and slow up their physical activities. In other words, they take on a healthy exercise three months in the year and then shut themselves up for the winter, sleeping down to a sedentary existence for the winter.

"They wonder why they don't feel as well in the winter as they do in summer. The trouble is they do not avail themselves of health-promoting winter sports, putting their bodies in bad weather as an excuse for neglecting exercise.

"Life, happiness, usefulness and even success are contingent largely upon good health. Good physical development is everywhere regarded as an asset of great value. Indoor recreation the entire year, regardless of season—offers—one—of—the—best means of keeping physically fit.

"Speaking of good health is an occupation that requires common sense, just as does any other successful enterprise. Certainly, both life and health are and live under artificial conditions simply makes a hothouse plant of a man.

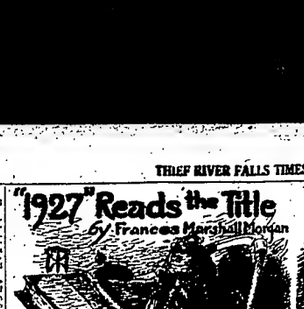
"All the summer is the outdoor time, winter also belongs to recreational sports. Happily there are indications that healthful winter sports are coming back into vogue. There are more skating rinks, better provided than a few years ago. More people, especially girls and women, are going in for skiing, snowshoeing, and tobogganing than in recent years. Nothing is more healthful or healthful than to shoot swiftly down a steep hill on a toboggan or a pair of fresh snowfall. Here boys are taking to ski-jumping than ever before and for older persons, the out-of-doors—one—of—the—best means of keeping physically fit.

"Skating, good health is an occupation that requires common sense, just as does any other successful enterprise. Certainly, both life and health are and live under artificial conditions simply makes a hothouse plant of a man.

"With increased playing or exercising keeps the body and mind healthy, serving as an incentive to maintain tolerance of social life. Indeed, the longs life and is conducive to a pain free, happy old age. You will find the health-glow in the man that actively wants to be, and this is obtained only by exercising consistently thruout the year, participating in any of many of the sports, games and exercises that are available.

"Let the sufferers facilitate such pursuits." —Thief River Falls Times.

YOUTH CHANGES ITS MIND



We do not hear it so often now, but remember when a boy used to be about a certain age, alone about the seventh or eighth grades, he said that he wished he could quit school—for as soon as he could get out he didn't like the teacher, or some other excuse he used to think the essential education was completed by the seventh or eighth grades. We guess we've changed our minds. But a genuine desire for education is evidenced by the fact that young people School is an attractive place.

Much of the cause for the changing condition is the recognition that education is necessary. Competition demands education. There are too many cases of education by any trade or business for the uneducated man, and not to be many possess unequal skills in the art of living.

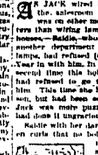
Education does not mean merely the ability to successfully carry on important in the life of the world and work.—Grand Rapids Herald-Review.

Fewer opinions and more facts would be a benefit to any of us.

THE dawn of another year—and we close the volume whose title page bears the legend, "1926" and replace it upon the shelf. It is dog-eared, now, smirched and outworn. Because they were read "too hard" some of the lines are dim—others show the blur of tears. Once so fair and spotless were its pages!

And the Moving Finger writes—on and on—endlessly—

To each new volume we turn with eager, outstretched hands. Our faces wear expectant looks. Our hearts beat high with hope and courage. 1927! What is stored between the covers of this new book? How much of joy? Of health? Is success written therein? How it thrills us to speculate on those absorbingly interesting matters—how brief will be the reading of these bright, new pages! Ah, me, if only we were allowed to linger a bit over some of the passages. Only too soon shall we reach the final chapter—and another book is done and the year ended. Yet—



Friends, may its memories hold more sunshine than of storm; more courage than faint-heartedness; may the faith seem brighter than you had thought—and the Grost Purpose of it all more steadfast and more sure.

AS JACK wired bridge lamps for the afternoon below his mind was on other more personal matters than those of the wholesale houses—Saddie, who—as—Saddie—in—Quarters—reputation for these same lamps, had refused to dance the New Year in with him. In fact this was the second time that Saddie had refused to go to a dance with him. This time she had given no reason, and had been evasive about it. Jack was quite puzzled than if she had done it ingeniously.

Saddie with her dark eyes, and golden curls that no bob on earth could make lie down in any sort of respectable fashion, looked anything but the industrious little soul proved to be.

No girl in the department could outsell her in skill, they all liked her, and no one in every one for that matter. Jack would have sidered her if she hadn't been pale to make but one smile a week. She always been ready to laugh and joke and go to parties with him until now. Still, Jack reasoned, she was just the same as always about everything but the dances.

The queer part of it was, to Jack's thinking, that he had called on Saddie last night and her mother had said she was out on an errand, but she hadn't said where, neither had she asked him to come in and wait for her. They didn't usually treat him that way.

Jack wasn't really downed. He wouldn't let Saddie's refusal upset him so. He'd do something different from just going to an ordinary dance and—something—and—Saddie—afterward. He decided to go to a girl friend of some forty winters to one of the literary Hoss presents. Unfortu-

After this, Spriggs, all unabated, presented himself at the display in the Little Boston Gift-Shop, and upon approaching the age limit set upon his office, "it won't be long now, Judge, and then you can be the way back and sit down."

Perhaps the most interesting advenure of the wonderful day occurred at the Robbers party. There he grew quite closely acquainted with Saddie, took his leave with a crowning bon mot. As Mrs. Robbers kept her ignorance from the latter, so she kept the amount of a rather severe indisposition, her daughter, Miss Robbers, had undergone, and to her he made his adieus: "Give my best regards to your mother, Miss Robbers," he said—and tell her that I hope that she will soon be down and out!"

Leaving with his landlady that evening, Mr. Spriggs heard from her that there are many queer people in the world. When he replied that this world undoubtedly continues to be the same since they first left the Ark, the good lady overlooked the implication and wished him good night.

Nothing daunted by Mr. Young's failure as a suppositor, Mr. Mrs. Spriggs proceeded to find his next victim, and to this end presented a New Year. On his way to Miss Bump's reception he fell in with Mr. Smallfry, Mr. Prissy's friend of many years, and still holding the office. Just he presently met out with Mr. Prissy's friend, Mr. Spriggs, "I see that the other church is about to lose its pastor. He's been for town only about three years and now has a call to Bigville. They don't keep a good man long in these towns."

Arriving at the Bump homestead just in time to be rather late, Mr. Spriggs again distinguished himself in his strategy to promote social fellowship by introducing a young lady friend of some forty winters to one of the literary Hoss present. Unfortu-

Nothing daunted by Mr. the slumbers of Mr. Spriggs. No ghostly confessions of an imported New Year's day seemed to stand accusingly about his bed. He awoke the next morning to put on the manufacturer of concoct with fresh assurances. He will fare forth on January 1, 1927, to confront new dependents upon the practicalities of society. But people will wish him a happy new year just the same. They know that he means well with it all and they take his mistakes as conditioned upon his environment with which we all desire to escape if we can. Spriggs, for one day he will laugh at himself, and although that would deprive us of entertainment it will do him good. If we could see ourselves as others see us, who would dare to be Pansy? And if we never did it would be monotony, and gives us at that variety which has been called the spice of life.

Protective organizations throout the state will at the coming session of the legislature likely be required to take enacted closing the season on deer for an indefinite period. The question of it is expected will probably be Cook, St. Louis, Lake of the Woods, Koochiching, Lake, Baltrasca, and Beltrami, believing them to be the natural breeding places for deer.

People will learn sooner or later that when money is refused for school purposes, it will be spent some other way—probably for reformatories and penitentiaries.

ALL INTERESTED IN FARM RELIEF INVITED

Committee Includes Businessmen and Farmers from All Parts of County

The Pennington County Council of Agriculture will hold its first meeting in the Commercial club rooms in the auditorium in Thief River Falls Thursday afternoon, January 6, at 2:00 o'clock sharpp (Attorney H. Halvorson of this city, chairman.

The Minnesota Council of Agriculture was organized some time ago, and since then a county organization has been created in practically every county in the state for the purpose of strengthening the state organization in its fight for agricultural relief that national legislation.

"The principal question before the American Congress today is the question of agricultural relief," says Mr. Halvorson, in a statement to the Times, "and there is no question but that this matter will present itself at every session of Congress until some satisfactory law has been passed.

"We maintain that the farmer is entitled to and must have prices to net him the cost of production, based on the American standard of living and a fair profit.

"He cannot exist permanently and buy on an industrially protected market and sell his major products at prices governed by foreign countries, in competition with the lowest paid laborers in the world and the peasant in Europe.

"It is fortunate that practically all the representatives in Congress from the State of Minnesota and adjoining states are in favor of legislation along the line of the McNary-Haugen Bill, which is designed to overcome agricultural inequality. If our representatives come from districts in the East and South where the people do not seem to understand the principles involved in the proposed legislation, it is

"From the vote at the last session of Congress it will not require a great change in public sentiment to bring about a passage of this legislation, but in order to do so we must create public opinion in other agricultural territories and to do so requires effective organizations in the Middle and Northwest.

"We hope that all business men and farmers who are interested in agricultural relief will attend this meeting. All members of the Pennington County Council of Agriculture will please be on hand and bring as many of your friends and neighbors as possible."

Members of the Pennington county group in addition to Mr. Halvorson are: Mayor W. W. Prichard, Jr., H. J. Bakken, O. G. Sorlien, Jorgen Elde, Emil Grebstein, T. M. Thoreson, Andrew Thveaton, Peter Engelstad, John Thief River Falls Times Thursday, Dec. 30, 1926

PENNINGTON YOUTHS MAKE GOOD RECORDS

Students From This County Take Prominent Part in N.W. School Activities

Pennington county has again been well represented at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, the past three months, and the students are now at home enjoying a short vacation.

As usual Pennington county students are making a good record for themselves. Arnold Askre, Thief River Falls, in addition to being president of the Senior class, was the student director of his class that won first place in the inter-class song contest December 22. Arnold is also a member of the student double quartette.

At the first-together banquet December 21, Vivian Olson of Thief River Falls received honors for having done some outstanding work in her summer home projects during the past summer. The honors, for the boys' work to Lawrence Letnes of Thief River Falls who won the silver trophy for the third consecutive time and now received it for permanent possession. Otto Naugen, Thief River Falls, won honors for work in animal husbandry.

Sophie Breiland, Hazel; Ralph Erickson, Goodridge, and Vivian Lund were also members of the Senior class song quartette that won first place. Those who were members of the Freshman class which secured second place were: Herman Beiswinger, Krafka; Lawrence Bonard, Goodridge; Melvin Hyland, Erle; Elinor Johnson, Plummer; Wilton Knutson, Thief River Falls; Lucille Lee, Goodridge; Ester Lee, Thief River Falls, and Lawrence Gronnslens, Thief River Falls.

Other Pennington county students at the Northwest School the past term were: Selma Bjorkman, Krafka; Mathilda Kotcha, Erie; Rose Kosalek, Thief Falls; Louis Lemay, Huot; Estelle Lindquist, Wylie; Julia Mill Creek; Anna Radzeski, Warren; William Vaughn, Goodridge.

The Northwest School had a record enrollment for the fall term and a large number of new students are expected to attend the three months term which begins January 3.

At their meeting on December 14 the university board of regents voted to build at the Duluth branch a physical education building for the Northwest School. When this building is erected it will be possible to permit the home economics department to take all of that building by removing quarters for the music department, which will present tremendous opportunities. Twelve additional dormitory rooms, enlarged facilities for library, and adequate provision for physical training for both the boys and girls will be secured. The state budget board will pass on the regents' request, after which it will come before both houses of the state legislature which convenes in January.

Congressman-elect C. G. Selvig, who has given invaluable service to the Red River valley as head of the Red River valley association, is also a strong supporter of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, the past three months, and the students are now at home enjoying a short vacation.

Church Programs Feature Christmas Observance Here

Thief River Falls had the experience of passing thru the Christmas holidays with no fires, serious accidents, or arrests, according to city officials.

The Yuletide spirit has predominated in the city the last week, with all the churches holding special services and programs, all of which were exceptionally well attended. The last program was held by the Presbyterian church Tuesday night. Family reunions helped make the season a happy one in many homes.

Santa Claus is busy tonight. The needy of the community were not forgotten Christmas day, the Salvation Army, in addition to a generous distribution of baskets and other gifts by the church organizations of the city. The Elks also distributed some baskets at Hall, Watrous, and Eagles Rest. Attorney H. Halvorson of the church committee and Ivan and Eugene Reed of the Salvation Army service and a team for the distribution.

Patients at the sanatorium, the county hospital, and inmates of the poor farm were also remembered by individuals and organizations.

How to Add to Labor Returns From Cows

"Profitable Dairying," a new agricultural extension bulletin written by W. L. Cavert and G. I. Hood, is largely a study of cost records of all phases in the production of 22 farms in Steele county where the returns per hour for time spent in dairying varied from 7 to 77 cents.

In reporting that the study point toward a higher return is to find the present return, authors of the bulletin list the following factors as of first importance in getting a return of 40 cents or more an hour:

Feeding in proportion to production, feeding adequate amounts.

Having adequate all season pasture.

Weeding out the poor producers. Effectively controlling diseases.

A reasonable overhead for barns and equipment.

Having cows that are sired by pure-bred bulls of high producing ancestry.

"High production and a high return per hour usually go together," say the authors. "The suggested goal is 500 pounds of fat a year as a herd average for specialized dairy herds, and 225 pounds a year for dual-purpose herds. The most profitable number of cows to keep will usually be determined by the amount of roughage (chiefly home-grown) that can be milked without much increase in the cost of hired help over what would otherwise be incurred."

This new bulletin is known as Special Bulletin No. 112. Use its number or its name when writing for a copy to the Office of Publications at University Farm, St. Paul.

Free Course Offered in Farm Management

Lessons are now available for farmers, it is announced by Mr. Halvorson, and correspondence course in farm management is being conducted jointly by the agricultural extension service of the University of Minnesota. W. L. Cavert, farm management specialist, will have charge of the course, in their order they appear in the paper.

How to take an inventory.

How to determine the cost of a year's business.

Lessons on the extension division farm records.

Estimating the value of farm products used in the home.

Study of the cropping and livestock features of the farm business.

Studying the relation of size of business as affecting profits.

Summarizing and interpreting conclusions from the records at the end of the year.

Mr. Cavert says 200 finished the series of six lessons last year. Actual instruction is not given but the lessons are helpful to farmers who wish to study their business. The cost is small. Those who desire to join the class. Scores of testimonials last year show that the lessons are highly appreciated.

There is no charge for the course, no outlay at all except the sum of 25 cents for the first lesson, after which can be obtained at the Student Book Store at University Farm. The lessons can be had by mail. Send applications to Mr. Cavert at the extension division, University Farm, St. Paul.

Mogensen Resigns As Head of Red Lake Resort Ass'n

P. O. Mogensen, president of the Red Lake Summer Resort association since it ran amation two years ago, has resigned his position as president of the association and has moved to California. The directors have called a meeting for the purpose of electing a successor. Mr. Mogensen has been a prominent member of the Association since its organization and has served as president at the time of his resignation. He is also a director, and all the good boosters in the association will be sorry to see him go. It will be difficult indeed to find a successor to Mr. Mogensen who will possess the same ability and willingness to devote the necessary time to the booming and promoting of the Red Lake project. The opening of a road to Red Lake and other improvements in the district are due largely to the efforts of Mr. Mogensen and his associates.

State F.-L. Conference In St. Paul January 17

A conference of the different religious organizations of the Lutheran faith in Minnesota has been called for Monday and Tuesday, January 17 and 18, to be held in the Labor Temple, St. Paul. Legislation is dangerous and in the interests of the people will be the program of the Farmer-Labor party in the next session of the legislature, it is reported. But plans of organization for future campaigns will have a large share of the attention of the conference, it is said, and all the good boosts in the state will be on hand for the meeting.

The call for the conference has been issued by the joint executive boards of the state central committee of the Farmer-Labor party, the Farmer-Labor Educational association, the Farmer-Labor League, the legislative board of the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, and the Minnesota State Federation of Labor.

Those who are invited to participate in the conference are members of farmers' and workers' co-operative organizations, such as farmers' clubs, grain trade unions, railroad brotherhoods, Labor and Progressive political organizations such as the Farmer-Labor association and the Minnesota Federation of Labor, and all others who are willing to have a progressive representation in the legislature.

The conference is not in the nature of a convention, it is given out. It cannot act on the matter of organization, but will recommend plans for the movement to follow later. Some tendency has exhibited itself to get the farmers and workers organized in separate groups somewhat on the order of things existing up to 1922. This will be one of the chief propositions to be dealt with at the conference.

STATE DUNNED FOR MOTHERS' PENSION

$9,000 Is Due Pennington County on Basis of Expenditures Since 1917

Pennington county taxpayers are awaiting with interest the action of the next legislature, which convenes January 4, in regard to the appropriation of sufficient money out of the state treasury for the payment of the state's share of the cost of mothers' pensions. In Pennington county alone this will amount to more than $9,000 at the close of the year, according to figures compiled by County Auditor T. F. Anderson.

The Ramsey County delegation in the house of representatives recently called on Governor Christianson, presenting the following resolution: "Resolved by the Ramsey County delegation, that a bill should be enacted providing for the appropriation of sufficient money out of the state treasury for mothers' pensions already due and to become due in the future, and that the secretary be instructed to forward this resolution to the Governor and respectfully to request the Governor to urge the passage of such a bill in his message to the Forty-fifth session of the Legislature." In Ramsey county this amounts to $380,000.

This measure, as an amendment to the general appropriation, will be introduced when the 1927 session in its closing hours.

That Governor Christianson acted on the request of the Ramsey delegation was the forecast of several Hamline university students in a current debate. The subject: Resolved, that there is against any appropriation for state aid to mothers.

As passed by the 1917 legislature, the state board of control was provided for the payment of pensions to dependent mothers, two-thirds to be paid by the state and one-third by the county. The bill, however, did not include an appropriation to pay the state its two-thirds of the burden.

Since 1917, Pennington county has expended approximately $27,000 in mothers' pensions. For 1917 to 1925, inclusive the total was $22,600.56, and it is estimated that the total at the close of 1926 will be about $27,000.

It is contended that payment of the state's share of the mothers' pension fund is direct obligation of the state and should not be construed as an increase in appropriations.

The following table shows the amounts paid for mothers' pensions in Pennington county annually, 20 sharing in the distribution last year:

1917	$500.00
1918	987.50
1919	1,750.00
1920	1,787.50
1921	2,250.00
1922	3,762.50
1923	4,000.00
1924	4,000.00
1925	4,317.50

GETTING UP NIGHTS

Member Relief In Nature's Drugless Way—Many Pennington Residents Write Effective Experiences

Getting up nights is nature's way of warning you that your kidneys need attention. Modern life with its drugs, its coffee, its alcohol, its smoking, its overeating and its sedentary habits, is a severe tax upon the kidneys. Doctors say that the function of the kidneys is to purify the blood by filtering out the waste matter. Failure of the kidneys to perform their work of purification may cause poisons to accumulate in the blood and make you feel tired, nervous, miserable, sick and discouraged. Backache, dizziness, rheumatic pains, headaches, sleeplessness, nervousness, burning, scanty or too frequent passages often follow.

Doan's Pills are for the kidneys only. Doan's Pills are endorsed by thousands of grateful users. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Ole Hanson, Thief River Falls, Minn., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble and backache. I was nervous and my kidneys acted too frequently. I was advised to use Doan's Pills and I got a box at the Peoples Drug Store. They relieved me of all my troubles and I have enjoyed good health since."

Stockholders of Closed Plummer Bank Assessed

The following item appeared in the Red Lake Falls Gazette a few weeks ago:

Judge Williams Watts of Crookston came here Monday to hold a special term of court in connection with the liability of the stockholders of the defunct Farmers State Bank of Plummer. He was accompanied by Court Reporter Chas. St. John and Attorney E. C. Nordstrom who represented the state banking department.

"The department petitioned the court for judgment against the liability of the stockholders at 100 per cent. The principal stockholders are Edward Pierson and Wm. Balderson of Humboldt, Harry F. Boeren and G. E. Hagen of Plummer. Scattering shares are held by farmers living in the vicinity of Plummer. None of the stockholders appeared in objection and the judgment was ordered. Judge Watts gave the defendants sixty days in which to pay their assessments.

"Houghton and Boughton appeared as attorneys for Pelatiah Reed of Thief River Falls who gave evidence that he had disposed of his stock more than a year previous to the failure of the bank and was therefore not liable for assessment.

"The bank was closed in August after the banking department had filed a petition of exchange of several thousands of dollars. Harry F. Boeren, cashier, was arrested and charged with grand larceny. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was given a state sentence of from one to ten years. He is now serving time. Oscar J. Hagen, assistant cashier, was convicted at the October term of court of grand larceny in the second degree and is out on bond pending the decision of the state supreme court.

Livestock Outlook Is Analyzed by Prof. Boss

Discussing the farm business for 1927 at the annual extension conference at University Farm, Andrew Boss, director of Farm Economics Experiment Station, said it was simply a matter of readjusting the proportions between the classes of livestock and crops that go to make up that income. Following are the suggestions he made:

Take included 600 bushels of corn, 200 bushels of oats, and such quantities of medium red clover and timothy seed as you can get. Also sponser for not over 2,500 pounds of 44 per cent cottonseed meal. You will be required to put up a net price of 32 cents a bushel for corn, 12 cents for oats, 10 cents for timothy seed, and 4 cents per pound for cottonseed meal wherever it is. Valley Winter Shows are at Crookston, and at Grand Forks, Jan. 10 to 14.

Small Game Hunters Must Report Activity by Jan. 1

Hunters who have not already done so are given this week a last reminder to make a report of the season's bag to the state game and fish commissioner.

Under the law hunters not complying with the requirements will forfeit their license next year. The law requires a report of all game animals and birds taken under every license issued. The law provides that licensees shall have such reports in the commissioner on the form attached to all hunting licenses.

All big game killed after November 20, all small game licenses expire December 31, so the small game report must be

FEWER CRIMES HERE IN 1926 RECORDS SHOW

Only 27 Arrests, 12 of Them for Drunkenness, by Police; 37 Drunks in 1925

41 CRIMINAL ACTIONS IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Judge Tarrant has Little to do Now Compared to Pre-Volstead Days, He Says

Altho it is claimed in some quarters that drunkenness is increasing under prohibition, this does not seem to apply to Thief River Falls. At least the police and municipal court records do not indicate that such is the case.

Of the 27 arrests by local police during 1926, only 12 are for drunkenness, according to a report by Chief A. W. Cronk. In 1925 there were 37 charged with being drunk, out of 49 arrests, while in 1924 there were 41 locations operated in the city the police records show, and 37 arrests for drunkenness, making the totals in recent years for time spent in jail. The low number was 21.

It is the opinion of Judge N. W. Tarrant, municipal judge, in Thief River Falls since 1912, that prohibition has influenced materially the lessening of crime in this community, basing this statement on his criminal docket and observations during his years service. Following are figures giving the total number of criminal cases in municipal court here during the last 16 years, showing a marked decrease since 1914:

1911—247	1919—41
1912—183	1920—33
1913—250	1921—45
1914—261	1922—46
1915—227	1923—46
1916—124	1924—56
1917—71	1925—74
1918—41	1926—41

Fewer Civil Cases

It will be noted by the foregoing table, the year just closed has been one of the most peaceful in the history of the community, but the decrease is reflected in the civil docket, which shows only 47 civil actions during 1926, as compared with 63 in 1925, a total of 88 in 1924, and 140 in 1923. Following is a list of charges and the number given hearings: Petty larceny, 2; grand larceny, 1; disturbing peace, 1; carrying concealed weapons, 1; assault and battery, 4; drunkenness, 12; maintaining a nuisance, 2; disorderly board bill, 1; having liquor in possession, 11; carnal knowledge of child, 2; operating motor boat while under influence of liquor, 1; contempt of court, 1; selling liquor to minor, 2; illegitimate child, 2; selling cigarettes to minor, 1; motor car violation, 1; intoxicated, 1; changing auto license plates, 1; driving tractor on highway, 1; assault in first degree with deadly weapon, 1; assault and larceny third degree, 1. One case was turned over to probate court, three dismissed, one nolle prossed, two quitted, and 11 were bound over to district court. There will be a grand jury for the February term.

The docket for 1926 shows the following arrests: drunkenness, 12; assault, 4; operating automobile without license, 1; disorderly conduct, 1; and miscellaneous, 8, the charges against which are given above.

No Comparison, Says Judge

"There is no similarity or comparison between the present and the old saloon days," says Judge Tarrant in reference to the time when he handled several criminal cases in a day. "I refused to issue

BUTTER AND OLEOMARGARINE

The following editorial in the Wadena Pioneer Journal is of interest to every dairy community:

"Dairying is Minnesota's largest industry. It has a direct bearing upon the prosperity of practically every community in the state. Every possible effort should be made, not only by those directly engaged in dairying, but also every citizen in the state, to foster and encourage this industry. Everything possible should be done to build up dairying and to stimulate the consumption of our dairy products here in this state and in other states of the union as well.

"We were in a local store the other day, when a prominent farmer who is reputed to be well fixed financially, receiving large cream checks each month, came into the store. Imagine our surprise when we heard him order three pounds of "nut-margarine." Just another form of oleomargarine that has a sort of attractive name. Suppose each and every citizen in the land should prefer "nut-margarine" to good, clean, healthy Minnesota creamery butter. Where would this man's cream check decline to? Surely he can afford to use butter on his table. His children owe it as much as the children in the rest of the country. It is as vital to their health as to any other children. There are some cases, surely, where a laboring man cannot afford to pay the prevailing high price for creamery butter and in this case, we have nothing to say, but we do know this man could well afford to buy and enjoy good, wholesome butter in place of a poor substitute.

"A successful creamery means a prosperous community and prosperous citizens, for butter represents a cash crop which returns a higher percentage of the consumer's dollar to the farmer than any other farm commodity. Why oleomargarine for butter when a person can well afford the latter with its wonderful food values, its health properties and its goodness over tallow substitutes?"

Some allowances ought to be made for the fellow who first tries a thing, even though he does make a failure of it.

Don't condemn the other fellow until you are certain you have not made the same mistake yourself.

J. A. JOHNSON SPEAKER

John A. Johnson of Preston was re-elected speaker of the House at the opening of the 45th Minnesota legislature Tuesday. Mr. Johnson's nomination was nominated by Frank L. Starkey, St. Paul, but Johnson was elected, 107 to 21.

Among those who voted for Starkey, nominated by Louis Rinquist of Malung, were J. O. Maby of Ukiah and W. E. Day of Bagley, representatives from this district.

John Levin, St. Paul, was elected chief clerk to succeed Oscar Arneson and C. L. Stevens, Warren, was named assistant clerk. George W. Peasley, Gwatanna, secretary of the Senate since 1909, was re-elected seats in this capacity, and C. Howard Spaeth, Ada, was again named his first assistant. Among the other employees retained in the Senate caucus was Martin Wilsden, Crookston, special assistant secretary. The appointment of approximately 25 committees will take up some time.

RUTH HOLSTEIN SIRE HERE

F. M. Berg of this city has recently negotiated a purchase of a purebred Holstein sire from Oscar E. Wilson of Wyandotte township for his brother-in-law, John Holmes, farmer south of Wedgeer.—The animal was shipped Wednesday of last week. Mr. Holmes is building up a dairy herd and the fact that the sire was obtained here again demonstrates the desirability of Pennington county cattle. Mr. Wilson states that he has all several animals from his fine herd as a result of T. B. tests, mostly for shipping. The thus fall.

DEMURRER TO BE ARGUED

Heads Pennington County's Schools

Geo. M. Gunderson

He hardly needs an introduction to Pennington county citizens, having served as county superintendent of schools one term previous to his election last fall. Coming here in 1901 from Grand Forks, he homesteaded five miles east of this city. Later he returned and taught school in North Dakota, moving back to this county 15 years ago, since which time he has been engaged in teaching, four years in this county and one year at a Crookston business college, farming, county superintendent from 1918 to 1922, and lately representative of the First NeNess Company of Freeport, Ill. He does not expect to move his family to Thief River Falls from the farm until in the spring. During his previous service as superintendent Mr. Gunderson worked hard for the advancement of the county's rural schools.

SELVIG DISCUSSES FARM LEGISLATION

Congressman-Elect Gives View-point on Much Discussed Proposals for Relief

Congressman-elect C. G. Selvig of Crookston in a recent address regarding farm prospects for 1927 expressed himself in very positive terms regarding the present farm situation. The readers of The Times will be interested in the views expressed in an abstract of the address which follows:

"Metes-setting is reported as a holiday pastime in some parts of our country. In the great Mid-west which produces a large part of our food and raw products, there are not even metes-yields in sight. There the farmers find it necessary to work longer hours, to cause their families to endure unreasonably arduous labor and to reduce to the smallest minimum all excepting absolutely necessary expenses, in order to stave off failure.

"Not a pleasant prospect for 1927 to say the least.

"One third of our population is out of adjustment with the other two thirds. No one denies this condition. Many years ago with the passing of the years that this mal-adjustment would remedy itself, that the industrial-ists-led and taught school in North last every would merge with the agricultural-rural level. But this has not yet taken place.

"When the agitation for farm price adjustment began, establishing personal and selfish interests profiting greatly by present conditions, tried to label the movement a radical one.

"At least something has been accomplished since 1925, in that the agricultural adjustment problem has become not only our greatest, most urgent and pressing one, but its solution is advocated as a sane and sound policy by prosperous captains facing the problem.

"This is a big step. As one who spent two months at the nation's capital in 1924, I have been in a position to note the great advance made in the public attitude toward the farm problem.

"The futility of arguing that co-operative marketing will solve the whole program marks another advance step. Secretaries Jardine and Hoover must have learned by this time that simply financing the storage of surplus crops or products will not help, unless the plan provides that this storage be accomplished in a manner as not to depress unduly the home price.

"A farm marketing board with proper duties and powers can handle our surplus in a manner so as not to depress unduly the home price. This is what organized agriculture demands. This is what the farming industry ought to have.

"Farmers must organize to demand their rights thru legislation. The farmers, generally, have made much progress in increasing their own efficiency and in such things as diversification and the cheapening of production.

"They must be constantly alert to safeguard their interests and to demand their rights. Now the federal farm banks are being investigated. There is a constantly recurring attempt to increase freight rates. The disposition to add to our tax burden is always present. The liability of those who pay federal taxes to have them reduced or shifted to someone else is always in evidence.

"Farmers must organize. Every farmer should urge congress to consider effective farm legislation, now, not in the dim and uncertain future. The day of reckoning is bound to come as far as congress and the administration are concerned. Treating the hurk may be a favorite pastime but it will be a dangerous one if persisted in too long.

The Red River Valley made an effective campaign in 1924. Chairman Gilbert N. Haugen and Senator C. L. McNary both so informed me. This is the time to renew our demands. A broad vision both by the president and congress, a courage that will not let selfish consideration stand in the way, a realization of the urgency of the problem, will secure the measure of equality that agriculture demands and that must be granted if all are

A good cold weather starter now more dependable than ever

Probably no single feature of Dodge Brothers Motor Car has been more widely talked about and commended than the power and promptness of the starter.

The new two-unit starting and lighting system now advances Dodge Brothers leadership in this important respect still further.

There are now no moving starter parts when the car is in motion—no starter chain—no noise—no wear. The new starter is even more DEPENDABLE than the old, and far simpler and more compact in construction.

Many other major improvements have been added during the past twelve months, all vitally affecting performance and increasing value far beyond the apparent measure of current Dodge Brothers prices.

Write About Trip

Clovis, N. M., Dec. 27, 1926

The Times:

We wrote you last week telling you of our journey as far as Minneapolis. We are now in New Mexico. We left Minneapolis on Tuesday afternoon arriving in St. Paul and leaving St. Paul at 5:20 p. m. We followed Highway No. 1 out of St. Paul down thru Farmington, Northfield, Faribault, Owatonna, and Albert Lea; this is all paved and the roads were wonderful although considerable snow was piled up alongside the roads. It seems we have had more snow in southern Minnesota than in the north. We arrived at Albert Lea at 5 p. m. from Albert Lea we followed U. S. Highway No. 65 to Mason City, Iowa; from there to Algona, and No. 18 to Fort Dodge, then U. S. No. 20 to Correctionville, where we were compelled to stay over night. Rain had been falling here and there a sheet of ice over the highway. The rain turned into snow and by morning a snowstorm was on in good shape. We left Correctionville at 8:30 and drove to Sioux City. The snow blew off as fast as it struck the road. At Sioux City a gas war was on and we filled up at 14 cents a gallon. We crossed over into Nebraska and followed U. S. No. 77 south to Oakland, where it commenced to look like a real snowstorm; you could not see fifty feet ahead of you. We had lunch here and had our chains ready and when we left Oakland were surprised to find the roads out of town almost bare. We landed at Lincoln, Nebr., for the night.

The following morning we left Lincoln and followed No. 77 to Beatrice, from there on No. 3 to Odessa, and then followed No. 81 to Wichita, Kansas, arriving there Christmas eve. We had no snow after leaving Lincoln. Most of the towns we passed thru had Christmas trees electrically lighted set up in the center of town and some of the towns had arches in the holes used for displaying street flags on the arch, and these were all lighted and presented a very pleasing and cheerful sight.

We left Wichita Christmas morning and followed U. S. Highway No. 81 to Enid, Okla., from there on No. 16 south and southwest over the Southwest Trail to Glenrio, Texas. This is in the Panhandle of Texas. From there we turned west to Pampa, Texas, passing many oil wells, and then on to Amarillo and Texico, and into Clovis, New Mexico. We stayed at the Harvey system hotel here and it surely is a fine place. The Harvey places over the Santa Fe system are noted for their wonderful eats and general service.

We are leaving Clovis this morning for El Paso, Texas, and then westward to Arizona. We are all feeling fine, the kids and we are well and happy. Kindest regards to all our Thief River Falls friends.

Your truly,

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Mogensen.

BEMIDJI TAKES 22 TO 19 GAME HERE

Whippets Lose in Close Contest With Big Lumberjacks; Record Crowd Attends

The Thief River Falls Whippets, in one of the best exhibitions of high school basketball ever seen here, last Thursday night lost a closely contested game to the strong Bemidji team by a 19 to 22 score. The game, and annually fast one from beginning to end was witnessed by a record crowd of persons, who were kept in constant excitement.

Bemidji led by a 14 to 9 score at the close of the first half, but added only 8 points during the last half, when the locals scored 10. That the Whippets succeeded in completing a greater percentage of their shots the outcome would have been different. Thief River Falls being credited with 40 attempts and five field goals, as compared with Bemidji's 28 attempts and seven field goals. Most of the playing was carried on under the locals' basket but they seemed unable to connect with the hoop. During the last two minutes of play the ball rolled around on the edge of the hoop in many instances, but failed to come through. Thief River Falls made a better showing in free throws, nine of which likely would have won, only nine out of 19 being made in Thursday's game. Bemidji made eight out of 17 tries from Chases to Marshall county.

The fact that too many players were handled by the locals is evidence of the way they lacked team work. In the Bemidji had to resort principally to long shots on account of the strong local defense but were fortunate in getting them here.

"Slumpy" Eckert, with 9 points to his credit, showed up particularly strong. In practice law at intervals Severson and Baldow made up a strong defensive combination. Wright, Nevitt and Bethel starred for the visitors.

In two games on the Bemidji floor this year ago, Thief River Falls lost 11 to 33 and 11 to 30. In the latter contest, however Thune's quint made 22 attempts to Bemidji's 28. The Bemidji team trimmed the Crookston five last night 32 to 23, and the latter then won five out of six games from Bemidji.

He Will Attend To County Legal Work

H. O. Herve

Former Marshall county member of the state legislature, who this week secured third honors in the January issue of Outdoor America, magazine published by the Izaak Walton League of America. The illustrations are used in connection with the latter's fishing article. Both are sketches of outdoor scenes, one a beautiful campfire scene with a man and youth in the foreground and a mountain and hills in the background, and the other shows a boy tobogganing at a black loss. They are excellent examples.

Born in this city 28 years ago, Ralph attended the local schools and was graduated from high school with the class of 1916. Immediately after his graduation, he entered army service and spent several months in France. Returning from over seas he took up the study of art, spending a year in Minneapolis and later entering the Chicago Academy of Fine Art. He first won fame as a cartooning from which he turned to commercial drawing. However, during the last of his attendance at the academy he specialized in illustrating, in which line he has since engaged the last year. Acceptance of the drawing by Outdoor America was the first official recognition of his ability and bids well for the future. He has received offers from various magazines to enter this field of work.

LEADING PICTURES BOOKED

Several of the leading pictures of the season will be interested in an announcement by F. A. Iverson that he has booked the following fine program of moving pictures to be shown at the Lyceum theatre during the month of January:

Monday, Jan. 10—"Richard Dix in "The Quarter Back." Ford Sterling in "The Show Off," Milton Sills in "Paradise," Fred Thomson in "A Regular Scout," Constance Talmadge in "Duchess Dumont." Harold Lloyd's production "The Eagle of the Sea," and Colleen Moore in "Twinkletoes."

The official program and premium list for the annual Red River Valley Winter Shows to be held in Crookston February 7 to 11 have been issued and reveal five days brim full of interesting meetings and programs.

NATIVE T. R. F. SON IS COMING ARTIST

R. Hilson Gets Recognition When His Illustrations Appear in National Magazine

Schoolmates of Ralph Hilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hilson of this city, paid little attention to the lad's drawings while in the grades, although he won a prize at the county fair, but as he went on into high school he showed marked artistic ability and in his senior year was one of the illustrators for the high school annual. This however, was the start for one of Thief River Falls' native sons who gives promise of soon being an artist of prominence.

Recognition of Ralph's ability as an illustrator was given recently when two of his sketches appeared in the January issue of Outdoor America, magazine published by the Izaak Walton League of America. The illustrations are used in connection with the latter's fishing article. Both are sketches of outdoor scenes, one a beautiful campfire scene with a man and youth in the foreground and a mountain and hills in the background, and the other shows a boy tobogganing at a black loss. They are excellent examples.

Born in this city 28 years ago, Ralph attended the local schools and was graduated from high school with the class of 1916. Immediately after his graduation, he entered army service and spent several months in France. Returning from over seas he took up the study of art, spending a year in Minneapolis and later entering the Chicago Academy of Fine Art. He first won fame as a cartooning from which he turned to commercial drawing. However, during the last of his attendance at the academy he specialized in illustrating, in which line he has since engaged the last year. Acceptance of the drawing by Outdoor America was the first official recognition of his ability and bids well for the future. He has received offers from various magazines to enter this field of work.

Many Improvements Feature New Chevrolet Automobiles

Surpassing all its former achievements as the world's largest manufacturer of three-speed transmission cars, the Chevrolet Motor Company today announces an entirely new line of automobiles, headed as the most beautiful in Chevrolet history, at a reduced schedule of prices. Kehn & Fiserman, local dealers, expect a shipment of the new cars shortly.

Kehn & Fiserman are well pleased with business for 1926. They sold more cars than 20 Chevrolets in the territory the last year and have contracted for increased business in 1927.

Embodied in the new line, which goes on display throughout the country today, are lots of improvements, many of which were found hitherto only in larger and more costly cars. The economies of tremendous volume production have made possible the marks of distinction which individualize the new line, according to a factory statement.

The new cars are mechanically finer, exhibit a new style leader, are smarter in appearance, complete in equipment and outstanding in the display of colors. Seven models, five closed and two open cars, comprise the line. One model, a roadster, is entirely new.

Among the important features are the new models are as follows: All six cleaner, Ac'all filter, balloon tires, ballet-type hand-lamps, cowl ventilating lamps, newly designed cellular shell, silent second gear transmission, silent running boards, larger steering wheel, new instrument panel, new steering gear, new clutch, new spring suspension, new clutch and new steering lock.

Heavier and smoother has been stressed in the design. Appointments have been refined in the direction of dress that promises to please the most fastidious purchaser. Performance is smoother. Chevrolet, the new line has been built to establish a new standard in the low priced field.

Anderson will go to St. Paul to continue his regular schedule of visiting the auditors of Minnesota to be held in the Ramsey county court house January 14 and 15.

FEWER CRIMES HERE IN 1926 RECORDS SHOW

192 drunks who were officially entered on the police records, were not 200 more were taken in hand by the police but were turned out because they could not pay the fines and we did not want to feed them in jail.

"Most of the 12 arrests for drunkenness last year would have escaped the police in 1926, because those days a person had to get into a scrap or do something desperate to be put into the cooler. Of course, not all the drunks are held into court either but anyone with reason placed in side are the change. Now the more art, of drinking intoxicating liquor is a violation of the law and subjects the user to duty to arrest."

County Attorney's Report

While the last year had few crimes, three men were sent to the state prison, more than during any 12 months in the last eight years, according to the annual report of County Attorney Tom Quale. All of the three men pleaded guilty, two for furnishing liquor to minors and one for assault with deadly weapon, and each received a two year sentence with their arrest.

Only 12 cases were handled in Pennington county district court in 1926, four pleaded guilty, one found guilty, one convicted, one dismissed, one pending trial, one suspended sentence, two imprisonments, one case appealed, and three to state prison. Of the 11 cases handled by Mr. Quale in A. R. No. 11 south from this city, one was dismissed and one acquitted on that job lately.

Most of the attorney's work was in connection with the regular eight cases of Patrolman John Jacobson in operating against violators of the liquor laws. It is reported to work satisfactorily, having shown the evil of home drinking.

Pennington county's share of state aid for roads and bridges in Minnesota in 1926 amounts to nearly $20,000.

ROAD EXPENSES $84,937 IN 1926; DOUBLE '25 COST

rest on under this arrangement in 1926, as follows:

Towns of Black River and Brown's Creek, Pennington and Red Lake counties, co-operating, estimated cost $2,000.

River Falls, 1.75 miles clearing and grading, estimated $600.

River Falls and Westcentral, clearing and grading, $414.

Starr and Hickory, clearing and grading one mile, $607.

Hickory, bridge over Red Lake river, $1,898, paid by county.

There is a total of 127.5 miles in 11 state aid roads in the county, 122 miles of which were maintained at an average cost of $692.22 a mile, as compared to $438.37 in 1925. The condition report shows 56 miles gravel, 55 miles graded but unsurfaced, and 11.5 miles unimproved.

Eighteen miles were constructed in 1926, of which 12.5 miles were surfaced. A total of 27 miles were actually under construction the last year, including the 9 miles and 6 miles surveyed for 1927 construction.

Nearly all the state aid money paid for road work in the county has been paid to Pennington citizens. The exception was possible has been practiced thrust, the engineer declares.

Road work for the season was closed Tuesday with the completion of surfacing from the north end of A. R. No. 11 south from this city, one mile. Time and place for the sale will be announced at the opening of the convention.

Poultry Co-op. Directors Pleased With '26 Business

Directors of the Thief River Valley Co-operative Poultry association held a meeting at the association plant last Wednesday afternoon, at which the business of the past year was reviewed and plans for the coming year considered. The directors expressed themselves as being pleased with the business increase in the association's affairs during the year 1926. All members of the board were present.

The annual meeting of the association will be held January 25, 1927, which local meetings will be held during the month to remind the 17 unit directors. On account of the Pennington county fair, it is not expected that many members will be present at the annual meeting, but a special effort will be made to have more extensive local gatherings.

The association this year shipped 13 cars of poultry to market, the last for Thanksgiving and Christmas trade, as compared with eight cars last year. Many farmers marketed from 150 to 200 turkeys, averaging from 21 to 25 and up to 28 cents. Poultry and turkeys are being received daily and a favorable market is expected in January and February, Mr. Nolte reports.

Three Cars on Southbound Soo Flier Derailed Sat.

Three sleepers and two passenger coaches on the Soo Line limited flier were derailed between Detroit Lakes and Wadsworth at 1:05 a. m. Saturday. All the cars remained upright, and only about 30 rails were torn up, so no one was injured. It is not known what caused the accident, according to Soo line officials.

Among local passengers were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stenberg, Mrs. Bruce, Cora Noel, Ray Halvorson, Ed Beelo, and Mr. Dechart, it is reported. The passengers were being brought back to Detroit Lakes for breakfast, were taken to Wadsworth in two coaches, arriving at 4:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The track was cleared at 3 p. m.

Stalled in Snow Drift in Terrific Storm Sat.

A snow storm and blizzard, characterized by old residents as the worst in old-timers' memory, swept this territory Saturday, piling the snow to a depth of 24 inches, according to L. M. Rayson, Pennington county highway engineer. However, auto traffic on highways was again blocked, the roads made passable by the snow plows, except for a few drifts. All of the Trunk highway No. 32 from Red Lake Falls to this city was opened up Saturday.

Wills Warring, Stephen Warring and daughter, Pearl, and Mr. and Mrs. Ole Aman of Terrebonne township, on their return from Mrs. Aman's mother's funeral in this city, Saturday, were stalled in a drift on the road to Fosston when their mule team played out in the deep snow on trunk highway No. 33, nearly two miles south of the village of Terrebonne. Additional help for the Warrings and their neighbors, P. B. Stolberg and his son came along with a team, about 4 o'clock, and Mr. Aman and Mrs. Wallman and Mrs. Warring walked to the Stolberg home. They had frozen considerably while in the snowdrift. The Warring brothers unhitched the mules and were able to get to their home, and went on to their home, returning the next day for the teams, but had to follow the Great Northern railroad, track to Steiger. There were no teams in the place when they got there, stuck and had the temperature been colder the unknown might have been tragic.

A. F. Mutzig, another local man, had attended the funeral, was making the trip to and fro, but was forced to abandon it on account of the snow blockade on highway, where it remains yet.

POWER DAM TO BE IMPROVED; MORE PAVING

Aldermen To Call for Bids on Dam Improvements Estimated at $80,000

PAVING ON RIVERSIDE AND SIXTH PROPOSED

Hearing on $35,000 Projects Feb. 3; State Requested to Pay Part

Improvements of the municipally owned dam to secure double the present horse-power and a cost estimated between $35,000 and $40,000 was one of the things accomplished fast as the result of the city council meeting Tuesday night, when the aldermen instructed the city clerk to call for bids and the mayor to enter into an agreement with the Jackson Engineering company of Minneapolis to prepare plans and specifications for the work and told the city clerk to advertise for bids thereon to be opened at a special meeting Feb. 3.

At the same session two petitions for paving on Sixth street and Riverside avenue were seriously considered and action was taken for the construction thereof.

The one o'clock Tuesday night when the aldermen finished listening to proposed contracts presented by two paving engineers present at the meeting, and adjournment was taken until last night, when it was agreed to engage W. B. Stevenson of Fargo to prepare plans and cost estimate and supervise the project if undertaken. Stevenson was agreed to superintend the construction of the dam improvements without any additional cost to the city, which would offer especially attractive. He will prepare preliminary plans and estimate for presentation at a hearing before the council at 10 o'clock Feb. 3 at 8 p. m. The proposed paving is estimated to cost about $35,000, including the Riverside avenue and other connections.

The action on the dam improvements followed a special meeting of the council Thursday night at which time the old contract with Stevenson was terminated and a new one executed by the mayor and clerk authorizing the engineer to appear here Tuesday to consult with the council in the matter. Stevenson is also a farm mortgage loan broker and had previously made investigation of the local situation and had submitted preliminary estimates on the work, which were found to be fairly correct.

The proposed plans call for the erection of an entirely new power house on the south side of the present one at the dam, the installation of four 250-horse power units and a concrete flume, the building of a substantial retaining wall along the west bank of the river northward from the new power house to the present dam, and are in case of high water, for the elimination of the old wooden portion of the dam, which has been in service for several years. Work, it is hoped, can start shortly after the awarding of the contract Feb 1 and be completed by September 1.

Two modern water wheels of 30 horse power each and with 250 and 400 horsepower capacity, respectively, are proposed, thus doubling the present power. Mr. Jackson stated to the council that it was his belief that at least 250 horsepower is wasted in the water escaping thru the wooden part of the dam. That the dam is not only a paying venture for the city has not been disputed for a long time and the report of last year's superintendent of the water and light department in the annual report to the council and of the Times warrants the abler. Improvements are necessary, however, to secure the best results.

Additional paving has been talked of for several years and petitions for the Sixth street and Riverside boulevard were filed last week. The call for paving Sixth street from the present pavement to the Great Northern railroad, pavement westward on Fourth street from Sixth to the Great Northern tracks, a distance of about five blocks, and from the present pavement southward on Main street paving on the west side of Main street from Fourth to Fifth, 32 feet wide, to the place where the Lovers' Lane hill, a distance of about the block. The paving will be 30 or 36 feet wide, complying with the requirements of the state highway department, which will be requested to pay part of the cost, as the center 18 feet on Riverside below the trunk highway only 16 feet wide.

Hance permits were granted to B. Hall Jan. 22; Lake Foresters, Legion Hall, Jan. 22; Old Timers, Armory, Jan. 28; Kiwanis, Armory, Jan. 29; Elks, Armory, Jan. 12, 20, and 27. Milk permits were granted to F. J. Conklin and O. J. Dekken, milk and drink licenses were ordered issued to H. L. Monson and J. M. Trodahl. Monthly reports were received, the total of the receipts being $1,000, with about $62,000 while bids for printing and city depository were asked for, and approval of a zoning statute by the council was voted, the same sponsored by the League of Minnesota Municipalities which will hold a meeting in Duluth Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, when Mayor W. W. Prichard, Jr., Alderman Ralph Chisholm, and City Attorney Fred Swanson were named as delegates.

BULL GORES VERNON COPP, 7 RIBS BROKEN

Young Farmer Near City Saves Life by Climbing Tree Despite Injuries

Altho having seven broken ribs, a broken arm and a fairly serious five miles northwest of this city, last Friday climbed a tree that apparently saved his life after he had been attacked by an angry bull.

Vernon Copp, operates a dairy farm together with his father, Fred Copp, and in attempting to drive the bull into a barn was he was attacked by their 2500-pound purebred Holstein bull which had broken loose from his stall in the barn and dashed into the shed to the north. The bull was in a frenzy of anger before. Trying to get the animal under control young Copp grabbed the ring in the animal's nose but was thrown to the ground and gored, suffering the broken ribs and other severe bruises before he was pushed into the dairy barn, in which he was shoved about for five minutes before he was able to get out. He was then driven under a fence and despite his injuries he managed to climb a tree from which the fence was pulled, barely missing a safe limb of the tree when the bull broke thru the gate and charged again.

Mrs. Copp, another member of the family at home at the time was Vernon's wife, Ethel, and it is that that it was three-quarters of an hour before help came to the rescue. Mrs. Copp attempted to telephone to the neighbors for help. Altho the bull had gone back to the barn when Vernon was able to return. When Vernon was aided down from the tree it was found that both ears were frozen and he suffered from exposure as well as his injuries. Mr. Bowers of this city was called at once to attend the injured man and is reported recovering nicely, altho it is expected that he will be confined to his bed for at least another week. The bull was shot the afternoon of the accident.

Naplin Moved to Miller Hospital: Little Chance In Senator's Condition

Word has been received by The Times from Mrs. O. A. Naplin that Senator Naplin was moved Sunday from the Decker hospital in St. Paul to the Miller hospital, where he is still being attended by two special nurses.

Senator Naplin suffered a stroke Tuesday afternoon, last week, while walking in the basement of his home, 509 Alexandria apartments, from the Capitol, following the session of the house of the legislature he collapsed at St. Peter street and Rollins avenue and was taken to Decker hospital.

Although the senator is reported as improving, his condition is still considered serious this being the second stroke within the last year.

GREET THE DAIRYMEN

Thief River Falls may be highly complimented in the privilege of entertaining the state and their lecturers next week during the annual dairymen's meeting. It is a tribute to the productivity of agriculture in dairying and the excellent supervision of dairy cattle by farmers in Clearwater county with the possibilities of this industry. Every person in this community should be present at the meetings next week or next. Particularly those of this community that did not attend the 1925 meeting should plan to come this year. We have many things to point to with pride and to be thankful for.

The program arranged for next week's meetings is replete with good things for every farmer in this territory to attend. Many experts with special knowledge will be present to give us the benefit of their experience.

Remember, Thief River Falls welcomes! Look after the rest of the details that we're alive and wide-awake.

"THERE IS A DEMAND"

That sliding, on telegrams and calls, is popular among local young folks has been evidenced during the holidays when large numbers could be seen along the river bender every day. A support of the sport was demanded for a civic slide, properly built up so as to afford the greatest and safest length to make it more interesting, and it is to be hoped that steps will soon be taken to get the project under way.

In this connection it is interesting to note an item in last week's issue of Bemidji Pioneer, in part as follows:

"Much interest is being shown in the civic toboggan slide this winter, a beautiful affair, and the last week especially has seen large crowds every evening. Last night was taking advantage of the recreational opportunities afforded by the new slide while the slide is always popular with the children."

TO AID COUNTY AGENT

The Beltrami county board of commissioners last week decided to again appropriate $1,200 to help defray the expenses of a county agent.

FAVOR CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Sheriffs of Minnesota in session last week passed a resolution favoring capital punishment. The state association also favors establishment of a state identification bureau and the issuance of automobile license tags at county seats.

Better Stock Increases Profits, Says N. Dak. Man

The value of extension work in promoting better livestock was stressed by C. W. Warburton, president of the Canadian National railways, in an address before the annual meeting of the Canadian Council of Agriculture at Ottawa on Thursday in a brief talk by Geo. J. Baker, secretary of the Fargo Chamber of Commerce and secretary-treasurer of the North Dakota Livestock Breeders' association. Mr. Baker was formerly a Minnesota university extension worker and secretary of the Northern livestock association. Many farmers attended last week's club meeting.

McCann to State Meetings of County Fairs Jan. 12-14

J. J. McCann, secretary of the Pennington County Agriculture Society, will attend the joint conventions of the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs and the State Agricultural Society to be held in the New Nicollet hotel in Minneapolis Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

Mr. McCann may also attend sessions of the annual Minnesota Farmers Institute Federation which are held the 18th, 19th, and 20th. Many prominent farm leaders are scheduled to discuss agricultural problems.

The Minnesota State Fair has receipts totaling $2,541,153, the report of Thomas H. Caudell, secretary, received to Governor Christianson revealed. Despite the inclement weather last State Fair week, when it rained on four of the eight days, the attendance was well over the 400,000 mark, and even the receipts were considerably less than a year ago, due to cancelled grand stand performances, the last-on-the-program of the fair was only $16,850. However, the management went into the final year of 1926 with a cash reserve of $153,851.

All the many of Minnesota county fairs are operating at a loss and some are even being discontinued, the Pennington county fair is yearly making gains.

253 REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS IN '26

Two Less Transfers Than Previous Year in County; Register's Office Shows

Real estate transfers in Pennington county during the year 1926 as in 1925, according to the records of Register of Deeds Fred H. Lorentson. The total number of warranty deeds filed during the year was 253, as compared with 255 for 1925.

Indications are that there will be an increase in the number of land sales during the coming year, an influx of new settlers expected, and the construction of good roads over considerable of the 1926 tax forfeit lands promise to open up new territory for settlement.

A decline of 30 per cent in the average of farm mortgages recorded for the six-year period ending March 1, 1926, has been reported recently by the Department of Agriculture. Grain and livestock prices in the spring Middle West were harvest hit, with several of the mountain states and certain of the cotton states also showing decreases. The cutover country of northern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan show comparatively little decline, the department said.

The average farm acre last spring, the department reports, was worth $74.47, compared to $107.89 March 1, 1920, the peak year of land values. The decline has been at a lessening rate in each of the last two years, says, "there is no assurance the bottom has been reached."

Farm lenders here point out that Otter Tail county has not suffered from the deflation of land values in those sections where prices soared sky-high following the war, and certainly in finding it less difficult to adjust itself to a lower status.

Only 1135 instruments of all kinds were recorded in the register of deeds office in 1926, the lowest total in the county was organized. Following a slump of 1921, the year since 1911, submitted by Mr. Lorentson:

Telephone Service Between New York and London Soon

Trans-Atlantic telephone service between New York and London probably will be placed on a commercial basis sometime next month, according to word just received by G. A. Russell, manager for the Northern Electric Telephone Company here. It is planned that the charge of a three-minute conversation will be $75.

"Arrangements between the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the parent company of the Bell System and the British telephone system for the opening of telephone service between New York and London by means of wireless across the Atlantic, have been completed," says Russell said.

"Experiments are continuing daily and point to the possibility of inaugurating the service during January," the manager said.

Governor Stands by Economy Program, His Message Reveals

By MARVIN W. OBLAND

Special to The Times

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14, 1927.—(Special)—Governor Christianson's message to the legislature, delivered at noon today, was a plea for economy in state government, a request for the passage of the administration's tax program, and a recommendation that the state build a new capitol.

The governor's message was delivered at high noon, January 4, 1927, by organization of the house and senate perfected in accordance with the election of the session of the legislature, which convened in St. Paul, Nov. 23, 1926. The Farmer-Labor senators and representatives, 72 to 67 in the house, met in caucus and decided to run up the party-party flag by calling a meeting of the Farmer-Labor members of the legislature, which they did not approve of this procedure, but felt that, for political reasons, they had better attend the caucus and abide by the decision of the majority. Only 37 votes were cast for Mr. Shaffer, as the vote stood six to one against Mr. Shaffer, as the vote stood six to one against Mr. John A. Johnson when the House organized.

Farmer Representative John Levin of St. Paul was unanimously elected chief clerk of the house, to succeed the late Oscar Arneson. In the Senate George W. Peabody of Owatonna was elected secretary of the senate, succeeding Reginald Eight, and Senator A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota, the latter a veteran who has served in the legislature continuously since 1905, was again chosen by his colleagues as president pro-tem.

Governor's Message

Governor Theodore Christianson was sworn in for his second term Wednesday morning by Chief Justice Wilson of the supreme court in the presence of the Senators and Representatives, and then delivered his biennial message. It is a strong state paper and maintained the high standard set by Governor Christianson in his inaugural address two years ago. As was generally expected, he devoted the major part of his message to his economy program, holding that the state has already profited greatly in the way of efficiency and economy, by the carrying into effect of the recommendations of the state government survey two years ago and will profit still more in the future. He urged a few amendments to the present legislation, chief among which is the transfer from the State Board of Control the purchase of supplies for state institutions to the "Big Three."

For Catching Criminals

Creation of a central state authority to assist local peace officers in catching criminals, and establishment of a state bureau of identification, were also recommended by the governor. He also urged the passage of a law providing for the extradition of witnesses in criminal cases.

For Pensioning Criminals

Governor Christianson added significantly:

"I would not countenance pensioning criminals nor advocate such a thing. I should not be true to my duty if I did not say that teachers, not buildings, make a school. I leave with you the question whether we have not too often and too long devoted our efforts to the false ends of clay and stone, and should now take steps to insure that the best energy and the best thought be used for land and conservation."

For Capitol Site

Proof of need or not, I fail to see into this desirable a thing as the concrete building program of the University of Minnesota.

Many Bit Questions

Only a few bills have been introduced in either house as yet, but the early one of these is important—the bill introduced in the senate by Senator Stephens of Minneapolis to put the legislature back on a yearly basis. It was in the session two years ago, and was generally expected, he predicted, that the majority of the members of the Minnesota Republican Clubs initiated a movement to commit the legislature to the annual session system at the next general election.

Other measures that will receive prominence in the session are those: The retention of State Aid to schools; the farmers' relief bill; the bonus bill; the University's demands, the bank [illegible] and the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the [illegible] of

INSPIRATION

To put all of the emphasis on the value of an education is a mistake in so far as education without inspiration is valueless. Only when you include inspiration as an element of education or one of its by-products can you rate education above other advantages. There are educated men, well read men and intelligent men who are of little value to themselves or society because they have not that divine spark of inspiration which puts education to work and without which education can not work.

Education comes to men thru reading, talking, listening and thinking. Inspiration comes with it thru the right kind of reading, the right kind of conversation and the deep and profound sort of that. In other words, some literature conveys book learning and other literature generates only to inspire the reader, to lift him out of his work-a-day world, kind of temptations, and other things.

Unknown to many, the human mind, by proper impetus, is capable of kindling the divine spark of inspiration. There are many workmen who are stirring their creative ambitions by daily meditation on the ideals of their occupation and upon the vast possibilities lying dormant in their fist of labor. No man ever suffered by inspiring his job because of it. Itself it was.—Of such imaginings is inspiration made.

Inspiration hitched up to education or just plain Higher Ideals, is making men, communities, nations, business enterprises and all the great creative, industrial and commercial marvels of the twentieth century.

"There can be no greater and lasting work without inspiration."—Wrote Emerson.

Assembly Reading Table Reference Seekers' Heeca

Everybody at one time or other has noticed the books and magazines on the table of the assembly stage. They are there to be read by the student body for reference work and reading. Among the magazines will be found Popular Sciences Monthly, Review of Reviews, and Christian Science Monitor. There is a special rack for exchange papers from school and colleges. This gives an interesting view of life in other schools.

Because of the lack of room in the library the stage was fixed with the table and paper rack for students to use for such work that could be easier attended to there than in the library.

Eighty-four newly-bound books have been put in circulation for the use of the students.

WHIPPET COUP IN FOSSTON GAME FRI. ENDS FAST CLASH

Team to Meet Crookston Aggies Here Tonight; To Ada Friday

After three defeats at the hands of Bemidji, the Lincoln high school Whippets managed to nose out the Fosston Lumberjims of basketball fame Friday night by the narrow margin of two points. The score before the last whistle of the extra periods had been played to break a tie. With the exception of the last of the third and the beginning of the fourth periods, the Fosston quintet had a three-point lead, the locals managed to hold the lead by narrow margins. The Whippets by three successful foul shots managed to tie the score—much to the enjoyment of the fans. Fosston then broke loose, when the score 19 all, and two

LARGE SUM IS RECEIVED FOR BUTTER HERE

Nearly Half Million Paid to Farmers of County by Creameries in 1925

OUTPUT FOR '26 ESTIMATED TO BE THE SAME

Stearns County Leads State In Production With Nearly 14 Million Pounds

Minnesota's butter crop for 1925, the latest for which figures have been compiled, represented an income of more than $160,000,000, according to the Minnesota dairy and food commission, and of this amount farmers of Pennington county received $161,863 for their butterfat. Figures are not available for 1926 but it is known from comparisons made by C. O. Lindberg, field manager for the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., in this district, that the total for the year just closed will be practically the same as for 1925. An estimate by County Agent J. J. McCann, published last week, places returns for dairy products in the county in 1926 at $200,000.

The farmer patrons of the four co-operative creameries in the county received an average of 44c cents per pound for their butterfat last year. These creameries are located at Fosston, at which point 1,810,720 pounds of butter, which sold for consumption, brought an average of 44.6 cents a pound. Prices during the last year have been even more favorable.

Stearns county was the largest producer in the state with 13,436,000 pounds. Ramsey with 11,649,900 pounds and Hennepin with 10,779,000 pounds ranked second and third, respectively. However, Stearns's output represented butterfat which, for the most part, was produced within its own borders, while the large creameries of St. Paul and Minneapolis, utilizing butterfat produced mainly in other parts of the state, are responsible for the large production of the twin cities.

Minnesota Leading State

Minnesota's output of 220,438,627 pounds last year was nearly 90,000,000 pounds more than the production of Iowa, the second largest butter state. Minnesota's butter was produced in 822 creameries, the co-operatives making first both in numbers and in production. The state's butter output has grown 100 per cent in five years.

The year 1926 has been a hard one for dealers to gauge. Early in the year, the big production alarmed the trade and it generally feared that a surplus would result. However, the dry weather at the time of the season of normal heavy production curtailed the output to such an extent that on December 1 the production figures showed a shortage of 10,000,000 pounds over last year.

This shortage of butter has resulted in the prices for butter, with the result that thoughtful farmers are beginning to feel alarmed at the cheap prices being realized for the cream varieties being manifested by the consumption.

Less Consumption Heavy

While figures showing the consumption of butter substitutes are not yet available, city stores report a marked increase in the demand for butter, a dangerous condition in this trend, so far as the dairy farmer is concerned, is that the increasing consumption of oleomargarine because he thinks butter is too high-priced always walks until it falls "good and low" before he buys it again. It has been found, for example, that a consumer who will turn to oleomargarine when butter reached a price of 36 cents a pound, retail, will not again start using butter when the price goes down to 32 cents to that point but waits until it drops to as low as 30 cents a pound before he stops buying substitutes, and remains for ten per cent never do come back to butter.

That constitutes a serious condition for the farmers of Minnesota, for it means an increasingly diminished demand for butter. Cleomargarine manufacturers, quick to sense their opportunity, are spending huge sums for advertising each year, and to counteract this publicity the creamery industry is doing little.

Realizing the increasing gravity of the situation, however, Minnesota dairy farmers are finally taking steps to protect their industry by carrying on a campaign of education. The manner of something of the superior merits of butter as a food. To this end a Minnesota Dairy Council is being organized to enable the local creameries of the state to join with other dairy interests in carrying on this work.

Quality Improved

November was a banner quality month for the Land O' Lakes association, according to Mr. Lindberg. Of the butter handled by the state association, 73.2 per cent graded 1, or 1A, brand, 20 score or over. In November, 1925, but 72.2 per cent of the output could be sold under this premium brand. This shows a marked improvement in quality during the past year and helps bring greater returns to the dairy farmer for their product. In this district, No. 17, the percentage of 92 scors butter reached 90.3 last November, Mr. Lindberg reports.

Stearns county farmers received in 1925 a total of $322,000 for 1,000,000 pounds of butter manufactured in eighty creameries, an average of 45.2 cents a pound for butterfat; Red Lake county, $356,215 for 1,022,157 pounds in three creameries, with an average of 46.4 cents a pound for butterfat; Clearwater county, $502,244, for 1,318,840 pounds of butter made in six creameries, with an average of 47.1 cents a pound for butterfat.

Polk county's butter business represented an income of $1,704,178 for farmers of the county's 14 creameries, an average of 46 cents a pound for butterfat received for butterfat which made 4,700,514 pounds of butter. The patrons of four creameries in Beltrami county received $670,879, farmers receiving an average of 44.4 cents a pound for butterfat. The output totaled 1,339,972 pounds of butter.

For Company Fined by U. S. Government for Dishonesty

Last year the Tucker Fur company of Fulton, N. Y., sent thru the mails price lists of Minnesota furs and offered higher prices than other dealers and thereby many trappers shipped furs to the concern. The company failed and Thief River Falls having received one of these price lists shipped three fine minks to this company and received a remittance of $1.50 as a full return.

Fred was not satisfied but the company would make no further adjustment, so he took the matter up with the post office department. Assistant Attorney G. Halvorson of this city and now word has been received that the company was arrested and fined $1000 and denied the use of the mails in the future.

"A few lessons of this kind will be beneficial to local shippers and protect them against fraudulent practices," says Mr. Halvorson. Mr. Halvorson will assist the department in securing the evidence and that the prosecution will bring action to collect the balance of the value of the furs.

ONLY 2 WEEK CITIZENSHIP

Only two petitions for naturalization, to be heard at a special term of Pennington county district court to be held in this city March 25, 1927, have been filed with Clerk of Court Adolf Erickson. They are Andrew Grenholm and Christian Klopp of Thief River Falls.

58 New Cases Handled in Probate Court During '26

Twenty-five families of Pennington county received county aid in the form of mothers' pensions totaling $4,125 by orders of the probate court during 1926, according to the annual report of Judge Lee Burke to the county board. Last year the sum of $4,317.50 was paid for mothers' pensions, a decline a total for the years 1917 to 1926, inclusive, of more than $27,000, of which the state was to pay one-half according to the law at the time of its passage.

A total of 58 new cases were entered in Pennington county probate court in 1926, Judge Burke reports. They are divided as follows: insanity cases, 9; feeble minded, 11; dependent children and families, 10; guardianship, 10; intestate administrations, 5; delinquents, 2; probated wills, 2. Many old cases were brought into court during the year.

Judge Grindeland Holds in Favor of Greene in Motion

An order denying the motion for judgment notwithstanding verdict by the defendant in the C. F. Greene vs. First National Bank of Thief River Falls case, was issued Monday by Judge Andrew Grindeland of this district court. The bank's motion for judgment was for judgment in favor of the defendant, notwithstanding the verdict of the jury rendered in Pennington county district court in the 1926 July term, was heard before Judge Grindeland in this city October 5. Theo. Quale of this city, and First National Bank of Minneapolis, by Ralph H. Comstock, appeared as attorneys for the defendant in support of the motion, and Wm. W. Erickson of Crookston and Fort W. Mayer and M. O. Chesnut of this city represented Mr. Greene.

The contention of the plaintiff is that an oral contract to repurchase the mortgages was made by C. L. Hansen as president of the First National bank to Greene, and that under such circumstances, the president of the defendant bank had the apparent authority to make such a contract for and in behalf of the bank. The defendant, according to the court's memorandum, maintained that it did not make the contract, and that if made, the contract was ultra vires.

In conclusion the judge's order says, "Under the facts and circumstances as appear from the evidence, the jury was justified in rendering a verdict to the effect that the contract to repurchase was made, and that the president had the apparent authority to make such contract."

A stay of 30 days was granted.

Nelius Nelson, Former Local Jeweler, Gives Himself Up

The last chapter of the story of the burning of the Central hotel at Bemidji October 8, 1925, was written into the records of the district court at Bemidji before Judge C. W. Stanton recently when Nelius Nelson, former owner of the hotel and at one time jeweler in Thief River Falls, appeared before the court and plead guilty to the willful destruction of real property and was fined $100 and costs amounting to $65, says the Bagley Independent. It will be remembered that the Bagley hotel was set on fire and later burned by Nelson, E. P. Madin, T. Gullickson and William Sathre, late owner of the town, all of Middle River, were arrested, charged with arson and bound over to district court. At the term of court in March, 1926, Nelson jumped his bail in the sum of $1,000 and the bail bondsmen forfeited, plead guilty and were fined $100 and costs each. Nelson's bail was forfeited, collected and paid into Beltrami county treasury.

Bench warrant was issued for Nelson who has been a fugitive from justice. Tired of dodging officers of the law he gave himself up. In view of the fact that he had already forfeited $1,000 to the county and the further fact that he has many years to "do" in the state, the court was lenient and let him off with a fine and costs.

The building involved in the case was only partially destroyed at that time. Nelson sold the remains shortly before the trial to Dr. L. Farson, who remodeled the structure into a hospital. Early this summer they were in use within as many days almost complete for housing the sufferers.

Mr. Nelson was in Thief River Falls Wednesday, leaving for Middle River Wednesday.

Minnesota Dairymen Closing Successful Convention Here

DAIRY TOPICS DISCUSSED BY PROMINENT MEN

Schedule for Better Seed Special Announced—Thief River Falls Feb. 4

GROUP OF UNIVERSITY SPECIALISTS COMING

Exhibits in Cars to Be Viewed by Farmers Interested in Seed Selection

Celebration of Pennington county's third annual Alfalfa Day with an appropriate program this afternoon marks the closing of the 49th annual convention of the Minnesota State Dairymen's association, held jointly with the Red River valley association. About 250 farmers and creamery managers from all parts of the state are in attendance, and are joined by local dairymen in listening to instructive and inspiring talks on dairy problems. The after-noon was not up to expectations on account of the unfavorable weather.

L. Jensen, prominent Clearbrook dairyman, was unanimously re-elected president of the state association this today afternoon. Chris Heen, Gaskin, remains secretary; J. M. Jack, Northfield, was returned as treasurer; N. P. Hansen, Detroit Lakes, was made first vice president, and Stuart Mcleod, Goodridge, president of the valley group, is the new member of the executive committee, succeeding Hjalmer Swanson, who was made second vice president. The election was a lively one, following charges against the old board that the dairy association had not received its full quota from the legislature's $5,000 annual appropriation to the association. Secretary Heen presented the report.

The convention was called to order in Pennington County Memorial hall by Vice President Swanson, and the invocation was pronounced by Rev. E. H. Lovrien and Rev. Fay Lovrien. Mayor W. W. Pritchard, Jr., responded to by Mr. Mcleod. Secretary Heen called attention to the state appropriation held in this city in the name of the association, and urged that some action be taken at this time, especially in view of the fact that the money was available. Dairy and Food Commissioner Ringdal, who was present, was asked to speak on the same matter. Ringdal said that he would do all in his power to get the money released, but that the matter was in the hands of the governor. Secretary Heen presented also his annual report.

An interesting talk in the afternoon session was that of Hjalmer Swanson, given by N. J. Holmberg, St. Paul, assistant dairy and food commissioner of agriculture, who spoke specifically of the prospects for dairying.

L. L. Sexton, dairy specialist with the extension division, declared that the return per hour for time spent caring for cows is up to the individual dairyman, and may be from 6 cents to $1 an hour for the labor of feeding and milking. The principal factors calling attention in order to get a return of 50 cents or more per hour were stated as follows: Feeding cows in proportion to production, feeding a balanced ration, providing good pasture, weeding out the poor producers, having cows that are alike in general type, and developing uniformity, effectively controlling losses from diseases, and a reasonable overhead for barns and equipment.

Flower Speaks

The remarkable development of dairying in the Red River valley since its early history was vividly pictured in an address by Peter Engelstad, pioneer farmer near this city. An extract from his talk will be printed in next week's issue of The Times.

Conservation and marketing of dairy products of better has shown a decrease the past three years, is the alarming, according to Hon. Jas. Scheerson, secretary of the Creamery Operators and Managers association, St. Paul. The number of pounds consumption the past year being placed at 17 pounds as compared to 25 five years ago, a decrease of 32 per cent, startling is the fact that consumption in the United States is far below that of the other dairy countries of the world, Canada, for instance, heading the list at 37½ pounds, while Australia and New Zealand follow closely behind. Sweden leads all other countries in milk consumption, the average per capita for that country being 79 gallons, the other countries being closely grouped therewith, while the United States consumed only 42 gallons per capita. Every extension specialist in the United States average consumption was even more remarkable, Switzerland's head at 23½ pounds.

Chas. Mark Pyssmont, Minneapolis, Boys and girls club work in Minnesota as promoted by the State association was discussed by T. A. Hinsdale, state club leader, University farm, St. Paul, over 4,000 boys and girls having benefited thereby in the six years the work has been carried on. Starting with a membership at that time of only 200 in a county counties the work has spread till last year 23,823 members were enrolled in 79 counties of the state.

$62,000 CHECK FOR CHRISTMAS TURKEYS

T. R. Valley Co-op. Gets Record Post Check; Hay Shortage Warned Against

The largest check ever issued by the Minnesota Co-operative Egg & Poultry association to any local association by the Thief River Valley association, the sum of nearly $62,000 for the Christmas turkey pool, Manager R. H. Wilson announced Monday. The total of 292,000 for the Thanksgiving and Christmas pools. Last year's pools totaled 225,000 birds.

Returns for shipments up to and including December 20 have been made to members as follows: No. 1 young toms, 42 cents a pound; No. 1 old toms, 39 cents; No. 1 old hens, 34 cents, and No. 2 old toms, 25 cents. These prices are considered very satisfactory, Mr. Norby says.

About 300 carloads of hay have been shipped from here by the association this season, but farmers are warned by Mr. Norby to be sure to have enough on hand before selling, as the local shortage might result in a local shortage might result in a hay famine if the crop should be cut short. A baling machine is being maintained at the fair grounds.

Many Co-op. Creameries Hold Annual Meetings

Stockholders of the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery association will hold their annual meeting Saturday afternoon, January 22, at 2 o'clock in the creamery office, for the annual report of Manager Joe C. Ryan. At this meeting the new directors will be elected, the terms of Ole Anderson and Harry Pyne expiring at this time.—Special notice is being secured.

The St. Hilaire association will hold its annual meeting February 7, when Manager Carolyn Berglund will receive the dairyman's checks. Here his reports a production at about 342,000 pounds butter in 1926, a substantial increase over the previous year. As elsewhere, he announced, the Goodridge association closed Saturday, a week ago.

The Holt creamery last year made 270,00 pounds, an increase of 8,000 pounds over 1925, Manager Ed Sperle announced. The annual meeting is scheduled for February 8. O. N. Bergsgaard of the Newfolden creamery reports an increase from 221,000 pounds butter in 1925 to 270,000 pounds in 1926. Stockholders will meet next Saturday.

S. Lovold of the Middle River creamery has an output of 248,000 pounds last year, an increase of 30,000 pounds over 1925. The annual meeting will be held January 31.

All officers of the Plummer Co-operative creamery association were re-elected at the annual meeting held Monday. They are David Haugen, president; Anton Lee, vice president; H. H. Frerichsen, secretary-treasurer; Ole Lee, Earl Brennan and Geo. Orr, directors.

Other annual meetings scheduled are Hazel, Feb. 7, Viking, Feb. 11.

Janda's Turkey Winner At State Poultry Show

A Bronze turkey pullet entered by W. J. Janda of Thief River Falls was awarded first prize at the Annual Minnesota State Poultry show in Minneapolis last week. Approximately 2,000 birds, turkeys and other farm fowl, were exhibited. Mr. Janda, who was a winner at the county fair, also entered another turkey pullet and a cockerel in the state show. Another exhibitor was Olaf Nesset, who entered a Rhode Island Red cockerel.

Among local breeders who plan to exhibit at the All-American Turkey show in Grand Forks January 31 to February 3, are Mr. Janda, G. E. Ose, F. G. Dale & Son, and C. H. Fuller.

FILM WELL RECEIVED

The latest Norway film being presented at the Princess theatre yesterday afternoon and last night was enthusiastically received by good sized audiences. S. O. Olstad, Minneapolis, who produced the 2,000 feet of film, was present and has been a frequent visitor to the Land of the Midnight Sun, accompanied the picture and explained various scenes. Special Norwegian music, "Hallinar" and "Springara," was played on the Hardanger violin by Ole Dahle of Erie. There is another matinee this afternoon and a show tonight at 8.

Heads State Dairymen Six Years

L. JENSEN

This sturdy Clearbrook farmer and Guernsey breeder was re-elected president of the Minnesota State Dairymen's association for the seventh consecutive year. Mr. Jensen who has resided at Clearbrook for 22 years and in the valley since 1904, declares that he is optimistic as to the future of dairying in this section of the state, which he believes will become the last part of farming operations here. He counts the dairy cow as essential to permanent agriculture.

PENNINGTON MAN IS CRESTON COW CALLER

Henry Asmus, prominent Pennington county farmer, was one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, held in this city Tuesday afternoon. However, Mr. Asmus was not present in the act of addressing the dairymen's convention with a talk on dairying, but was present in the act of calling the cows during milk time. Here's how it happened: Henry, who is lucky cuss anyway, won a Creston Guernsey bull calf recently bringing his total to six. Mr. Asmus has a herd of seven.

The membership prize was awarded by The Times. L. Jensen, Clearbrook, and Stuart Mcleod, Goodridge, members of the dairymen's association, served as judges and had a hard time deciding on the winner, being at last forced to flip a penny. The other contestants were all well worthy of the prize, however, by appearance, which was nearly.

Following the business session of the convention, the contestants were called on for a "Cows Moos" in unison. The bawling of the various samples of vocal acrobatics was unique to say the least and brought loud applause and a response of "moo-moos" from the audience.

The other contestants include S. E. Hunt, Wm. Wilde, I. F. Schmidt, Jack Corman, Ed. Burns, Geo. Miller, Jack Coonan, Ed. Emery, and James Sorenson.

IMPROVEMENT OF TOWNS

What can we do in 1927 to promote the development of Thief River Falls? Is your business all it can be? Is your property all it should be?

"City, think of how to obtain a city," runs a motto that has done much to build Canadian cities. The idea applies in several places. The individual can do much on that line. (1) Pay here and now for what he buys. (2) Use here and now for what he needs. (3) Get more satisfaction out of everything—more service, more quality, more value, more pleasure, more comfort, more economy, more health, more happiness.

Many folks expect to accomplish grand results in 1927, by opening their mouths and uttering "resolves" else to drop a quiet plum into the mess.

By MARTIN W. ODLAND

Special to The Times!

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—Prohibition of which was passed some years ago, and the question of the constitutionality of which was passed upon by the supreme court of this state, will be brought before the present session of the legislature in the form of a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Bryant's request. William Jennings Bryan's crusade in the south against the teaching of evolution in the public schools, which resulted in the passage of the Tennessee anti-evolution law, will be brought to a test this winter. The Mississippi legislature, the constitutional convention of Oklahoma and an anti-evolution bill, passed at a public meeting in Arkansas, are also expected to introduce similar measures in the legislature of their states within a few days. It provides that "it shall be unlawful for any teacher or instructor in any public school, college, state institution, college, or the University of Minnesota, supported in whole or in part by the public revenues or funds of the State of Minnesota to teach that mankind either ascended or descended from a lower order of animals. No teacher, instructor or text book committee shall adopt or any text book which teaches the doctrine that mankind either descended or ascended from a lower order of animals in any form or manner." Violation of the act shall be deemed a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $200.

Any teacher, instructor or text book committee, found guilty of violations of the act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $200.

Representative Bryant in his bill is of opinion among the legislators as to the constitutionality of such measures as the legislature, Representative Albert Lagerquist of Sibley county, has already introduced a resolution expressing disapproval of legislating the anti-evolution controversy into the legislature, holding that the Minnesota law-making body has no jurisdiction over the issue. Lagerquist's theory, and one which has been upheld by the impending legislature, is that the controversy from the consideration of which the legislature is debarred by Lagerquist's resolution was laid over for future consideration.

Representative John B. Hompe of Otter Tail county, a conservative, and Representative Lagerquist, a radical member of the entire legislature, was the first legislator to introduce a bill at the session. It provides for a one per cent tax on the gross earnings of state banks each year, the proceeds to go into a fund out of which to pay losses in a defunct bank incurred by the depositors, or as big a portion of the losses as the guaranty fund can pay.

Representative Charles Munn of Olmsted county, Democrat, has brought in a bill to empower the governor to call the state militia, the adjutant general says. Munn's theory, and one which has been upheld by the impending legislature, is that the Minnesota law-making body has no jurisdiction over this matter. The Mississippi legislature, the constitutional convention of Oklahoma and an anti-evolution bill, passed at a public meeting in Arkansas, are also expected to introduce similar measures in the legislature of their states within a few days. It provides that "it shall be unlawful for any teacher or instructor in any public school, college, state institution, college, or the University of Minnesota, supported in whole or in part by the public revenues or funds of the State of Minnesota to teach that mankind either ascended or descended from a lower order of animals. SOCIALETTES

Social Doings

Local people will be interested to learn of the marriage of Miss Lois Gilbert, daughter of Mrs. Ida Gilbert, of this city, to Mr. Ralph Hall, of Minneapolis, which took place on Saturday, January 15, at the home of the bride's mother. Rev. Mr. Hall, father of the groom, officiated. The bride is well known in this city, having been employed at the Thief River Falls Telephone exchange for a number of years. Mr. Hall is employed in the Twin City. They will make their home in Minneapolis.

Miss Lois Gilbert was hostess at a 6 o'clock dinner party at her home on Saturday evening, January 15, in honor of Miss Ruth Alvina Hall, whose marriage to Ralph Hall, of Minneapolis, took place that day. Covers were laid for ten guests. The dining room was attractively decorated with a color scheme of pink and white, the color motif being carried out in the table appointments. Pink candles in crystal holders and a centerpiece of pink carnations and ferns completed the decorations. Miss Hall received many lovely gifts from her friends.

CON. VERBE RECOMMENDS

With numerous bills effecting banking already before the Minnesota legislature, statements by J. Vet Cyl, state bank examiner, in an address before the annual convention of the Minnesota Bankers association last week are of special interest.

"As the legislature is now in session" Mr. Vetgel said, "we suggest herein some to be considered during the earlier and to help the department in its work.

"We recommend strongly a law increasing the minimum capital of new state banks to $25,000. We would prefer a higher minimum, but are not financially strong from existing banks. Any law that can help to strengthen the banks will, of course, be in the interest of the depositors.

"If we can remove the serious depression in farm values, banking conditions will right themselves. There has been much discussion of a law to guarantee deposits. We would prefer a law which would help banks already in existence.

"The program of the state banking department, in part follows: Minnesota has the largest area, three billion, now bank for every 1,900 population. Halfs the average for the United States is one for every 4,500. Many small towns and cities have too many banks. The department is doing everything possible to encourage consolidations when the situation is important and we are now getting about two consolidations a week.

"The department is looking on prosecutions for every slight case of embezzlement and other violations of the banking laws.

"We have ordered assessments whenever it appeared necessary and about $150,000.00 have been paid in assessments during the last three and one-half years and used to charge off losses.

"The Minnesota laws governing the liquidation of closed banks are recognized as the best in the country."

TRIBUTES TO NAPLIN

Following are extracts paid to the late Senator C. A. Naplin in press newspapers of this section:

Warren Sheaf—Mr. Naplin was a clean and able man, sincere and honest in his convictions and had the confidence of the people in his district to a marked degree."

St. Hilaire Gopher—"As a legislator as an attorney, citizen, neighbor and friend, Mr. Naplin was held in high esteem by all who knew him and his death is a sincere regret to all. By his death this county loses one of its most prominent and public spirited citizens."

Farmers' Independent—Senator Naplin was a well known leader in the senate and was recognized as a man who had his own opinions, being the kind of a man who would not change his mind on the slightest provocation. He was a man of strong convictions and was always willing to stand by them. He was a man of his word and was considered a safe man to deal with. He was a man who had many friends and few enemies. He was a man who was always willing to help his friends and was considered a good friend to have."

As was expected, many bills affecting the election laws are coming thick and fast from the legislature. The senate committee on privileges and elections will be empowered to report committees to the senate. So far, the committee has not recommended any bills for consideration by the senate. Representative Waldemar Ellefson, of Goodhue county, Mr. Youngdahl's colleague in the house, has introduced a bill which provides that no person shall be eligible to be a candidate for the office of congressman-at-large at the primary election unless he resides in the district from which he seeks the nomination.

Senator A. J. Rockne and others have introduced a bill to raise the salary paid by the state to district judges from $7,500 to $9,000 per year. Under the present law the district judges receive $4,500 per year from the state, the rest from the county of Hennepin.

Senator Adolph Larson of Sandstone has introduced a bill which provides that when the state rural credit bureau forecloses on a farm mortgage, the state loan, the state shall pay taxes on the land that has been owned, as-is-if-it belonged-to-the-former owner. State property is not, under the present law, subject to taxation, but Senator Larson reasons that a farm taken over by the state, the property should be taxed. This is the particular share of the burden of supporting the schools, etc., incurred by the profits from such a farm would be the same as from one privately owned.

A state police, with a personnel of 200 to 400 men, is the latest bill to see before the legislature. The governor, the attorney general, a superintendent of this force, with officers in the state capital. The state police would act only upon the governor's behest and bank robbers and other criminals, as well as violators of the state fish and game laws. In last session there has been violent opposition to a state police or constabulary and there will be bitter opposition to this measure, especially from the Farmer-Labor members. The State Crime Commission, appointed by Governor Christianson, did not recommend this bill, but it is urged by the state association for a state police.

None of the interim contests, contesting the legislature have as yet been settled. In the case of the Blue Earth delegation, the attorneys have agreed to arbitrate the issue that the court of the district court, awaiting the settlement of arbitration. The Blue Earth delegation is contested by Democrats.

Solving Smoke ....

"Minnesota seems to be a veritable record of producing higher county officials," declared Mr. Irving, congressman-elect at Thursday morning's session. "The importance of this is that it is a reflection of the high state spirit, the dairy farmers of this state selling the dairy farmers of this state have secured better prices for their products. About 75 per cent of the dairy state produced $62,000,000 worth of dairy products last year, marketed thru co-operative organizations.

"The change in the butter tariff is a factor of utmost significance. Well informed authorities agree that this tariff increase on butter has been effective from the present time and benefited the creameries to the extent of 4 cents per pound. Without this protection, a governmental policy that would safeguard the dairy farmer, from disastrous competition will have to come. That a reduction in the tariff on the Danish butter would affect the dairy farmers—Favorable action on the Tincher bill is needed and will strengthen the market for dairy products.

More Consumption Urged

"The continued strength of consumer demand for dairy products is an important factor. The educational work done by the dairy people, with the life and strength-giving qualities of milk and of dairy products is beginning to be reflected in the business conditions: less employment, larger volume of wages and a higher level of wages permits a household budget that includes butter, milk, and cream, instead of cheaper and inferior substitutes. That there is a limit beyond which it is difficult to sell butter is becoming apparent. A stabilized market is desired and will come about in time.

"Minnesota's dairy farmers are making great progress in solving their production problems, also. They are revising the past and extending dairy products by weather-out "star boarders" in their herds thru numerous and constantly increasing testing associations. They are reducing feed costs by the use of legume and corn that produces greater yields on smaller acreage, reducing the pat-man milk cost. Minnesota farmers have a great advantage in this respect as high yielding varieties of oats, barley, and corn are now commonly used.

Alfalfa Acreage Increases

"Red River valley farmers are also making great advances along these lines as well as in increasing the acreage of alfalfa and other clovers in their farms. Pennington county, in which Thief River Falls, where the convention is assembled, is leading in the production of alfalfa per farm of any county in the state.

"Dairying as a business rose much to the breeders of high producing dairy animals. These animals are the foundation upon which future success in will come. The new promotions and tests for safeguarding the health of dairy animals is also an important factor. The improvement in farm buildings and appliances means a great deal.

"The dairy farmer occupies a most favorable place, their producers of many other food items and products.

"Summarizing, this is due, first to the improvement in quality and efficiency in the dairy industry, second to the favorable tariff schedule for butter; third, to the continued strong consumption demand; fourth, increasing efficiency of the dairy farmer in reducing production costs; and fifth, to the valuable work being done to raise high production dairy animals and to safeguard their health."

Growth of Dairying

"The growth of dairying in northwestern Minnesota has been more than phenomenal," said Mr. Selvig in his talk at the banquet for the delegates. "In the year 1900 there were 2,000 head of dairy cattle in Pennington county. In 1910 there were 10,000 head. In 1920 there were 17,000 head. In 1925 there were 27,000 head. In 1926 there were 27,000 head. In 1927 there will be 30,000 head. In 1900 there were 2,000 cows milked in Pennington county. In 1910 there were 5,000 cows milked. In 1920 there were 8,000 cows milked. In 1925 there were 17,000 cows milked. In 1926 there were 17,000 cows milked. In 1927 there will be 20,000 cows milked. In 1900 there were 2,000 cows milked

HEARING ON PAVING PROPOSALS FEB. 3RD

Council to Hear Objections to Projects Filed for Pave Improvements Feb. 14

The council met Tuesday in the city hall for the hearing on the proposed improvements by the city council, and it is believed that there will be a good attendance at that meeting, not only on the part of those favoring the improvements, but also by those in opposition thereto. The council will meet on the 14 to hear objections to the proposed improvements and the meeting will be open for all those desiring to be present on the occasion. The proposed improvements are those of the Sixth street project, Twelfth street project, Engineer W. S. Hayes, acting for Engineer W. S. Hayes, city engineer, was present at the meeting Tuesday night and reported with the state highway department and found the officials thereof willing to co-operate as much as is possible, although much depends on the action of the present session of the state legislature as to what changes will be made in the statutes started two years ago.

At a regular session of the council Tuesday night, Pennington county farmers are making plans to exhibit the products at the Red River Valley Potato Show, to be held February 7-11, according to the secretary of farmers and businessmen will likely attend, many planning to go on the Great Northern special train.

Word was received from the state specialists, from which the Valley's are also making plans for Pennington county farmers to cooperate with them—and to assist in securing the project to be held here. The Pennington county farmers are planning to attend the Red River Valley Potato show in a body, and will likely charter a special train. They expect to go on the train which will leave here at 8 a. m. Saturday, February 5, and return to Thief River Falls in time to attend a Jr. McCrea performance that evening.

It is expected that there will be a considerable number of potato growers in this county to attend the show, and the trip will be made by automobile.

Local Turkeys Crowned For All-American Show

Featured Exhibits of Old "Gobs" Recently Purchased by Turkey Growers Show Gain in Quality

Thief River Falls turkeys in the All-American Turkey show at Minneapolis, which closed Saturday night, were crowned champions of the show, according to word received here by Ed L. Hall, of Minneapolis, secretary of the Turkey Growers' association.

W. J. Kiehn, district farmer representative, and Ed Hall, county agent, left Thief River Falls Monday morning with a truck load of turkeys for the show. Mr. Kiehn returned to Thief River Falls Tuesday morning, but Mr. Hall remained in the city all week. Mr. Hall was unable to secure the names of the winners of the Thief River Falls district, but expects to receive them at the conclusion of the show.

Thief River Falls farmers in the Thief River Falls, Goodridge, Gully, Newsprint, and Middle River districts, entered 85 birds, and won 30 ribbons, which is considered a very good showing for the first year that the district has had a representative at the show.

Members of the Holt unit, now represented by R. A. Werner, are scheduled to meet next Thursday, February 3 at 12:30 p. m., while the Goodridge unit will hold its meeting Friday, February 4, at 1 p. m., Stuart McLeod is the director from the latter place.

Mr. Neeby expects to attend the annual meeting of district managers to be held at the state headquarters in St. Paul January 25-29.

On February 10 he is scheduled to speak on "Cooperative Marketing of Eggs and Poultry" at a session of the Winter Shows program to be held.

The co-operative play of eggs in the auditorium during the dairymen's convention last week attracted much attention.

COUNTY POULTRY RAISERS TO MEET

Dr. Billings Will Address Annual Meet of County Association—Co-op. Unit

Announcement is made this week that the annual meetings of the Pennington County Poultry association will be held in this city February 12, at which time it was decided to postpone the event, there will likely be added interest in the joint meeting by the presence of Dr. W. A. Billings, extension veterinarian and poultry specialist with the University of Minnesota, who plans to spend February 14 and 15 in Pennington county to outline a plan whereby turkeys may be domesticated and kept in semi-confinement. His visit in this section at this time should prove especially interesting and worthwhile to farmers of the community increased numbers of whom are adding turkey raising to their farming operations.

Dr. Billings has just issued a bulletin regarding turkey raising, and can also be secured from the county agent, or secretary Hall—and is well worth reading.

Following are the premium lists on poultry, and eggs, very satisfactory with the results. The Horn co-operative creamery, one of the largest in the state, showed a profit of $3,200 in four months operation during the flush season.

A large plant for drying buttermilk will be built in the Twin Valley creamery. This plant is now handling the product of 16 Land O' Lakes creameries.

Hornseth Box Cellar Near City Destroyed by Flames

Fire practically destroyed the potato cellar on the farm just west of the city Friday evening, resulting in a loss estimated at $2,000 to the farm equipment and the cellar structure. It is reported that the fire was discovered by Mrs. Hornseth, and that it had been burning for some time before it was noticed. The fire was fought by Laura Larson, residing near the box cellar, but upon arriving was able to save only five out of nearly 30 hives. A hole had already been burned thru the roof, when Mr. Hornseth came to the place.

Assessor Haynes Reports Good Rural Credit Record

That the territory in his city is up to the state in loan money is if the facts are made to appear by reports filed with the state banking department by the Minnesota rural credits board. Assessor Haynes reports for Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Marshall and all of those in the territory covered by the Thief River Falls district, that in accordance with the provisions of rule 9, in connection with the rural credits act, the board has approved applications for loans amounting to $1,915,000 and caused mortgages to be executed thereon. Of this amount $1,000,000 has been advanced by the secretary-treasurer, while $915,000 remains to be advanced. Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often causes backache, headache, dizziness, joint pains, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, the baneful symptoms of kidney irregularity. That the kidneys are not functioning right is evidenced by scanty or too frequent passage of the urine. Thousands testify that Doan's Pills relieve by the use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your next-door neighbor!

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

Volume 8 | Thief River Falls, Minnesota, Thursday, Feb. 10, 1927 | Number 20

There is one outside activity that has not been discussed in the Progress which merits much consideration, that is the Progress itself.

To make so activity demands more than ordinary literary ability from the workers or gives more immediate results and keen satisfaction.

It is unfortunate that every student in Lincoln cannot work on the Progress or study Journalism, that they too may experience the delight of seeing their work "in print."

The Prowler staff made a humble plea for "scraps" for which it is unselfly, unceasingly, and annually humbly pleads, 10 to 6 wines the first nail ended.

Shortly after the game opened Oen scored for the Whippets, but as the referee called him for traveling, the score was not counted. A little while later Warren missed their first attempted free throw. Dahlow also got the first counter for the locals. Dribbling up to the center of the floor, Jerven passed another counter. Wenzler, dribbling up to the basket, another favorite hook shot found the net, for the Whippets. After Warren had taken their free throw, Wenzler dribbled down the floor and shot a pretty one from the side of the floor and tied the score.

Oen, taking a shot at the basket, threw the ball to Ericson (flunky) instead, who broke through the Warren defense and found the basket for the first counter of the second half. Dahlow dribbling up the floor, shot a pretty one from the side of the floor and tied the score. Thomas, forward for Warren, scored after the half opened, while Olson followed up with a free throw. The Whippets were then ahead 15 to 8 margin of one point, 10 to 9. The Whippets scored again however, after Warren from tying the score, Dahlow scored another counter for the Whippets. Warren scored a long shot, which might just have been called perfect in every respect. It was a beauty, and one of the prettiest movements in the next gave evidence of the ball's passing through. The score stood 15 to 10 in favor of the Whippets.

Professor Smith of Bemidji refereed the game in a very satisfactory manner, and it is essential that such a capable man be secured for the next game.

The Whippets chalked up another victory Saturday night when they defeated the Alumni-Elks team consisted of such former stars of Lincoln High as Clifford Bjorkman, last year's captain and all-regional guard; Walt Larson high point man and all-region al-forward last year; Kip Lafree, Maurice Holstrand, and Joe Holte, all but one former stars on the local basketball teams. The game was hard fought throughout, the Alumni giving the Whippets plenty to

WARREN SCALP WED. IS LINCOLN NOTCH IN CONFERENCE GUN

Fast Game With Alumni Saturday Won by Whippets; To Crookston Feb. 18

Having defeated the scrappy Warren quint of basketeers by a 15 to 10 score, possibilities for another district championship for the Whippets loom bright at present as the local team now rests on the top of the standings in the first district conference.

From the basketball point of view the game Wednesday of last week was a very fast one, both teams playing very good brand of basketball.

Play was fast and furious throughout the game especially during the second quarter when the Warrenites managed to tie the score after having been playing at this stage being so swift-ly that the fans were on their feet nearly all the time. Ericson scored two baskets on as many spectacular shots, 10 to 6 when the first nail ended.

How to read Percentages

Were Dodge Brothers to sell 150 motor cars one year and 100 motor cars the next, they might truthfully assert that their sales had increased 100% in a single year. Yet they would only have sold 300 motor cars in all.

In other words, PERCENTAGE of capital gain is not conclusive. The NUMBER of cars sold is the true test.

That Dodge Brothers sales in 1926 showed an increase of 17.5% over 1925 is not the MAJOR fact to consider—striking as it is.

But that Dodge Brothers sold 259,967 cars in 1925, and then in 1926 sold 337,764—a gain of 71,797 sales in twelve months—tells a story of growth that stands out like a tower on the skyline of the industry.

Three hundred and thirty-one thousand buyers LAST year! Many more will buy THIS year, added THIS year! No increase in price! Three powerful organizations for earnestly investigating this sound and sturdy product before deciding what to buy!

Senior Girls Win Peppy Preliminary Game Sat.

The preliminary game played between the Senior and Freshman girls basketball teams on the high school floor Saturday afternoon resulted in a victory for the Seniors. Both teams displayed an improvement in playing, and the game was one of the fastest girls' games to be played this year.

During the first half the Normalites succeeded in caging two field baskets and a free throw, while the Seniors made two field baskets, giving a 6 to 4 score in favor of the Normalites at the end of the first half.

At the beginning of the second half, the Seniors, evidently afraid of being defeated, showed more fight. Their passing was accurate, and team-work was very evident. The Seniors caged two more field baskets. A free throw by the Normalites brought the score up to 6-5 in favor of the Seniors. The Senior defense was so strong during the last half that the Normalites were unable to score.

Those who played for the Seniors, making three baskets, and H. Rosestad of the Normal team was their outstanding player, making all six points.

Peterson, Raheson, forwards; Hansen, Hedeen, Gaarder, Normal Training; Rosestad, Gabrielson, Knutson, Billson, forwards; Beckert, Swankberg, Hafdal, guards. Coach Marion MacMillan was referee.

SEVENTEEN TO BE STAGED TOMORROW

Junior Class Play Gives Promise of Finished Production; Humorous

Willie Baxter is the main character in "Seventeen," the Junior class play to be presented February 11 in the city auditorium, said it is Willie, as played by Leslie Sendahl, whose serious, and who has play fans will share. A self-conscious and imaginative boy, he is capable of unforseen youth—too old to be a boy and too young to be a man.

Lola Pratt, the "baby-talk" lady, a person few easily defined. She is, at all times, a vain, affected girl, delighting in her power over the young men with whom she comes in contact.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter are as usual, former, like most fathers, questions every act of his sons, and wonders; Willie can't see how so much money, her Mrs. Baxter is only a mother.

Jane Mason, the "Silly" girl, will make a fool of himself over "that baby-talk girl," she is a kind and ingenious when her son lacks, and will do his farewell party.

Genesis is an annoyance to the fastidious Willie. More than once this uncouth negro embarrass his young master—especially so when he displays a roll of bills three inch in front of the other guests.

Farmer Reslér Speaks From Experience

Well known Minnesota man now fully recovered, Tells friends that Tanlac put him on his feet when all else failed

Anton J. Reslér, R. F. D. 3, Chisholm, Minn., is widely known among farmers in that section of the state. For years he was a sufferer from indigestion, constipation and kidney trouble. He says that he suffered intensely from gas on the stomach, sour risings, dizziness, headaches, and pains across the back. He was so weak and nervous that he could not sleep soundly, and was always tired and worn out. He had no appetite for anything but a few soft foods, and was so badly constipated that he had to use strong cathartics to move his bowels.

"Everything I would rise with that sour stomach gas on me, and I had awful backaches across the small of my back. They seemed to be the worst in the morning when I got up. I was so nervous I could not sleep soundly, and was always tired and worn out. I had no appetite for anything but a few soft foods, and was so badly constipated that I had to use strong cathartics to move my bowels. I suffered from these conditions for years, and had taken enough medicine to fill a wagon, but got no relief. I finally decided to try Tanlac, and after taking two bottles I felt like a new man. I have taken six bottles in all, and am now fully recovered. I have gained 15 pounds in weight, my appetite is fine, I can eat anything I want, and sleep like a child. I have no more indigestion, constipation or backaches, and my kidneys are in fine shape. I have also taken Tanlac for other sick folks, and Tanlac is fine and has done them much good. I am glad to recommend Tanlac to my friends, as they know me and know what it has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls by Gamble Auto Supply Co., Grand Forks by Grand Forks Drug Co., and in Warren by Warren Drug Co.

Candy Sale-Play Ushers Matter at Junior Meet

The Junior class held a meeting in the room of the assembly Wednesday for the purpose of settling matters concerning the class play, "Seventeen." The motion that candy be sold at the play was defeated by a close vote. The question of whether the ushers should be Juniors or Seniors was left undecided.

Harriet Fuller, class president, appointed five ticket sale leaders, each to supervise a number of the class members. Marguerite Johnson, Frances Quindlos, Ruby Ihle, Maxville Gunderson, and Chester Myrum were named leaders.

The Service of Science

"Research has produced from a thing of pure science and shame, a theology into a fit partner in a really practical Economy."

This significant statement, made by Industrial Management, is illustrated by scientific work in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) where practical research as a definite part of operating and safeguarding the activities of the business.

Chemists and other research engineers, working in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are striving constantly to develop new and better products from crude petroleum.

Practical business men and scholarly scientists work together in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to keep the people of this State supplied with the best petroleum products at the lowest cost consistent with good quality.

The result of this remarkable partnership is an efficient organization that is improving it-self and the efficiency of manufacturing.

We are living in an era of scientific revolutions. New principles and new processes are replacing the old. New products are ever coming to the front, growing keener.

A business must be "on its toes" if it is to survive. Scientific work, which may seem theoretical and unnecessary to the unenlightened is really the most practical and vital part of industry.

The management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) always has realized the importance of scientific research.

Today the products of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), its processes and its methods of manufacture represent the application to industry of the most advanced scientific knowledge.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) recognizes the service of science in devising methods to eliminate waste, to conserve fuel supply, to develop new products and to cut costs, thus making the new petroleum products available to the public in the greatest yield obtainable in the shortest time and at the lowest substantially its cost of production.

Through the practical application of science to industry, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been able to do a big job in a big way; it has made the stock of the Company attractive to shareholders, provided employment for thousands and it has supplied the petroleum products needed to carry the ever-growing demands of the State of Illinois, in such a way as to speed and win their enthusiastic support and approval.

at Luncheon Last Week

The annual election of directors at the Thief River Falls Commercial club will be held on Thursday, Feb. 17, when seven directors will be elected to serve for a term of two years. Those whose terms expire this year are Thorsteen Thorsteenson, Daniel Shaw, Peter Jonstad, Dr. Hoff, Mallory and Mr. Andrews. Those holding over another year are Dr. H. W. Froehlich, Adam Sverdrup, F. H. Herrick, H. A. Brumund, W. L. Dahlquist, and F. J. Stebbins.

A large crowd attended last Thursday's meeting, which numerous community matters were given consideration.

It was decided that the club sponsor a dog derby, a committee composed of Hoy Lambert, F. J. Stebbins and W. E. Dahlquist being named to take charge of arrangements.

Then, R. Lake, secretary of the Parent-Teachers Association asked that the Lake move interest in school affairs by attending meetings of the association, the next one to be held next Tuesday.

A complete report of the $17,500 collected in the recent Red Cross relief drive was given by Rev. H. L. Talkdason, chairman.

Then, Quale urged that the legislative committee of the club keep in touch with matters of importance to the city in the present session, and if necessary send a representative to the capital. Warren's connection in such a project was discussed, and Andrew Ness, a county commissioner reported that the county commissioners had been making improvements and had reached between Pennington and the Polk county line and the state highway department for the proper expenditure of available funds. Mr. Ness also reported that the state highway department has plans completed for early completion of the Thief River Falls-Goodridge road. Mr. Ness' report was urged by Dr. J. T. CITY MAY PAVE MAIN-RIVERSIDE

Sixth Street Project Dropped Following Hearing; Special Session Ensues

Opposition to the proposed paving of two additional blocks on Main avenue was voiced at the special meeting of the council held last Thursday evening, and at the regular meeting on the night of this week. The objectors were present last Thursday night in person, but Tuesday night three petitions were presented in opposition to the proposition, the Sixth street one being signed by 28 persons, this one objecting to the three blocks immediately south of the Great Northern tracks having a signatures, while the one for the block just above Third street Lane bill had the names of 7 property owners.

The result of the two meetings was the decision of the council not to pave Sixth street, nor the single block on Riverside, but to have plans and specifications prepared for the three blocks on Main and Riverside, where the petitions were signed by 75 per cent, when bids on the work will be called for, and if not deemed too high the work will then proceed.

At last Thursday's hearing Engineer Stevenson presented the following estimate of cost for the proposed pavement: Sixth street five blocks, asphaltic concrete, $80,500; bituthitic, $33,-750; concrete, $82,875. On the basis of the use of concrete the refundment from the state would be about $10,000 and the city would pay $4,900 for intersections, leaving $2,500 to be assessed to the property owners, which would be a total of $270 for the first lot, $135 for the second lot, and $67.50 for each of the next four lots in the abutting block to be assessed.

Riverside, three blocks, asphaltic, $30,000; bituthitic, $25,000; cement concrete, $24,500; refundment from state, $9,000, from city for intersections, $2,000; leaving $13,500 to be assessed against properties, an average of $90 per lot, or $180 per acre along the highway being $67.50.

In the block 1st to 2nd, which was a part of the trunk highway system the assessment would be $180 for a total of $360 for paving the four lots abutting.

At the regular meeting of the council Tuesday evening the following bills were allowed: Thief River Falls Water, Light & Power Co., $1,000; Thief River Falls Water, Light & Power Co., $1,000; and duly ordered paid by the auditor, all of which were presented by the representatives of the Times Publishing company, the publishers of the Times, and will appear in the two succeeding issues. The statement was presented to the county auditor's office and has been approved by the county commissioners. A summary of the statement with 1925 comparisons has appeared in a previous issue of The Times.

ANOTHER ELECTION AT HAND

Just on the smoke of battle is clearing away from the election, the voters are again urged to get ready for another—the annual election of officers in the villages and townships on Tuesday, March 8. There at least some of the voters of the state legislature due to be called to the polls five times in less than a year, twice in the general election, prior in the presidential election this month, and again next month. This should provide plenty of exercise at the ramshackle for one season.

Township meetings in the spring call for the attention by the voters of one supervisor, town clerk, and treasurer. The township assessor is also an elective officer as are the justices of the peace and constables.

The annual town meeting day is of importance in many townships for it is at that time that tax levies for the township are fixed, plans made for building and maintaining highways, and other township affairs adjusted.

In each village, where the election takes place in March, there will be elected a village president, one member of the board of trustees, a village clerk and an assessor.

The road outlook is none too rosy. There is a shortage of some kind and rubber gravel quality is scarce. In a few years paving will be made general. The Better Road special train, every one much beneficial information about this line and farmers who attended the meetings here are all most valuable suggestions on good problems.

An invitation has been extended to President Coolidge that he spend his vacation next summer at Glenwood, Pierce county, and we'll invite the president to enjoy a summer's vacation on the famous Trout-water lake within his dominions. MUST KEEP ON SAVING 90-YR. OLD VETERAN

This may seem like a hard winter for many folks to contend with, but those who do not know the hardships of the old days, when heavy snows and severe cold were the order of the day, should not complain. Not so with Samuel J. Patton, Civil war veteran of this city, who hasn't minded the cold, drifts or storms in the winter for nearly 84 years. He was afforded a car but what he is still able to walk to the library, and he never fails to go to church on Sunday morning.

"If I stopped taking my walks and exercises I would soon have to stay in bed," said an old man as I quietly sat. Grandpa Patton yesterday told a Times representative while down-town in Friday's storm.

Herman Haugen has been added to the creamery force as assistant.

Schig to Washington

Congressman-elect C. G. Selvig of Crookston left last week for Washington, D. C., following the closing of the Winter Shows which he headed.

He will attend the Republican caucus on February 21 but will arrive there earlier in order to be on hand to assist Jos. A. Otis in his campaign for speaker. Mr. Selvig is also a candidate for speaker.

The election committee of the house made final disposition of the Goldsdale-Youngdale election contest seven days ago. Mr. Youngdale is given the seat, in accordance with the finding of the district court of Hennepin county.

Almost the same time, the senate election committee rendered its verdict in the case against Senator Eric Svenson, brought by John G. Peake, his defeated opponent in the election. While the committee does not criticize the attack waged upon Mr. Svenson by the Minneapolis Chronicle the day before election and intimates that Mr. Svenson had known that these attacks were being planned, it finds that Mr. Svenson is entitled to his seat.

Only one election contest now remains unsettled—that against Senator A. L. Lomen of Minneapolis, who is likely to remain in the legislature to defend his seat. How soon this will come to a close depends on how soon the committee of that body will be ready to report. There will be a hearing on it tonight, and action may be taken by the committee soon afterward.

Some time ago it was announced that Senator Widdell of Meeker would call for an investigation of the state rural credits bureau. This bureau was established by the legislature of 1925 and began functioning during the summer of that year. It was not long before charges were made that the bureau was doing business inefficiently and recklessly; that loans were made without adequate security; that the state was used as a cloak by certain bankers who were anxious to unload upon the commonwealth bad loans that politicians with a pull got big loans on farms that were half mortgaged; that unless a halt were called upon the recklessness and extravagance, the state would be caught with thousands of run-down farms on its hands, etc. As a result of these charges, the legislature of 1925 made a careful investigation of the bureau. Much to criticism was found and recommendations for changes in the law and in the future conduct of the bureau were made. Governor Christianson, one of the leaders in the fight to establish the bureau, appointed a new board, composed of Senator Olaf Hagen, H. H. Flowers, and Ludvig Gullickson of the attorney general's office. It was understood that these men would tighten the policy of the rural credits bureau with respect to making loans, and the report they have just filed bears out this expectation. Outstanding features of the bureau's record are these:

A total of 1,258 loans closed in the eighteen months ending December 31, 1926, aggregating $7,685,000, of which there were 88 delinquents.

No foreclosures on mortgages signed during the eighteen months of the existence of the new board.

A net income of $227,447 from a total revenue of $464,725.

In its report the board shows the sources of its revenue as interest earnings, $297,333.90; application fees, $14,700.00; miscellaneous revenues, $1,293.83; interest on bank deposits, $151.27.

Senator Widdell's resolution for another investigation of the rural credits bureau has not yet been introduced, and it may be that the report just presented has forestalled such action.

The small loans or loan sharks issue is still before the legislature, notwithstanding the action of the house in killing, in committee of the whole, the bill sponsored by the Small Loan Foundation, which would place small loan companies under the supervision of the state banking department and limit the interest rate to three and a half per cent per month or forty-two per cent per year. With Representative W. J. Morton of Minneapolis taking the lead, the house voted to reconsider its action on the bill and then, having restored it to life, sent it back to the committee on public welfare for further consideration.

The automobile and motorcycle drivers are coming in for a great deal of attention at the hands of the lawmakers. An important bill just introduced by Senator Sheehan of Minneapolis and others would cut the auto license tax in two and raise the gasoline tax to three cents per gallon. Another bill, just introduced by Representative Wefald of Moorhead, would increase the penalty for driving while under the influence of liquor to a minimum of $100 and thirty days in jail, or a maximum of $500 and six months in the county jail. Another bill would make it a misdemeanor to operate a motor vehicle while drunk, with the penalty a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment. Another bill would make it a felony to operate a motor vehicle while drunk, with the penalty a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment in the state prison for not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment. Another bill would make it a misdemeanor to operate a motor vehicle while drunk, with the penalty a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment. LEGISLATURE BECOMING MORE ACTIVE

Special to The Times

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 15.—The week has been a busy one with the legislature. The 67th bill calling for a constitutional amendment to the Volstead act, or in its permit the sale of beverages containing not to exceed a public hearing before the senate committee on judiciary last week, but no action was taken except to refer a public hearing to the committee. The bill carries the provision that if that would not be binding upon congress, and they too should fail to act, then the people of Minnesota will up a referendum at the next election. Minnesota congressmen and senators will take heed of the popular will and vote accordingly immediately. There will have nothing to lose by the public sentiment for or against a referendum.

The joint committee of house and senate, appointed to study the bank law situation, is busily framing some measure new, and is hearing from various bankers and from Mr. Vlegel, the state superintendent of banks. Almost without exception, the banking fraternity are opposed to all forms of bank guaranty, urging instead a more rigid system of inspection and greater care in the management of financial institutions.

A bill sponsored by Senator Fred W. Benette of Orr placed before the committee of the Senate the proposition of putting a 2-cent stamp tax on cigarette packages to aid counties in paying under the adjacent land bill. More than $764,000 in taxes on state land and $2,000 town, village and city lots in the 14 counties are delinquent on taxes.

The counties affected are Lake of the Woods, Roseau, Pine, Pennington, Marshall, Mahnomen, Koochiching, Hubbard, Clearwater, Beltrami, Lake, Cass, Cook and Lake.

The committee known as the "North-west Minnesota Tax Committee" has been formed to consider the situation in these counties. Others of the committee are Representative W. E. Haslerud of Two Harbors, president, and Representative Romona C. Payne of Ball Club, secretary.

The county and the 65th district have had a pleasant time exciting and trying times and as usual justice and fair-play have prevailed. At the meeting of the Guernsey association, addresses were made by C. B. Finley, field representative of the American Guernsey club, St. Paul, and Carl B. Musser, secretary of the American Guernsey club, Peterboro, New Hampshire. Both of these addresses were over the Guernsey prospects in the Red River Valley and were especially pleased with the Guernsey exhibits at the show.

In speaking of the growth and development of the American Guernsey cattle club, Mr. Musser stated that they had been organized fifty years ago. Each year, he said, there has been an increase in the number of registrations and transfers. The club is now one of the largest organizations to start yearly production records, said Mr. Musser, and the number of such advanced registry records has increased from 1,000 to 3,000 yearly. In his remarks, Mr. Musser said, the Guernsey has averaged 5000.00.

The Guernsey breeders as the improvement of the Guernsey breed was discussed by Mr. Finley who stressed the opportunities open to the Guernsey breeders in the Red River Valley.

Officers elected Mr. Finley said they were good since were being used in the Red River valley and said that the valley depended largely on getting a larger number of high grade sires.

A Red River Valley Beekeepers' association was formed at a meeting Thursday for the purpose of improving conditions in the valley. The work will better marketing conditions. Ole Hanson of Grand Forks was elected president and T. E. Thorfinnson, Hallock, secretary. A summer meeting will be held in the honey producing center of each county.

DRAMATIC SUCCESS MADE IN STAGING SEVENTEEN' FRI

Leslie Rumbold, Lorraine Hallmeier, and Gladys Weeks Lead Well-directed Cast

Another proof that there is latent dramatic genius concealed in Lincoln's student body was disclosed Friday night at the city auditorium, when the Junior class presented the popular Booth Tarkington comedy "Seventeen."

[illegible] that his age ought to be considered," in a true-to-life manner, just as any real boy experiencing the first call of Cupid, might. The audience reclaimed and screamed as Willie's mood changed to [illegible]

Miss Lois Pratt, the "baby-talk lady," [illegible] Willie's private affairs. Lorraine Zellmer, naturally a diminutive freshman, was perfectly adapted to [illegible] little girl role of the terrible Jane.

Gladys Weeks, as Lola Pratt the "baby-talk lady," occupied the second highest place of interest, since she was the cause of Willie's misery, as well as those of all the other young men in town, and effected their relations in the comedy greatly.

[illegible] Willie's father, George Crocker, who should be given special mention as the "big fat fiasmus," the rival of all the young men who eventually won Lola through his corpulent self-interest, was Kenald Kingbard himself, well-known through the acting in two Llewlin operettas.

"Billy Bill" had one person seriously concerned about his career both in society and the world in his mother, Mrs. Baxter, very ably portrayed by Gladys Kendall. Dr. Baxter, [illegible]

Some of the pretty young debutantes who fluttered in the path of Lola [illegible] Nia Watson really preferred to the "baby-talk lady," and who was hostess to the famous lady, and Mary Brooks, whom love beckoned in the way of Wallie Banks (George Williamson), Peggy Shaw gracefully acted as hostess to Lola, as well as sweetheart to Johnnie. Lucille Larson, although carrying a lesser role, claimed notice in a truly debutante poise.

Although a new girl to the heart and young women of the town, Ethel Hake soon met the audience through her well-flower activities, trying to capture poor Willie for a dance. The part called for humor, and no one could have carried the role more successfully than Nora Burk. Lincoln's [illegible]

Poor Mr. Parcher was the outstanding sufferer in the courtship of Willie and Miss Pratt, but decided to make the best of it, after he learned that "she was finally going home." Utter devotion, and all the [illegible] vicissitudes of loving father, but decidedly not love-lick one, were shown by [illegible]

Twelve Years OF DEPENDABILITY

It was Dodge Brothers distinction, twelve years ago, to create a more dependable car in its price class than previously had been known.

This enviable leadership Dodge Brothers have rigidly maintained.

Wherever difficult conditions try the souls of men and the stamina of motor cars, you will find Dodge Brothers product foremost in favor.

You will find also that the sight and even two years of service are not the measure for the car; that frequently it delivers endless mileage well into its fourth and that endorsement rests increasingly now throughout its long and useful life.

These facts powerfully witness Dodge Brothers success in consistently bettering a product that was exceptional even at the start.

The relief bill, introduced by Senator McNary and Congressman Haugen, are making steady progress in the view of farm leaders in Washington.

The McNary bill was favorably reported by the Senate Committee on Agriculture, by a vote of 14 to 6, and the Haugen bill was unanimously reported out by the House committee. The measure will be taken up by the Senate starting the 15th Friday by a 47 to 39 vote, the final hearing being set for March 1.

This action is interpreted by farm leaders as indicative of the increased strength which has been gained by the measure since it was defeated by the last session of congress. They are confident that the chances for its enactment are better at this time than they have been in the past and they are busily mobilizing the sentiment of the 1927 congress for favorable action during the session of Congress.

WHO WILL SIGN IT?

Governor Christianson has called a special session of the legislature, but designed to provide farm relief, but even now there is no indication that the governor will be able to sign it, unless he is willing to accept the Nonpartisan views for the bill in the Northwest and Commercial Association for the relief sentiment is developing. The small group of millionaires, business men who represent the big interests, have now taken their position from the bill. Similarly, the bankers and all but one congressman voted for the bill.

THREE WAYS TO HELP

All of us have made New Year's resolutions. If not in public, then to ourselves. Most all of us let the matter slide with the first of the year. Some of us resolve that we will be able to better along some line.

All of us have our illusions, too, and a good share of prejudices. Even the most skeptical of people carry in their hearts a belief in something or other that keeps them going.

Many folks possess an earnest desire to "save" or "reform" or help other people. And some make headway, but in the final analysis there isn't much one person can do for another except by fair and kind assistance and helpful influence whenever the opportunity arises.

We might all resolve to practice kindness, fairness and helpfulness during the year, and make an honest effort to stick to the resolution. Then this would be a better community and it would prosper and grow.

But isn't it remarkable how earnestly we can resolve, and then forget most of our resolutions?

PROTEST RATE INCREASE

Farmers of this territory are protesting against the attempt to be made by the railroads to raise the freight rates on hay approximately 30 per cent. It is held that the rates on hay are now about prohibitive. On 300 mile distance it is proposed to advance the rate from 7½ to 17 cents per hundred and for 75 miles from 17½ to 22 cents. Protests are made to the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission.

A LA POETRY

The following poem was received the other day by Sup. J. O. Melby, of Oklee, from his lodge inquiry of his brother-in-law, Olaf Thompson, of Oklee, for suggestions relative to legislation. Thompson, Melby took the form of poetry, as follows:

We were settin' there 'n smokin'
Of our pipes, discussin' things
Like taxes, votes for wimmin',
An' fatherless children of kings.
When up and strode a whiskered
With his hand an' ax to me,
"Change," says he, "you legislators
Gotta make this wgrld much better,
Unless somebody do it."
Find a way to make it better
Ah' it don't start o' mine,
The trouble ain't with statutes
Or anything else at all,
It's the human gol dern are,
Ah' their petty ways an' small
We could scan our writin' law books
An' our regulatin' rules
If a better sort o' manhood
Was the product of our schools;
For the things that we are needin'
Ain't writin' from a pen,
Or bigger guns fo shoot with,
But a bigger type o' MEN.

Keep Eliminative System Active

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

ONE can't feel well when there is a retention of poisonous waste in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and languid. Other symptoms are sometimes pain in the backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or too frequent passages of secretions. Many people have learned the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, when the kidneys seem functionally inactive. Everywhere one finds satisfied Doan's users. Ask your neighbor!

FROM OUR READERS ON SECRETARY HAUGEN'S BILL

Editor Times:

When Secretary Haugen, backing some unscrupulous members of the Agricultural Committee, put over the McNary-Haugen bill, they pushed out on the market a "gold brick" that is going to cost the farmers of the country a lot of money. Secretary Haugen is a Republican and a member of the Republican party. He is supposed to be working for the welfare of the Republican party. Therefore, when he pushed out a measure which he knew would be a boomerang to the party, he was guilty of political suicide. Haugen is not a fool. He knows that the McNary-Haugen bill was a fake. He knows that it will not help the farmer. He knows that it will not help the Republican party. He knows that it will not help himself politically. He knows that it will not help the country at large

BABCOCK ROAD PROGRAM IS ENDORSED

Commercial Club Joins Other Civic Groups in Backing Highway Dept.

A resolution, similar to that previously passed by the Rotary and Auto clubs, endorsing the Minnesota state highway commissioner and department, and its proposed program as set for the coming two years, with the exception of the $20,000,000 bond issue, was passed by the Commercial club last Thursday. The resolution was introduced by Theo. Quale of the legislative committee, who spoke in behalf of the department and its program, as did C. H. Johnston of the road committee and others.

A similar resolution was passed at a brief session of the Pennington county board Tuesday afternoon.

In opposition to the repeal at this time of the Dunn law providing for a one-mill tax for highway purposes, the resolution states that the benefits this plan has worked to the benefit of the people are apparent throughout all of the state and that it has been and will be the means of improving much of the newer rural sections of our state which would otherwise not be improved for many years to come.

The plan of diverting a portion of the automobile license fee tax to the several counties of the state is also opposed, the present arrangement being that in 1927 $10,276 in 1910, and $5,767 in 1926 was returned to the counties considered a good barometer of the city's business activities.

Postage stamps and stock sold in the Thief River Falls postoffice has made the usual annual increase, reflecting a healthy business condition in the city, according to the 1926 report of Postmaster Daniel Shaw, a interesting to note the rapid gain in postal receipts here, which in 1916 totaled $27,045.96, as compared with $24,614 in 1922; $21,567 in 1921; $19,276 in 1919, and $15,767 in 1916, which figures are considered a good barometer of the city's business activities.

Postage stamps and stock sold in the Thief River Falls postoffice during this fiscal year totaled $25,370.10 for the last year, divided among the four quarters as follows: $5,383.10, first; $4,812.40, second; $5,783.85, third, and $8,448.75, fourth quarter, the last quarter of which includes the Christmas business, which was the largest in the history of the office.

Box rentals amounted to $1045, which is a little more than last year, but not all of them are rented.

A total of $1,170 postcards were issued at the Thief River Falls office during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, and 1,546 C. O. D. parcels were sent out in the same period.

The total out at the opening that the mill to divert a portion of the state highway funds to the various counties is a failure, $3

A CREDITABLE MOVE

People generally will approve of the plan which the city council has made in inspecting the sewer plant at the city's home, for it will result in greater operating economy for the sleuth right from the start and will improve power and light service.

Since the present plant at Grand Forks was installed different methods have been in operation—with the result of the sewer light department has showed itself a steady revenue producer for the city, until today it has in its credit on the city clerk's books a credit of over $200 000. Seldom, if ever, has there been such a condition to be found, and the efficient manner in which the two plants have been operated is worthy of notice.

With over $50,000 already on hand, and two years settlement in sight within the time the dam will be completed together with earnings from the electric light fund, there will be sufficient money on hand to take care of the cost of the improvements contemplated for, thus doing away with the necessity of issuing bonds or certificates of indebtedness.

This city will in the near future have in its credit one of the best hydro power plants in the entire northwest.

THE MCNARY-HAUGEN BILL

A resolution urging President Coolidge to sign the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was unanimously adopted by the Commercial club at its regular meeting last Thursday. This action was called to the attention of the president by means of a telegram sent that evening.

However, the president vetoed the bill the following day, Friday, accompanying his veto with a lengthy message to Congress, putting forth his reasons for the measure. He declared that the proposal is unsound, entered on economic grounds, that it would be unworkable, and would not bring relief to the farmer.

The chief executive asserted that the bill's equalization fee on cotton, corn, wheat, rice, and tobacco was tantamount to discriminating price-fixing was an "unreasonable fallacy" which would not benefit the farmer, would raise the cost of living and operate to the injury of the general welfare. He objected also, to the power to be given the proposed farm board under the bill, asserting that without appeal the board "could set unreasonable prices with a legal sanction that would preclude prosecution under the anti trust laws." He said the administrative features of the plan were enough to wreck it.

University Versus The Big Three

Test Is the Biggest Issue Now Before Congress, Says Senator Frazier, Republican Progressive From North Dakota—Speaks Before Legislative Committee of State's Colleges of 1925 Remodeled.

By Martin W. Gittard

St. Paul, Minn., March 1.—The University of Minnesota versus the "Big Three" group of 1925 was the issue before the legislative committee of the Minnesota house of representatives which met in the capitol here today. The "Big Three" group of 1925 consisted of the regents of the University, and the University has appealed to the legislature for more generous treatment. At the present session the governor has recommended a liberal appropriation for the university. Tonight, President Coffman and W. S. Campbell, chairman of the board of regents, urged their case in very earnest manner before the committee. Senator Frazier, republican progressive from North Dakota, was also present and spoke briefly in favor of the appropriation.

Senator Frazier said in part: "Congress is now before the issue of the Mississippi valley. Its problems are of national importance. The University of Minnesota has been a leader in this matter, and you are already laying plans for continuing the work in the next session.

It is pointed out that efforts have been made the last few years to pass farm legislation. Both the Minnesota senator, Shipstead and Ladd, and the entire Congressional delegation in the lower house with the exception of Congressman Newton of Minneapolis voted for the McNary-Haugen bill. Congressman Welsh of the third district worked hard for the measure, and Congressman-elect Selvig called on the president shortly before the vote during his favorable action. The bill which calls for definite appropriations for the entire university system. The appropriation item for the university is left blank, to be filled later by the vote of the people at the polls.

Entertainment of the university hospital for care of patients amounts to more than $175,000. Plans for the various branch agricultural schools are sought by Dean Boddy of the agricultural department of the university. Also, a request for $100,000 for the state experimental farm at Grand Rapids, and $50,000 for the state experimental farm at Crookston. BYE SPEAKS IN R. I. P.

Supt. Morris Bye was the principal speaker at the second annual Father and Son banquet held in the Lincoln hotel at Red Lake Falls Tuesday night last week, attended by 250 persons. The Red Lake Falls Gazette comments on his talk as follows:

"Be a real companion, a real companion, a real dad to your son, that is the most important work of a dad. Sometimes spent with your son each day is a good habit," said Mr. Bye in speaking to the dads. "Take your son into your confidence, or he will be telling his dreams or his ideas to some one else. Your boy is more than a commodity of meat, bone, muscle, etc., and he should not be treated as such."

The speaker asked "Where is a city that is free from crime?" Not one of them replied and none can get an answer. "Where is a city that is free from graft?" Not one. "Where is a city that is free from quarrels?" Not one. "Where is a city that is free from divorces?" Not one.

In speaking to the boys Mr. Bye said, "Boys, you are the men of tomorrow. Mr. Bye's advice to the boys was: "Be clean in your dealings with your fellowmen; play fair in athletics and in your studies; be courteous to your elders; don't be afraid to say 'No'; don't drink, smoke or chew; don't gamble; don't use slang; don't be afraid to work; don't be afraid to study; don't be afraid to play; don't be afraid to pray; don't be afraid to love your mother and father and son was most practical and goes to show that he has had plenty of experience with boys. The local fans had therefore [illegible] visiting team, and rause in huge numbers to see the locals settle accounts. The game ended with the locals playing up a 28 to 26 victory, but only after a hard fight from start to finish. The Argyle men are big and husky and rough in proportion. Some of the reference books which were considered are: "Century Atlas." "Who's Who in America," the "Reader's Almanac," "Legislative Manuals," "Dictionary of Classics and Authors," and special sections of Webster's Unabridged dictionary.

Much interest was centered on the periodicals. The Thief River Falls [illegible] magazines, and the daily Congressional Records. To test the students' ability in using library material and to help advantage, and to give them actual practice in using the library, sets of questions for reference work were prepared and assigned by Miss Leavitt.

The lessons are typical [illegible] sessions, and will undoubtedly be more interested in completing future reference work.

Flying and Business

Fifty years ago people would have laughed at the suggestion that there might be a close relation between man's desire to fly and practical business.

Today flying is no longer a dream but a reality—and big business is making use of aviation.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has found the airplane to be a most valuable business asset.

From the beginning the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has had great faith in the future of commercial aviation and has made a practical contribution to its development.

Anticipating the growth of commercial aviation, the Company foresaw the necessity of new and special products from petroleum, and immediately set out to develop them with scientific thoroughness.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was successful in perfecting products to meet all the requirements of aviation.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures a large part of the gasoline and lubricating oil used by airplanes and motors in the world.

The faith of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in commercial aviation has proved well founded.

It is estimated that between 3,000 and 5,000 airplanes are now in commercial use in this country, leading Dr. Dye, "the first of the real air mail transportation—and there are 3,000 landing fields in the United States.

The U. S. Air Mail, inaugurated on June 15, 1918, is the most successful exploit of its kind in the world. A total of approximately six million letters are flown by air mail planes annually. Much of the time is done at night, and routes which total 9,000 miles are covered with systematic regularity.

The U. S. Air Mail is a dependable, nation-wide [illegible] service, rendered at a cost [illegible] because this service of speed in communication is needed in every part of the country. Industry is rapidly appreciating its tremendous commercial value.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that the remarkable development of commercial aviation in the past year is preparation for a brilliant future.

Stimulus and growth through proper direction and control is assured through the issuance by the Department of Commerce of the Air Regulations for civil aviation.

Flying is becoming an increasingly important part of American business life.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) appreciates the value of commercial aviation in its own business of serving the thirty million people of the Middle West with constantly increasing efficiency and skill.

T. R. F. ELIMINATED BY WARREN IN B. B. TOURNAMENT 13-16

Warren Wins District No. 1 Championship by Defeating Stephen 29 to 10

The exciting and the closest game of the district No. 1 basketball tournament held at Warren Thursday and Friday was the Warren-Thief River Falls game Thursday afternoon. The score was 16-13 in favor of Warren. The game was the hardest fought game of the tournament by a 16-13 score, Warren captured the district title by defeating Stephen Friday night 29 to 10.

Because both teams were evenly matched the decision was doubtful until the final whistle blew. A rapid passing game was displayed by both teams during the first three periods, but in the last period the players were not so clever in taking advantage of it. The ball traveled back and forth from one team to the other in a swift manner because of exceptionally close guarding.

Play gradually speeded up until the fourth period when the playing was the fastest during the entire tournament. Warren was particularly adept in taking advantage of each other's errors, and made quite a few of their best plays by intercepting passes and overhead passes. Hendrickson, Manley and Scanlon served to carry the ball for scores the greater part of the game.

Ray Ose, captain of the Whipsets, led the scoring for the Lincoln team and played a stellar game throughout.

Thief River Falls showed up with a flashy basketball form and could be found in the midst of the fray at all times.

Ray Wengeler, "Boomer" Dahlow, and "Kenny" Ericson, all made a fine tournament debut and showed promise of their playing, but because of their good opponents were held down.

Harry Hendrickson was given an opportunity to show his ability as a substitute for "Kenny" Ericson, and filled the place in a creditable fashion.

Officially, basketball fans, and local rooters were unanimous in declaring Thief River Falls a real team playing real basketball but although they are not district champions their record is Visiting Teams Introduced in "Chalk Talks"

The greatest high school tournament ever held in Thief River Falls, Feb. 23, 24, 25, 26, was brought to a successful close Saturday night, when Warren defeated Stephen in the championship game by a score of 29 to 10.

Superintendent Morris Rye, in a very appropriate and sincere address welcomed the teams to the city, which was over-run by "Lars" Thorp raised the cheering of Lincoln to its highest point when he presented, aisply, the Whippets to our guests.

Tournament Returns Are Received at Times Office

While "The Whippets" struggled in vain for victory over at Warren while the handful of Thief River Falls rooters cheered them on to their endeavors, the rest of the city crowded the offices of The Times and Western Union.

Returns were received by The Times by telephone at the end of each quarter. As a sufficient number of persons responded to make it possible to run the special train contemplated for Thursday evening.

Masses of students and townsfolk, gathered at the depot, by the way, Wm. Shea, cheered the fellows away on the train that morning, moved from bulletin to bulletin in a high state of enthusiasm.

And the boys, over in a foreign town, knew—and appreciated. They never asked us to "cheer them" knew their thanks in the student-body cheers, who accompanied them to Warren and raised the roof with their

Who Manages the Standard Oil Company? (Indiana)

"A composite picture of the Board of Directors would show a striking preponderance of the type of man who has risen from the humblest position through sheer ability and has received what education he possesses from experience in the school of hard knocks rather than in academic circles."

The Literary Digest gives the above account of the men who manage the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The Board of Directors of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is composed of ten members—

COLLECTIONS OF P. P. TAX FAVORABLE

January-February Tax Receipts Nearly $57,000; City Has 55 Delinquents

Total tax receipts of $48,716.65 for February are reported by County Treasurer John Gullingsrud. Last year the receipts for the corresponding month were $48,896. However, current tax collections this year are greater—$36,961.85, as compared with $37,582 in 1926, and the tax levy is lower.

In January this year tax collections amounted to $14,449.35, including $6,206.72 current tax money, making a total of $50,922.77 collected in the first two months of 1926, leaving personal property. Of the $7,422.77 the sum of $4,531.21 is delinquent real money and $7,717.95 delinquent real estate taxes. This is considered a good showing, and an improvement over recent years.

The last week before March 1, when the 10 per cent levy was attached, was a busy one in the treasurer's office, nearly $8,000 in current personal property taxes being collected during that brief time.

Next month the county treasurer will file a list of the delinquents with the clerk of court, who will issue summons to these warrants to the sheriff for collection, prior to Monday, 15 of the personal property taxpayers in Thief River Falls had not paid their allotment.

Owners of real estate have until the first day of June before the penalty of 10 per cent must be paid without a penalty. Only about 50 per cent of the taxes has to be paid in May, and if this is done the remainder can be split in half until the last of October without penalty.

Approximately 14.7 per cent of the Pennington county tax levy, payable in 1926, was delinquent on January 1, 1927, according to figures submitted by the tax delinquency bureau to the state auditor in a survey of the delinquent tax situation in the state, one northern Minnesota county as high as 60 per cent delinquent and an effort is being made to improve conditions thru state legislation. The 14.7 per cent levy, for taxes payable in 1926, totaled $48,645, of which $34,882.40 had been collected by the first of the year. Of the 1925 levy, 96.47 per cent was collected January 1, 1926.

PLANS FOR STATE ROAD BY MAVIE HAVE BEEN FINISHED

Plans for three and one-half miles of state trunk highway between Mavie and the Marshall county line, and for the Marshall county bridge at Mavie, have been completed by Highway Commissioner R. H. Rued and submitted to the state highway department for approval. The survey was done during the past summer, and the plans were completed this winter. The bridge will be 300 feet long, and the road will be 24 feet wide, designed to meet the requirements of the federal government. The cost of this construction is estimated at some over $5,000.

G. C. PAULSON IS ELECTED SECRETARY OF ELKS LODGE

Oscar C. Paulson was elected secretary of the Thief River Falls lodge of Elks at the annual election Friday night. He succeeds E. P. Dolan, who has served as the lodge's secretary since its organization with the exception of two years when the late T. J. Austad held the office. Other officers elected are as nominated and listed in a previous issue of The Times, headed by C. Sterholm as exalted ruler, succeeding E. R. Dahlen, whose term will be installed at the April 1 meeting, and it is expected that Al. Anderson will be the installing officer.

Pleasing features of Friday's meeting were the declamations by Misses Bertha Stanley and Gladys Weeks, winners in the recent high school declamatory contest. Miss Stanley's dramatic rendition of "Bells of Times" and Miss Florence Barclay and Miss Weeks' reverse, a humorous selection, "Betty at the Ball Game" by Walter Ben Hare, both of which were well received.

The following program in the elementary contest, Peggy Hamp and Kara Byre, will appear on the program for March 16, when there will also be initiation.

MILK SUPPLY IN T. R. F. IS GIVEN HIGH RATING

Thief River Falls and Detroit Lakes are the only two cities in northern Minnesota which the quality of city milk supplied to consumers has been rated as high enough to meet the required standard as set by the state board of health, as brought out in tests supervised by the state dairy and food department.

This information was contained in the monthly report of Dairy Inspector L. E. Forte, who makes monthly tests of cream and milk supplies. He sent a representative here three times in order to get first hand information as to what the actual milk supply was, and he complimented Thief River Falls on having such a good supply of milk and cream.

The reports all winter showed that the milk was up to the 3.25 per cent standard for butterfat, with the requirement 3.5 for Minneapolis and St. Paul. Tests of the latter in the state showed that the lowest average was 3.50 per cent, between 40 or 50 per cent delinquent and an effort is being made to improve conditions thru state legislation. The 3.25 per cent law was passed by the 1925 legislature, and which goes into effect January 1, 1928.

CITY READY FOR SPRING

Spring, most beautiful of all seasons, is here, and Thief River Falls is responding to the calendar. True, of course, we shall have more blizzards and freezes before spring even after the season has arrived. There is however, a promise in the very air we breathe and the person who does not rejoice that God is in the world has a sad time of it.

We know that soon the sky will be dotted with the white fragments of cloud that the Master Artist is shaping into songs of gladness for the re-awakening of all love and joy in the hearts of men; that soon warmth will begin to thrust green sprouts out of the ground; that soon buds will begin to grow into blossoms; that soon birds will begin to build their homes; that soon children will begin to play outdoors without overcoats.

Spring is the season when all nature is busy and every human being is glad that he is living, regardless of the state. It is in the springtime that the visionary begins. Most critics think they know about nature and her phenomena.

And it is the season, most joyous of all, that many men, women and children find ready to hand the material to learn the secrets of the great outdoors.

When spring is near at hand, it is natural to experience that same thrill at the approach of the anticipated which children feel on Christmas eve and the day before some big event in their lives.

Nature will soon be lavish people out of their smug homes into the open. There will be different ways of enjoying the season, and those who do not get their full measure of pleasure out of it are to be pitied.

COMMUNITY HARMONY

Only one patriot pean ever lived on earth. This is a good thought to have in mind when we feel in the mood for condemning our friends and neighbors for their acts or imaginary faults. Every community will have its share of knockers and barrers if the people will not remember, "If there be one among you without sin, let him cast the first stone."

To paraphrase, "If there be one among us without fault, let him criticize others." In no sense of the word are we all live in glass houses, and anyone living in this type of house who throws stones may expect to get some windows broken.

It is a form of antisemitism that is malignantly deserved. None of us has reached the state of perfection where we can be holy in every particular and be saints. It is to the springtime that the visionary begins. Most critics think they know about nature and her phenomena.

W. H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau and a leader in the fight for passage of the Haugen-McNary farm relief bill, says the vote of the measure by Presidential Coolidge was "the greatest blow dealt to agriculture during my lifetime."

He charged the veto was an evasion of the issue. On the other hand, those opposed to the bill took upon the president's act as a very courageous one. In view of the widespread demand for it favor of the legislation.

The president has been told that his veto would be very unpopular in the states, and a writer of national reputation very aptly calls attention to the fact that the people who opposed the Haugen-McNary bill, the New York bankers and eastern capitalists—can create more favorable sentiment on the issue in a single week than 30,000,000 farmers in the nation can in any length of time.

The vote of the Haugen-McNary bill was undoubtedly a setback for agriculture, but not quite a tragedy. The evidence in favor of similar legislation is overwhelming—friends and neighbors for their acts or imaginary faults. Every community will have its share of knockers and barrers if the people will not remember, "If there be one among you without sin, let him cast the first stone."

SPACE GRAFTERS

The words of the press agent are many and glorious. They are the blood-curdling words of the newspaper fans. Every editor's desk is cluttered daily with a mass of material drawn by the free lance, the specialist and the space grafter. Each of these has a definite axe to grind, and the editor who mentions the superlative qualities of one or another product .He draws pay for stealing the space from the newspaper, that is the same as upon its advertising columns revenue.

Representatives of 350 chapters and over 18,000 members of the Minnesota Farm Bureau will gather in the St. Paul today and tomorrow for the annual convention of the organization. The Thief River Falls chapter is not entitled to delegates. The state legislature will be asked by the convention to pass the referendum bill.

Developments in the fight between a powerful faction in the legislature and the administration over University and school appropriations have been of much importance. Early in the week 26 senators joined in introducing a bill appropriating $4,350,000 over the budget estimate of the "Big Three." The total school aid appropriation proposed is $10,782,241, as against $11,000,000 in the budget of the "Big Three."

About 2,000 bills have now been introduced, but less than 40 have so far become laws and none of these are of local importance. The attorney general has ruled that March 25 is the last day for introducing bills, except by committees or at the request of the governor, and that April 21 is the last day for passing bills.

The special committee of senators and representatives that went to Omaha and Lincoln to study the Nebraska system of taxation and the operation of a similar law in Minnesota will shortly make its report. The committee is composed of Senators Miller, Senn and Moulstead, Representatives Schmidt, Campbell and Investigation by Senate Committee.

St. Paul, Minn., March 15.—Rev. W. B. Riley's anti-evolution bill is dead. It was killed in the senate this morning after visiting vote of 35 to 7, after the senate committee had refused to report it favorably. The action in the senate was taken in this bill by the public at large than in any other bill that has been introduced at this session. Petitions and resolutions have been developed by letters and petitions asking them to vote for or against the bill, and on the public hearing Wednesday night more than 1,000 people crowded the senate chamber to hear arguments. At this hearing Rev. Riley "the fight for the bill, urging it passage because it is consistent with the constitutional; is manifestly in popular demand; is manifestly fair; restricts no scientific research, and is the only means of obtaining redress."

President to Dr. Coffman of the University of Minnesota was the foremost opponent of the bill, where before President L. W. Boe of St. Olaf College, Rev. J. O. Rue of the Central Lutheran church of Minneapolis, Rev. Theodore L. Hickman of the Wesley Foundation, Rev. Dr. Ward and Mrs. J. G. King, president of the University Women of the state. The thing that seemed to count the most against the bill was the feeling among lawmakers that the enactment of the measure would be a reactionary move, and that it would be a step toward tending to restrict freedom of thought and speech. The fact that the unqualified approval of American civilization has been possible because of the freedom of teaching in schools and colleges, and that the proposed act would destroy intellectual integrity.

The "do-nothing" "do-little" senate has become a law last week when the senate followed the lead of the house and, firing it a substantial majority. The bill or law provides that in the three largest counties of the state, or, who has served three years or more, can be removed except after a charge has been preferred by the county board of commissioners. Before finally in its application to the three cities it was first put at 10,000. Yet it was lowered in the state as a whole, but in the three it has been an outstanding issue for several years, and all candidates for the legislature at the last election were pledged to vote for or against the bill. Agitation for the new law was on the part of the "big three" commissioners because they have been unseated by the board of education of Minneapolis on the recommendation of the city superintendent of schools.

It is confidently expected that when Senator Thomas D. Schall arrives from Washington, to attend the hearings of the special committee of five senators, who are to look into the charges that the blind senator committed a felony when he accepted a free pass on the railroads. There will be a hot time in St. Paul. The senator sounded a blast of rare old defiance at Washington when the investigation was ordered and on television to the daily papers in which he charged that the investigation is nothing but party politics, and he also intimates that the "game" hit upon the probe to divert attention from the so-called "state treasury scandal." Mr. Schall is now on his way home from Washington, and before another letter is sent out it is expected that the investigation will be well under way.

A. N. Jacobs will, it is believed, make some very sensational disclosures as to the senator's campaign methods. Until recently he was a close friend of Mr. Schall and time years ago had most to do with the campaign, perhaps, than anybody else. The senator will attempt to impeach the damaging testimony by proving that in an affidavit filed with the committee on elections of the United States senate Mr. Jacobs gave the blind senator a clean bill of health, holding that he had no connection with or knowledge of the alleged practice of receiving donations from bootleggers and blindpiggers in consideration of immunity from prosecution by the federal government.

Rev. Riley's Anti-evolution Bill Killed in State Senate

Only 7 Senators went on Record in Favor of Bringing the Question of Evolution Before the Legislature for Investigation by Senate Committee

FOR COUNTY ASSESSOR FILM

To the Editor:

On the 10th issue of your paper Mr. Martin Evenson announced his candidacy for county assessor. I presume that the county system of appointing assessors are grown frequent in both and the county system of changing the office of assessor.

Mr. Evenson announced that only assessors are "without any duties" and that if the county system is adopted he will be "a member of things not to do." I must mention that you have failed to state whether the county commissioners appoint the assessors. This is not the present system. Please explain free of press notice.

Section 2 of the proposed bill you will find that if the county board so desires, by securing his entire time to the duties of his office, compels his work in the required time he may, subject to the approval of the county board, appoint one more deputy for each 3,000 inhabitants of his county. The salaries of deputies are fixed by the county board.

The item $2,850.00 you have in paragraph eleven you say is the tax commissioner's estimate of the cost of the county assessor system. This is evidently some typo error. "The County Assessor" published by the Minnesota State Tax Commission, and I quote on page 21, line 27 that this is the estimated cost of making assessments in 1925 and not the county assessor's item.

In counties under Class Two, which includes Pennington County, you will find that the salaries of the county assessors would be not less than $2,400 per more than $2,850.00 per year. The Commissioners' Association bill states that the salary shall be fixed by the county board within the stated minimum and maximum based on the taxable acreage of each county.

May I say that Mr. Evenson's criticism of the present system unfriendly and petty jealousy play a larger part in assessing property than judgment. This is not entirely the fault of assessors, but part of the blame must be placed on city councils, for appointing men whom they should know are utterly incompetent. The Republican party has also been guilty of this incompetence by approving assessors who personally knew are unwarranted.

It is much rather heavy task in any case to a man appointed by the county commissioners under the new law, but I am confident that not but have enough sense of values to run their assessments without getting into bankruptcy.

This measure will not only help the farmers, but all those paying taxes because envy and "its can afford it" will not be the rule any longer.

Yours for a better system,
Bernhard Knutson,

CONCORDIA SKETS LAND GIFT

Concordia college of Moorhead now owns the 160 acres of land in Section 16, Township 152, Range 47, in Clearwater county, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Hanson, of Thief River Falls. The land was deeded to the college by Mr. and Mrs. Hanson on March 1, and the transfer was recorded in the office of the register of deeds in Clearwater county. The land is valued at $1,600. It is now under cultivation by tenants, and will be sold in the spring, probably at a public auction.
